ELECTORS OF THE

EAST RIDING

Of the

County of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN:—It is now some four years since addressed you through the columns of this paper, and I now adopt the same method; and as there has been many changes since that time both political and otherwise, and as most of you are aware that I sold out my business in Norwood to Mr. Ackerman two months ago, and my agreement with him prevents me from starting in the Village or Township; therefore I must return you my most sincere thanks for the liberal support you have accorded to me for these last 12 years. And at the same time I beg to inform you that having erected a Large and Commodious

Shop at Wigmore's Corner,

Where I intend to carry on the

HARNESS BUSINESS

in all its branches, and from my long experience in the trade, I flatter myself that I can give you a better article in my line, stock and workmanship considered than you can get elsewhere. My motto will be "Quick sales and small profits."

I also propose setting apart one day in the week, viz. Saturday, when all small jobbing will be done free of charge.

I hope to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to patronize me, feeling assured that they will save money by travelling a mile further, as I intend to undersell all in the trade.

Repairing done with neatness and despatch.

Collars made to suit any Horse in the country. Saddles padded to the satisfaction of all.

N. B.—As I have been to a good deal of expense in the way of building, all parties indebted to me will please call and settle without further notice.

(Original.)

SNOW-BOUND

BY KATRINA.

Reader! do you ask if I slept? How could I? with so many busy thoughts crowding my brains. The rich intellectual feast I had enjoyed, had yet to be digested. The reaction upon my nerves on seeing him whom I had tried to banish from my thoughts, (knowing the improbability of ever seeing him again), was too great to allow me to sleep. Not only had I seen him, (for the mere sight would only have made matters more unendurable,) but fate had decreed that he should become my friend and escort.

The calm, steady breathing of him, who held my heart, quieted me in a measure, and I lay there watching, (through the closely drawn capoch,) the gentle up-heaving of his manly chest, and wondered if the warm heart within would ever beat responsive to mine. I fancied I had detected love-light in his eyes, as I felt many times during our intercourse, his dark lustrous eyes bent upon me, several times surprising him by suddenly looking up, but no farther demonstration deigned he to bestow, and I so anxious. He was no stranger to me, for did not the conductor's timely knowledge of him, so freely given to me, amply compensate for months, yes years, of mere acquaintance? He already knew my history, even from childhood, so it is not so much to be wondered at, that my heart should have been so easily allowed to go out unchecked and unrestrained.

I had censured myself for allowing the thought to go out for him of whom I had no knowledge—a mere sight of now it was far different. The Star of Hope was now faintly glimmering in the distance, what might ever be its brilliancy when once it shed its full beams upon me. At all events, I should never lose sight of it, until its radiance should be obliterated by a power over which I had no control, and I prayed God who ruleth all human events, that this would never be, and with the consciousness of peace and trust, I fell asleep.

'Twas midnight, when being aroused from this deep slumber by the shrill whistling of the Great Iron-Horse, as it was endeavoring though vain were the efforts, to fulfil its wonted task. Amid the confusion of voices enquiring the cause of the delay, I heard the voice of the new conductor crying out, "Snow-Bound," adding that telegrams had been sent away for laborers, and our delay would not be long. The wind had arisen, and driven the new fallen snow in great white drifts, blocking up the wheels, making it utterly impossible to proceed. After a deal of grumbling by some, and imprecations by others, quiet was again restored, and I again fell into peaceful refreshing slumber. When the morning dawned, and the glorious sun had arisen, dispelling the gloom of the previous night, I awoke. My friend had arisen, and when he greeted me with a glad good morning, I felt my heart bound with a great throb.

Yes; I loved him unmistakably. Could it be that I had really given my heart away, ere it had been sued for? No, no, I would not even own it to myself. Had I so far forgotten my maidenly modesty, as even in thought to anticipate, what I dared scarcely to hope, what I had no right to expect, I blushed with very shame, as these thoughts flew in rapid succession through my clear brain, and I saw things in a different aspect, after my refreshing slumber,—saw the absurdity in all its frightful proportions. Doubts arose in my mind with regard to the constructions I had made concerning his looks the evening previous. Mayhap he cared nothing for me, beyond common-place courtesy, the thought was maddening. How glad was I that the secret was still my own. He should never know how much I had loved him, here was one solace, yet the sensation I experienced sent a pang through my heart, as viewing him as he stood upon the platform, watching the busy workmen with their spades and shovels, while the morning breeze played wantonly with the wavy chestnut locks of his hair, I sighed heavily and looking upward, breathed a prayer to God to direct me.

As the Prof. again joined me, the light of his pleasant countenance dispelled the dark clouds that had so suddenly arisen in my mind, and again I found myself basking in the joy of his presence. What fitful mortals we are, swayed and tossed by every passing breeze! one moment desponding and full of doubts and fears, another joyous and happy. One look from those we love, is often quite sufficient to disperse the gloom as quickly as the summer sun drinks up the pearly dew from blade and leaf, and floweret. Oh! how fervently I hoped it might ever be thus with me, that the charm of his sweet presence through a long life time might be mine, without which my life would be miserable. He had already become a part of my very being, so interwoven that extrication was impossible. He might choose a path leading far from me, yet his presence would still remain, yet, I felt that even should this doom await me, 'twere "Better to love and lose, than never to have loved at all." Yet, through all the gloom, and improbabilities, that so frequently presented themselves to my mind, the distant star still glimmered, although its twinkling seemed at times a more flickering that one breath would have obliterated.

In a short time we were again on our way; as we neared the next station we found that it would be impossible to proceed farther, until the way should be more thoroughly opened. The "conductor" in passing through the cars, suggested the idea of repairing to the "Hotel," saying the time, doubtless, would pass away more pleasantly there, at all events they could make themselves more comfortable, but added, laughing, that they need be in no hurry (as none in their experience were healthy preparing to go,) as it might be an hour or more before they should reach said place.

SAD BEREAVEMENT.

Our town was cast into a sudden gloom on Saturday by the announcement of the death of Mr. Thomas Lannin. He had been unwell for about 10 days, but till Wednesday or Thursday no very serious alarm was felt by the family. The disease—typhoid fever—however, assumed a worse form on Thursday, and baffled all the skill of several physicians who were in attendance, till on Saturday morning about four o'clock, when death did his work, calling him in the prime of his life from his wife and family to whom he was devotedly attached. Mr. Lannin was a man of great energy, being one of the best business men in the town, always agreeable and happy, or ready for a pleasant word and kind act, and was much and deservedly esteemed by all who did business with him and by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn their sad and sudden bereavement. His remains were followed to their resting place on Monday by the largest funeral cortege ever passed to the Little Lake Cemetery, over 180 conveyances passed down George Street, and all places of business were closed as a mark of respect for deceased. The family have our deepest sympathies in their sad bereavement. He was in the 37th year of his age.

Sudden Deaths.

Two daughters of Mr. A Shearer, near Hastings, were lately found dead in their bed. An inquest was held by Dr. Fife, and the following verdict rendered Thos Margaret Shearer died of internal hemorrhage after being delivered of a male child. The jury being of opinion that if medical attendance had been obtained in time, this might not have occurred. Helen Shearer's death was caused by intermittent fever, and general decay of the body.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In last weeks issue of the Review a correspondent who signs himself "Keene," seems to be in a most deplorable state of anxiety, because of the non-appearance of the "Address" of Mr. Stratton, the Reform Candidate for the East Riding. As the Review's "Keene" is not now, nor is he likely to become a supporter of Mr. Stratton, why is he so wonderfully anxious about the "address?" Why will persons trouble themselves about matters when they have no possible interest in them? Some persons about Keene are a little given to meddling.

THE RYKERT INVESTIGATION.

It is now high time for John Charles Rykert, M. P. P. for Lincoln, to step down and out. Possibly he may spend a short time on the "ragged edge" of remorse and despair, but he need not linger any longer on the "ragged edge" of uncertainty, so far as his political existence is concerned. All Mr. McKellar's charges may not have been proved to the very letter, but enough has been established to sink Mr. Rykert to the lowest depth of political perdition, if indeed he has not touched that point long since.

The Toronto Street Railway Co. had a Bill before the House in the session of 1873. Their solicitor thought he was not sufficiently posted in Parliamentary procedure to take charge of the Bill, and advised his clients to retain Mr. Rykert, as he knew all about "promoting" Bills. They did so, and Mr. Rykert was instructed "to consider himself retained." For his services he received first $50 and some time afterwards $100. Of course Mr. R. says he meant to have supported the Bill anyway. If so, why was he paid $150 more for his services than any other member friendly to the measure? All the fine talk about his having received the $150 in his capacity as a lawyer and not as a member of the Legislature, is simply unmitigated rubbish

The Agricultural Insurance Co. of London also had a Bill before the Legislature which they were very anxious to have passed. Several promoters of the Bill did the lobbying in the interest of the Company and somehow one of them made the discovery that—to quote his own words—"he could fix it with Rykert for $100." Rykert supported the Bill of course.

Mr. E. D. Tilton, of Tilsonburg, wished to have his town incorporated, and he, too, saw Mr. Rykert and gave him another $100. Mr. Rykert supported the Incorporation Bill vigorously; but of course he would have done so anyway!

The Great Western Railway Co. made a desperate attempt to kill off the Canada Southern about three years ago. They had a Railway Bill before the Legislature. Mr. Rykert had formerly favored the Canada Southern but changed his mind, and engineered the G. W. Railway Bill through the House. At the end of the session the G. W. Treasurer paid him $1000! Mr. Rykert alleges that this 1000 was paid for some professional services rendered eighteen months before. A likely story indeed.

Mr. Rykert cannot wriggle out of the corner into which he has been driven, and he may just as well throw up the sponge. Few will pity him. For years he has done little but traduce the character of his betters. With the money earned in the wretched methods described, he has had the brazen effrontery to accuse honorable men of doing every kind of wrong. While retained by these companies he constituted himself the champion of honor and honesty. To his other shortcomings he added the most disgusting hypocrisy. He delivered homilies on the so-called "Elgin frauds" and "Central Prison" and "Proton outrages" while himself in the pay of the most unscrupulous railway corporation in the Dominion. The professional lobbyists knew him well, and gloried in the fact that they could "fix it with Rykert for $100." So much for the character of the man who with unblushing assurance, has been lecturing on "corruption" for the last three years. Satan reproving sin would be edifying, compared with John Charles Rykert lecturing to the people of Ontario against corruption. It is scarcely necessary to add that Mr. Rykert was Mr. Andrew Monteith's leader for three years, and is the bright peculiar star of the party Mr T. M. Daly is supporting. Beacon.

KINGSTON.

Mr. John Carruthers has ungnanimously accepted the nomination of the Reform Association of Kingston to become their candidate to contest the forthcoming election for the Commons. There was a very large meeting last evening at which he was unanimously tendered the candidature. Public feeling is greatly in his favor, and we are assured there can be no doubt of his election.

Now that Mr. Carruthers has taken the field in Kingston in the interest of Reform are the question is pertinent, if Sir John proposes to try Toronto East, who is to oppose him? It will be idle to contended that any other man than Sir John could contest Kingston with the Liberal candidate. Will Sir John race for Kingston again is an oft repeated enquiry.

Shannonville Accident.—A telegram gives the following particulars of the Shannonville accident:—On Friday evening a man named Thos. Smart, an Indian, from Mohawk tract, was run over by the Grand Trunk cars, half a mile west of Tyendinaga station, and mangled and cut to pieces in a shocking manner. He had been engaged at some of the neighbors during the day killing hogs, and got intoxicated on his way home. It is supposed he lay down on the track and went to sleep. The remains were found yesterday morning by the section men, and put on the lorry, and taken to Tyendinaga station, where an inquest was held A verdict of "death by being run over by the Grand Trunk cars while under the influence of liquor" was returned. Deceased was about forty years of age.—Chronicle.

Moved by Mr. Orr, seconded by Mr. McClelland:—That in the event of the Peterborough by-law being carried, this meeting pledges itself to carry a bonus in favour of the Cobourg Company in the township of Verulam.

Warsaw.

The Soiree on Tuesday evening, at Warsaw, in connection with the Presbyterian Church, was very successful. The ladies had provided an abundance of the good things of this life, and as the church was well filled, ample justice was done them. The chair was occupied by Mr. Atkinson, Missionary, who discharged the important duties of the position with credit to himself. On the platform were the Rev'ds. Clark, of Lakefield, Paull, of Dummer, and Washington, of Warsaw, and Dr. Brigham who delivered amusing and instructive addresses, the variety of opinion, in the addresses, fully verifying the fact of diversity of mind. The Warsaw Choir under the leadership of Mr. Chiat, provided excellent music for the occasion. At the close a vote of thanks was tendered to the choir. The meeting was a very pleasant one, and from the numbers present, must have been profitable, in a pecuniary sense, and we have no doubt profitable in different sense.

Eanismore Temperance

Bishop Jamot, of Toronto, lately visited Emnismore and confirmed ninety-two children. A correspondent of the Irish Canadian says:—"After the ceremony he exorted all to abstain from intoxicating liquors. He recommended them to get good Catholic books and newspapers wherewith to spend their winter evenings, instead of wasting their time in foolish sprees, and silly dances, from which no possible good could come, but frequently much evil. He told the tavern-keepers they had better stop selling whiskey and make a living by charging a good price for board and lodging—that whiskey-selling was a mean business and bad. He concluded by asking all those who wished to renew the pledge to go down on their knees—the whole congregation knelt and with a solemn voice pronounced the following words:—"I promise Almighty God to abstain from all intoxicating liquors all the days of my life." He then gave his benediction and returned to Lindsay accompanied by Father Coyle and Father Stafford.

Skating Carnival

The Carnival on Tuesday evening last in the Metropolitan Rink was not so well attended as the enterprising efforts of the manager deserved. However, there was an attendance sufficiently numerous to, if we may be permitted to resort to the somewhat cant phraze, "break in the ice" for another and more successful Carnival. Masquers were not numerous; but the irrepressible Dutchman, a pair of wild Irishmen, and two or three individuals costumed as Negroes, disported themselves, and amused the promenaders very much by their grotesque facial and physical distortions. One masquer was admirably costumed as an old resident, and his mincing stroke and tottering evolutions were old-mannish in the extreme. We must not fail to mention the Girl of the Period personated by a fine skater in the person of a Boy of the Period: nor the young lady and gentleman who were dressed in such good taste as the Highland lad and lassie. The music was very good, and, though the ice was not in the best condition, those present enjoyed themselves, and went away under the conviction that ice was an abiding element, skating a healthy pastime, and that Mr. Hill had fitted up the Rink until it was Metropolitan more than in name, and deserved their support. Doubtless there will be a much better attendance and a more numerous display of costumes at the next entertainment in the Rink.

TRIFLING WITH A CORONER.

(From the Montreal Express.)

Recently an excited individual, with his hat standing on two hairs, and his eyes popping right from his head like the horns of a snail, rushed into the office of a Coroner H——s. The coroner is by profession a dentist, and his first thought as he glanced at the man was that he was well nigh distracted with the toothache. He was soon undeceived, however, as the frenzied individual cried out, as soon as he could catch his breath after running up stairs, "Been a man murdered!"

"A man murdered," cried the Coroner. How? Where?"

"In a garden, I believe with a club or rock."

"How long ago?" cried the Coroner, seizing his hat and cane.

"Been done a good while, and no police or constable hasn't never done nothing about it. Never been no Coroner, set on his body or nothin' of the kind; no verdict."

"What's the dead man's name? Who was he?" exclaimed the Coroner.

"His name was Abel."

"Abel! Abel who?"

"Dont Know. Never heard nothing but his first name.

"Well what's the name of the man who killed him? Do you know? Any one suspected?

"Well I have heard that fellow named Cain put out his light. Cain was the brother of Abel, and——"

The coroner flourishing his cain cries:

"You get right down them stairs my fine fellow. "Git! and don't show yourself here again."

With a loud guffaw, the fellow went down stairs three steps at a time, the doctor calling after him, "How dare you trifle with an officer in this way, sir!"

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' ECLESIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity time half of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Peoria, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from 'Scotia and want more now, its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I generally call it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Botford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Ford, Elginton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoine, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil." We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y. and

8. That unless work on the extension of such proposed Railway from Chemong Lake northwards be actually and bona fide commenced and thereafter continuously proceeded with on or before the 1st day of January, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-Six the obligation of the said Town of Peterborough under this By-Law except as to the said sum of Forty Thousand Dollars shall cease and be at an end.

TOWN COUNCIL.

North Railway—Extension of Streets—An Empty Treasury—Auburn Mill Bonus.

MONDAY, Dec. 7, 2874.

Present:—The Mayor and Councillors Helm, Hopkins, Paterson, Dixon, Rutherford, Dunne Robertson, Poole, Romaine, Cahill and Hamilton.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. Spence, Secretary of the Ontario Temperance League, requesting the Council to sign a petition to Parliament praying for prohibition.—Received. From John Martin, commencing legal proceedings for $30 for attending small pox patients 40 days at 75 cents a day. From Mr Williams, Mrs. Quinn, Mrs Boyd, Mrs. Johnson and A. P. Morgan praying for remission of taxes. Referred to Court of Revision. From Geo. Sumpton asking to have a portion of his license money for selling spirituous liquors returned, as he had the benefit of it for only four months, and enclosing a legal opinion from Mr. Moore that the Council have power to remit.

ACCOUNTS.

Estate of the late S. Dixon for lumber $212 00 Kirgan for nails $49.95 Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

VICTORIA RAILWAY.

The Town Clerk read a communication enclosing a resolution passed at a public meeting at Port Perry (which has already appeared in the TIMES) urging the claims of the Victoria Railway, and asking the aid of members of the midland district.

SMALL-POX EXPENSES.

Moved by COUNCILLOR HAMILTON, seconded by COUNCILLOR BEAL.—That the Treasurer be instructed to defend the suit brought by John Martin.

COUNCILLOR HAMILTON said Martin had been engaged to remove a sick family, but for no other purpose, and had been paid $5 for his services.

COUNCILLOR BEAL said the matter had come before the Finance Committee, but a member having informed them that legal proceedings had been begun they had taken no action.—Carried.

HOTEL LICENSE.

Moved by COUNCILLOR TOOLE, seconded by COUNCILLOR CAHILL.—That Mr. Swanton's petition be referred to the License Committee.—Carried.

The MAYOR remarked that they were in a difficulty through taking wrong action on a previous occasion.

COUNCILLOR HAMILTON had thought at the time they were setting a bad precedent.

COUNCILLOR TOOLE said those voting on the previous occasion in favour of returning part of the money for a billiard license, had thought there was a difference between that and a case like the present.—Carried.

VICTORIA RAILWAY.

On discussing the communication from the Victoria R. R Co. Councillor Hamilton said the question was whether Peterborough was sufficiently interested to interfere. If this railway opened up the back country, they would have connection with it. They need not in his opinion be jealous of Lindsay. He could not see the use of taking action now; it would be time enough when they were appealed to.

Councillor ROMAINE, said the company desired to obtain a subsidy, and therefore wished to have the support of the members for the midland districts.

Councillor DIXON said the Company wished to obtain further aid than could be granted from the Railway fund. It was to the interest of Peterborough to check the rival scheme of a line from Gravenhurst. As we were not likely have one of our own, we should support the one from which we should derive most benefit.

Councillor TOOLE had suspected it would be the case that this line would ask for more aid than their neighbors. We have not sufficient interest in the project to do anything in the matter; indeed the Victoria R. R. was being built to cut off our trade.

Councillor ROMAINE said the Company was not asking them for a bonus. They should wish God speed to any Railway running to the back country.

COUNCILLOR HAMILTON thought that as Canadians, we ought to support any railroad running northward, as assisting to open up the unsettled country, which it was our duty to do. Before the end of two years we would probably have direct communication with Lindsay by means of the Grand Junction. He would move seconded by Councillor Romaine that our member should be requested to give such encouragement to the Victoria R. R. Bill now before Parliament as he thought judicious.

COUNCILLOR ROMAINE was in favour of any railway opening up the country. The project for a line from Peterborough to Omemee was likely to be carried out shortly

COUNCILLOR BEAL could not see why Peterborough should help a road designed to cut off our back country trade.

COUNCILLOR HOPKINS: "We have not got the trade."

COUNCILLOR BEAL replied that they might have had it, if they had known their own interests.

The motion was withdrawn.

EXTENSION OF STREETS.

COUNCILLOR HAMILTON read the report of the Special Committee appointed to consider Mr. Westcott's petition for the extension of Aylmer Street. They had found it would cost a good deal, and they thought it would be better to open George Street to the town boundary, which would cost very little more and would be better for the town. They recommended the passing of a by-law for a survey to be made under the direction of the Committee, with instructions to negotiate with landowners and to report to the Council

A long and very irregular discussion followed, several Councillors opposing this particular scheme unless some general plan for extending streets where required throughout the town was adopted Councillor Dixon especially protesting on behalf of the ward he represents.

Finally on the motion of COUNCILLOR TOOLE seconded by COUNCILLOR HAMILTON, the report was received and adopted on the following division:—

YEAS: Toole, Beal, Dunne, Hopkins, Paterson, Romaine, Cahill and Hamilton.

NAYS: Robertson, Dixon, Helm, Rutherford.

BIRDS EYE VIEW OF TOWN.

Councillor HAMILTON read the report of the special Committee, on the bird's eye view of the Town, recommending that in consequence of the heavy taxation, 50 copies should be ordered instead of a hundred.

Moved by Councillor DIXON seconded by Councillor PATERSON that the report be received and adopted.

Councillor HAMILTON could not see the use of the Council purchasing these views. He had bought five himself but if he chose to be extravagant, it was no reason why he should vote away the money of the ratepayers unnecessarily.

FIRE COMMITTEE.

Councillor RUTHERFORD, read the report of the Fire Committee, recommending that $2 50 should be paid to Macdonald for drawing the fire engine to Mr Wm Hamilton's foundry, that various accounts referred to them should be paid, that Mr. C. Stapleton's resignation should be accepted with an expression of their regret, and that the appointment of Mr. Wrighton as Chief Engineer, should be confirmed Also that certain things required by the late Chief Engineer be procured, and that some amendment be made in the fire by-law.

There was some discussion as to the payment of MacDonald, and Councillor DUNNE objected to tampering with the fire by-law.

Councillor ROBERTSON, explained that there was certain obscurities in the by-law

The report was received and adopted. some of which he pointed out.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Councillor BEAL read the report recommending that the accounts of Hop. Whitney for cedars $42, of L. Lounge, in connection with the projected water works, $75, and of T Bowris as Health Inspector $60, should be paid; that the accounts of J. Boyd, and Mowry and Forsyth, should be referred to the joint Town and County Committee on Bridges, and that the proportion of Mr. Haggart's salary as caretaker of the bridges, $18.35, should be paid. They could not recommend payment of Messrs. Mason and Bradburn's account for clothes supplied to small-pox patients in 1873, as they had no evidence of the authority for the order. They also recommended that the Council of 1875 should pay the usual sum to the Protestant Home.

It having been shown by the Treasurer and others that the account of Messrs. Mason and Bradburn was correct, the report was received and adopted with the amendment that the account should be paid.

MUNICIPAL RETURNING OFFICERS.

A By-law was passed through all its stages for appointing returning officers and polling places for the municipal elections.

1st. Ward, W. Cummings, Shaw's Office; 2nd. Ward, J. Edwards, Council Chamber; 3rd. Ward, J. Irwin, J. Irwin's house; 4th. Ward, Wm. Lee, Wm. Lee's house.

THE TREASURY EMPTY.

Councillor HAMILTON said that as accounts were being presented and there was no provision for paying them, he would move, seconded by Councillor Toole, —That the Treasurer should be authorized to borrow from the Banks, and that the Council should indemnify him.—Carried.

DAMAGE TO STEWART STREET.

Councillor TOOLE said that, when some years ago Mr. Mosoom Boyd dug out a basement under his house at the corner of Edinburg and Stewart Streets, he deposited the stuff excavated on Stewart street, and this had to be removed at a cost of about $60. He therefore moved, seconded by Mr. Beal,—That Mr. Boyd be applied to for that sum.—Carried.

AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS.

Councillor ROMAINE moved the first reading of a By-law authorizing the Auburn Woollen Company to retain $2,500, part of the bonus granted by the Town, on their executing a release of the remaining $7,500, as owing to the sudden deaths of Mr. Paton and Mr. Sheldon, and the subsequent transfer of the ownership, it would remain for the present a seven and a half set, instead of a ten set mill as stipulated.

The By-law was read a first time.

Councillor Romaine, read a petition from the Auburn Woollen Co, praying for the remission of their taxes on a part of their property.

Referred to Court of Revision.

COLLECTION OF TAXES.

Councillor TOOLE said the Collector of Taxes wanted some direction as to Messrs. Nicholls & Hall's taxes, which were in dispute. He would move, seconded by Councillor Beal,—That the Collector should enforce payment in full of the amount on Collector's roll.

After some discussion as to the advisability of acting before the Town Solicitor had obtained counsel's opinion, which had not yet been given, the motion was carried with the addition, "if the Town Solicitor's opinion should be favourable.

The time for the enforced collection of taxes was extended one week to December 21.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Presidential Message contains no very startling novelties, but is decidedly moderate in tone. The U. S. press seems, almost without exception, to be favorably impressed with it. Among the principal recommendations are an early resumption of specie payments, and reform of the Civil Service. No mention is made of the Reciprocity Treaty.

THE question of the Union of the Maritime Provinces, seems to be attracting public attention anew, to judge from recent articles in the journals of both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. There is apparently a growing feeling in favor of the union, which certainly has the advantage among others of greater economy.

IT is reported that the present Session of the Provincial Parliament will be brought to a close before Christmas, and there are various symptoms of the truth of the report. The general election will probably take place late in January. One sign of the coming contest is the advertisement by the Hon. Mr. Fraser for tenders to be sent in by Dec. 9th, for 3000 ballot boxes.

A BILL for the re-distribution of seats in the Provincial Legislature has been introduced this week, and so far as this County is concerned, the new arrangement will be a decided improvement. West Peterboro' will no longer be quite such a compact little constituency with addition of the Village of Lakefield, and the Townships of Harvey, Galway and Cavendish, but still will not be inconveniently large. East Peterboro' which has been a terrible constituency for candidates and returning officers, will with these deductions and that of the Provisional County of Haliburton, become a riding of moderate dimension, while the voters of "Haliburton" will, no doubt be gratified at being placed more nearly in the position of having a member of their own.

A DEPUTATION on behalf of the Victoria Railway, waited on the Attorney General on Friday, Dec. 4, to urge the necessity of further aid to the railway. The deputation comprised most of the members of the Ontario House from the Districts interested, directors of Railways having connection with the Victoria, and other gentlemen of influence. Mr. S C. Wood M P. P. and Mr. Laidlaw, where the principal speakers and urged the claims of the Company, as opening new country and the advisability of special legislation for granting them larger aid than could be granted from the Railway Aid Fund. Mr. Mowat, promised that full consideration, should be given to the subject, he and other members of the Government, who were present seeming impressed with its importance.

BELLEVILLE.

ACCIDENT—On Saturday last a most distressing threshing machine accident occurred on the farm of Frederick Seymour, Esq., Township of Madoc. It seems that the grain being threshed was partly frozen, owing to the rain having leaked through the roof. Mr. Frank Dean was feeding the machine at the time and great care was used to prevent the frozen lumps from entering the cylinder, when suddenly a large lump of frozen grain passed into the machine before it could be prevented, which displaced the concave and causing it to come in contact with the cylinder, thereby causing the concave, cylinder and the frame to be riddled into hundreds of pieces, which were thrown in all directions, striking Mr. Dean on the cheeks and frontal bones, nearly cutting the left eye out of its socket. The unfortunate man was also struck heavily in the breast, breaking two of the upper ribs on the left side, and otherwise seriously injuring the chest and body.

Dr. Elmer was immediately summoned in attendance.

It is a miracle that all the men in the barn was not instantly killed, as the spokes from the cylinder and concave, together with the concave, cylinder and frame were thrown in all directions with such force as to penetrate not only the sides of the barn but also the frame, the latter to a depth of from one to three inches. The wounded man still lives in a precarious condition.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from the cures, many of which are truly marvelous, it overcomes a class of Scrofulous diseases, where the virus seemed safe from with corruption, baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians, and resisted all other remedies. Such cases, when they have been thoroughly subdued by this Sarsaparilla, have proved to be permanently cured. Hence, when you purchase this medicine, you may rely upon it as a remedy which has virtues, beyond any other, to purify the blood, and thereby cure the worst forms of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Eruptions, Tumors, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Blotches, Sores, Salt-Rheum, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter, Scald-head, Ringworm, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Female Complaints, Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaints, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Debility, and indeed all the diseases that arise from impure blood.

To the Free and Indedendent
ELECTORS OF THE
EAST RIDING
Of the
County of Peterborough.
GENTLEMEN:—It is now some four years since addressed you through the columns of the paper, and I now adopt the same method; and as there has been many changes since that time both political and otherwise, and as most of you are aware that I sold out my business in Norwood to Mr. Ackerman two months ago, and my agreement with him prevents me from starting in the Village or Township; therefore I must return you my most sincere thanks for th liberal support you have accorded to me for those last 12 years. And at the same time I beg to inform you that having erected a Large and Commodious
Shop at Wigmore's Corner,
Where I intend to carry on the
HARNESS BUSINESS
In all its branches, and from my long experience in the trade, I flatter myself that I can give you a better article in my line, stock and workmanship considered than you can get elsewhere. My motto will be "Quick sales and small profits."
I also propose coming apart one day in the week, viz. Saturday, when all small jobbing will be done free of charge.
I hope to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to patronize me, feeling assured that they will save money by traveling a mile further, as I intend to undersell all in the trade.
Repairing done with neatness and dispatch.
Calling upon as will say Money is the country. Bad times enabled to the satisfaction of all.
P. S.—As I have been to a good deal of expense in the way of building, &c. parties indebted to me will please call and settle without further notice.

PETERBOROUGH, DEC. 24, 1874.

TO OUR READERS.

CHRISTMAS has come again, bringing, we hope, peace and good will in its train. To all our readers and friends we heartily tender the compliments of the Season, with a hope that these compliments will not prove empty words, and that the good will of this season will last until the next comes round, smoothing the path of all in the coming year, and lightening the burden that duty brings with each succeeding revolution on the dial of Time.

We have felt our own shortcomings in the past, and may expect them in the future; but now is the season to forgive and forget all that may have been amiss in our mutual relations, and to rivet more firmly the chain of good will, good fellowship, and of all good honest and manly feelings that should, and, we hope, do subsist between ourselves and our subscribers. May our future relations be as cordial and harmonious as they have ever been, and let the public show us the confidence which we hope their kindness will credit us with having earned in the past, as fully and freely as we will endeavor to deserve it in the future. Let honesty lead you, and good will must follow you during the coming year, that when Christmas comes again, you may hope for another year like the last, and not be disappointed.

THE ELECTIONS

The Globe of Monday says the writs will be issued immediately and that the polling will be on the 15th or 16th of January. There are, therefore, only three weeks for work, till all the hurry is over. The friends of the present Government would do well to be up and doing. The season of the year and good sleighing, will make it easy for the electors to move round without much loss of valuable time and without inconvenience. It will be impossible for any candidate to see all the people in that time, and hence much must be left to the people and to Committees, and on them will depend the result of the contest. Indifference or over certainty, not unfrequently is more fatal to success than we are willing to admit, and hence, we earnestly urge the township Committees to be at work, there cannot be more than two or three meetings of Committees until the whole is decided. If the friends of reform and good Government be as earnest to sustain wise legislators, as they were to get rid of the misgovernment of the past twenty years, the issue cannot be doubtful, but if they now fold their hands and say enough, they will find themselves soon in the hands of the very same party they have laboured to be released from. The history of the past seven years is sufficient to teach the people of Canada, to what a sad state of things unscrupulous men can reduce our affairs, Pacific Scandals in the Dominion, Landswaps of the most glaringly vicious kind in Quebec. The whole goverment railway system of the Lower Province in the hands of plundering Contractors, and bribed officials. In Ontario our Legislation in the hands of men who have bartered the high trust, and the dearest bought rights of the people for filthy lucre, like Rykert, and Ministers of the Crown, like John Carling polluting the whole atmosphere of the Legislative, Halls by champagne suppers, Bacchanalian hospitalities, and the money of large Railway Companies. Do the honest yeomen of Ontario wish to return to these things again? Are they willing that men like Rykert, Carling, Boultbee and Cameron should get the control of their affairs? Do they desire that their business should be in the power of men without moral principle and without honor? If they do not, they will see to it, now that Mr. Mowat will be sustained by a large majority in the next Parliament. Two or three days of willing work will ensure this, and we look to the honest electors of this county to do their duty and await the results.

THE MODEL FARM.

The opposition in the late Parliament of Ontario has been of a kind to disgust all right thinking men. The vilest abuse and calumny have been heaped on Mr. McKellar in reference to the management of the farm. His private life has been assailed with an animosity and a venom unequalled in political debates. The most virtuous ladies have not escaped the scandal mongers; and everything wicked hearts could desire, has been used to drive him from public life and to ruin the prospects and happiness of any one friendly to him. This has been going on for years, till at last Mr McKellar got wearied of it, and accused Rykert of grave crimes, selling his influence in and out of Parliament. A Committee was asked for, and the result is now well known. Mr. Rykert has been proved guilty, and only escaped being expelled from the House; while Mr. McKellar has been completely exonerated on every charge ever brought against him. Mr. McKellar is an honest, straight-forward man, without knavery or cunning; and hence the manner in which he has been attacked by his opponents. In the Model Farm affair the Government was unfortunate in getting a incompetent principal in Prof. ... And matters came to such a pass that he had to be dismissed. Has this never occurred before, or is it not of frequent occurrence? Was it not right and competent on the part of the Government to dismiss him? But the opposition attempt to make capital, out of it has signally failed, and Mr. M. C. Cameron has earned for himself the well merrited odium of bringing into Parliamentary debate the gossip and talk of servants, and dissatisfied incompetents who should be punished for their actions, rather than patted by Parliamentary leaders. The electors, however, will not be unmindful of these things in a few days

When the people's representatives have nothing to discuss but the dismissal of an incompetent official, it is high time that they be left at home to manage their own private affairs. It Messrs. Cameron and Lauder are to be the Legislators for Ontario, it is almost time to take steps to re-adjust Parliament, and seek to have it elevated in standard and material for debate.

To-day's issue contains a copy of Mr. Pearce's Address. We do not intend to criticise it in any way. The addresses of both Candidates are now before the Electors, and THEY must be the judges. Their principles are also pretty well known, so they have not hesitated to express those when desired to do so; and as the people have to make the selection, to them we will leave all criticism.

Mitchell giving an order for payment of Janitor at Auburn School.—Received.

The account of Messrs. Macdonald and Elder, $3.90 was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Edmison read report of Finance Committe stating they had received four tenders for the supply of paper, pens, &c., required for the schools, and recommending the acceptance of Mr. Mathias' tender. The Committee recommended a limitation in the supply of envelopes to the school. Also that part of Mr. Wm. Helm's account should be paid, omitting the items for goods supplied as far back as 1872.

Moved by Mr. Wm. Toole, seconded Mr. McClelland, That the report be received and adopted, and further enquiries made as to Mr. Helms' claim.—Carried.

Six applications had been received for the mastership of the Asphyxa School, and the Committee had unanimously recommended Mr. W Le Johnston for this situation. At a subsequent meeting, the Committee recommended Mr. Wood who had applied after the first meeting, and left the duties between Messrs. Rogers candidates to the Board. They also recommended the appointment of Mr Ayleson W. Finlay, as teacher of Modern Languages, in the room of Mr. Christie, in addition to the Science department, at the same salary as Mr. Christie, and the appointment of Mr. Hunt, as teacher of English language in addition to the Second form They also recommended the appointment of Mr. Bartlett as teacher of the First Form, conditionally upon the approval of the Board and the Principal; also the appointment of Mrs. Lemour to the Janitorship of the New School.—Report Received.

SMITH COUNCIL.

The Council met on December 14th. All the members present. The Minutes of last meeting were read.

An application was made by Mrs. Sullivan, requesting the Council to refund the sum paid by her late husband for taxes levied on part of lot No. 43, in the 14th concession. Granted. From Hugh Duff, to have deducted from his and his brother's taxes the sum arising from $1400 added to their assessment by the County Judge when revising the Voters' List, as they never made application for or gave their consent to such addition. The Council was of the opinion that they could not grant the application as the taxes had been levied in conformity with the provisions of the statute, but laid the matter over for information.

Also an application from the friends of Patrick Garrity, for aid to support his family during his sickness. The Council granted the sum of $10.00.

An account from Dr. O'Sullivan, for the sum of $10,00 for medicine and attendance on D. Gillespie. Application granted.

Also from Dr. Clegg, for medicine and attendance on Mrs. Coons in 1872 the sum of $15.00. The doctor having rendered his services without instructions from the Council the application was not granted.

An application from parties interested to have School Sections No's. 1 2 3 4 5 and 6 so altered and remodelled as to form a new section. The boundaries were traced on the map of the Township, but the Council did not deem it expedient to pass a By-law to confirm the same at present.

A By-law was passed, fixing the Town as Hall the polling place for electoral division No. 1, the school house of School Section No. 6 for division No. 2, and the school house of School Section No. 7 for division No. 3. The following item we clip from the Cobourg World:

DEATH OF CHIEF CONSTABLE COONEY—We very much regret to state that on the night of Thursday of last week, Mr. Edward Cooney, Chief Constable of this town, departed this life. Mr. Cooney has been in a critical state of health for many months,—though until two days before his decease, no immediate fears were entertained by his friends. Indeed, he was in his usual place upon our streets on the Monday or Tuesday of last week. His rather sudden death cast a gloom upon those who knew him so long and so well. For twenty years has Mr. Cooney occupied a prominent position in the town, occupying the office of Chief Constable, and, in addition, for many years, those of Collector of Taxes and Inspector of Nuisances. He was universally liked and highly respected throughout the community. A resolution of condolence to his widow and family was passed at the late meeting of the Town Council, and this will be found in the report of proceedings. The futueral took place on Sunday afternoon, and was attended by the Fire Brigade, of which the deceased was formerly Chief Engineer. The funeral cortege was one of the longest ever seen in this town.

At the last meeting of the Town Council the following resolution of condolence was unanimously passed:—Mr McNaughton moved, Mr. Gillbard seconded, That this Council has learned with the deepest regret of the decease of Edward Cooney, Esq., the Chief Constable of this town, and who has filled the offices of Chief Constable, Inspector of Licenses, and Collector of Taxes, for many years past, with great credit to himself and continual advantage to the town, and hereby convey to his bereaved widow and family their heartfelt sympathy and condolence in this overwhelming affliction, and assure them that they are confident that by this resolution they also express the universal sympathies of the people of the town.—Carried.

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
East Riding
OF THE
COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH:

GENTLEMEN,—

Having been selected by a large and influential Reform Convention held in Ashburnham on the 17th of November, to be a candidate in the interest of the Mowat government in the approaching contest, I respectfully announce my acceptance of the important trust and solicit your votes and influence to elect me.

My political views are so well known that it appears to me unnecessary to re-state them, were it not that I do not desire to be considered as uttering any uncertain sounds on matters of public interest.

I believe the present Government, known as the Mowat Government, have managed our public affairs wisely and economically, with a due regard to the progress and prosperity of the country. Their schemes for aiding Railways, and for settling the Municipal Loan Fund have merited general approbation, by settling a question of great difficulty, while over three millions of dollars have been returned to the people to wipe out old indebtedness, or to be used in local works of public importance. Their management of the Finances also recommends itself to the intelligence of the people, and if elected they shall have my cordial support so long as they thus prudently discharge the trusts committed to them.

I am in favour of using the surplus from year to year, on public works of general utility, calculated to develop the resources of the province, and ensure the comfort and prosperity of the people. Hoarding it up to quarrel over, or placing it in banks at four to five per cent, while the people are taxing themselves heavily to build Railways, Colonization Roads, &c., is unwise; as any sum expended now, while the people are struggling to clear, fence and improve their homes, is worth ten times as much spent ten or twenty years hence, when the people have overcome the difficulties of new settlers, and have attained to a position enabling them to pay their way, and build their own roads and bridges.

Railroads from East to West of our County and to the Northward, would materially assist in developing the mineral, forest and manufacturing wealth of the County, and, if elected, I will do all I can to encourage the construction of those now projected, and their continuation Eastward and Westward to the chief markets, and Northward to the forest and mineral regions of our County. The construction and improvement of Colonization Roads shall have my especial attention, as I know they are calculated to add to the comfort of those persons who are contending with the difficulties settlers in the back country have to encounter, because of the distance from market and poor means of ingress and egress at first.

I am opposed to Class Legislation, and would only support Laws founded on equal rights to all classes of our citizens, irrespective of accident of birth, or of the dead issues of the past.

All measures introduced, no matter from which party emanating, will have my careful consideration, but I will only support those which I believe to be for the good of the country, without regard to party or party exigencies.

I hope to see as many as possible of the electors during my canvass—when I shall be glad to explain my views more fully on any matter of public interest. In the meantime I would respectfully and confidently request all friendly to my election, and all who desire the continuation of wise and useful legislation, to be earnest and persevering in their efforts to the end that a triumphant success may be secured for the Reform Candidate, and for the Mowat Government.

I am,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. STRATTON.

December 11th, 1874.

To the Free and Independent
ELECTORS OF THE
EAST RIDING
OF THE
County of Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—

Having received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Conservative Party of this Riding as a Candidate at the ensuing election for the Legislature of Ontario allow me to solicit your votes and influence.

My long residence in the County, intimate connection with its Municipal affairs, and knowledge of its wants and interest, will, I trust, enable me, if elected, to advance its various requirements.

The course pursued by the present Government of the Province in regard to the disposition of the funds not been such as to merit my approval; covering, how, I should feel it my duty, if elected, to give all fullest measures of the Administration a fair and impartial consideration, and vote for or against according to their merits.

I believe the public patronage should be distributed with a view to efficiency and not on account of party exigencies.

In the future, as in the past, the construction and improvement of leading Colonization Roads, and of Railroads leading to the interior of the County, will receive my constant attention.

I am in favor of a change in the qualifications of Electors, in so far as to give to Municipal Electors the right to vote for a member for the Local Legislature.

I would also advocate the payment, out of the public funds, of witnesses in criminal cases, believing that the Crown has no right to demand their services without a fair remuneration.

Pledged to the station I will endeavor to use as utility of the Electors as possible in their localities, and explain more fully my views upon all public questions, and should they meet with your approval I shall be happy to receive your support.

Your obedient servant,
P. PEARCE.

Norwood, December 16, 1874.

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
West Riding
OF THE
COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH:

GENTLEMEN,—

Having received the unanimous nomination of the Reform Convention, to contest this Riding at the forthcoming general Election for the Ontario House of Assembly, I beg to offer myself as a candidate.

In soliciting your suffrages I have no private ends to serve or personal objects to attain, but do so in the interests of good government, and at the solicitation of many warm friends from all parts of the Riding.

My time and energies having been hitherto engaged in business, I am no professed politician or public orator, and I ask your support simply as a practical business man, desiring the prosperity of our Province at large, and of our own County in particular, and will, if elected, use my best efforts to secure that object.

I hesitate not to affirm that the present Government, under the leadership of the Honorable Mr. Mowat, has faithfully and honorably administered our affairs, and I will give them my cordial support so long as they continue to carry out a liberal and progressive policy, and give to the country the able and prudent legislation they have given in the past.

I approve of the Act for the consolidation of our Municipal Law, the School Act, the Administration of Justice, the Ballot, and the Income Franchise Acts. We are also indebted to the Mowat Administration for the Settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund indebtedness—a measure which must commend itself to the approbation of every impartial Elector, and reflects credit upon the Government which grappled with the difficult question.

I consider the Railway Policy of the Government calculated to advance the prosperity of the country; and as the proposed Ontario and Quebec Railway, and Railway extension northwards from Peterborough will assist our Agricultural, Manufacturing, and Commercial interests, they will have my warmest support.

I am in favor of liberal assistance to Colonization Roads, the encouragement of Immigration to our Province, and higher education for our people,

The Finances of the Province will engage my earnest attention, and I will always advocate a wise and careful management of the Public Funds, and the practice of such economy in all Departments of the Public service as is consistent with efficiency.

As to the questions which may arise during the next four years, I shall deal with them upon their merits, without reference to the party advancing them; and, if honored with your confidence, will, at all times, be prepared to give my best attention to all matters touching the welfare of this County, as well as to the consideration of Provincial affairs.

Hoping, before polling day, to have the pleasure of personally visiting many of the Electors of the Riding, and soliciting your best efforts to place me in the position of your representative,

I am, Gentlemen,
Your Obed't Servant,
GEO. A. COX.

Nassau Mills.

We were in error in saying that the Temperance Soiree at Nassau would be on Christmas day. It will be on New years day, and a pleasant time is expected.

Christmas Beef

The Meat Market had a good show of prime beef yesterday. Messrs. Winch & Howden had some particulrly fine halves and quarters of defunct oxen, and the other stands were but little behind.

Fair Day.

Our Christmas Fair on Tuesday last was unusually well attended, both by cattle and their owners, the day being fine and sleighing good. The Show of Fat Cattle was excellent and sales brisk.

Methodist South Church

A very successful meeting was held on Tuesday night, at the South Church, to celebrate the Sunday School Anniversary The attendance was large, the dialogues, music, etc., well received, and all passed off well.

Port Hope

This enterprising town can't get up a serious accident worth notice. A cabman tried it the other day by driving his cab right in front of an approaching train, the result being that himself and a boy were thrown to one side of the track, his two passengers to the other, and no one was seriously hurt except the horse.

English Church

A Musical and Literary Entertainment was given on Monday evening last in the School Room behind St. John's Church, in aid of the Sunday School Funds. The room was crowded, many being unable to find seats, and the various parts of the performance were well received. The receipts will probably reach $60.

New Singing School.

Mr. Millar informs us that he intends commencing a Singing School in the first or second week of the New Year, of which both time and place will be given through our columns in a future issue. This will be a favorable opportunity to acquire a knowledge of music and singing. Mr. Millar is an excellent teacher.

Railway By-law.

The By-law granting an additional Bonus to the Cobourg and Peterborough Railroad, passed on Monday last by a majority of 36, in spite of a pretty strong opposition from interested parties aided by those who care nothing for the advancement of railroads, and the best interests of the Town. The numbers were 238 for the bonus, and 202 against.

Run-a-way

On Sunday afternoon, about three, a horse and cutter were seen travelling along at a rapid pace up George Street, while a venturous pedestrian stood on a crossing and waved his cap as a signal to stop. This seemingly tending to soothe the excited feelings of the horse, he turned a corner hurriedly, and after leading his pursuers in another cutter round two or three blocks, was quietly recaptured.

Minden

The new county buildings at Minden have been accepted from the contractors. The building comprises the following:—A basement, which is of stone, contains a cell of oak, each four feet five inches by seven feet, and a day room eight feet by eleven feet; ceiling eight feet three inches, with two large windows, one at each end of the room, well barred. The outside door is of oak, lined with iron, and a porch at the entrance which gives it a neat appearance. The ground floor contains an entrance hall ten feet by nine feet. On the left hand is the stairway leading to the Public Hall, and on the right is the public office, twelve feet by twelve feet, fitted up with a substantial counter and drawers. In the centre of the building there is a private office seventeen feet by eleven feet six inches, and stone vault ten feet six inches by ten feet six inches. In the rear is the court room thirty feet by sixteen feet, from which a stairway leads to the basement. The height of the ceiling on this flat is eleven feet six inches. The upper flat contains the public hall, forty feet six inches by thirty feet six inches; two ante-rooms, eight feet by eight feet, one at each end of the platform, which is eight feet in width; height of platform twenty-one inches. The ceiling is diagonal wainscoating, and gives a fine appearance to the room, which is light and airy, having nine large windows and one circular one near the roof. The basement is of stone, and the vault is of the same material, and is fire proof. The main building is rough cast, shingles laid in mortar, and galvanized iron eve-troughing. The outside of window frames and door posts are painted stone color, and three steps lead from the street to the main entrance. The wood sheds and offices are in the rear, and the yard is fenced in, which gives it a compact appearance.

PRESENTATION

Mr. J. D. Christie has resigned his position as Teacher of Modern Languages in the Collegiate Institute, and the good wishes of many friends will accompany him to St. Catherines, whither he now goes to fill a similar position in the Collegiate Institute there. The teachers and pupils of the Peterborough Schools showed their appreciation of his zealous and efficient services during the past two years, by presenting him, on Friday last, with a handsome testimonial, as a reminder of the numerous friends he leaves behind him.

At the close of the Session, last Friday, the teachers and pupils of the Institute assembled in Miss Dowling's room, when an address was presented to Mr. Christie by the scholars, expressing their regret at his departure and their best wishes for his future welfare. The testimonial accompanying consisted of a very handsome Albert watch guard, a case containing a set of elegant little volumes — "Tales from Blackwood,"— with a gold pen, and one or two items of smaller value. Mr. Christie responded with genuine feeling to the address, and was followed by the Principal and the Rev. K. Maclennan, who occupied the chair.

We add our own regrets that the School has lost an efficient teacher, and the town a useful and popular citizen; and we wish him every prosperity in his new home.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electro Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes— "The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemeyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 1st, renders great caution necessary not to confound Dr. Wheeler's Compound Fluid of PHOSPHATES and Calisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similiarity in action or effect,

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from in fancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and nonore harm can result from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner. 50-tf

IN A CHURCHYARD

[illegible]

There's night upon the face of flame;
There's night on beauty's eye's;
Her pur - moments not plendent shame
From out their ashes rise.
In vain the clothing of prairie are rent:
Nor quaint nor silence breathe
The thought that flowers upon this sod,
The sacred hill beneath.

Ah, strangely sad, forlorn and drear
This mistaken stranger's sleep—
Just while the closely dying year
Is all that seems to weep!
God help him, in the bitter day—
His heart, his matters were!
Who hears the slightest sleep, at play
Upon his darling's grave!

—William Winter, in the Galaxy for December.

THE GUIBORD CASE.

From the English papers we see that the judgement of the Judicial Committee in this case was given on the 21st November last by S R. Phillimore. After reciting the facts connected with the Canadian Institute and the Roman Catholic Bishop of Montreal, and Guibord's death, Sir R. Phillimore proceeded to consider what were the merits of the case. The question was the right of Guibord to interment in the ordinary way in the cemetery of his parish, a right enforceable by his representative, and the proprietors of the cemetery were like a parson in England, subject to the rights of the churchyard, subject to the rights of the parishioners to be buried therein. The respondents did not contest that Guibord had that right, but alleged that they had refused nothing but ecclesiastical burial, for the refusal of which they were responsible only to the religious, and not to the civil authority. It seemed to be admitted on both sides that the law upon the point in dispute was to be found in the Quebec ritual, which did not differ in any material particular from the Roman ritual. To bring Guibord within the third rule of the Quebec ritual it would be necessary to show that he was excommunicated by name, that such a sentence of excommunication might be passed against a Roman Catholic in Canada; and that it might be the duty of the civil courts to respect and give effect to it their lordships did not deny. It was no doubt true that there was now in Canada no regular ecclesiastical courts such as existed and were recognized by the State when the Province formed part of the dominion of France. It must, however, be remembered that a bishop was always a judex ordinarius according to the canon law, and according to the canon law might hold a court and deliver judgment if he had not appointed an official to act for him. There was, however, no proof that any sentence of excommunication was ever passed against Guibard nominatim by the bishop or any other ecclesiastical authority. Indeed it was admitted at the bar that there was none. The cause of refusal finally insisted upon was that Guibord was a pecheur public within the meaning of the sixth rule. After alluding to the evidence on the subject the learned Judge observed that it was impossible wholly to avoid a suspicion that it had originally been intended to rely upon an ipso facto excommunication, and the subsequent defence of pecheur public was resorted to when it became manifest that a sentence of excommunication was necessary, and that none had been pronounced. What was the category of pechcur public to include? To allow a discretionary addition to or an enlargement of the categories specified in the ritual would be fraught with the most startling consequences. Their lordships were satisfied that a discretionary enlargement of the categories in the ritual would not have been deemed to be within the authority of the bishop by the law of the Gallican Church as it existed in Lower Canada before the session, and in their opinion it was not established that there had been such an alteration in the status or law of that Church founded on the consent of its members as would warrant such an interpretation of its ritual, and that the true and just conclusion of law on the point was, that the fact of being a member of the Institute did not bring a man within the category of a public sinner to whom Christian burial could be legally refused. The conclusion to which their lordships had come upon this difficult and important case was that the respondents had failed to show that Guibord was at the time of his death under any such valid, ecclesiastical sentence or censure as would, according to the Quebec ritual, or any law binding on Roman Catholics in Canada, justify the denial of ecclesiastical sepulture to his remains. They would advise her Majesty that the decree of the Queen of Quebec Bench and of the Queen of England be reversed. That the original decree of the Superior Court be varied, and that instead of the order made by that Court, it should be ordered that a peremptory writ of mandamus be issued, directed to "Les Cure et Marguilliers, etc." commanding them upon application by the Canadian Institute and upon tender of the accustomed fees, to prepare, or cause to be prepared, a grave in that part of the cemetery in which the remains of Roman Catholics who receive ecclesiastical burial are usually interred, for the burial of the remains of the said Joseph Guibord, and upon such remains being brought to the cemetery for that purpose in a reasonable and proper time, they do bury the remains in the said part of the cemetery or permit them to be buried there, and that the defendants do pay to the Canadian Institute all the costs of the widow in the lower courts, and of this appeal, except as to the plea of prescription. His Lordship concluded by expressing the regret of the Court that any conflict should have arisen between the ecclesiastical members of the Roman Catholic Church and the members of the Institute, and added that if any difficulties should arise as to the interment without religious ceremonial in that part of the cemetery now ordered, the ecclesiastical authorities could permit the performance of such ceremonies as might be necessary, as their lordships hoped that the question of burial with ceremonies could be considered by them and disposed of.

A Freak of Modern Fluck.

The Troy Whig relates the following: "We have heard much of the romance of auto-biography in outwitting time and annihilating space, but an anecdote related to us the other evening by Mr. W. P. Phillips, Assistant Agent of the Associated Press in New York, who was on a visit to this city, surpasses anything we have ever heard. A gentleman of the Western Union Telegraph office, at No. 145 Broadway, New York, when a telegram from Philadelphia, destined for Paris came over the wires. This message, like all others for France, was to go over the cable via Duxbury, Mass. The operator called Duxbury a few times, and then said, 'that fellow is asleep evidently, but the cable men are awake; I'll have to get one of them to go and shake him up.' So he stepped to another desk, called Plaister Cove in Newfoundland, and sent the following message: 'To cable operator, Duxbury. 'Please go in and wake up my own true love.' This message Plaister Cove beamed to send across the Ocean to Valentia, Ireland. From there it went to London; then it was hurried to Paris, and still onward to the European end of the French cable at St. Pierre. Then the operator there flashed it back to Duxbury. In less than two minutes by the clock the message had performed a journey of some 3,000 miles by land and sea as ordinarily by telegraphing at the Duxbury office, and in a manner a little prudent. 'That's a nice way to do,' Gerstand. 'Your own true love.'"

A Sensible Sun-Dial.—A sun-dial that strikes the hours has lately been invented and constructed by the Abbe Moigno. It is simply a modification of what is known as the color counter for registering the times at which the sun shines or is obscured. To effect this there are two balls one black and the other yellow, at opposite ends of a lever, equalized by a central pivot. When the sun shines the black ball absorbs more heat than the yellow one, and the vapour of liquid contained in the former is elevated to a higher temperature than in the latter. As the result the vapour leaves the one ball and being condensed in the other this becomes the heavier, disturbs the equilibrium of the system, and in so doing librates a weight, giving motion to a clock work attachment. In the sun-dial here referred to a pair of these balls is fixed at every hour mark. When the shadow of the gnomon reaches any particular hour mark one of the balls is shaded, a preponderance of liquid enters the ball, the lever and the mechahism is set going, and a gong sounded as many times as the number of the hour to be indicated. It is necessary, however, that the sun should shine at the time of the hour mark being passed by the shadow, or the time will not be struck.

Newspaper Sponges.—An exchange correctly says—There is no business, in all the wide world, so sponging as the art or trade of printing a newspaper. It really seems to us that public corporations, societies and associations in general, have a funny notion about printers. They think we ought to print, puff and publish all for nothing, that is, "free gratis." In other words they seem astonished if we ask half price only for an obituary notice, card of thanks, tribute of respect, a personal communication, or anything else that only interests a few persons, and not the general reader. They think that it costs no money to advertise, puff, etc. And thus one and another will sponge. They forget that this business made them known. They forget that printers ink makes merchants of their immediate fortunes. They forget that it takes money to pay compositors—to buy ink, type and paper; and lastly, they forget even to thank you for gratuitously toiling their brains or serving the public. Unfraternal age!

Mr. Beecher's Church.—Henry Ward Beecher took occasion, on Sunday last, to indulge in a few pleasant remarks concerning the vast audiences which assembled to hear him every Sunday at Plymouth Church. "This church," said Mr. Beecher, "is a most hospitable one: the feeling in the individual members, and in the pew-holders, is one of cordial hospitality, and every one of you that stay is welcome." He spoke a good word for the ushers, who have a difficult task to perform, but who have no salary, no perquisites, and no honor. "The only thing," said Mr. Beecher, "I have ever known them to receive in the way of a dividend, was a newspaper paragraph blowing them up, or some bitter complaint from a visitor." Mr. Beecher strongly objects to any "tramping round" while the voluntary is being played: no less unpleasant and objectionable is the confusion which results from seating people while the minister is reading the hymn and Scriptures.

A Beauty's Eight Trunks.—From a New York paper we learn of a novel dodge to evade the customs. Among the passengers on the steamship Ville de Paris which arrived from Havre lately, was a young English lady with eight large, heavily-laden trunks. She told the customs officers on the wharf that she was a lady-in-waiting attached to the Soldene Opera Bouffe Troupe performing at the Lyceum theatre, and that the trunks held her costumes for the company from the houses of various Parisian makers. She produced a paper purporting to be a contract with a dressmaker agent in Paris, signed by the manager of the Lyceum theatre. After hearing the story the officers permitted her to take away the trunks, free of duty. They afterward learned from Mr. Chizzolo and Miss Soldene that the woman was an impostor in these. One George O. Wilkes and Samuel Pomeroy Agent Chatterton stopped at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and there they were seized. In the trunks were from $12,000 to $30,000 worth of silk and velvet dresses, laces, embroideries, and other apparel for ladies. There was also a list of the consignees for whom the goods were intended, which contained the names of two gentlemen of Murray Hill and Fifth avenue. The duties on the goods are estimated at $8,000.

A prominent feature of the Catholic character is pride of creed. A very amusing instance occurs to us, one evening on the other day. A [illegible] working on the fifth floor, requiring a good map of Canada, sent to the workmen, or rather to the [illegible] for one. "It's a hard job to map Canada," said the boy, "and I'll bet it's very dough to make them in England or some Scotland, the say, but Canada—"

"Hold on!" said a Protestant compositor to the boy. "I object to you saying it is dough. I object to your saying it is dough. I object to your saying it is dough. I object to your

THE ELECTIONS.

It certainly is admirable on the part of the Reform electors of North Hastings, Bothwell, Muskoka, Addington and Simcoe, that they so promptly call their nominations and elections, and to bear it might also be said, fairly by it in their country. Many Conservatives appear to think that the franchise was given them to use for their personal gratification and they so use it, whilst others consider it merely as merchandize, to be sold to the highest bidder, whilst others again think that they must use it for party purposes and use the gratification of party feeling, without the slightest regard to the sacredness of the trust which has been thus confided to them, or the slightest desire to preserve their own honor or manhood. It is indeed fortunate that the number of such electors is very few as compared with those who do feel and who appreciate their position, else our boasted freedom would be of short duration. The liberties of the people can only be preserved by their intelligent and manly exercise of their rights and duties, for we all acknowledge that "that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance." We hope then that at the approaching election everyone will be ready to act upon the calls of his country, and will show that his citizenship shall not be disgraced by any dishonorable act. No country can prosper which is badly governed. No people can be contented or free who do not respect purity and independence, and as a comparatively new country like ours is of the last importance that all classes should strive together to build upon a solid and durable basis their civil and religious governments. We trust then that we shall witness at the approaching election a firm determination on the part of the people to ignore bigotry and prejudice, and to prove their gratitude for the freedom and blessings which they enjoy by voting for the Reform Candidates. Toryism, or Conservatism, or Liberal Conservatism if that pleases better, is but another name for reaction and a stop to national progress and happiness, whilst Reform looks forward to still greater advancement and prosperity, and no man who values his own self-respect or the further happiness and independence of the rising generation, can do so and vote for a Tory. The two things are utterly opposed to and inconsistent one with the other. Toryism would draw the people down and enslave them. Reform elevates and ennobles them. Toryism would destroy public liberty, whilst Reform seeks to improve and elevate it. In one word Toryism would, if it could, crush out and extinguish all freedom of thought and of action, and reduce the people to a condition of servitude. The electors are the intelligent not to know this, and, we trust, too independent to give their support to principles which if allowed to predominate would degrade and enslave them. And we look for a full manifestation of this feeling at the approaching election by their overwhelming vote in favor of the Reform candidates. No one can justly object to either of these for they are both well known men and worthy citizens, men who have given the best guaranty for their fitness by their honorable and successful career amongst us. And it is an old and true saying that if you want to get a man to represent you successfully, you must find a man who looks wisely and well after his own affairs.

EAST RIDING

A very large meeting of the electors was held in the Grammar School at Norwood on Monday night. The house was crowded. Peter Pearce, Esq., was called to the Chair. He expressed himself as pleased to preside at a meeting of the orderly people of Asphodel. He would try and secure a fair hearing to both parties.

Dr. O'Sullivan then took the platform. He must ask the indulgence of the electors as he had a bad cold. He was glad to see Mr. Pearce in the Chair, and he would take this opportunity of repudiating the insinuation he had heard that the retirement of the Chairman had been bought. He had too much respect for the Chairman to entertain such an idea for a moment, and he dismissed it with scorn. He was not an orator, and he was innocent of politics, but at school he had succeeded, and when he was a teacher he succeeded, and he succeeded in every thing he undertook: except playing a fiddle—a voice, "You are playing second fiddle to Carnegie now,"—cheers and laughter. Here the Doctor said he was not at all well,—indeed the doctors at Peterboro could certify that he was sick, but he would try and proceed. He disapproved of the Mowat Government, and it was as an opponent of that Government he came out. He had no personal interest to serve, but he became a candidate at great sacrifice and pecuniary loss. He was not at all bigoted but he thought the Government were guilty of hypocrisy in appointing a renegade, the Hon. R. W. Scott, to office. As condemned the selling of the Timber Limits north of Lake Huron extending over 5,000 or 500,000 square miles,—he was not sure which—but he condemned it, and the Model Farm was a model scandal—a scandal which exposed the privacy of a lady. Any Government that would be guilty of such a thing should be turned out. The Government was the most corrupt one which had ever cursed the country. What had they accomplished? he asked. He concluded by asking all to support him, and again claiming that he was "sick" he would ask their indulgence—no doubt after awhile he would learn to talk better.

The Doctor was evidently sick.

Mr. Dumble followed Dr. O'Sullivan, but the Doctor seemed to get sicker under his treatment.

Mr. Carnegie followed Mr. Dumble with his usual jumble of misstatements and bold assertions. He appeared a little put out by the cold reception he got—having succeeded in eliciting some hisses and remarks from the audience that were not inspiring.

Taken altogether there is little hope but that the Doctor, under the care of Doctor Carnegie, will continue sick until after the Eighteenth, when the fever will probably break, leaving him weak but with his senses.

Big Invention

Lloyd, the famous map man, who made all the maps for General Grant and the Union army, certificates of which he published, has just invented a way of getting a relief plate from steel as as to print Lloyd's Map of American Continent—showing from ocean to ocean—on one entire sheet of bank note paper 40x50 inches large, on a lightning press, and colored, dried and varnished for the wall as fast as it can be printed, and mailing anywhere in the world for 25 cents, or unvarnished, for 10 cents. This map shows the whole United States and Territories in a group, from surveys to 1875, with a million places on it, such as towns, cities, villages, mountains, lakes, rivers, streams, railroads, railroad stations, &c. This map is worth $5 in every house. Send 25 cents to the Lloyd Map Company, Philadelphia, and you will get a copy by return mail.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[illegible]

Having at the request of numerous friends upon matters of a more general character, I come now to those to which your attention is being more particularly directed and respecting which it is sought to mislead you. And in the first place I will deal with Mr. Scott's address, an address which I have read with some astonishment, because I do think that in this communication Mr. Scott should have shown more simplicity and candor and not labored so hard to try to pervert facts and to mystify and mislead you. He doubt his calculated upon the effect which loose and random statements and assertions generally have upon the minds of a majority of those who read or hear them, and that it is easier to make charges than to disprove them, however false or unfounded they may be, and also upon the fact that an accusation once made with apparent sincerity is pretty surely to go forth with seeming truth, and until exposed will be taken for granted. It is easy to charge the present Government with extravagance, but it is another thing to verify this charge. As a lawyer, Mr. Scott quite understands the rule that when his client has no case, he must abuse his opponent, and no one knows better than Mr. Scott that in a majority of instances this kind of tactics is certain to succeed.

When, in his address, Mr Scott stated "the present administration has permitted their expenditure to exceed their "receipts; while their predecessors in the four years of their administration added "four millions of moneys to the funds of "the province," he just made one of those loose unguarded and unfounded statements to which I have above referred, without one particle of proof to support it, assuming no doubt, that perchance some one would believe it. He did not tell you that "their predecessors" squeezed every dollar out of the country they could, that they made the settlers pay for every tree and even the stone upon their land, that they sent these moneys out of the province and placed them in the Bank of Montreal, well knowing that they would be used out of the country for the profit of the Bank alone; that they would not see one dollar of these millions except it was to purchase political support, as witness the conduct of the leader of "their predecessors," the late Sandfield McDonald, who, when asked by a deputation of gentlemen from Strathroy for some aid to a public undertaking, said, "What in h—ll has Strathroy done for me." It would not suit the purpose of Mr. Scott to tell you of this, neither did he tell you that the present Government have at this moment, after spending millions upon aid to railways and land drainage and colonization roads, and fully three and a half millions more in settling the Municipal Loan Fund debt, scattering this large sum among the several municipalities of the Province, after spending a considerable sum in furthering Immigration, and several hundred thousand dollars in the building of the Central Prison and in purchasing the Agricultural Farm, and building the Agricultural College thereon, after building the Model School at Ottawa, and establishing and aiding the other public institutions of the Province, besides defraying all departmental and legislative and other expenses, that the present Government have at this present moment, all safe and sound, in the public treasury the snug little sum of Five Millions Seven Hundred and Fifty-six Thousand Dollars! A strange way this of "permitting their expenditure to exceed their receipts." All I can say is, I hope they will continue in this way. Neither did Mr. Scott tell you that the late Sandfield McDonald, while at the head of the Government, spent nearly $6000 on a trip to Prince Arthur's Landing. Oh, no! it would not suit Mr. Scott to do this, but he finds fault with the present Government for spending the public money for the benefit and improvement of the country. It did not suit Mr. Scott to tell you that up to the 1st of January, 1874, the present Government had appropriated in this way $4,416,308, and that they still could show over and above, this vast expenditure, nearly Six Millions of Dollars of a surplus.

As a proof of the wise and economical management of the present Government, I may mention the following. For the three years of the Sandfield McDonald Government the average receipts for each year from all sources were $2,429,807. During the two succeeding years of the present Government the average receipts for each year were three millions eleven thousand four hundred and thirty-one dollars, showing a gain of nearly $600,000 each year in favor of the present Government. The average increase, during the same period, upon the receipts from Crown Lands and woods and forests were $405,902, and other lands $23,070. Mr. Scott also says that the present Government increased their expenditure $800,000, implying thereby that this money was wasted by extravagance. But he did not tell you how they spent the money because that would not have suited his purpose. I will do this for him. They expended $176,783 of it in additional public buildings; also $106,856 additional for education; for asylum maintainance, $51,689; for immigration, $129,466; for colonization roads, $99,541, and money paid to municipalities, $45,861—making in all $601,148—a trifle over the $800,000 mentioned by Mr. Scott. This is the way this increased expenditure occurred. In the same reckless way Mr. Scott charges that the Government unnecessarily lost $300,000 in the sale of Municipal Debentures in England. He simply makes the assertion but offers no proof of its correctness, just as he does with all the rest of his charges. Now I tell you that the Provincial Treasurer, during the late Session of parliament, clearly and satisfactorily proved that he sold these debentures of rural municipalities on better terms than the agent of the City of London, sent expressly to England for the purpose, could sell their debentures for, and so satisfactory was the evidence of the Provincial Treasurer upon this point that no objection was or could be offered to it. Mr. Scott also finds fault with the distribution of the Representation Bill of the present Government. Big what, pray, the fools. During the opening up and the settlement of new districts the people elected to the entitled to be represented in Parliament, and the Government would feel justified for this reason and also provided for the more equal division of the population in other counties, and if fairly have the Government acted in this matter still their opponents in the House might complain. Of course it will be admitted as the country is settled it has a right to be represented in the legislature, but the Opposition are so hard pressed for reasons for their finding fault they are obliged to mention things which are deserving of approval, and which they did approve of in Parliament, thinking, no doubt, that the people will not know the difference. Mr. Scott also says in his address that "the Public Institutions of the Province "are prostituted into asylums for politi"cal favorites, and that the Government "imagined for the survey of about "double that cost of $1,500 of the people's "money." In this paragraph it has reference to the dismissal of Mr. McCandless, late Professor of the Agricultural College at Guelph, but not until the students and officials had become demoralized, and only then in order to save the institution from ruin. The whole matter was investigated by a Committee of the House who absolved the justice of the Government in acting as they did. It was also shown that this ex-pimp Professor of Agriculture ordered the turnips to be gone over with a roller in order to kill the bugs, and it was shown that in every respect this gentleman was utterly unfit for this position; and so the Opposition failed in making any capital out of Mr. McCandless, although they had promised him a seat in Parliament if he would only lend himself to assist them to injure the Government. When Mr. McCandless was on evidence before the Committee he frankly admitted that he wanted "to have a dig at Mr. McKellar." Of course it is the rule with the Government when they dispense with a public servant to give him a retiring allowance, and in this case Mr. McCandless was, I believe, allowed $1,500 because he said he had sustained a heavy loss in removing to this country in order to fill this office, and Mr. Mowat, through his usual kindly feeling granted his request. A new Professor has been appointed and everything is now doing well. When I tell you that Mr. McCandless is a Tory you will readily see that in making the appointment in question, the Government were not influenced by political feeling at all. But the Opposition must have something to complain of be it ever so small, and they must be hard pressed for a grievance when they would take such a step as this.

I desire here to call your attention to your own duties and obligations as electors. As citizens you have given you a most important trust, the most important, civilly speaking, which you can enjoy. To you is intrusted the duty of choosing representatives in Parliament to manage and carry out the business of your country, and you are responsible for the manner in which you discharge this trust. The matter is not a personal one at all, it is not a question of mere individual favoritism, but is a question of country, a question paramount to all other considerations and feelings. If you desire honest, economical Government, you will vote for the Reform candidate, but if all you care for is to advance mere party interests, to help to enrich the few at the expense of the many, to retard the progress and intelligence and happiness of the whole people in order that there may be raised and kept up a class privileged over all others, then you will vote for a "Liberal Conservative," in other a Tory, in other words a supporter and friends of the old family compact. I can hardly believe that, at this day, this time of education and progress, there will be many found who will knowingly lend themselves to any such reactionary policy as this. I can scarcely think that the honest, independent and enlightened people of this prosperous and happy Province of Ontario will willingly suffer themselves to be made use of for any such purpose as this, nor can I believe that parents could desire to aid in placing themselves or their children in positions of social or political inferiority, merely for the sake of gratifying a selfish feeling, or to place in positions of trust and confidence those who are sure to abuse their confidence. The Reform Party is the people's party. The Tory Party is the party of class and of selfishness. The past history of Canada satisfactorily proves this to be true. Every battle that has been won against corruption and despotism has been won by Reformers. Every concession that has been obtained, every privilege that has been secured, has been obtained by Reformers. Reformers have obtained for us civil and religious liberty. Reformers procured for us the whole people equality before the law, and through the struggles of Reformers every avenue to advancement has been thrown open to all, to the poor and humble as well as to the rich, and now, to-day, Reformers can truly say that their struggles and their labors have raised up to positions of trust and honor all those who are worthy of confidence, and that it is now possible for the ambitious and deserving, however poor or humble, to work their way up to the highest positions which it is in the power of the people to bestow, and Reformers have done this in the face of the opposition of every Tory in the land. I have often been surprised when I have seen men, well meaning and honest men, making a boast of their Conservative view, and I have wondered that they did not ask themselves the question, "Why they were Conservatives?" and whether if they did so, they could satisfactorily answer the question. I wondered they did not look into the past history of their country in order to discover which of the two political parties was really the people's party, and which party had the most claim upon them for support. And I have wondered all the more when I saw how they and their children were treated by their political leaders, and the great social distinctions which existed between them, and which it is the policy of the Tory party to coerce and enforce, Canada is no country for disabilities like these. All people in this fair land are entitled to stand upon a full, free and perfect equality of rights and privileges, and no man should be so cowardly or so mean as to be willing to surrender up to any other man, or to any class of men, the honor and the independence of himself and his children, "Onward and Upward" should be his motto, always keeping in view the fact that some day he may be able to see some of them elevated and distinguished and receiving the reward, which, in this free county, is open to fellow honest industry and merit. Some of our most prominent men, filling to-day high offices of trust and honor, were men who have risen from the ranks, men who by their perseverance and patriotism have worked their way up to the highest rung on the political ladder, and who are now striving to open the way so that others may follow their example. But wherever you point to such a man as this, immediately the Tory leaders will tell you of his humble origin, and they will draw their skirts around them lest they become soiled by contact with such low and vulgar people. With these aristocratic gentlemen labor is looked upon as a badge of inferiority, and the man who toils or who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow is not fit to come together with the well-to-do-ing. It is not so bad in this respect in Canada now as it was formerly when Toryism was rampant, and if it is not you have Reformers to thank for it. Those of you then, who feel that you are not degraded citizens, who feel that honest worth and honest industry can't to be the test of a man's position, should come forward like men at the approaching election and vote for those who acknowledge your rights, and for a Government who have shown themselves so to be truly the friends of the people.

The Conservatives are fond of parading before you the virtues of the Sandfield MacDonald Government. They tell you of some good things which he did, but they don't tell you of the bad things. They don't tell you that he was a renegade Reformer. They don't tell you that his administration was entirely in the hands of the Tories and that it was made to do double duty, viz.: to serve a Tory Government here and to serve a Tory Government at Ottawa, and that their whole desire was to manipulate Ontario politics as to uphold Sir John's Government at Ottawa. They don't tell you of the shameful conduct of the Sandfield MacDonald Government in reference to the Silver Islet business, how, after that rich mining property was sold to some American gentlemen and a very large sum of money paid they repudiated the sale, broke faith with the people, disgraced the whole Province in order that they might point to their conduct and serve the Hon. Mr. McDougall by obtaining control of a property worth more than a million of dollars, and that this nefarious transaction was only put an end to by turning them out of power. They don't tell you that between 1868 and 1871 that Government increased its expenses three quarters of a million of dollars. They don't tell you that they spent some $120,000 in building a very common looking house for the Governor to live in, and a large sum, several thousand dollars, in building a stable to keep his horses in. These and many other similar acts which I have not space to enumerate, the Conservatives do not tell you, but they seek to draw away your attention from them by trumping up false charges against Reformers, charges which they know are untrue and of which they produce no adequate proof. They know it is easy to make these charges, and they reckon upon their having some effect.

The time is now come when you, the people, have the opportunity of making known your wishes in regard to public affairs. The present government come before you with a record of their services, showing an honest and faithful administration of the business of the country; and they hesitate not to refer you to their legislative and administrative acts and doings, feeling confident of receiving your approval. The Conservative party are making a desperate struggle to get the mastery, and upon you, the electors, now devolves the important duty of deciding into whose hands you will confide the destinies of the country for the next four years. Upon you now rests this great responsibility, and in proportion as you discharge that duty properly and well, so will be your reward. The Province is now prosperous and contented, and if you have the wisdom to continue in power the present liberal, economical and honest government, you may reasonably expect to see your country, during the coming four years, far advanced in wealth, prosperity, peace and happiness. To this end you should vote for the Reform candidates. To this end you should lay aside all considerations and feelings of a personal or private nature, and should go to the polls actuated solely by feelings of patriotism, and by a desire to serve and benefit your country. Recollect that it is not the best speaker who makes the most useful and practical legislator. What you want in your representative is not so much an orator as a sensible man of business, one who, in his own affairs, has given you proof of his fitness and his business capability. In one word, you should take care to select a plain, sensible, practical representative—one who does not, intend to make a trade of politics, who has no axe to grind, no private interests to serve by going into Parliament. But one who seeks to go there from a laudable feeling of ambition, and from a desire to strive and win honor by doing his duty honestly and well. Such are the men who now claim your votes as Reformers. They rest their success altogether upon your liberality and your intelligence, and they appeal to you for support upon the common ground of country and duty.

REFORMER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In January 1870, Mr. Scott, the Tory Candidate for West Peterborough, would have been defeated by Mr. Thos. Chambers for the Mayoralty, but for Catholic votes under the leadership of Mr. Tierney, Mr. Doherty, Mr. Moloney and others. This I heard him acknowledge myself, and also that in 1864 he could not have defeated Mr. Dumble for the Local House, only for the Catholic votes. Mark how he pays us back!

On last Monday the Municipal Elections for the Town of Peterborough took place. Among the Councillors nominated were two Catholics, viz: Thos. Cahill for Ward No. 1 and Mr. P. D. Doran, of the firm of Doran and Gibbons for Ward No. 2. In No. 2 Ward the candidates were Messrs. Hopkins, Beal, Patterson, Douglass and Doran, or in other words four Protestants and one Catholic; yet Mr. Modest Ex-Mayor Scott, as Mr. John O'Donohoe very graphically styled him, thirds Catholics are good enough to vote for him, but according to his vote for Councillors on Monday last, they are not entitled to Municipal or other honours. He voted for Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Beal, and Mr. Douglass, although the latter was a Reformer as well as Mr. Doran. We (Irish Catholics) thought that, according to our numbers, we ought to have at least two out of the twelve to represent us, but Mr. Modest Ex-Mayor Scott thought otherwise.

Mr. Scott also dogged the footsteps of Mr. John O'Donohoe when the battle was raging for East Peterborough yet the respectable political gamester pretends to be as innocent as a sucking dove. I hope that no Irish Catholic will be resentful enough to vote for Mr. Modest Ex-Mayor Scott on the 19th inst. I hope they will not act the Spaniel and lick the foot that spurns them. Mr. Doran is a man that the slightest stain was never pointed at, yet Mr. Scott could not vote for him, though bound going to vote for Mr. Scott. Mr. Doran is one of our leading and successful Catholic Merchants in Peterborough.

Mr. Scott is like the Irish fox hound good to hunt or hound down one of his own species.

With apologies for trespassing on your valuable space I remain

Yours truly,
AN IRISH CATHOLIC.

Peterborough Jan. 6, 1875.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,

It would I am sure be considered a favor by many in this Riding, if you could by any possibility tell us who is to be the standard bearer of the Great Liberal Conservative Party.

First is a Convention at Norwood and though every means is used to secure the Nomination for a Peterborough man it is given to another—for a time all seems quiet and the Nominee, Mr. Pearce, issues his address, but woe to him! that address does not please the whole social Liberal Conservatives, or perhaps better said A Liberal Conservative, and at once steps are taken to consign Mr. Pearce to oblivion.

The next we hear is that the "disappointed scribbler" is consulting the oracle, not that at Delphis—as to the advisability of his becoming a Candidate; but the Gods being unpropitious he reluctantly consents to withdraw in favor of anyone except the issuer of Mr. Pearce's address.

The idea of Mr. Peter Pearce being the chosen man was unbearable. But Mr. Pearce shall not run. He must retire one way or another. Hence a monster Convention at Keene on the 30th, and true now as of old the mountains labor &c., and we hear of another Nominee in the person of Dr. O'Sullivan, who seems to differ from the rejected Nominee only in being a little more Liberal. Mr. Pearce disapproved of the distribution of funds by the Mowat Government; but Dr. O'Sullivan does not waste his breath over trifles, he "heartily condemns the policy pursued by the present Government of Ontario during the last three years" and as might be expected will "take the earliest opportunity of voting want of confidence." In everything else he and Mr. Pearce are one, as is shown by the fact that nearly all the rest of Mr. P's address is copied word for word into that of this last Liberal Conservative.

Why the Great Party should have chosen a man who knows so little of politics as to be unable to construct an address of his own cannot be generally understood, and it is very doubtful that their present choice would ever have been heard of in politics at all had it not been for the very manly and honorable course he took in 1872 in publicly branding as a "Fenian" a man who was and is as loyal a subject and as good a citizen as he may ever hope to be—a co-religionist of his own, and one holding a position very similar to the one now held by the worthy Dr. O'Sullivan, that of a candidate seeking the suffrage of the electors of the East Riding of Peterborough.

While this last nominee so heartily condemns the whole policy of the Mowat Government he is very careful to leave for himself, a loophole through which he can slip in case an attempt is made to force upon the Government any objectionable measure, such for instance as the Orange Bill or anything of that description.

Out upon such unmasked hypocrisy! If a man comes before the electors of East Peterborough he must plainly avow his Principles, and adhere to them and not in the same breath proclaim himself both a fire eater and a most bitter partisan, and before closing his mouth, cautiously let himself down as an Independent.

Surely such a man is never proposing to face the electors, it cannot be intended to carry him to the polls. Voters of the East Riding will weigh well the consequences before recording their votes for a man who with different classes and in different localities preaches different shades of politics.

Yours, &c.,
CACHE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

The annual meeting of the South Monaghan and South Cavan Bible Society was held in the Presbyterian Church, Centreville, on last Monday evening 21st. We had one of the best meetings we ever had, a large Congregation and Speakers and a collection more than double what it was on the previous year. The first speech was by a layman, (a Mr. Wright) and he spoke very much to the point. The next by the Minister, Rev'd Wm. Mitchell, and the last by the agent, the Rev'd Charles Fish, of your town. I will not attempt to give even a synopsis of what either of them said, for I would only spoil the matter in the effort. If the Bible cause was as ably advocated at such meetings held in other places it would soon tell. I cannot but say that the Society was fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Fish. I give you the names of our officers and Committee for the coming year;—John D. Armstrong, President; Robert Waddell, Treasurer; Hugh Waddell, Depositary: J.W. McBain, Secretary; Committee—H. Crossley, S. Might, Robt Lang, Rob Byers, A. Anderson, jr John Byers, J R. Pengally, John Riddell, H. Emberson J. A. Turnbull, J. Larmour, E. Kerr, W. Adams, Wm. Rutherford, T. Williamson, H. Elsewhere in this issue will be found an announcement to the effect that the well known firm of Roger's & Co., Ashburnham, has dissolved; and that Mr. Rogers will continue the Clearing Sale until the stock is cleared out. This is an excellent opportunity to buy goods cheap.

Nassau.

A temperance Soiree was held at Nassau, on New Year's Day, and was well attended. After discussing an excellent tea, the visitors were entertained by addresses from the Rev. C. Fish, the Rev. Mr. Davis, and Messrs Portland and Wright. The day passed off very pleasantly.

Horticultural Society.

The Peterborough Horticultural Society will hold their annual meeting in the Council Chamber, on Tuesday next, the 12th inst., at half past three in the afternoon, and we would with great pleasure see a large attendance there to support a society so well deserving the aid of all flower lovers.

School Trustees.

The Election of a School Trustee in each Ward, to fill vacancies, will come off on Wednesday next. We have heard a report in connection with this contest, that Mr. McClelland wishes to retire from the representation of Ward number Two, but have that gentleman's authority to contradict any statement of the kind.

Young Canadians.

The Yong Canadians of this town held their Fourth Annual Ball in the Music Hall on, New Year's Eve. The affair was a complete success, and the members of the Society turned out in great force, to attend. About fifty couples were present, and dancing was kept up with great spirit, and enjoyment till not far from daylight on New Year's morning.

Church Re-Opening.

The Baptist Church was reopened for divine service on Sunday last, the 3rd inst., after having been closed for some weeks. This was necessary for the refitting and enlargement of the Church, which has been re-seated, re-painted, and and rendered attractive in all its interior arrangements. The Rev. John Torrance M. A. from Toronto, preached the first of the initiatory services at half past ten in the morning, and the Rev. Kenneth Maclennan, of this town, conducted the afternoon services. Mr. Torrance preached a second sermon in the evening, and all the services were attended by large and attentive audiences. A Social was held at the newly opened Church on Tuesday evening, when the building was filled to the doors, many being unable to obtain admittance. Tea was discussed as well as the crowded state of the rooms permitted, and then addresses were delivered by the Rev. D. D. Castle, of Toronto, Rev. J. Torrance, of Toronto, and several of the local Ministers. The Choir "discoursed most sonorous music" both on Sunday and at the Soiree. The congregation were much pleased with their rejuvenated Church, which has been much improved by the alteration lately made.

Music Hall.

As will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere, the New York Opera House Combination, under the management of E. E. Snow, will favor our citizens with a performance in the Music Hall on Saturday evening next. Miss Montford, the leading attraction, is, we understand, a very good actress, and her support all that could be desired.

Giving Up Business.

We wish to draw our readers attention to our advertising columns where it will be seen that Mr. John Moloney, one of our oldest merchants, intends retiring from business. Before giving up business he proposes a great clearing sale of his large stock of Groceries, &c. In order to reduce so large a stock in so short a time, (six weeks) he intends making a sacrifice of the whole stock. We would advise those in want of Groceries, &c., to call and see Mr. Moloney's stock before purchasing, as the stock was all purchased before the advance; consequently bargains will be given as he proposes selling at cost. See the prices whether you purchase or not.

SELWYN.

A Soiree was held in the Good Templars' Hall, Selwyn, on Christmas Day. The weather being pleasant there was a large attendance of both old and young, and good cheer prevailed generally. Tea was served at 5:30 p.m. The tables groaned beneath their load of "good things," which were pronounced by all parties to be "first-rate," both in quality and quantity, the tea, iced cakes and various etceteras, spoke well for the culinary powers of the ladies in the vicinity of Selwyn. We have seen somewhere the stanza—

> Heaven bless the wives that fill our board,
> With little buns and honey,
> They receive life cheering, soul inspiring cups,
> But don't they spend the money.

But the wives, or shall we say ladies? of Selwyn, can do more than this. As is usual on such occasions, the young people amused themselves during the day by driving and merry making in various ways. The "love sinking" was to a great extent accomplished by those whom Shakespeare describes in his Liver's Complaint—thus

> Small show of man was yet upon his chin,
> His Phœnix down began just to appear,
> Like unshorn velvet, on that termless skin,
> Whose hue ere long he'll wear.

Tea having been served and the tables cleared, all seated themselves (those who could find seats) in an orderly manner, when Mr. H. M. Duff, the present Worthy Chief, was chosen Chairman. The Rev. Mr. Richards, B. C. Minister, Lakefield, opened the proceedings with prayer. Then followed addresses, music, dialogues and readings. Mr. John McCamus first addressed the audience, he referred principally to the debasers set up by non-temperance people why they drink &c. The next address was by Mr. Crook, Indian Village, who took up the drinkers' argument that the drinking of intoxicating liquors is not forbidden in the scriptures, and in an able address repudiated the argument in toto. The Rev. Mr. Richards spoke of the immense amount of money invested in the traffic in liquor, he took up the argument that as many men had a great amount of capital invested in the traffic, thinking it would be safe under the promised protection of the government, it would be an act of injustice to them to do away with the traffic and liquor and thus ruin their means of obtaining a livelihood. He instanced the conduct of the government of Great Britain in dealing with the slave trade and would have our government do with the liquor dealers as Britain did with the slaveholders, remunerate them for their loss. The Rev. N. Clark, followed in an able address, touching the revenue of the country, and how it would be affected by a prohibitory liquor law. He dwelt upon the question, shall we do evil that good may come? The liquor traffic was an evil, a great evil, spreading ruin and degradation throughout the length and breadth of the land, was it right that this should continue in order to pour money into the treasury of the country. Mr Scott dealt with the subject of Prohibition generally, but as there seems to be but one opinion on the subject, it is unnecessary to quote his remarks. There were two dialogues, very appropriate ones, and a reading, an excellent choir discoursed sweet music at intervals. Votes of thanks were tendered to the speakers and choir when the Rev. N. Clark pronounced the benediction and all returned to their homes well pleased with themselves and the days amusement. On the following evening, Saturday, the members of the Lodge and others from the immediate vicinity met in the same place to eat up the fragments that "remained. This being done, addresses, reading and music followed. The proceeds of both evenings amounted to about $60.—Com.

OF THE

East Riding

OF THE

COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH:

GENTLEMEN,—

Having been selected by a large and influential Reform Convention held in Ashburnham on the 17th of November, to be a candidate in the interest of the Mowat government in the approaching contest, I respectfully announce my acceptance of the important trust and solicit your votes and influence to elect me.

My political views are so well known that it appears to me unnecessary to re-state them, were it not that I do not desire to be considered as uttering any uncertain sounds on matters of public interest.

I believe the present Government, known as the Mowat Government, have managed our public affairs wisely and economically, with a due regard to the progress and prosperity of the country. Their schemes for aiding Railways, and for settling the Municipal Loan Fund have merited general approbation, by settling a question of great difficulty, while over three millions of dollars have been returned to the people to wipe out old indebtedness, or to be used in local works of public importance. Their management of the Finances also recommends itself to the intelligence of the people, and if elected they shall have my cordial support so long as they thus prudently discharge the trusts committed to them.

I am in favour of using the surplus from year to year, on public works of general utility, calculated to develop the resources of the province, and ensure the comfort and prosperity of the people. Hoarding it up to quarrel over, or placing it in banks at four to five per cent, while the people are taxing themselves heavily to build Railways, Colonization Roads, &c., is unwise; as any sum expended now, while the people are struggling to clear, fence and improve their homes, is worth ten times as much spent ten or twenty years hence, when the people have overcome the difficulties of new settlers, and have attained to a position enabling them to pay their way, and build their own roads and bridges.

Railroads from East to West of our County and to the Northward, would materially assist in developing the mineral, forest and manufacturing wealth of the County, and, if elected, I will do all I can to encourage the construction of those now projected, and their continuation Eastward and Westward to the chief markets, and Northward to the forest and mineral regions of our County. The construction and improvement of Colonization Roads shall have my especial attention, as I know they are calculated to add to the comfort of those persons who are contending with the difficulties settlers in the back country have to encounter, because of the distance from market and poor means of ingress and egress at first.

I am opposed to Class Legislation, and would only support Laws founded on equal rights to all classes of our citizens, irrespective of creed, of birth, or of the dead issues of the past.

All measures introduced, no matter from which party emanating, will have my careful consideration, but I will only support those which I believe to be for the good of the country, without regard to party or party exigencies.

I hope to see as many as possible of the electors visiting my canvass rooms. I shall be glad to explain my views more fully on any matter of public interest. In the meantime I would respectfully and confidently request all friendly to my election, and all who desire the continuation of wise and useful legislation, to be earnest and persevering in their efforts to the end that a triumphant success may be secured for the Reform Candidate, and for the Mowat Government.

I am,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. STRATTON.

December 11th, 1874.

TO THE ELECTORS

OF THE

West Riding

OF THE

COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH:

GENTLEMEN,—

Having received the unanimous nomination of the Reform Convention, to contest this Riding at the forthcoming general Election for the Ontario House of Assembly, I beg to offer myself as a candidate.

In soliciting your suffrages I have no private ends to serve or personal objects to attain, but do so in the interests of good government, and at the solicitation of many warm friends from all parts of the Riding.

My time and energies having been hitherto engaged in business, I am no professed politician or public orator, and I ask your support simply as a practical business man, desiring the prosperity of our Province at large, and of our own County in particular, and will, if elected, use my best efforts to secure that object.

I hesitate not to affirm that the present Government, under the leadership of the Honorable Mr. Mowat, has faithfully and honorably administered our affairs, and I will give them my cordial support so long as they continue to carry out a liberal and progressive policy, and give to the country the able and prudent legislation they have given in the past.

I approve of the Act for the consolidation of our Municipal Law, the School Act, the Administration of Justice, the Ballot, and the Income Franchise Acts. We are also indebted to the Mowat Administration for the Settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund indebtedness—a measure which must commend itself to the approbation of every impartial Elector, and reflects credit upon the Government which grappled with the difficult question.

I consider the Railway Policy of the Government calculated to advance the prosperity of the country; and as the proposed Ontario and Qeebec Railway, and Railway extension northwards from Peterborough will assist our Agricultural, Manufacturing, and Commercial interests, they will have my warmest support.

I am in favor of liberal assistance to Colonization Roads, the encouragement of Immigration to our Province, and higher education for our people.

The Finances of the Province will engage my earnest attention, and I will always advocate a wise and careful management of the Public Funds, and the practice of such economy in all the departments of the Public service as is consistent with efficiency.

As to the questions which may arise during the next four years, I shall deal with them upon their merits, without reference to the party advancing them; and, if honored with your confidence, will, at all times, be prepared to give my best attention to all matters touching the welfare of this County, as well as to the consideration of Provincial affairs.

Hoping, before polling day, to have the pleasure of personally visiting many of the Electors of the Riding, and soliciting your best efforts to place me in the position of your representative,

I am, Gentlemen,
Your Obed't Servant,
GEO. A. COX.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively Cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity bane back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Golland, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be excelled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "Send me one gross further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Wicodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Riverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Prop., Whitby, and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking STRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness, Nov. 21st, 1874, makes it a matter of necessity not to confound Dr Wheeler's Compound Fluid of PHOSPHATES and Calcaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. IN MEMORIAM.

JOSEPH TROTT BLACKBURN, ESQ., CONSTABLE, WHO DIED NOV. 25, 1874, AGED 56 YEARS.

Man, like the morning vapor dead
Sings at the dawn of day,
That lasts the day till the sun's rays
Drink him in all away.

Or like the blooming scented flowers,
Which in our gardens grow,
Whose sweet perfume doth scent the air
Till frost winds on them blow.

So man the breath of life retains,
Until his course on earth his stay,
Till death his constant foe doth change,
And sends his soul away.

'Twas so with our departed friend,
So sudden was the stroke,
Friends never dreamed that it was death
Till the thread of life was broke.

His farm house was just finished,
When death did on him call,
And sent him to the narrow house
Appointed for us all.

Now lying in the silent tomb,
And done with all things here,
He, who was to his family
A loving father dear.

His sudden exit may it be
A warning to us all,
To think upon our latter end
Ere death upon us call.

A. GRAHAM.

Lines addressed to the Electors of the County of Peterborough

Election time is drawing near,
Electors all your minds prepare,
For Britain true to live,
Let truth and judgment guide you now,
Be not discouraged, bound be those
Who hath a vote to give.
Consider that the men you send
Can vote either to make or mend
The laws themselves to suit.
Then may who have given freedom
Convey death wrong up in the past,
You surely will keep out.
Rise them that we Britons call
Its equal justice vote all,
In what they're asking for.
For they want neither more nor less
Than vile corruption to suppress--
The people's rights secure.
There's Cox and STRATTON now are out,
Many time often there's hot shout,
Should known ye like to find;
Men who for many years now gone,
Has in the public been well known
For uprightness of mind.
Men like them at this time we need,
And most here, are we can be free'd
From the compact lot.
Then be advised Electors all,
And listen to a friendly call,
For Cox and Stratton vote.

'A. GRAHAM.

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND.

It was Christmas Eve. The night was very dark and the snow falling fast, as Hermann, the charcoal-burner, drew his cloak tighter around him, and the wind whistled fiercely through the trees of the Black Forest. He had been to carry a load to a castle near, and was now hastening home to his little hut. Although he worked very hard, he was poor, gaining barely enough for the wants of his wife and his four little children. He was thinking of them, when he heard a faint wailing. Guided by the sound, he groped about and found a little child, scantily clothed, shivering and sobbing by itself in the snow.

"Why, little one, have they left thee here all alone to face this cruel blast?"

The child answered nothing, but looked piteously up in the charcoal burner's face.

"Well, I cannot leave thee here. Thou would'st be dead before the morning."

So saying, Hermann raised it in his arms, wrapping it in his cloak, and warming its little hands in his bosom. When he arrived at his hut, he put down the child and tapped at the door, which was immediately thrown open, and the children rushed to meet him.

"Here, wife, is a guest to our Christmas supper," said he, leading in the little one, who held timidly to his finger with its tiny hand.

"And welcome he is," said the wife. "Now let him come and warm himself by the fire."

The children all pressed round to welcome and gaze at the little new-comer. They showed him their pretty fir-tree, decorated with bright, colored lamps in honor of Christmas Eve, which the good mother had endeavoured to make a fête for the children.

Then they sat down to supper, each child contributing of its portion for the guest, looking with admiration at its clear blue eyes and golden hair, which shone so as to shed a brighter light in the little room; and as they gazed, it grew into a sort of halo around his head, and his eyes beamed with a heavenly lustre. Soon two white wings appeared at his shoulders, and he seemed to grow larger and larger, and then the beautiful vision vanished, spreading out his hands as in benediction over them.

Hermann and his wife fell on their knees, exclaiming in awe-struck stetices: "The holy Christ-child!" and then embraced their wondering children in joy and thankfulness that they had entertained the Heavenly Guest.

The next morning, as Hermann passed by the place where he had found the fair child, he saw a cluster of lovely white flowers, with dark green leaves, looking as though the snow itself had blossomed. Hermann plucked some, and carried them home to his wife and children, who treasured the fair blossoms and tended them carefully in remembrance of that wonderful Christmas Eve, calling them Crysanthemums; and every year, as the time came round they put aside a portion of their feast and gave it to some poor little child, according to the words of the Christ: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethern, ye have done it unto me"—St. Nicholas.

BULLS NOT IRISH.

It was a scotchwoman who said that the butcher of her town only killed half a beast at one time; it was a Welchman who said that a pig had no marks on his ears except a short tail; it was an English reporter who stated at a meeting of the Ethnological Society there were exhibited "casts of the skull of an individual at different periods of adult life, to show the changes produced in ten years," though Dean Smith certainly mentions two skulls preserved in Ireland, one of a person when he was a boy, and the other of the same person when he grew to be a man; it was a Portugese Mayor who enumerated among the marks by which the body of a drowned man might be identified when found, "a marked impediment in his speech;" it was a Frenchman, the famous Garillino, who, laying his head upon a large stone for a pillow, replied to one who enquired if it was not rather hard, "Not at all, for I have studied it with her;" and it was a German orator who, warming with his subject, exclaimed, "There is no man, woman or child in this house, who has arrived at the age of fifty years but what has felt this truth thundering through their minds for centuries."

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

OVER ONE THOUSAND proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins: cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most efficacious remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed there are few families who will be willing to do without it, and should be provided with the antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. Its complete in its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, than the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in distressing cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold round the world.

THE FARMER'S FIRESIDE.

Around the fire, one wintry night,
The farmer's rosy children sat;
The fagot lent its blazing light,
And mirth went round, and harmless chat.

When, hark! a gentle hand they hear
Low tapping at the bolted door,
And then to gain their willing ear,
A feeble voice was heard implore;

"Cold blows the blast across the moor,
The sleet drives blinding in the wind;
You tollsome mountain lies before,
A dreary treeless waste behind.

"My eyes are dim and weak with age;
No road, no path can I descry;
And these poor rags ill stand the rage
Of such a keen inclement sky.

"So faint I am, these tottering feet
No more my pulsied frame can bear
My freezing heart forgets to beat,
And drifting snows my tomb prepare.

"Open your hospitable door,
And shield me from the bitter blast;
Cold, cold is blown across the moor,
The weary moor that I have passed."

With hasty steps the farmer ran,
And close beside the fire they place
The gaffer half-frozen beggar-man,
With shaking limbs and pale-blue face.

The little children looking canse,
And chafed his frozen hands in theirs;
And busily the good old dame
A comfortable mess prepares.

Their kindness cheered his drooping soul,
And slowly down his wrinkled cheek
The big round tear was seen to roll,
And told the thanks he could not speak.

The children then began to sigh,
And all their merry chat was o'er;
And yet they felt, they knew not why,
More glad than they had done before.

CONRAD'S LOVES.

A great, strapping, muscular fellow was Conrad Midburger, and he was admitted to be the best dancer in the village. His complexion was darker than that of most of his neighbors, for there was a tradition of Magyar blood in the family, and his face was by no means lacking of intelligence of a merry and peaceful sort.

The village had a look of being finished long ago; but a "reader of men might have looked at Conrad, if he saw him there and said:

"But that fellow's only half done yet. He doesn't half understand himself. Pity there's nothing in the sleepy valley to wake him up."

It, however, the process of waking up was to imply any sort of shaking, there had been little enough of that in the life which Conrad had thus far led. The greatest events of the outside world had been only as storms on the ocean, sending hardly a ripple of their uproar into the little land-locked cove of the old, dull village.

Gottlieb Midburger, Conrad's father, with his old crony and partner, Franz Hoferdahl, had made and mended watches in the same dingy and time-worn shop where their fathers had filed and hammered before them: and one life was as like another and about as unvarying, as the ticking of the fat-faced time-pieces behind the cob-webs in the shop window.

Just now, however, as if the course of nature were being disturbed, various ripples were beginning to come. Rumours there were, for instance, that the King, "God preserve him!" was preparing to fight a war with somebody, and that all young heroes like Conrad Midburger would soon be needed for the army.

Stranger still, and utterly unaccountable considering his time of life, old Franz Hoferdahl had caught the emigration fever, and made up his steadfast mind to join the great German tide that set perpetually towards the shores of America. Already he had sold whatever he had to sell, except his big pipe, his flute and his daughter Christine, for these he intended taking with him to the Western Eden.

"Perhaps," thought the villagers, "it is not so strange for old Franz as for some of us. He's been lonely since his wife died, and then he was a great traveller in his young days.

That was true enough, for Franz Hoferdahl had been to Berlin, and America could not be so very much beyond.

The old man had sold his share in the shop to his friend Gottlieb, and had made as good bargains as he could for his house and movables; but none of his anxious neighbors know exactly how much of ready cash he took with him when he and his weeping Christine set out upon their long pilgrimage.

Christine wept, indeed, as if she meant to ruin her pretty blue eyes entirely; for the little old village had been very dear to her, and her mother's grave was there. If there were another reason for her sorrow, Christine kept them to herself; albeit she may have wondered why one person, at least, had not asked her a question or so concerning them.

As for Conrad Midburger, he had said good-bye, with all the rest, to his father's old friend, and the tearful Christine; and he had rubbed his great black eyes, afterward, in a way that looked as if the whole thing was a good deal of a dream to him. If it was, there was no help for it, since Christine and her father were far enough away before he woke up.

Nevertheless, when Conrad missed, day after day, the accustomed form of old Franz in the shop, as well as the cheery voice of Christine Hoferdahl calling her father home to dinner, the expression of his face would change, at times, and one would almost have said he was beginning to think.

Not quite so much as that, perhaps; at least not yet, but pretty soon Conrad's eyes took note of a growing difference in the ways of old Gottlied Midburger himself. Just what it was would have been hard to say; but, by degrees, the old man began to neglect his pipe, then his glass of beer, and then his work, and, finally he took to his bed and died; and the neighbors, with one accord, said that Franz Hoferdahl had broken his old friend's heart by going away.

"Broken his heart indeed!" Conrad to himself. "But he did not break mine! And I have a heart, too—I can feel it beat. And I loved old Franz, and I loved my father very much; and I feel as if I could cry if I were not so very big a man."

The strongest evidence that Conrad had a heart, however, was yet to come. As the days went by, after his father's death, the shop and everything in it and about it became utterly distasteful to him. Day after day he sat down by the bench and tried to work; but the very ticking of the watches was intolerably oppressive, while again and again he would start up quickly and drop his file in renewed astonishment at the continued silence of those two old men.

"If only Christine would come," he said to himself, "and call old Franz home to dinner."

But she came not, and the silence and loneliness grew more and more irksome; and so, by and by, when a good customer opportunely made his appearance, Conrad Midburger almost gladly cleared with his offer to purchase the shop and the house. He sold, too, everything else that his father had left him, except the old man's pipe and sword, and the medal his father before him had won in the old wars with the French. Neither did Conrad, any more than Franz Hoferdahl, tell any of his neighbours how great or how small was the golden store he found his self possessed of; but the Midburgers had been a careful, saving, and close-mouthed race for generations.

And when the sales were all completed, and the transfers duly made, and Conrad stood in the moonlight, one fine spring evening, and gazed at the house that was no longer his, he said to himself:

"I think I could almost break my heart, now, after all, for I did love that house, and I loved the shop; but I could not stay there with the empty places. There were too many voices there that did not speak. That was it. But what shall I do now?"

Conrad's question was answered for him by the great French Emperor and by the King; for Napoleon had determined in his old age, that he must fight the Germans; and so a great many quiet people had to march away from their homes to be shot at, without the wisest man in the village, being able to give them a good reason.

It was a bad thing for many, but Conrad Midburger felt as if he was almost glad to go. He was sure he loved his "Vaterland" in every bone of his body; and, if the King called for him, he was ready. Still, as they marched away from the sleepy old village. Conrad said to himself:

"There are the old house, and the shop, and the trees, and the graves in the churchyard. I did not know my heart was so big, for I'm sure I love about everything I can see."

He could not see anything very clearly just then, however, for his eyes were strangely dim. No doubt the sun was in them, and the glint and glitter of the bayonets; but if any one had looked in the young man's face he might have said:

"It is a very thoughtful face, and there are lines of strength beginning to show in it."

And then there followed swift marching, comfortless camping, all kinds of severe and trying soldier work, and a good deal of hard fighting. Whatever the newspapers and reports might say about it, Conrad Midburger, and his comrades learned that the Frenchmen were brave fellows, and that the glory of beating them was never very cheaply won.

Being big and strong and brave, a good swordsman, and every day growing more and more intelligent, Conrad himself won glory—that is, three or four slight wounds, a medal, promotion from the ranks, the compliments of his commanding officer, and the envy of his comrades.

Being a man of property, of respectable parentage, at fair education, Conrad might have looked forward to almost anything attainable in the German army by a man of less than noble blood if the war had not been so very brief, and if the corps to which he belonged had not been among the first to be ordered home. Before a great while he found himself almost his own master again, though still within the scope and control of army regulations, for no German of Conrad's age is ever beyond them, and he said to himself:

"Well, I loved the army, I almost loved fighting. I knew I could love glory with all my heart. I know I am ten times as much of a soldier as that little white-moustached ape of a Baron that commanded my company. That is it. I think I could love a country where there were no Barons. Let me see. I think my heart must have been growing a good deal during this war. There is more room in it than I know of, and yet it is awful full. I think there are some things in it that I never saw there in old times. I will go and take a look at the village fires, and the house, and the shop, and I will listen again to see if I can hear Christine call her father home to dinner. Then, if I don't hear her, what then? Well, I think I will just ask my heart about it."

Now, all this time old Franz Hoferdahl and his daughter had known very little of what had taken place in the village they had left behind them. They had found their pilgrimage long and weary enough, and they had reached a resting place at last; and they had written home to their old neighbors, as all Germans do, but little information had come back to them. They knew that old Gottlieb Midburger was dead, and that Conrad had given up the home and the shop, and that he had gone to the great war with the French, and that was nearly all.

Franz Hoferdahl had not landed on the shores of the New World a pauper in anything but youth and strength, and he found friends readily enough to take the place of the old ones as far as might be, and after he had got over his first deep and bewilderment, and become somewhat accustomed to the rushing changes in all the habits and ways of his life, he tried to settle down as a man of prosperity and calculated to be happy.

"If only old Gottlieb Midburger were with me," he said to Christine, "I think I could be quite happy. I would give a good deal to see the old fellow [illegible]

Christine said very little, but her bright American home became drearier enough as she sat there while the dark, hot days and the thunderstorms rolled by in the old sleepy German village. She cried all the afternoon of the day she first heard, wondering if any of her neighbours here in the battle or they were [illegible]

she listened very silently when her father said:

"If Conrad Midburger was in any of that fighting, I'm sure he would behave himself well. There's good blood in the Midburgers, and Conrad is a fine boy."

"He must be a man by this time," said Christine.

And then she thought what a very tall, fine-looking man he must be, and how well he would appear in his uniform.

But, when, after a while, there was news of peace, and they heard that the army was going home to be disbanded, old Franz Hoferdahl grew less thoughtful, and Christine tried in vain to arouse him, or amuse him, until one autumn morning he said to her:

"All the other soldiers are going home. I think it is pretty near time for me to go too."

"To Germany, father!" exclaimed Christine, with a sudden light in her eyes. "O, father!"

"No, Christine," solemnly replied the old man; "Germany is not the only fatherland, I am a very old soldier, and I think this is my last campaign."

Christine understood him then, but all in a dreamy and unreal sort of way, until a few weeks later, she found herself sitting alone in the house, while the chilling wind that whistled by the window was freighted with the first white harbingers of winter. It seemed a cold, forlorn and empty sort of a world to Christine, and when she tried to think of the village where she was born, that, too, seemed empty and deserted, and she imagined the whole shop shut up and the snow flakes beating against the spider webbed windows.

The door-bell rang, but Christine did not hear it, nor did she know the servant had admitted anybody until she was conscious of a heavy step almost beside her, and a deep, clear voice, full of manly strength, but that trembled in a thrillingly musical way, said to her:

"Christine! Christine!"

She looked up then in the face—a scarred and war-bronzed face—of a tall, erect, noble looking man, who wore a medal of honor on his breast, and whose large, dark, penetrating eyes were absolutely radiant as they looked down into her own.

"Christine," he said, "do you understand me? I have come."

"He had come!" she thought, for one brief burning moment, and it seemed as if light and life, and happiness and strength, and the old German home itself, had come with him. She now had an odd, quick fancy that the door of the old shop opened, and the sun began to shine, and she could see the two old men at their work, but she arose and threw her arms around his neck, and only said, between her sobs, "O, Conrad, I'm so happy! so glad you've come!"

It was a sober day and a sober meeting, after all, but some hours later, as they sat by the grate in the parlor, where the fire burned warm and cheerily, while the first merry snow flakes of the opening winter flitted softly by the windows, and they exchanged stories of all that had happened to them, Conrad said to her:

"Ah, Christine, I did not know myself when you went away, I did not know I had a heart, but I soon began to find it out. I found that it was a great, big heart, too, with wonderful things in it. One love after another seemed to wake up and speak to me, to tell me it was there, until at last the biggest love of all came to life, and it grew and grew till it crowded out all others and filled up everything, and then I had to come across the ocean to find you. But who could have dreamed that you had kept anything for me, waiting all the time for me to come? I was terribly afraid about that."

"Oh, I don't know," said Christine. "I don't understand it at all. All the while it has seemed as if I were only waiting—waiting—and that, if I waited long enough, you would surely come."

"And here I am," said Conrad, "only I think there's a good deal more of me, somehow, than in those dear old sleepy days at home."—Appleton's Journal.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A wag walked into a saloon the other day where three men were sitting around the fireless stove. As he entered all eyes were turned toward him. Apparently taking a mental inventory of the number of people in the room, the new comer stepped up to the bar and blandly ordered four glasses of beer. The boots that had adorned the top of the stove now sought the floor, three men cleared their mouths of tobacco, and all looked at the bar-tender as he filled the glasses and placed them in a row on the bar. When everything was ready the three loungers rose and the stranger paid for the beer. Then starting with the glasses furthest from the door, he emptied all that the bar-tender had filled and quickly left the saloon. The three chairs were resumed.

Your mother and I are well, except that your sister has got the measles which we think would have spread among the other girls if

EAST RIDING

In this Riding matters proceed favourably for the Reform Candidate. Mr. Stratton is every where received with warm promises of active support, and is absent as certain of election as can be expected until the ballots closed.

His opponent and his friends have lost their temper and self-respect, in every meeting in which both candidates have met, and for arguments use personal abuse, which in no instance has been returned.

Mr. Grover, who proposed Dr. O'Sullivan, also used abuse instead of sound reason, forgetting his own position, and indulging in villification unworthy of him, but was not so served in return.

Mr. W. Armstrong also followed his leaders, but not satisfied with abuse, actually resorted to falsehood, to make a point against Mr. Stratton. Another friend of the Doctor's did the same thing. Mr. Stratton, however, let them have their way in the matter, satisfied that the slanderers will have their reward in due time.

WEST RIDING

On the 11th instant the nomination took place in the Court House.

Mr. Cox was nominated by John Walton, Esq., seconded by John Moloney, Esq.

Mr. Scott was nominated by H. Collins, Esq, seconded by R. Strickland, Esq.

Not having space for a full report, we merely give place to the remarks of Mr. Moloney.

Mr. John Moloney, in seconding the nomination of Mr. Cox, said he had much pleasure in doing so, for many reasons. First, on account of the liberality shown by the Reform Government, in inviting to the Cabinet Seats such men as Hon. Messrs Scott and Fraser, and appointing to the position of first commissioner of the country, a Catholic Irishman, Hon. Mr. Anglin, as speaker of the House of Commons.

He felt Catholics were receiving more consideration from a Reform Government than they ever did from a Conservative Government. That the Reformers always consult Catholic views, while the Conservatives never as much as consulted Catholics as to who they were asked to support.

He condemned this unfair practice and said he had been voting on the Conservative Ticket for sixteen years until he became so disgusted with the treatment received from that party, that he could no longer support them, while retaining for himself any self-respect. He said a certain gentleman had reserved to a body of Catholics in Peterborough who have lately supported the Reform party as a clique. He could tell them that to that clique, as the gentleman courteously designated them was due the notice which Conservatives were now taking of Catholics, in bringing out one for the East Riding—that only for the action of that clique Conservatives would treat Catholics as they always did, with neglect and contempt. He now hoped that Mr. Cox would be elected, for he looked upon him as a liberal-minded man, who from his enterprise and business capacity he was sure would make a good member, therefore he had much pleasure in seconding his nomination as a fit and proper person to represent West Peterborough in the Provincial Legislature.

EAST RIDING NOMINATION.

The nomination of the East Riding came off at Norwood on Monday last. It was held in the Grammar School. The Assembly was large, but not too large for the school room. Colonel Haultain acted as Returning Officer. A number of nominations were made on both sides.

Mr. Stratton was proposed by James Miller, Esq., Reeve of Otonabee, and seconded by Mr. Wm. Sargent, of Norwood. Dr. O'Sullivan was proposed by P. M. Grover, seconded by Mr. W. Armstrong. Several other nominations were made, but as polls were demanded only for Mr. Stratton and Doctor O'Sullivan, none of the others will go to the polls.

Mr. Grover gave his reasons for supporting Dr. O'Sullivan, viz: that the country is now governed by Catholics, and that he wished to put a stop to this and as Dr. O'Sullivan would vote Mr. Fraser out of power, and destroy their influence, he, Mr. Grover, would support him.

Mr. Stratton being first proposed, spoke first. He defended the acts of the Government in the distribution of the Municipal Loan Fund, their railway policy and the Finances, showed that there was still a large surplus, and commended the policy of spending the surplus in improving the country. The charges against the Government management of the Central Prison, the model farm and the Crown Lands, proved to be without foundation, and declared his intention, if elected, to support them so long as they continued to manage provincial affairs in the interest of the people, but no longer.

Doctor O'Sullivan then addressed the electors, declaring his intention to vote want of confidence in them, but if he could not turn them out he would consider their measures. He then attempted to show that taking R. W. Scott into the cabinet was wrong, and R. W. Scott's policy in selling 700 miles of timber limits was wrong. Fraser and the other members of the Cabinet were hypocrites and undeserving of support.

The heavy man, Mr. Carnegie then took up an hour in vain efforts to prove that the old Tory Government, were pure and the present Government was corrupt. He dealt largely in figures, but did not seem to make much impression on the audience, as it frequently interrupted him with complimentary remarks.

Mr Dumble followed him, putting the existing state of the finances in a broad clear light, which appeared to be satisfactory to the people. He completely used up Mr. Carnegie, and was attentively listened to.

Peter Pearce at the close of the proceedings, made some remarks about his own position, when the meeting broke up about six o'clock. The day was considered a success for the Reform cause.

MR. COX'S MEETING.

A meeting in the interests of Mr. Cox, that crowded the Music Hall to overflowing, took place on the evening of Friday, the 8th instant, Mr. Smith in the chair. As the two candidates entered the lists, we confess the odds were heavy against Mr. Cox, who seemed a comparative stripling beside the huge proportions of Mr. Scott and the Conservatives who had mustered in considerable numbers, anticipating their professional gladiator an easy victory over the Reform candidate—anticipations that were, however, before the close of the meeting, to be subjected to a sad and somewhat ludicrous disappointment.

Mr. Cox, untutored in the arts and tricks of so-called oratory, advanced to the table, and both parties present, anxious to hear the speech that was about to fall from his lips, accorded him a fair and attentive hearing. In a calm and business-like manner, and without straining after effect, he proceeded to review at considerable length the financial position of the Province, instituting comparisons between the present administration and that of Sandfield Macdonald Taking up the Municipal Loan Fund Indebtedness Act, our Immigration Policy, the Sale of the Municipal Debentures, and the Redistribution Bill, he successfully defended the present Government from the strictures passed upon them by their opponents; and as he believed in a progressive and prudent policy in conducting his own business, so was he in thorough accordance with the Mowat Government in a really progressive but prudent policy in the developing of the resources of the Province.

Mr. Cox, after asking the Electors to place him at the head of the Polls on the 18th instant, finished a speech that was a matter of congratulation to his friends and a source of disappointment to a number of Conservatives who attended with the expectation of enjoying something very different: and here we would ask all would-be orators to mark the effect produced upon an audience by a man saying only that which he himself believes, and saying it in a direct, straightforward manner.

Mr Scott rose to reply, and, no doubt remembering the keen incisiveness of a somewhat similar weapon in the hands of the honorable Edward Blake in the Drill Shed, drew from his armory an old and often used, and we should think by this time, nigh battered weapon. Advancing with a high in hand, he brought it down with what was intended as crushing effect on Mr. Cox's speech, as having been taken—not from the Mail, but from the Globe. Turning round, he beheld the Surplus, rising like Banquo's ghost, an apparition appalling to the heart of stout Conservative; but what man dare he dares, and mounting his Bucephalus, "stiffening the sinews, summoning up the blood, and loading his eye a terrible aspect," with lance in hand, he spurs his charger on. "Bravo!" from the Conservative benches. Wheeling round—there it stands, large and impassible as ever. Again he charges full tilt upon the foe, crying, "Banco, unreal mockery, behoo!" But the Surplus did not bounce, so throwing his lance away, he dismounts, saying, "With-thee I will not fight—thou art a creation of John Sandfield Macdonald."

It has been our good fortune to witness some of the finest action of the day, and watch with pleasure how they worked up the emotional part of their nature till they seemed to live and move and breath the very character and part they acted. In this essential of a first class actor we think Mr. Scott has few, if any, equals on the political platform, although we fancy it must require every time an ever-increasing effort to work up the steam to act in pieces such as the Proton outrage downward to McCandless. Even although he is placed among the "dead levels" of the globe, we do not wonder at the Liberal-Conservative Party looking over the discredited heads of Ryker, Lauder, Boultbee & Co., and eyeing the advancing form of Mr. Scott as a possible leader of the Conservative ranks; but we do wonder at Mr. Scott, with such a prospective future before him, and one of the self-constituted gentlemen of the county withal, after overstepping the well understood limit of time allowed him for his reply, introducing matter with which the meeting had nothing whatever to do, and raising, with an evidently ulterior purpose, an issue between himself and the Chairman, by whose ruling he seemed unwilling to abide.

Mr. Bertram followed in reply, completely exposing the futile and uncandid efforts to discredit the ministry.

We wish we could here say that the curtain fell and did not rise again to reveal the form of one of our well-known citizens struggling to hold on to his honor, while doing at greater length that which had impeached it. The reply came quick and crushing. No matter what the provocation, he who for the purpose of damaging a political opponent revealed private conversation, be he who he may, was no gentleman. If the cap fitted the audience took up and finished the sentence Let him wear it.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To the Electors of the East and West Ridings of the County of Peterborough:

Gentlemen:—

I make no apology for addressing you again, because I think it is my duty to use my best endeavors to advance the interests and prosperity of my country. In a very few days more, the elections will be over, and the contest between the two parties will have been decided; and I hope it will be decided in favor of justice and humanity. The great destiny of the country is in the hands of the people, and, as they exercise their power will the result be good or bad. I ask you to consider the great interests which are dependant upon the issue of this election—to bear in mind that not only the present, but the future welfare of the whole Dominion will in some measure depend upon the choice which the people of Ontario now make of their representative, because a Tory Parliament sitting at Toronto must necessarily influence legislation at Ottawa. I want you to understand that the Conservatives of Ontario are not confining their hopes and expectations to Ontario alone, for they well know that the predominant politics here will be sure to give tone and strength to those of the Government at Ottawa, for Ontario is the ruling power in the Dominion. Upon the people here there rests a great responsibility, and I think I may safely take upon myself to predict that the result of this election will be to sustain the present Government both of Ontario and of the Dominion. The people are too intelligent to be deceived by wily agitators, and they are too patriotic and honest to sacrifice their own prosperity and happiness for the sake of upholding a Party whose only aim and desire are to secure office and benefit themselves at the expense of their country. All the nations of the world are struggling for more advancement and freedom; and while their rulers are seeking not only to hold them back in their onward march, but some of them are actually plunging them again into mental and political darkness, still light has entered their minds, and is leading them onwards and onwards to greater freedom and happiness. But the great battle between truth and error, between light and darkness, and between liberty and slavery, is not confined to the downtrodden people of Europe, but is fairly at work in America, and it behooves the people on this Continent to be ever watchful and vigilant, lest, perchance, they are deprived of those blessings and those privileges which they have secured only after years of persecution and toil. Everything depends upon the watchfulness and intelligence of the people now. It behooves them to hold fast on a good government whilst they can. The present Government at Toronto, as well as at Ottawa, are doing all they can to advance the best interests of the country. They are composed of men who have been taken from the ranks of the people. They acknowledge their responsibility to the people alone, and they have done and are doing their best to discharge their trust honestly and faithfully, and to-day a poor man is as free to go before them and to ask for or demand his rights, and he will be treated with as much respect, and will succeed as well as if he were dressed in fine linen, and even the highest and best in the land. Thank God, after many years of struggle we have got political justice and equality, and that man who is mean enough to sell his country for the favors or smiles of those whose first act, if they got into power, would be to deprive him of his rights, deserves public condemnation and contempt. Hold on then to what privileges you enjoy, and strive to transmit them unimpaired to those who are to come after you, and let them not fling reproach upon your memory because of your negligence or your disgrace.

There are some things to which I desire to direct your attention in order to show you the evils of a Tory Government, and what misfortunes you have escaped by placing in power the present liberal and economical Government both here and at Ottawa. You have doubtless all heard of the troubles in the North-West, how the Administration of Sir John A. Macdonald did all they could to throw that great and rich country into the hands of the French of Lower Canada, and how they were only prevented consummating their designs by being turned out of office. You have heard how poor Thomas Scott was "foully murdered because of his loyalty to his love and country, and how that murder was got over and the law was rendered powerless through the influence that faithless one of Sir John in the province, and how he gave Riel, the red-handed murderer, three thousand dollars of the public money to enable him to evade the law and to escape to a foreign country; and you know that it was not until the advent to power of Mr. MacKenzie, that any successful effort was made to bring the murderers to justice, and that thro' his faithful discharge of a public duty, one of them was in this day condemned to die for that black, cowardly deed. You have also heard of the Pacific Railway Scandal, how Sir John A. sold his country for money with which to bribe the people at the last Dominion general election in order to keep himself in power. And, although he failed and was turned out of office, yet he and his party are now moving heaven and earth, as it were, to regain their lost power, so that they may again plunge the country into trouble and financial ruin. Then look to the waste of more than twelve millions of dollars in the building of the Intercolonial Railway, which competent and able men offered to build, by a shorter and better route than that chosen, for eight millions only; whereas the Tory Government of Sir John MacDonald built upon a longer and less practical route at a cost of considerably more than twenty millions of dollars, and which, he boasted, would be the means of giving him ten years increased lease of power, by enabling him to bribe and buy up the country, the interest on which money the people of Canada are paying to-day, at the rate of nearly a million and a half of dollars annually, and the working of which by the Government will forever entail an additional expenditure upon the country The result of all these and other extravagances upon the part of that Government was that, when Mr. Mackenzie came into office, he found an unusual deficiency in the treasury of over three millions of dollars, and to produce which, and preserve the public audit, he was forced to come down to Parliament and ask an increase of taxes upon the people, and as the result of the reckless administration of your affairs by the Government of Sir John MacDonald, you are paying one-sixth more in duties on our imports and other sources of revenue than you would have had to do had that Government not existed. And mind you, this is the present acknowledged leader of the Tory party in Canada to-day, whom that party are striving to place once more in power over you. It behooves you, therefore, to take care of the important Province of Ontario, and to see that it shall not be used for any such purpose. Keep Reformers in power here, and you keep Tories out of power at Ottawa.

Notwithstanding all his misdeeds, the Tories have, deliberately rechosen Sir John Macdonald their leader, and should they succeed to power once more, he would at once be placed at the head of the Government, and the country would experience another term of wasteful expenditure, corruption and bribery. They have gained no knowledge by the past, and their future policy would be but a continuance of their past policy, and, so far as they could, they would inaugurate a system of prescription and tyranny, and would reverse the machinery of administrative progress, and turn the country back again upon her former state of inaction and extravagance. The people, therefore, must take care not to support this Party at the approaching elections. The electors should be reminded of the part which Sir John played in the Washington Treaty, by which he, as our representative, surrendered up to the Americans our invaluable fisheries, and the free use of our noble St. Lawrence, without corresponding advantages to us therefor. I mention these things because the intimate connection between Provincial and Dominion politics renders it necessary for me to do so, for in considering the one we must not forget the other. Let us then strengthen the hands of our present Government at Toronto, and we will thereby also strengthen the hands of the present Government at Ottawa as well. The country seems fully to be alive to their duty in this matter, and so strong has been the support of the present Ontario Government since the downfall of the administration of the late Sandfield Macdonald that the Conservative representatives in the Legislature have been unable to offer any real, practical opposition. The result has been a number of most useful measures quite unparalleled in former times, and the cost of legislation has been greatly diminished. The Tory members, however, did try hard to make a grievance because the workmen in the Central Prison at Toronto got a half holiday, and the time which they consumed in talking about this most wonderful misdeed cost the country ten times as much as all the wages of the men put together. They were never tired of abusing the honorable Mr. McKellar for his kindness to these workmen, and they denounced him for it as unworthy of public confidence. But they forgot to tell that their leader, the late Sandfield Macdonald, invited him to form part of his Government.

There is one subject, of special importance at the present moment, to which I wish to direct the attention of our Irish Roman Catholic friends, and I do this in order to show them who are their true friends. Let us begin at Toronto. There Mr. John O'Donoghue, an Irish Catholic gentleman, is the Reform candidate for the Dominion Parliament. He was unanimously nominated, and is supported by the whole Reform party; and he is opposed by the whole Tory body, and their war-cry is, "To h—ll with the Pope: and down with O'Donoghue" This is act number one In the East Riding of Peterborough the Conservatives have brought out a Roman Catholic as their candidate, and their cry here is, "Hurrah for the Pope and Dr. O'Sullivan!" In a county near Ottawa, the name of which I forget, the Reformers are supporting a Roman Catholic, and there again it is, "Down with the Pope!" In West Montreal, the Reform candidate Mr. McKenzie, telegraphs Mr. O'Donohue, "The Irish Roman Catholics supported me nobly, and I owe my election to them." In Centre Montreal, Mr. Devlin, an Irish Roman Catholic, is the nominee of Reformers, and here again it is, "Down with Devlin and the Pope!" On a recent occasion, Mr. Devlin spoke as follows: "Mr. Ryan, a Tory, intends to labor for the return to power of men who, for the last twenty years, have been practicing the most unblushing corruption. He believed the electors would not allow the banner of Reform to be torn down and trampled upon. It was only since Reformers came into power that Irishmen received their rights. Who ever heard of an Irish Speaker being elected during the whole Tory career. But now Irishmen were represented in both the Ontario and Dominion Governments." And during one of his late speeches the Honorable Mr. Fraser, a Catholic, and a member of the present Reform Government at Toronto, said that "during the whole administration of the late Tory Government, Catholics had been deliberately and intentionally excluded from office, and now, that Reformers are in power, they receive justice." And he implores Catholics to show their appreciation of this acknowledgment of their rights by supporting the present Reform Governments both at Toronto and at Ottawa. The Toronto Mail newspaper, the special organ of the Tories, objects to the candidature of Mr. O'Donohue because of his religion, and it calls upon the Protestant electors to vote against him. The honorable Mr. Blake, however, one of our most prominent Reformers, said, the other night, at a political meeting, in behalf of Mr. O'Donohue, "Reformers were prepared now, as they had always been, to give equal rights and privileges to all classes. He hoped the Reformers of East Toronto would give Mr. O'Donoghue a wholehearted support." Now let us return again to this County, and let us see how the Conservatives are showing their sincerity to the Catholics by their conduct. As I before stated, they have brought out Dr. O'Sullivan as their candidate in the East Riding, and I will venture to declare that this was done by a few of their politicians in Peterborough—not because they expect to elect Dr. O'Sullivan, but because by using him, they hope to influence the Catholic vote in the West Riding; and in order to do this, they tell the Catholics here to see how generously they have treated them in the East Riding. That is all very fine talk, if their professions were only true. It is an old saying that the proof of the pudding lies in the eating of it. Let us examine the conduct of those would-be friends of the Catholics a little further to test their sincerity. At the late election of Municipal Councillors for the Town of Peterborough, two Irish Catholics were candidates, viz.: Mr. Cahill in Ward No. 1, and Mr. Doran in Ward No. 2. Mr. Scott, the candidate for your sufferages at the approaching election, voted in Ward No. 2—but not for Mr. Doran, and he did not vote for Mr. Cahill either; and the majority of the Conservatives also voted against those two Catholic gentlemen. This is the way they show their consistency and their sincerity to Catholics. They expect Catholics to vote for them, but they will not vote for a Catholic, and this is the treatment which Catholics have ever received at the hands of the Tories. They keep them for "hewers of wood and drawers of water;" but it is no part of their political creed to advance Catholics in any way, and such has ever been their conduct towards Catholics. The Catholics doubtless know Mr. Hawkins, a Catholic gentleman of intelligence and influence in Brantford, and they doubtless know how he was brought down here by the Conservatives, at the last election, to influence their votes. Well, since that time, Mr. Hawkins has come forward and candidly proclaimed his renunciation of Toryism, and declared his sincere adhesion to the Reform Party; and he admits that Reformers alone shew a willingness to do Catholics justice. Thus you, the Catholic electors of the County of Peterborough, can now see how you are treated by the Great Conservative Party. In one place, where you are strong, they pat you on the back, and in another place, where they can do without your support, they insult and revile you, no doubt thinking that you have not the manliness and independence enough to protect yourselves and to vindicate and uphold your own character. But the time is now at hand when you will have the opportunity of showing the truth or falsity of all this, and Reformers are anxiously looking on, and waiting to see what course you will pursue. Let me hope that you will respect yourselves, and will compel Conservatives to respect you also, by your bold, consistent and manly support of Reformers, your only true friends.

And now, in conclusion, I would most earnestly urge upon every elector, no matter of what nationality or creed, to lay aside all prejudices, to remember the duty that now devolves upon him, and to bear in mind, above all else, that he is now a Canadian; and I ask him to vote for his country first, and to throw aside all unworthy feelings and influences, so that, when the elections are over, he can have the proud satisfaction of feeling and knowing that he has performed his duty faithfully and well.

REFORMER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,

Now that the nominations for the East Riding are over, and we know who are the Candidates, it becomes our duty to compare the respective claims and fitness of the two candidates, and choose the one who will best represent us in the Legislative Assembly

We have, seeking election, Mr. Stratton and Dr. O'Sullivan, the former a man who has been for years familiar with the politics of our country—of well defined political principles; an elector and resident, and more, a man of such moral courage as will enable him to take a decided stand in case any legislation is attempted which will in his opinion be prejudicial to the interests of his constituents, and of the county at large—no servile follower of any leader or party, untrammelled with pledges, he comes forward, promising only to support good measures, and to sustain the present Government so long only as they legislate well for Ontario.

Opposed to him is Dr. O'Sullivan, a man who admits that he knows literally nothing of the politics of the day, who in his benighted state can only follow the course laid out for him by his political instructor. Yet in his blissful ignorance he promises to take the first opportunity of voting want of confidence in the Mowat Government, while should it be sustained he will feel it to be his duty to consider the measures upon their merits and (listen now) "as I deem them to be or not to be in the interests of the province" he will support them or not—and pray how is he to decide? or who is to do it for him? For a man who admits a perfect want of knowledge of politics to speak of deciding on the merits or demerits of Bills brought into Parliament, and to come forward and ask the electors to send him to legislate for them, discovers an amount of assurance neither commendable nor frequently met with. The only excuse he offers is that he will instruct himself. That should he be elected, what is to become of the Riding during the time he is undergoing his course of study? Is it to be unrepresented? Or will it as for some years back represent itself?

Dr. O'Sullivan is not an elector or a resident of the East Riding, and if being pledged to rise at the beck and call of Boultbee, Lauder & Co., will not inspire confidence in him, he has no claim whatever upon the electors unless it be a claim upon their sympathies because of the very unenviable position he holds—that of being an instrument made use of to accomplish the desires of others.

The people of East Peterborough cannot fail to choose the candidate who is now ready to represent them properly in the Assembly. They will on Monday next, go to the polls and deposit their ballots for Mr. Stratton and give him such a majority as will teach the outside Riding manipulators that this Riding at least is not prepared to accept the nominee of the Liberal Conservatives. By inserting this letter, long though it be, you will oblige

Yours,
CACHE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir:—As I am renewing the subscription of the Examiner, I thought that I would write a few lines relative to British Columbia. I removed to British Columbia from South Monaghan last year; and have taken up land in the Municipality of Chilliwhack. We are about 50 miles further up the Fraser River than New Westminster, with which we have communication by steamer twice a week from the 1st of April to the 1st of December, and the rest of the year the mails hitherto have been carried by canoe, but I hear it is the intention of the steamers to run one trip a week to Yale when the river is navigable. Sometimes the ice forming above Yale drifts down and forms jams, thus obstructing the channel. Mails from the east reach us semi monthly by way of San Francisco, and weekly by way of Olympia, W. T. Letters and newspapers are generally from 3 to 4 weeks in coming from Ontario to us, and I think there is some carelessness some where as papers are frequently lost, and sometimes 2 or 3 weeks passes without one coming to hand at all. Our climate here is much milder than it is at Peterboro. We don't in summer have it so hot, and the nights are always cool; winter last year set in about the 1st of December, and was reckoned by old settlers unusually severe; we had very deep snow for about 2 months, but it was soft and did not drift; we have a good deal of rain during the winter, but no frost half of the time. Snow went away in the woods about the middle of March, on the prairie it was away sooner. People commenced to plough about 20th March, and the principal part of the grain was sown in April; harvest is rather later than in Ontario, and the sample is beautiful. This is a fine country for fruit of all kinds—peaches coming to perfection here. There is no irrigation required till you go to the country east of the Cascade Mountains. We have had a touch of snow this season. On the 20th of November snow fell to the depth of about a foot, and the frost went into the ground about three inches before the snow fell. We had to feed cattle about two weeks, but now the snow is all gone and cattle are out again. We have been ploughing this week, and old settlers say they have seen winters that they could have plowed every month. Dairying and raising stock pay well here; butter fetches from 45 to to 50 cts per lb. There is not nearly enough wheat grown in this country to supply home consumption at the present time. The Government here are opening up the country, and I think their policy as far as building roads, is worthy of approval. They have built this season a road from New Westminster to Hope, which will open up the country a good deal. As you know my sympathies are with the MacKenzie Government, and I still think they will do the fair thing by British Columbia, yet one half of the people here, if not more, have no faith that Canada intends to build the railroad at all. The people of Victoria have used all their influence in favour of Esquimalt as the termination; but the general impression is that the Fraser Valley route will be adopted and Burrard Inlet be the terminus. This scepticism on the part of the people here will make plain to you the action of the local government here, and account for the fact of their appealing to the Queen.

Mr. Barnard, the contractor for the B. C. section of the telegraph line, is pushing it forward, and will have some forty or fifty miles completed by the beginning of the new year. If the railroad was once commenced, it would be of the greatest advantage to this country, as the uncertainty acts as a check to every enterprise, and capitalists do not care to invest in the country. There are many silver lead that have been discovered, and are not worked simply because of capital not being invested in them The assays have proved them to be rich. Gold mining has paid very well this season. Cariboo has yielded a good average. The claims there now are nearly all owned by companies. The new diggings at Cassair have turned out as well as gold diggings generally do There were no great strikes made, but nearly all the miners made money, which was perhaps more satisfactory. Coal and iron abound, and a large lumber business is done here. Agricultural land is limited, and it must therefore be valuable. Wages are high here compared with Ontario. Men get $40 to $70 per month and board. Mechanics get from $3 to $5 per day. Servant girls get $20 per month. There is no doubt but a person can do well here if they only mind themselves But I must stop, as I fear I have already trespassed too much on your space. Perhaps I may write again.

Yours truly,
W. L. G.

WHITEWASH.

The Committee of Investigation into the charges proffered against Mr. Rykert has closed its labors. Inasmuch as members on both sides were shown to have "taken the shilling," it was not deemed prudent to be too hard upon the member for Lincoln; so the Grit majority in order to get the Tory members of the committee to agree to a report agreed to apply the whitewash in such a manner as to clear Rykert without censuring McKellar. Of course people will hold their own opinions as to who is culpable, and these opinions will be largely dependent on the political prejudice of the holder. Tories will declare that Rykert is blameless, while they will condemn his accuser; and Grits will as certainly hold that the charges were but too true, and that the accused was fortunate in being let off so easily. Members had better act honestly for once, and say, at least in relation to their party, if not all personally "mea culpa," for there can be no doubt that numbers of them on both sides have accepted payments for assisting the passage of private bills. Indeed it is notorious that it is but too common an occurrence. The question will naturally arise as to why so many lawyers go into the House, to the exclusion, as they assert, of valuable practice. It is strongly to be suspected that their motives are not so pure as they would try to make the electors believe. We wonder if a law were passed against employing in a professional capacity in the House not only members of the legal profession, but also any firm with which they were connected, would there be such eagerness displayed by this class of the community "to represent their constituents in Parliament?" We think not. We do not desire to be understood as declaring that lawyers are the only members of the House that allow a fee to be quietly slipped into their pockets, for that is far from being the case; but we do say that when we perceive so many of a paying character into the hands of their own partizans, and to say the best of it, far from being like Cæsar's wife. If they be honest beyond the suggestion of appearances they will be the first to agitate for a new law as we have referred to above. For Mr. Cox of the prosecution we hope to see a lawyer introduced such a measure at the earliest possible moment; but we would not that other members should wait for a gentleman of the gown to do it.

ONTARIO ELECTION LAW.

Since the last general election of Ontario the law on the above subject has been amended and made more stringent. We therefore deem it advisable to publish a short summary of the principal provisions of the Acts, which will doubtless be of interest, and may be of use to over-zealous canvassers:—

DIRECTIONS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF VOTERS IN VOTING BY BALLOT.

The voter is to vote for one candidate.

The voter will go into one of the compartments, and with the pencil provided in the compartment place a cross on the right hand side of the ballot paper, opposite the name of the candidate for whom he votes; thus x.

The voter will then fold the ballot paper across, so as to show the name or initials of the Deputy Returning Officer on the back; hand it to the Deputy Returning Officer and quit the polling place.

If the voter inadvertently spoils a ballot paper, he can return it to the Officer, who will, if satisfied of such inadvertence, give him another ballot paper.

If the voter votes for more than one candidate, or places any mark on the ballot paper by which he may be afterwards identified, his ballot paper will be void and will not be counted.

Taking a ballot paper out of the polling place, or depositing in the box any other paper than his own, subjects the offender to six months' imprisonment.

In the following form of ballot paper given for illustration, the candidates are William H. Scott and George A. Cox—the names being placed in their alphabetical order, according to law. An elector desiring to vote for Mr. Cox will mark his ballot paper as below:—

1	COX. (George Albertus Cox, of the Town of Peterborough, County of Peterborough, Agent &c.)	X
2	SCOTT. (William H. Scott, of Town of Peterborough, County of Peterborough, Barrister-at-Law.)

The following is a form of the ballot paper for the East Riding. An elector desiring to vote for Mr Stratton will mark his ballot paper as below:—

1	STRATTON. (James Stratton, of the Village of Ashburnham, County of Peterborough, Printer and Publisher.)	X
2	O'SULLIVAN (John O'Sullivan, of the Town of Peterborough, County of Peterborough, Physician.)

Under section 24 of the Ballot Act, any elector at any polling place, may, in the absence of any person authorized in writing to act as the agent of an absent candidate, declare himself to be and may act as the agent of such candidate without producing any authority in writing.

OATH TO BE PUT TO A VOTER.

"You swear [or solemnly affirm] that you are the person named [or purporting to be named by the name of] on the list of voters now shown unto you [showing the list to the voter]; that at the time of the last final revision and correction of the assessment roll on which this list is based for this township [city or town, as the case may be,] you were [and if a fact to be so, still are] actually, truly, and in good faith possessed to your own use and benefit as owner, [or tenant, or occupant, as the case may be] of the real estate in respect of which your name [or the name of] is entered on the said list of voters, [or if the party has parted with such possession, then insert the words: "that you are still a resident of this electoral division,] and as such entitled to vote at this election; and that you are a subject of Her Majesty by birth [or naturalisation, and you are the full age of twenty-one years; that you have not voted before at this election, either at this or any other polling place; and that you have not received anything, nor has anything been promised you, either directly or indirectly, either to induce you to vote at the election or for loss of time, travelling expenses, hire of team, or any other service connected therewith; and that have not, directly or indirectly paid, promised, or engaged to any person, either to induce him to vote or to refrain from voting at this election. So help you God.

TAKING THE VOTES.

The following are the provisions for the taking and recording of the votes:—

2. When any person claiming to be entitled to vote presents himself for the purpose of voting, the deputy returning officer shall proceed as follows:—

1. He shall ascertain that the name of such person is entered, or purports to be entered, upon the voters' list for the polling division for which such deputy returning officer is appointed to act.

2. He shall record or cause to be recorded in the proper columns of the voters' list, the residence and the legal addition of such person.

3. If such person shall take the oath or affirmation required to be taken by voters in the manner directed by the Election Law of 1868, the deputy returning officer shall enter or cause to be entered, opposite such person's name in the proper column of the said voters' list the word "sworn" or "affirmed," according to the fact.

4 Where the vote is objected to by any candidate or his agent, the deputy returning officer shall enter the objection, or cause the same to be entered in the voters' list, by writing opposite the name of such person, in the proper column, the word "objected to," stating at the same time which candidate, or on behalf of which candidate, the objection has been made, by adding after the words "objected to" the name only of such candidate.

5. Where such person as aforesaid has been required to take the oath or affirmation, and refuses to take the same, the deputy returning officer shall enter or cause to be entered opposite the name of such person, in the proper column of the voters' list, the words "refused to be sworn," or "refused to affirm," according to the fact; and the vote of such person shall not be taken or received; and if the deputy returning officer shall knowingly having taken and received such vote, or caused the same to be taken and received, incur a penalty of two hundred dollars.

6. Where the proper entries respecting the person so claiming to vote have been made in the voters' list in the manner prescribed, the deputy returning officer shall sign his name or initials upon a ballot paper and upon the counterfoil attached thereto.

7. The ballot paper shall be detached from the counterfoil and shall be delivered to such person.

8. The counterfoil shall be retained in the book by the deputy returning officer who shall write or otherwise mark upon such counterfoil the number polled by the name of such person upon the voters' list; and opposite the name of such person in the voters' list a mark shall be made to denote that he has received a ballot paper, but not showing the number of the ballot paper which he has received.

9. The deputy returning officer shall take all necessary precautions for preventing, and shall prevent as far as practicable, all persons present (except the clerk and the agents of the candidates, as well as all other persons) the number printed upon the ballot paper delivered to any person, and upon the counterfoil attached thereto, and shall secure the counterfoil to be inspected by any person.

10. The deputy returning officer may, and upon request shall, either in person or through his clerk, explain to any voter, as concisely as possible, the mode of voting and the colours in which the numbers and names of candidates are printed on the ballot paper.

VOTES OF DEPUTY RETURNING OFFICERS AND POLL CLERKS.

By chapter 8 of the Statutes of Ontario for 1874, section 24, every Deputy Returning Officer and Poll Clerk, who is otherwise qualified to vote as an elector for a member to serve in the Legislative Assembly, shall be entitled to vote at such election; and so much of section 3 of the Election Law of 1868 as prohibits the said officers from voting is hereby repealed

Deputy Returning Officers, Poll Clerks and agents may vote at polling places where they are employed.

By the same Act, section 26 provides that the Returning Officer, on the request of any elector entitled to vote at one of the polling stations who shall be appointed Deputy Returning Officer or Poll Clerk, or who shall be named the Agent of any of candidates for a polling station other than the one where he is entitled to vote, shall give to such elector a certificate that such Deputy Returning Officer, Poll Clerk or Agent is entitled to vote at such election at the polling station where such elector shall be stationed during the polling day; and such certificate shall also state the property or other qualification in respect of which he is entitled to vote; and on the production of such certificate, such Deputy Returning Officer, Poll Clerk or Agent shall have the right to vote at the polling station where he shall be placed during the polling day, instead of at the polling sub-division where he would otherwise have been entitled to vote, and the Deputy Returning Officer shall attach the certificate to the voter's list; but no such certificate shall entitle any such elector to vote at such polling station unless he has been actually engaged as such Deputy Returning Officer, Poll Clerk or Agent during the day of polling, or shall entitle any Agent to vote who is disqualified under section 3 of the Election Law of 1868.

COUNTING THE BALLOTS.

Immediately after the close of the poll the Deputy Returning Officer is to open the ballot box and count the votes, keeping the ballot papers with their printed faces upwards, and allowing no person to see the number printed on the back.

Any ballot paper which has not on its back the name or initials of the Deputy Returning Officer, or on which votes are marked for more candidates than one, or on which anything except the name and initials of the Deputy Returning officer are written or marked by which the voter can be identified, shall be void and shall not be counted.

The word "rejected" is to be marked on any ballot papers that are laid aside, and if any objection is raised, the words "objected to" are also to be written on the paper.

For reason of a press of matter several communications are unavoidably laid over till our next. Grip's Lecture.

A promise is offered to the community to the Library, to be delivered this (Thursday) evening, in the Music Hall, by Mr. J. W. Bengough, the cartoonist, of the Illustrated newspaper whose name heads this notice. His delineations with pencil and voice of well-known public men and events have been received with the highest favor by the most intelligent audiences in the City of Toronto and elsewhere. At Lindsay where he lectured recently he was greeted with a most cordial welcome. We cannot doubt but that his reception here will be equally as hearty, and that his representations will yield unqualified satisfaction. Let the politicians especially, embrace this opportunity of not only hearing, but also seeing both sides of the great parties and factions now before the country, before they cast their votes for parliamentary representatives. The net proceeds of this lecture are to be devoted to the Building Fund of St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School—in remembrance of Mr. Bengough's connection, a few years ago, with the minister of that Church, as a S. Scholar and bearer. The teachers of the Sabbath School desire to acknowledge the great courtesy of the ladies of the Methodist Church in postponing their "Parlour Social" until Friday evening, in order to avoid competition with Mr. Bengough's lecture. The Lecture will begin punctually at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cts. As there are no reserved seats, ticket holders would do well to go early to the hall.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE East Riding OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH:

GENTLEMEN,—

Having been selected by a large and influential Reform Convention held in Ashburnham on the 17th of November, to be a candidate in the interest of the Mowat government in the approaching contest, I respectfully announce my acceptance of the important trust and solicit your votes and influence to elect me.

My political views are so well known that it appears to me unnecessary to re-state them, were it not that I do not desire to be considered as uttering any uncertain sounds on matters of public interest.

I believe the present Government, known as the Mowat Government, have managed our public affairs wisely and economically, with a due regard to the progress and prosperity of the country. Their schemes for aiding Railways, and for settling the Municipal Loan Fund have merited general approbation, by settling a question of great difficulty, while over three millions of dollars have been returned to the people to wipe out old indebtedness, or to be used in local works of public importance. Their management of the Finances also recommends itself to the intelligence of the people, and if elected they shall have my cordial support so long as they thus prudently discharge the trusts committed to them.

I am in favour of using the surplus from year to year, on public works of general utility, calculated to develop the resources of the province, and ensure the comfort and prosperity of the people. Hoarding it up to quarrel over, or placing it in banks at four to five per cent, while the people are taxing themselves heavily to build Railways, Colonization Roads, &c., is unwise; as any sum expended now, while the people are struggling to clear, fence and improve their homes, is worth ten times as much spent ten or twenty years hence, when the people have overcome the difficulties of new settlers, and have attained to a position enabling them to pay their way, and build their own roads and bridges.

Railroads from East to West of our County and to the Northward, would materially assist in developing the mineral, forest and manufacturing wealth of the County, and, if elected, I will do all I can to encourage the construction of those now projected, and their continuation Eastward and Westward to the chief markets, and Northward to the forest and mineral regions of our County. The construction and improvement of Colonization Roads shall have my especial attention, as I know they are calculated to add to the comfort of those persons who are contending with the difficulties settlers in the back country have to encounter, because of the distance from market and good means of ingress and egress at first.

I am opposed to Class Legislation, and would only support Laws founded on equal rights to all classes of our citizens, irrespective of accident of birth, or of the dead issues of the past.

All measures introduced, no matter from which party emanating, will have my careful consideration, but I will only support those which I believe to be for the good of the country, without regard to party or party exigencies.

I hope to see as many as possible of the electors during my canvass—when I shall be glad to explain my views more fully on any matter of public interest. In the meantime I would respectfully and confidently request all friendly to my election, and all who desire the continuation of wise and useful legislation, to be earnest and persevering in their efforts to the end that a triumphant success may be secured for the Reform Candidate, and for the Mowat Government.

I am,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. STRATTON.

December 11th, 1874.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE West Riding OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH:

GENTLEMEN,—

Having received the unanimous nomination of the Reform Convention, to contest this Riding at the forthcoming general Election for the Ontario House of Assembly, I beg to offer myself as a candidate.

In soliciting your suffrages I have no private ends to serve or personal objects to attain, but do so in the interests of good government, and at the solicitation of many warm friends from all parts of the Riding.

My time and energies having been hitherto engaged in business, I am no professed politician or public orator, and I ask your support simply as a practical business man, desiring the prosperity of our Province at large, and of our own County in particular, and will, if elected, use my best efforts to secure that object.

I hesitate not to affirm that the present Government, under the leadership of the Honorable Mr. Mowat, has faithfully and honorably administered our affairs, and I will give them my cordial support so long as they continue to carry out a liberal and progressive policy, and give to the country the able and prudent legislation they have given in the past.

I approve of the Act for the consolidation of our Municipal Law, the School Act, the Administration of Justice, the Ballot, and the Income Franchise Acts. We are also indebted to the Mowat Administration for the Settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund indebtedness—a measure which must commend itself to the approbation of every impartial Elector, and reflects credit upon the Government which grappled with the difficult question.

I consider the Railway Policy of the Government calculated to advance the prosperity of the country; and as the proposed Ontario and Quebec Railway, and Railway extension northwards from Peterborough will assist our Agricultural, Manufacturing, and Commercial interests, they will have my warmest support.

I am in favor of liberal assistance to Colonization Roads, the encouragement of Immigration to our Province, and higher education for our people.

The Finances of the Province will engage my earnest attention, and I will always advocate a wise and careful management of the Public Funds, and the practice of such economy in all Departments of the Public service as is consistent with efficiency.

As to the questions which may arise during the next four years, I shall deal with them upon their merits, without reference to the party advancing them; and, if honored with your confidence, will, at all times, be prepared to give my best attention to all matters touching the welfare of this County, as well as to the consideration of Provincial affairs.

Hoping, before polling day, to have the pleasure of personally visiting many of the Electors of the Riding, and soliciting your best efforts to place me in the position of your representative,

I am, Gentlemen,
Your Obed't Servant,
GEO. A. COX.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Osle, of Ione, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil. I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electre Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August last, produces great anxiety to know how to counteract De Forsery Compound Fluid of PHOSPHATES and Colisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in consistency, and bear in mind that absolutely there is no similarity in colour or effect.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results as any portion from a fancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and nothing have ever resulted from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner.

THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER.

She may not in the waxy dance,
With jeweled maiden's vie;
She may not smile on courtly youth
With soft bewitching eye;
She cannot boast a form and mein
That lavish wealth hath bought her,
But oh, she hath mouth fairer charms,
The farmer's peerless daughter.

The rose and lily on her cheek
Together love to dwell;
Her laughing blue eyes wreathe around
The heart a witching spell;
Her heart is bright as morning's glow
Upon the dewy plain,
And listening to her voice we dream
That Spring has come again.

The timid fawn is not more mild,
Nor yet more gay or free;
The lily's cup is not more pure,
In all its purity;
Of all the wild flowers in the wood,
Or by the crystal water,
There's none more fair or pure than she
The farmer's peerless daughter.

The haughty belle whom all adore,
On downy pillow lies!
While forth upon the dewy lawn
The merry maiden hies!
And with the lark's uprising song
Her own clear voice is heard—
Ye may not tell which sweetest sings
The maiden or the bird.

Then tell me not of jewelled fair,
The brightest jewel yet
Is the pure heart where virtue dwells,
And innocence is set;
The glow of health upon her cheek,
The grace no rule hath taught her,
The fairest wreath that beauty twines
Is for the farmer's daughter.

A Mistake.

A citizen of France, who has an inveterate habit of confounding everything which is said to him, and has been endeavouring to acquire a knowledge of our vernacular, was about leaving his boarding-house for a more comfortable quarter. All the little mysteries of his wardrobe, including his last nether garment and umbrella, had been packed up, when he bethought himself of the unpleasant duty now devolving upon him, that of bidding "ze folks" good-bye. After shaking his fellow boarders cordially by the hand, and wishing them, with incessant blowing, "ze vorree best success in the viri," and "zee benediction du chet," he retired in search of his "dear landlady," to give her also his blessing. He met her at the staircase, and, advancing hat in hand, with a thousand scrapes, commenced his speech:

"Ah! madame, I'm goin' to leave you. You have been verree amiable to me, madame; I will nevare forget you for zat. If I am in my countree I would ask zer government to give you a pension, madame."

The good lady put down her head and blushed modestly, while our Frenchman proceeded:

"Vell, I must go; you know in zeese life, madame, it is full of pain an' trouble. If Got adopted the virl vich Lamartine made in his poesis zen zere should be no mere pain. Adieu, madame, adieu! perhaps forever."

Thereupon the Frenchman was making exit, when he was suddenly called back by his landlady, who interestedly remarked;

"Why! Mr. C——, you have forgotten your latch key."

Mr. C—— appeared amazed, apparently not understanding her interrogatory.

"Yes," continued Mrs M——, "you know it is the rule for all boarders to give me their keys."

"Oh, madame!" interrupted the Frenchman, with enthusiasm, "I will give you not one—not one, but zouzands!" and applying the action to the word, he sprang towards Mrs. M——, and embracing her tightly in his arms, kissed her most heroically.

The affrighted Mrs. M——, recovering herself, at length, cried out:

"The key! Mr. C——, the key!"

Frenchy, looking confused - confounded, ejaculates with heavy sighs:

"Oh, madame! I not you ask me for one kees an' I give it to you. What a fatale mistake!"

A Cool Railway Porter.

An English paper says:—"A remarkable example of presence of mind in a railway porter is afforded by an incident which occurred as a down train from Perth to Aberdeen was leaving Guthrie station. A newsboy, who accompanied this train, while in the act of stepping into a carriage missed his footing, and fell down between the platform and the wheels of the carriages. As the train was by this time in motion, any attempt on the part of the boy to get up would have infallibly resulted in his instant death. Nine persons out of ten witnessing this accident would have turned pale or either shrieked out at the top of their voices advice of various kinds, or remained awe-struck and motionless abiding the issue. Fortunately, however, one of the station porters was master of the moment and the situation, and rushing forward, lay down on the platform; then, seizing the boy with his hands, held him flat on the ground till all the footboards of the train had passed over him and the danger had ceased. This combination of coolness and common sense is on acquisition that may well be envied by many a person, who, notwithstanding all the gifts of an elaborate education, is less fit to battle with difficulties and emergencies of life than the humble station porter at Guthrie, who thus saved the newsboy from a horrible death."

One day Edward Fox went with his brother, Charles James Fox, to witness the first balloon ascent in England. There was a great crowd, and Fox detected a pickpocket attempting to relieve him of his watch. "My friend," said he, "you have chosen an occupation which will be your ruin at last." The thief burst into tears and exclaimed "Oh! Mr. Fox, forgive me, and let me go! I have been driven to this by necessity alone; my wife and children are starving!" Fox compassionately gave him a guinea, and he went away with blessings on his lips. Soon after Fox, wishing to know what time it was, found his watch missing. "Good God!" he exclaimed, "my watch is gone!" "Yes," answered his brother, "I know it is; I saw your friend take it." "Saw him take it and made no attempt to stop him!" "Really," said the general "you and he appeared to be on such good terms, nothing other that I did not like to interfere."

A boy in Lockport Illinois, who had just come into possession of his first shot-gun, amused himself by banging away over his father, who was greasing harness by the wood-pile. VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

PHYSICIANS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD PROCLAIM VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any medicine so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this reliable purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it does cure it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. That sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and restore health to its healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to healthy life, by correcting, wherever they exist, such disorganizations as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Listlessness, Loss of Appetite, Pains in the Stomach, Nausea and Sickness after Eating, Foul Breath, Rumbling in the Bowels, Pain in the Side, Chest and Limbs, Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for such cases, to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but a mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pain, Spasms of the Heart, Pains in the Kidneys, Blood and Kidneys, they should be continued, as taken, as required, to meet the diseased actions of the system. With such simple means every one can be their own physician.

For Dropsy and Suppression of the Kidneys, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as the excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against serious attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Any medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold [illegible] round the world.

GENTLEMEN:—It is now some four years since I addressed you through the columns of this paper, and I now adopt the same method; and as there has been many changes since that time both political and otherwise, and as most of you are aware that I sold out my business in Norwood to Mr. Ackerman two months ago, and my agreement with him prevents me from starting in the Village or Township; therefore I must return you my most sincere thanks for the liberal support you have accorded to me for these last 18 years. And at the same time I beg to inform you that having erected a Large and Commodious

I also propose setting apart one day in the week, viz. Saturday, when all small jobbing will be done free of charge.
I hope to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to patronize me, feeling assured that they will save money by travelling a mile further, as I intend to undersell all in the trade.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Dr. John Henry Newman has replied to Mr. Gladstone's pamphlet.

The Hon. Edward Blake calls Mr. Patterson the Editor of the Black Mail.

The New York Times pays 80 per cent dividend to the proprietors and stockholders.

Major Walker was disqualified as a candidate for the next election, owing to the bribery at the last.

The German fleet are preparing to obtain satisfaction from the Carlists who fired on the German ship, "Gustav."

Mr. Gladstone has definitely and finally retired from the leadership of the Liberal party in the British House of Commons.

John McGiverin, a son of Colonel McGivarin, of Hamilton, was killed at Toronto on the 14th inst., which trying to jump upon a train in motion.

Reformers and Democrats are equally indignant at the expulsion of the five members from the Louisiana Legislature, and President Grant attempts an elaborate apology in his last Message.

The National has fully retracted and amply apologized for its scandalous charges against the private character of the Hon. George Brown. Samuel Briggs' exhuberant fancy carried him too far that time. There's not much wit in a malicious libel.

The German Reichstag has passed a bill by which the Landsturm is placed under the absolute control of the War Minister. An imperial decree may, in any emergency, conscript any class or the whole of the Landsturm organization into Landwehr, and place them on the same footing—that is to say the whole able-bodied population of the country are liable to be called out in the active militia or Landwehr.

The Leader has turned spiritualist. No one knows how a man has voted where his ballot is cast, but the Leader evidently believes that the spiritual influence of men who have voted on the right side is at last equal to the old placards announcing "Our Party Ahead." So he comes and wills the honoured old paragraph, no doubt kept in type since last election ;—"Go early to the Polls. Remember that one vote before 12 o'clock is worth two after.

THE RESULT IN THIS COUNTY

Mr. Scott is defeated by 46, and Mr. Cox will take his place in the House. The opposition is therefore condemned, and Mr Scott's course in the House condemned. The trick of John Carnegie in putting Dr. O'Sullivan in the East Riding to elect Mr Scott in the West has signally failed, although the Doctor spent Monday in Emsemore, and notwithstanding his efforts to create a disturbance. This we have received on pretty good authority

The hypocrisy of John Carnegie through the East Riding in stating that Doctor O'Sullivan, only was taken as a Conservative, is fully proved by members of the Conservative Committee in the West, who say they opposed Mr. Carnegie's course, but were forced by the Dictator to cave in. No Protestant candidate could have defeated Mr. Stratton in the East. Mr. Carnegie was a day and a night a candidate, but he found he could not win, and hence the candidature of Dr. O'Sullivan. This can not be denied. The result of the contest is as follows :—

Majority for O'Sullivan			62

Mr. Stapleton took majorities in twelve polling divisions; Dr. O'Sullivan in seven polling divisions. The united vote of Douro, split the vote of No. 1 Asphodel, were sufficient to decide the result. But these results were only obtained because Dr. O'Sullivan was a Catholic, and Conservatives lashed himself to elect Scott in the West, not caring for the Doctor. But Mr. Scott was defeated, and that fully repays for Mr. Stapleton's defeat in the East.

Otonabee did as well as is usually done as Dr. O'Sullivan took all known as religionists, the majority here was 76. Burleigh 3, and Belmont 2. Douro and Asphodel gave a majority for the Doctor.

Mr. Cox's majority in the West would have been much greater had the Riding remained as it was previous to the Redistribution. In Lakefield alone there is a difference against him of 21. Sixteen of a majority, and five lost in the Township vote, and time lost in canvassing Harvey and Galway would have been better spent in Town.

The Town is evidently almost divided. Mr. Bertram got one of a majority in his election. Now Mr. Scott gets three of a majority. At last election, a large number of Reform votes were rapelled who came out this time. It is evident the comparative strength of the parties in Town is about equal.

Smith remains true to its Reform principles, and Enismore, when rowdyism is prevented, may be relied on for a fair division. The two Monaghans are also fixed : not much change can be made in them, as is proved by every election contest. North Monaghan would be about divided, if parties from Town should vote in Town. In the future, therefore, candidates may count their chances from the state of parties in Town.

EAST RIDING.

In this Riding Dummer and Otonabee remained true to Reform principles. Belmont is about split. Burleigh is inclined to give a Reform majority. Asphodel, between Protestant candidates, is about equally divided. Douro always has given a Conservative majority ; but between Protestant candidates it is difficult to say what would be the majority : probably about fifty.

At this election, the Catholics appeared more than usually anxious to have one of themselves elected. The Conservatives put Dr. O'Sullivan in the field, crowding out Mr. Pearce ; but then the Doctor, it is rumored, is to retire as soon as possible. And then where will their man be ?

In 1871 Mr. Pearce retired to prevent the Election of a Catholic. In 1875 he retired to secure the election of a Catholic. And whenever the Conservatives have served their own purposes, they will cast him aside as unfit for use.

THE ELECTIONS.

From the Globe of 30th.

We were able to give the general results of Monday's elections in yesterday's issue of the Globe. To-day we can examine the returns rather more critically. Assuming that the Algoma district is carried by a supporter of the Government—as it most probably will be—the new House will be constituted as follows :—

Ministerialists, - - - - -	51
Opposition, - - - - -	33
Independents, - - - - -	4
Total, - - - - -	88

The Ministerial members of the former House re-elected are :—

Addington—Deroche.

Brant, South—Hardy.
Bruce, North—Sinclair, D.
Bruce, South—Wells.
Durham, West—McLeod.
Elgin, East—Wilson.
Grenville, South—Fraser.

Halton—Barber.
Hamilton—Williams.

Victoria South—Wood.
Waterloo North—Sprunger.
Welland—Currie.
Wellington Centre—Clarke.
Wellington South—Grow.
Wentworth South—Sexton.

Total—33.

The new members who have to be classed as supporters of the Government are :—

Brockville, Cole.
Cornwall, McIntyre.

Lincoln, Neelon.
Muskoka, Miller.
Northumberland East, Ferris.
Northumberland West, Hargraft.

York East, Lane.
Total, 17.

The members classed as Independents are the following :

Dufferin, Barr.
Glengarry, Grant.
Hastings East, Appleby.
Lennox, Grange.
Total, 4.

These gentlemen are understood to be prepared to give their support generally to the Government, whilst reserving to themselves the right of action independent of party allegiance. On a square vote of confidence they would almost certainly vote with the Ministry. The old members of the Opposition re-elected are :—

Carleton—Monk.
Grey East—Lauder.
Grey North—Scott.
Hastings North—Boulter.
Lanark South—Cole.
Leeds and Grenville North—Merrick
London, Meredith.
Middlesex East, Tooley.
Renfrew North, Denson.

Ministerialists have carried the following seats created by the recent Readjustment Act:—

Huron West,
Lambton East, and Muskoka.
Total—3.

Dufferin is represented by Dr. Barr, Independent.

There is no very material difference between the Legislatures of 1871 and '75 so far as the present government is concerned. Comparing, however, the constitution of the latter with that of the former, when first elected, the gain to the Reformers is very great. It will be recollected that on the first vote taken concerning Mr. Sanfield Macdonald's Railway appropriation policy, it was carried by a majority of only eight, whilst a direct vote of non-confidence was afterwards passed by a majority of only one. Mr. Mowat, in such a crisis, could certainly count on being sustained in the new House by not less than a majority of from eighteen to twenty, if all those members who have clearly declared themselves as in opposition were to vote with the minority—an event we have good precedent for believing not very likely to occur, when the newly-elected Representatives come to "define their positions" in view of the policy they are invited to support.

As the Government have been very bitterly attacked by Opposition critics for the recent rearrangement of the constituencies, it may be well to notice how the measure has worked in practice.

Muskoka received representation in the Local House for the first time. This boon to the new territory was conceded to be just by all parties. It simply followed Sir John A. Macdonald's Dominion Act of 1872. Muskoka returns thus gaining one vote. The new county of Dufferin showed an overwhelming Conservative majority, and it was local dissensions alone that prevented the election of a pronounced opponent of the Ministry The other constituencies affected by the Readjustment Act were:

Huron, One new member.
Kent (including Bothwell) and
Lambton, Four members in place of three.
Cardwell, Re-adjusted.
Grey, One new member.
Wellington, Re-adjusted.
North Victoria, Township added.
Simcoe, one new member.
Peterborough East and Peterborough West, Re-adjusted.
Lincoln, Enlarged by the addition of Niagara.
Renfrew North and Renfrew South, Re-adjusted.
Brockville, Enlarged and South Leeds thereby reduced.

Now what has resulted from these arrangements ? Huron gives one additional supporter to the Administration, and the same results ensues from the readjustment of Kent and Lambton, both of the Lambton returning a Ministerialist. Cardwell, on the other hand, returns a Conservative, as also does the new division of Grey ; while in the South Riding of the latter county a Ministerialist succeeds Mr. Lauder, who probably owes to the change his escape from political extinction. In Wellington the character of the representations remains unaltered. North Victoria goes for the Government, while Simcoe, instead of two Conservatives, returns three. East Peterborough replaces one Opposition member by another, and West Peterborough in electing Mr. Cox (Ministerial) in place of Mr. Scott (Opposition) has only reverted to the position it occupied during the three first sessions of the late Legislature, Mr. Scott having been elected on the death of Mr. Fairbairn, by a most insignificant majority. Lincoln was unfavourably affected, so far as the Ministry were concerned, by the addition of Niagara. That this county has rejected Mr. Rykert and elected a supporter of the Government must, therefore, be attributed to causes altogether independent of the recent change. The Renfrews remain as before, divided, the North sending a supporter to the Opposition, the South one to the Government. Brockville is gained by the latter ; but it must be remembered that the late Conservative member carried the seat in 1871 by a very bare majority, secured at the time by Grand Trunk influence. Brockville—too, as it was until the recent Act was passed, sends a Reformer to Ottawa. It may therefore be regarded as legitimately belonging to the Ministerial following. South Leeds, the last on the list, on the other hand, which was a very uncertain Conservative seat, has now elected a member of that stripe by a large majority. It will be seen, consequently, how very absurd has been the twaddle about "gerrymandering" the constituencies, talked for the past month in regard to the Representation Act.

The ballot, used for the first time in the elections to the Local House, has, probably, on the whole, been an advantage for the moment to the Opposition. There is always a tendency to apathy on the part of the party in power, and secret voting witholds the information which gives a stimulus to offer during the progress of the poll. As Opposition having everything to gain its naturally on the alert from first to last, and no doubt thus gains something from its adversaries. But the elections just terminated really indicate more than anything a return to party lines, much disregarded, it will be remembered, at the elections of 1867 and 1871. And the ballot, of course, if it be an improvement at all, should be so in the sense of allowing the free and unbiased expression of municipal opinion, whether as to the personal merits of candidates or the political parties they represent. The defeat of some of the unsuccessful candidates is much to be regretted, but our belief is, that, taken altogether, the new House will be an improvement upon its predecessor. Constituencies and Legislatures are none the worse for occasional changes.

The success of the Opposition in Toronto was quite in keeping with the traditional fickleness of the city towards its representatives, who have been sometimes either thrown by over, by refusing to accept as candidates of the Party or decline to support :

O'Hanley, in Russell ;
Callaghan, in North Wellington ;
Devlin, in South Oxford ;
McLillan, in South Wellington ;
Kennedy, in North Simcoe ;
McCrimmon, in West Toronto ;
Hawkins, in West Huron ;
Small, in Cardwell.

Besides this they offered all the opposition in their power to Dr. Sullivan in his contest for the Kingston Mayoralty ; Mr. Adam Crooks voted against Mr. Dan Hayes, (the only Catholic candidate for Alderman in West Toronto,) and Mr. Hugh Miller and other leading Grits in the East laboured with might and main to defeat Mr. Briton in the Aldermanic contest in St. Lawrence Ward, in this city.

Had there been a disposition in high quarters in the Grit sanhedrim to strain a point to secure something like a fair representation of the Catholic Body in the Local House, the leaders might have run Catholic Candidates in any of the following constituencies, and in some others besides :

West Northumberland,
North Simcoe,
West Simcoe,
East Peterborough,
Cardwell,
North Victoria,
South Victoria,
Cornwall,
Kingston,
North Renfrew,
North Ontario,
Peel.
Russel,
North Wellington,
South Essex.

Per contra, we find that the much-abused "Tory" Party, against whose narrow-mindedness we are treated to daily diatribes in the Grit press, have Catholic candidates in the field as follows, every one of whom we believe will be elected :

Curtis, in West Kent.
McRae, in North Ontario.
O'Sullivan, in East Peterborough.
Harkins, in Prescott.
Long, in West Simcoe.

And to every one of these five Catholic gentlemen, of eminent respectability, and who would do credit to the Catholic body in the Legislature, the Grits are offering the most uncompromising opposition !

Catholic electors of Ontario ! Read this record ; and ask yourselves which is the true Liberal Party in this Province ! Refuse to be longer lead by the nose by men who are working only in their own interest, and who are daily treading upon you, and enriching themselves at your expense. To the Liberal Conservative Party, as you may see, you will be indebted for whatever representation you will have in the next Legislature.

Than why did the Conservatives not prove their sincerity by putting candidates where Reformers had not. The truth is they wanted to elect Mr. Scott and failed. Will he take the Doctors place ?

Algoma to be heard from.

A COMPARISON.

ELECTION OF 1871.

The result then was,

Reformers	45
Conservatives	31
Independents	5
Algoma	1

Majority for Reformers, 16

THE ELECTION OF '75 GIVES,

Reformers	51
Conservatives	33
Independent	6

Majority for Reformers, 18.

And a chance of Independent members supporting the Government.

In 1871 Mr. O'Donohue got 482 votes. Of these about 100 were Roman Catholics, as they were forbidden to vote for him. He must, therefore, have received 350 to 380 Protestant Reform votes. In 1875 Dr. O'Sullivan gets 759 votes, and of those 475 at least are Roman Catholics. He therefore gets about 250 to 280 Protestant votes.

Facts for Roman Catholic Electors

The following circular was issued in the East Riding, and issued only to Roman Catholics and strongly Conservative Orangemen. The facts don't speak well for Conservatives, for they elected only one Roman Catholic.

Four or five years ago the "Catholic" League was formed, ostensibly with a view to securing an increased number of seats in Parliament, as a large number of offices, for Catholics. The league struck hands with the quandum villifier of Roman Catholicism, Mr. George Brown. We may now be permitted to ask the Catholic body what they have gained by a transfer of their support—saving always the noble minority which steraly refused to barter its party allegiance for the proffered mess of pottage—from the Liberal-Conservatives to the Grits. Mr. O'Donohue, it is true, got into Parliament ; Mr. John McKeown was appointed County Attorney of Lincoln ; Mr. A. P. Devlin received a similar appointment in Victoria ; and Mr J. D. Merrick—well, he has looked after himself pretty well—but wherein have the mass of Catholics benefited the "Unholy Alliance" which O'Donohue, Merrick & Co. made with Mr. Brown, for their mutual benefit ? We, to-day offer them briefly, a few facts in connection with the pending election, which if they consider carefully may awaken them to a consciousness of what is going on around them.

There will be eighty-six members in the new Legislature. Outside of Mr. Fraser, we believe the Government have but one Catholic candidate in the field, Mr. Doran, who is trying his luck in South Lanark. But as a Catholic gentleman observed to us a few days since ; "we don't thank them for this, they couldn't have helped themselves, and Mr. Doran is the only Reformer in the Riding who has the remotest chance of being elected." In Ottawa the Reform Association refuses to take up Mr. Dan O'Donoghue, though, as a dernier resort some of the Grit papers are now putting him on the back. They

WEST MONTREAL

A Montreal telegram says : "To-day Mr. Justice Beaudry, on the application of Mr. Thomas White, Jr., for leave to inspect the accepted, rejected and doubtful ballot papers of the recent election in Montreal West, ordered that the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery for the Dominion of Canada do, on the 22nd inst., and any subsequent days, if required, until such examination be completed, during office hours, at his office at Ottawa, permit the inspection of all the ballot papers in his custody connected with this election to the petitioner or his authorized agent, accompanied by two other persons on his behalf. Mr. McKenzie is also allowed the same privilege, it being provided that notice be given him of the inspection three days before it takes place. The following clause appears in Mr. White's petition : "Your petitioner is informed and believes that a number of ballot papers irregularly and illegally marked and deposited, have been wrongfully accepted, and counted in favor of the said Frederick McKenzie."

The Fountain of Youth.

It is extraordinary that so incredible a claim as was recently and repeatedly made before the Florida Court should have been entertained at all. But the credulity of Ponce de Leon seems to survive to this day, and the suits growing out of the claim (the astonishing details of which we are about to relate) were seriously carried on and terminated only in the violent ending of the plaintiff's life. When, during the war of the rebellion, gun-boats of the Union were about to open on the ports of Topa Bay, one Frederick Hallemann, a planter, determined to seek safety with his wife and youngest child in the wilderness known as the Everglades. The wife in the hurried journey became separated from her husband and child, and returned to the plantation. Years passed on, the elder sons, who in the Confederate army had been "fighting afloat, afield, or guarding a leagured wall," returned to the following of the plough on the plantation, mourning their father and younger brother as long dead. In the spring of 1867 there appeared on the plantation an active man, seemingly thirty years of age, leading a youth of five. The widow was reading her Bible on the verandah, when she was suddenly embraced and kissed with many extravagant demonstrations of joy by the young stranger. He was promptly punished by the indignant sons of the aged lady, and an explanation was demanded. He claimed to be her husband. Wandering in the Everglades he fell into a spring. He went in old, grey, decrepid. He came out young, dark and vigorous. Instantly he knew that chalice had discovered to him what Ponce de Leon long sought unsuccessfully. His involuntary bath had been in the Fountain of Perpetual Youth. Unluckily he plunged the frightened lad also into the bubbling spring. The effect was to prevent his growth, leaving him until the day of his death the same in appearance, thought, everything. The pair lived upon alligator meat. They locked always for a path leading from the glades to civilization, and one day were happily rewarded by coming out of the labyrinth of swamp, forest, and field in which they had lived near the old homestead. He carried a picture of Mr. Halsemann, which it was remembered the old planter had borne into the glades, and was accurate in all the details of the family history. The family cast him off as a swindler. It was said that he stole the picture ; that he had met Halsemann in the trackless forest, learned fully and completely the details of his life, and mayhap, murdered him. In a week the rejuvenated planter returned and claimed his property. In the Hon John A Henderson, recently elected a member of Congress, he found a credulous attorney who managed his suit. On the trial he sought to establish his identity upon the resemblance of the boy to the child who had disappeared in 1864, his faithful remembrance of the minutiæ of Halsemann's life and his ability to plot any one to the marvellous fountain. The court gave the plaintiff an opportunity to prove this last claim. He took a large party into the wilderness, but did not pilot them aright, his friends attributing his failure to the impossibility of remembering localities in the vast unexplored country of southern Florida. Three different times was the case tried ; each time the jury disagreed, though upon the last trial the verdict came near being for the plaintiff. Gratitude to his counsel led him to work him warmly at the polls, and getting into a scuffle he was shot through the body. His last words were, "I am ——." Piece out the sentence as you will. His enemies finish it, "not Halsemann ;" his friends,—"Halsemann."

STRATHROY

As Dr. Billington, of this town, was riding along near Mount Carmel, he descried a deer on the road and shouted at it, expecting to see a fine run across the fields. The deer was so frightened that in attempting to jump the fence it struck the fence rider and fell back. The Doctor kept on shouting all the while, and the confusion of the animal became so great that each succeeding attempt was no more successful than the first. Seeing this he reined his horse in the corner of the fence, jumped out of his buggy, and made for the deer, and actually caught it, but had no sooner touched it than he found himself in the ditch. After two or three ups and downs it got away from him, but being a doctor, he fought on scientific principles, and in his endeavors to cut the carotid artery inflicted a wound on its neck. The confused and now wounded animal ran off ten or twelve rods and actually came back to the very same spot to jump the fence, and with the same ill success as before. The doctor closed in and caught it a second time, and after another series of ups and downs, succeeded in severing the carotid artery with his pocketknife, when its life blood soon effused and it sank a victim to his pluck. After the excitement was over he found himself too much exhausted to tie his prize into the carriage. Resting some time, however he was able to do so ; and being dead, he drove home, we will not say a bigger, but certainly a pleased, muddy, and bloody man.

Dreadful Accident.—A telegram from Toronto, Dec. 26th gives the following particulars of a shocking accident : "Four men smashed down the door of Mr. A. Pettil's house at Wellington Square at one o'clock this morning, and while one held him with a pistol at his head the other three rifled the house, taking away with them two bags of gold, one containing $4,000 and the other $2,000 ; a box containing $2,000 more they overlooked. A reward of $500 has been offered for their arrest, irrespective of the money.

Ourselves

Owing to the bustle of the contest we have been unable to give so much reading matter this week as we would desire, we will try to make up for this in the future A communication from a citizen is received too late for this issue. It will appear next week.

Toronto

Mr. John O'Donohoe was defeated in Toronto East by 311. And Mr. Crooks, in trying to carry him in, fell with him—majority against Mr. Crooks, 259. The Tories in Toronto went against Mr O'Donohoe because he is a Catholic. In East Peterboro the Tories voted for Dr. O'Sullivan because he is a Catholic. How consistent! A Conservative paper in Toronto, said, that ever our Legislative Halls the inscription should be: "Jew, Turk, or heathen may enter here, but no Papist!" In East Peterboro, Tory tactics are different. Anything may enter, but a Grit Orangeman.

Lot 23 in 7th concession of Gramahe, in two parcels of 100 acres each. For particulars see large bills.

The Wizard of the North.

Of the entertainment of this talented and superior performer, with the ladies and gentlemen who accompany him in his tour, the Montreal Gazette of a recent date spoke:—"Last night Professor Anderson, "the Wizard of the North," gave one of his highly instructive and really able entertainments in the Mechanics' Hall before a large audience, considering that it was New Year's night. Many of his tricks are of an extraordinary character and are enough to excite the wonder and admiration of any one. A number of his tricks he explains to the audience in such a way that they can be performed by even a child. The statue dance by Mr. Finley was clever and elicited an encore. The second night entertainment given by Miss De Vere elicited the applause of the people present. At the close of the performance a number of valuable and useful presents were given away. We must say that Professor Anderson is a perfect Santa Claus for giving presents, One of the gifts last night was $50 in cash, the lucky recipient of which was Mr. E. V. B. Hall."

Miss De Montford

As will be seen in our advertisement columns this wonderful Mesmerist will give some of her performances in the Music Hall, Peterborough, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evg's, commencing at 8 o'clock p.m. The following we clip from the Springfield Republican:

The claims made for Miss De Montford powers of mesmerism in her advertisement doubtless seemed to many to be extravagant, but all who were present at her exhibition at the Opera House last evening must acknowledge that they were but just. Mesmerism is no new thing before the public, but such exhibitions of it are rare. Out of some twenty persons she selected four who were sufficiently susceptible, and those went through a variety of performances at her bidding, such as imagining that they were sailors and they were shipwrecked, in which belief they went through the motions of handling the rigging, climbing into the small-boat, and finally swimming. One man was persuaded that he belonged to the fair sex, and took care of a doll with a great deal of external solicitude. Miss De Montford exhibits again this evening, and lovers of the mysterious and wonderful will find in her performance a fine field for investigation.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS ECLESIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the more skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "I send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Ions, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction." J. Thompson, W. Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil, have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Riverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Proprietor, N. Y., and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 1st, renders great caution necessary as to compounds of Wild Cherry, Canada Fruit of PHOSPHATES and Calisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similarity in action or effect.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, hence an abstinent of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from infancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and however harm can result from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner.

DON'T CROWD.

Don't crowd, the world is large enough
For you as well as me;
The doors of all are open wide
The rooms of thought is free;
In all earth's places you are right
To choose the best you can
Provided that you do not try
To crowd some other man

Don't crowd the good from out your heart
By fostering all that's bad.
But give to every virtue room
The best that may be had;
To each day's record such a day
That you may well be proud;
Give each his rights—give each his room,
And never try to crowd.

A BEAR HUNT.

On a recent Saturday afternoon two men named James Marshall and John Ebbits, the former a druggist from York house and the latter a resident of Detroit, started from North Branch on a bear-hunting expedition. Proceeding six miles east, and then a mile north, they came upon bear tracks of unusual size. They had with them a gun each of approved patterns, an uncommonly large bull-dog, who was never known to turn back at anything, and of a savage species, and a Siberian bloodhound, who weighed not less than 250 pounds. The dogs were the first to scent the game, and with tail and bristles erect they eagerly started on the war path, Marshall and Ebbits following as fast as possible. About five miles further on they unexpectedly came upon the bear, who was quietly slumbering in a cavity made by the removal of an immense beech tree. The dogs gave a howl and a bark as they discovered the monster, and without another sign sprang with ferocity on the beast before he had time to fairly recover his consciousness. He was not long in doing it, however, for he immediately rose to a standing position, gave a fierce growl, elevated the corner of his hips, disclosing as ugly a set of molars as ever adorned a Michigan bear, struck the dogs, and raising his right paw hurled the bull dog in the ribs, knocking him about twenty feet and landing him on the top of a pine stump three feet in height. In the meantime the bloodhound had not been idle. The bear had no sooner dealt his companion a blow than he seized him by the flank with a vesocity that caused him to whirl around with such force as to break loose. Then bear and bloodhound met face to face. The latter showed his hounds on his hind legs, prepared for the fray, and the bloodhound did likewise, gnashing his jaws, and quick as a flash of lightning sprung at the bear, seized him by the throat, and the battle was begun in deadly earnest. The bear was overthrown by the sudden onslaught, and the bloodhound, and the blood of the hound still clung to the throat of the bear and were mingled in such a manner that the hunters were afraid to fire for fear they would kill the dog, and as the dog up to that moment seemed to have the best of the battle it was terminated to let the battle rage without interruption. The bear recovering himself in a second's time, and raising his hind paws with the evident intention of disembowelling his antagonist, the dog saw the inconvenience, laid aside, and unfortunately loosened his hold. The bear quickly became maddened with pain, and seeing the hunters started for them with the dog at his heels. He received no further notice of his carcass, but he did'nt seem to mind that, and kept on. He was so close at that the bear and the dog reached and they turned and ran toward a large beech tree about fifteen rods distant, the bear in close pursuit, and the dog close at the heels of the bear. Just as the latter had cleared the opening with himself and the hunters to within about three feet, the dog again seized him by the flank, and hung on with such force that the bear could not free himself. He again whirled the dog and the two rolled together in a terrific fury. The hunters hastily loaded their guns and stood within six paces of the bear, took good aim and fired, just as the bear, with a well and powerfully-directed blow with the right arm, hit the dog between the eyes, splitting his head open as neatly as if struck with an axe. The bear, breathing a few moments in mortal agony was dead. On examination it was found that the blood-hound and bull-dog were also dead the latter having all his ribs smashed in. A farmer was hired to carry the bear to the nearest station, and when put on the scales he tipped the beam at 450 pounds. One of his paws when cut off has weighed five pounds. It took copious draughts of brandy for three days in succession before the hunters became steady, so great had been the excitement over the contest. Of course they were not frightened any of the time—they deny that charge with the energy and indignation that the imputation deserves.

A Printer and a Monte Sharp.

A California paper relates the following: A printer, formerly of the Downieville Messenger, went over the Truckee and also rode on the car for the first time in his life. While on the latter he was accosted by a monte sharp and asked to try his peculiar game. The unsophisticated newspaper man protested that while he would like to bet and win some money, he was out of funds. To prove this statement he emptied his pockets, and produced half a dozen letters of introduction to hotel keepers, conductors and clergymen, besides a certificate of character, but nothing save a three cent postage stamp, which had been used, appeared in the shape of money. The monte sharp, satisfied that the unsuspicious individual who was thus travelling without money was a harmless was born and reared, what was his business, and whither he was going, and how he travelled. The modest man of the press replied that he was born and cradled in the nigh Sierra, in Downieville; that he was a printer, and going out into the world for the first time; that he had been taught right at home from necessity, for that reason had started out without a cent; that he was a good printer, and that he hoped to get a good situation. The monte sharp man was struck by the artless, pathetic story of the Downievillean and tossing him a shining half dollar, remarked that he was the most heartrending case of impudence he had ever met with.

An old bachelor says: "When I remember all the girls I've met together with their mothers in the fall expecting to get married, and the case with which they all deserted me when their beaux are dead, or all to market started."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURE! CALIFORNIA! DR. WALKER'S

EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

[illegible] THOUSANDS BEAR BITTERS the most [illegible] vigorant that ever [illegible] system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to direction [illegible] unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral [illegible] means, and vital organs [illegible] repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are prevalent in the valleys of our great throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Illinois, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Pascagoula, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the deep colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Eruptions, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Diseases, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional cases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gilders, Miners, as they advance in life are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of HOAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full system of medicine, no vermifuge or anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Bitters display so decided and happy an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when foul; your feelings will tell you when, and the health will follow.

Ayer's Cherry

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine

Perhaps no one remedy ever discovered for the relief and cure of Pulmonary complaints has given such general satisfaction, or performed so many remarkable cures, as the CHERRY PECTORAL. Having for many years proved its virtues in our own practice, and having full confidence in its power, we have no hesitation in recommending it to the public as the best medicine we can produce for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, and for the relief of patients in the first stages of Consumption. As this medicine is rapidly coming into general use, we deem it unnecessary to do more than assure the people that its quality will be found unsurpassed by any preparation ever before offered to the afflicted. Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, LOWELL, MASS. Sold by NORTHROP & LYMAN, and all dealers in medicine everywhere.

General Agents for Peterboro.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the history of medicine has anything won so rapidly upon the confidence of mankind as this remedy for pulmonary complaints. For a series of years, and among men it has risen higher and higher in reputation, as it has become better known for its real character and power to cure all diseases of the lungs and throat, has so many reliable protective agents been found, which render mild forms of disease and trifling colds powerless to do harm, as to be given for incipient consumption, whose first insidious approaches are so often overlooked, or disregarded, until the fatal destroyer has fastened its clutches upon the victim. Against these dangerous symptoms, which are sometimes followed by consumption in a single month, no one should be provided with the antidote. Although settled Consumption is incurable, still great numbers of cases, formerly considered consumption, have been cured, and the patients restored to health and vigor, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. No one can be long exposed to the changes of our climate, or over the disorders of the lungs and throat, the most obstinate of them will yield to the power of this remedy, unless other vital organs are hopelessly diseased before the remedy is employed. Hagyard and Public Speakers will find protection from its use.

Asthma is always relieved, and frequently cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in small doses, and so generally are its virtues known, that we do not publish the certificates of its cures, but assure the public that it is unsurpassed, and is maintained by the

Ayer's Ague Cure

For Fever and Ague, Remittent, Chill Fever, Bilious Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Intermittent Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marshy poisons.

As its name implies, is a positive cure. Containing neither Arsenic, Mercury, Zinc, nor any other mineral substance whatever, it is innocuous to the most delicate infant, and may be taken with perfect safety by any one in search of health. Its numerous cures, in all parts of the world, are literally beyond computation, and have established for it a reputation without a parallel in the history of medicine. In the vicinity of Lowell, where its virtues are best known, the most implicit confidence is placed in its power to cure all cases of Fever and Ague, and the records of the city and town authorities, as well as those of the manufacturing companies, show that it has completely expelled disease from localities where it was epidemic and fatal. Travellers and residents in districts where Fever and Ague prevails, will find protection from attacks by the timely use of this antidote. Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, LOWELL, MASS. Sold by NORTHROP & LYMAN, and all dealers in medicine everywhere.

LEARN TO KEEP HOUSE.

Beautiful maidens—age, nature's fair queens,
Come to your freedom, and come to your teens,
Guiding accomplishments worthy your aim,
Carving for learning—thinning for fame:
Taking each colour with the circle of your hair,
Keeping complexions as lily and fair,
Mine me: this item in all your gay lives,
Learn to keep house, you may each-day be wives.

Now your Adonis loves sweet moonlight walks,
Hand-clasps and kisses, and nice little talks,
Then as plain Charlie with his burden of care,
He must exhibit an more nourishing fare;
He will come home at the set of the sun,
Heart-sick and weary, his working day done:
Therein never let his slippered feet wish to roam,
Learn to keep house that you may keep home.

First in his eyes will be children and wife,
Joy of his joy, and life of his life,
Next to his dwelling, his tales and meals,
Shrink not at point my pen now reveals.
Maidens romantic, the truth must be told,
Knowledge is better than silver or gold:
Then be prepared in the spring time of bonds,
To learn to keep house, tho' surrounded by maids.

Bill Smiley and the Widow.

"Wife," said Edward Wilbur, one morning, as he sat stirring his coffee with his hand and holding a plump baby on his knee with the other, and looking across the table into the bright eyes of his little wife, "would it not be a good joke to get bachelor Bill Smiley to take the Widow Watson to Barnum's show next week."

"You can't do it Ed, he won't ask her; he's so awful shy. Why, he came by here the other morning when I was hanging out clothes and he looked over the fence and spoke, but when I shook out a nightgown, he blushed like a girl and went away."

"I think I can manage it," said Ed, "but I'll have to be just a little. But then it won't be much harm under the circumstances, for I know she likes him, and he don't dislike her; but as you say he's so shy, I'll just go over to his place to borrow some bags of him, and if I don't bag him before I come back, don't kiss me for a week, Nelly."

So saying, Ed. started, and while he is mowing the field, we will take a good look at Bill Smiley. He was rather a good looking fellow, though his hair and whiskers showed some gray hairs, and he had got in a set of artificial teeth. But every one said he was a good soul, and so he was. He had as good a hundred acre farm as any in Norwich, and everything comfortable, and if he wanted a wife, many a girl would have jumped at the chance, like a rooster on a grasshopper. But Bill was so bashful—always was—and when Susan Berrybottle, whom he was so sweet on, though he never said "boo," to her, got married to old Watson, he just drawed in his head, like a mud-turtle into his shell, and there was no getting it out again, though it had been noticed that since Susan had become a widow he had paid more attention to [illegible]

But here comes Ed. Wilbur.

"Good morning, Mr. Smiley."

"Good morning, Mr. Wilbur; what is the news your way?"

"Oh, nothing particular that I know of," said Ed. "only Barnum's show that everybody is talking about; and everybody and his girl is going, too. I was over to old Sackrider's last night, and I see his son has got a new buggy, and was scrubbing his harness; and he's got that white faced colt of his sick as a seal. I understood he thinks of taking widow Watson to the show. He has been hanging around there a good deal of late, but I'd just like to out him out, I would. Susan is a nice little woman, and deserves a better man than that young pup of a fellow, though I would not blame her much either if she takes him, for she must be dreadful lonesome, and she has to let her farm out on shares, and it isn't half worked, and no one else seems to have the spunk to speak up to her. By jingo! if I was a single man I'd show you a trick or two."

So saying, Ed. borrowed some bags and started around the corner of the barn where he had left Bill sweeping, and put his ear to a knothole and listened, knowing the bachelor had a habit of talking to himself when anything worried him.

"Confound that young Sackrider!" said Bill, "what business has he there I'd like to know? Got a new buggy has he? Well, so have I, and a new harness too! and his horse can't get in sight of mine, and I declare I have half a mind to—yes, I will; I'll go this very night and ask her to go to the show with me. I'll show Ed. Wilbur that I ain't half such a calf as he thinks I am, if I did let old Watson get the start of me in the first place."

Ed. could scarce help laughing outright, but he hastily hitched the bags on his shoulder, and with a few chuckles of success, started home to tell the news to Nelly; and about five o'clock that evening they say Billy go by with the horse and buggy on his way to the widow's. He jogged along quietly, thinking of the old singing school days—and what a pretty Susan was then—and wondering inwardly if he would have more courage to talk up to her, until, at about a mile from her house, when he came to a bridge over a creek, and it so happened that just as he reached the middle of the bridge he gave a tremendous sneeze, and blew his teeth out of his mouth, clear over the dashboard and striking on the planks they rolled over the side of the bridge and dropped into four feet of water,

Words cannot do justice to poor Bill, or paint the expression of his face as he sat there—completely dumbfounded at his startling piece of ill-luck. After a while he stepped out of his buggy, and getting down on his hands and knees, looked over into the water; yes, there they were in the bottom with a crowd of little fishes rubbing their noses against them, and Bill wished that his nose was on them for a second. His beautiful teeth that cost him six pounds, and they were coming on and no time to get another set—and the widow and young Sackrider. Well, he must try and get them somehow, and no time to lose, for some one might come along and ask him what he was feeling around there for. He had an instinct of spelling his good fortune by wading in with them on, and besides he could not go to the widow's that night; so he took a look up and down the road to see that no one was in sight, then quickly undressed himself, laying his clothes in the buggy to keep them clean. Then he [illegible] round to the bank and waded into the almost ice cold water, but his teeth did not chatter in his head, he only wished they could. Quietly he waded along so as not to stir up the mud, and when he got to the right spot he dropped under the water, and came up with them in his hand and replaced them in his mouth. But hark! what noise is that? A wagon followed by a little noisy dog barking with all his might, and his horse is starting.

"Whoa! Whoa! Stop, you brute you, stop!" But stop he would not, but went on at a spanking pace, with the unfortunate bachelor after him, and the little dog yelping after the bachelor. Bill was certainly in capital costume, but though he strained every nerve he could not touch the buggy or reach the lines that were dragging on the ground.

After a while his plug hat shot off the seat, and the hind wheel went over it making it as flat as a pancake. Bill snatched it as he ran, and after jamming his fist into it, stuck it all dirty and dimpled on his head. And now he saw the widow's house on the hill, and what, oh, what will he do! then his coat fell out, he slapped it on, and then making a desperate spurt, he grasped the back of the seat, scrambled in, and pulling the buffalo robe over his legs, stuffed the other things beneath. Now the horse happened to be one he got from Squire Moore, and he got it from the widow, and he took it into his head to stop at the gate, which Bill had no power to prevent, as he had no possession of the reins, besides he was too busy buttoning up his coat to his chin, to think of doing much else. The widow heard the rattle of the wheels, and looked out, and seeing it was Smiley, and that he didn't offer to get out, she went out to see what was wanted, and there she stood chatting with her arms on the gate, and her face right towards him, while the cold chills ran down his shirtless back clear to his bare feet under the buffalo robe, and the water from his hair, and the dust from his hat, combined to make nice little streams of mud that came trickling down his face. She asked him to come in.

"No, he was in a great hurry," he said. Still he did not offer to go. He did not like to ask her to pick up the reins for him because he did not know what excuse to make for not doing it himself. Then he looked down the road behind him, and saw a white-faced horse coming and at once surmised it was Gus Sackrider.

He at once resolved to do or die, and hurriedly told his earrand. The widow would be delighted to go, of course she would. But wouldn't he come in? No, he was in a hurry, he said.—He had to go.

Mr. Green's place.

"Oh said the widow, "you're going girls to help me quilt. Just wait a second while I get my bonnet and shawl, and I'll ride with you." And away she skipped.

"Thunder and lightning!" said Bill, "what a scrape!" and he hastily clutched his pants from between his feet, and was preparing to wiggle into them, when a light waggon, drawn by a white faced horse, driven by a boy, came along and stopped beside him.—The boy held up a pair of boots in one hand, a pair of socks in the other, and just as the widow reached the gate again, he said:

"Here's your boots and socks, Mr. Smilie, that you left on the brige while in swimming."

"You're mistaken," said Bill, "they're not mine."

"Why," said the boy, "aint you he man that had a race after a horse, nst now?"

"No, sir! I am not! You had better go on about your business." Bill sighed at the loss of his good Sunday boots, and turning to the widow said:

"Just pick up the lines, will please' this brute of a horse is forever switching them out of my hands." The widow complied, and then he pulled one corner of the robe cautiously down, and she got in.

"What a lovely evening," said she, "and so warm I don't think we need the robe over us, do we?"

(You see she had on a nice dress, and a new pair of gaiters, and she wanted to show them.)

"Oh, my said Bill earnestly, "you'll find it chilly riding, and I would'nt have you catch cold for the world."

She seemed pleased at his tender care for her health, and contented herself with sticking one of her little feet out, with a long silken necktie over the end of it.

"What is that, Mr. Smiley? A necktie?"

"Yes," said he; "I bought it the other day, and I must have left it in the buggy. Never mind it."

"But," she said, "it was so careless," and stooping over she picked it up, and made a motion as if to stuff it in between them.

Bill felt her hand going down, and making a sudden divesfter it, clutched it firmly in his, and held it hard and fast.

They then went on quite a distance, he still holding her hand and wondering why he did not say something to her as well as squeeze her hand, and why his coat was buttoned up so tightly on such a warm evening, and what made his hat and face so dirty, until one of the traces came unhitched, and they had to stop,

"Oh, murder," said Bill, "what next?"

"What is the matter, Mr. Smiley?" said the widow, with a start that came very near jerking the robe off his knee.

"One of the traces has come off," said he,

"Well, why don't you get out and put it on?"

"I can't," said Bill, "I've got—that is, I haven't got—oh, dear, I'm so sick. What shall I do?"

"Why, Willie," said she, tenderly, "What is the matter? Do tell me," and she gave his hand a little squeeze, and looking into his pale face, she thought he was going to faint particularly

But was just taking in breath for a mighty sigh, and the pungent odor made him throw back his head so far that he lost his balance and went over the low backed buggy. The little woman gave a little scream, as his bare feet flew past her head; and covering her face with her hands, gave way to smiles or tears—it is hard to tell which. Bill was "right side up" in a moment, and was leaning over the back of the seat humbly appologizing, when Ed. Wilbur with his wife and baby, drove up behind and stopped. Poor bill felt that he would rather have been shot than to have Ed. Wilbur catch him in such a scrape, but there was no help for it now, so he called Ed. to him, and whispered in his ear. Ed. was like to burst with a suppressed laughter, but he beckoned to his wife to draw up, and, after saying something to her, he helped the widow out of Will's buggy and into his, and the two women went on leaving the men behind.

Bill lost no time in arranging his toilet as well as he could, and then, with great persuasion, Ed. got him to go home with him, and hunting up slippers and socks, and getting him washed and combed, had him quite presentable when the ladies arrived. I neet not tell how the story was wormed out of bashful Bill, and how they all laughed as they sat around the tea table that night, but will conclude by saying that they went to the show together, and Bill has no fear of Gus Sackrider now.

The first time I began to sneeze, a friend told me to go and bathe my feet in hot water and go to bed. I did so. Shortly after, another friend told me to get up and take a cold shower bath. I did that also. Within the hour another friend assured me that it was policy to feed a cold and starve a fever, I had both. So I thought it best to fill myself up for the cold, and let the fever starve awhile. In a case of this kind I seldom do things by halves; I ate pretty heartily. I conferred my custom upon a stranger, who had just opened his restaurant on Cortlandt street, near the hotel, that morning, paying so much for a full meal. He waited near me in respectful silence until I had finished feeding my cold, when he inquired if the people about New York were much afflicted with colds. I told him I thought they were. He then went out and took in his sign.

I started up towards the office, and on the way encountered another bosom friend, who told me that a quart of warm salt water would come as near curing a cold as anything in the world. I hardly thought I had room for it, but I tried it any how. The result was surprising. I believe I threw up my this distemper, I feel that they will see the propriety of my cautioning them against following such portions of it as proved inefficient with me, and acting upon this conviction I warn them against warm salt water. It may be a good enough remedy, but I think it is rather too severe. If I had another cold in the head, and there was no course left me to take either an earthquake or a quart of warm salt water, I would take my chances on the earthquake. After this everybody in the hotel became interested, and I took all sorts of remedies—hot lemonade, cold lemonade, pepper tea, boneset, stewed quakes, hoarhound syrup, onions and loaf sugar, lemons and brown sugar, vinegar and laudanum, molasses, five bottles of fir balsam, eight bottles cherry pectoral, and tan bottles Uncle Sam's remedy, ice water was wound around me until I resembled a swab for a columbiad. It is a cruel expedient. When the chilly rag touches one's warm flesh, it makes him start with sudden violence and gasp for breath, just as men do in the death agony. It froze the marrow in my bones and stopped the beating of my heart. I thought my time had come. When I recovered from this, a friend recommended the application of a mustard plaster to my breast. I believe that would have cured me effectually if it had not been for young Clemens. When I went to bed I put the mustard plaster where I could reach it when I should be ready for it. But young Clemens got hungry in the night, and Clemens got hungry in the night, and ate it up. I never saw any child have such an appetite. I am confident that he would have eaten me if I had been healthy.—Mark Twain.

A farmer complains that a hook-and-ladder company has been organized in his neighborhood. He states that the ladder is used after dark for climbing into his henhouse, after which the hooking is done.

A man, praising porter, said it was so excellent a beverage that, though taken in large quantics, it always made him fat. As a gentleman was nearly run over in a narrow London street by a dray, he shouted to the driver. "Do you want to kill me?" whereupon the intelligent driver put the thumb of his dexter hand to his nose, and speaking out of his fingers like a fan, replied, "if I had knowed you was a-coming this way I would have sent you a post card!"

THE RESULT.

Now that men have time for reflection, and that reason has taken the place of excitement, we may be permitted to give the results of the late elections.

From both sides we gather that the Mowat Government has been sustained by a very fair majority. The Globe claims about 18, and the Mail about two turned over or fourteen, with Independents not settled. We are inclined to accept the statement given by the Globe as most reliable; but if we take the Mail figures, Mr. Mowat has a larger following than Mr McKenzie had when John Sandfield McDonald resigned.

He is also in a better position for the position of members elect, is more clearly defined and more to be relied on. The friends of the government are more united, and they have a well defined policy, with four years of power to prove their wisdom in useful Legislation for the country.

On the other hand, only Mr. Cameron & Mr. Lauder of the Opposition leaders have been re-elected. Mr. Scott who boasted of the reaction in the West Riding of this County, and of whom the Conservative party hoped for much, has suffered three defeats, and cannot hope again to take a seat in the Ontario Parliament House, at least for an indefinite period, if ever. We say suffered three defeats; one by Mr. Bertram, one by Mr. Dumble for he was virtually defeated, obtaining the seat for a short session by virtue of a row at a polling place, and bad votes polled, and again by Mr. Cox. This is a severe blow, and comes with more force because they expected that Dr. O'Sullivan in the East Riding would carry the West; since he could not, the Conservatives are sad for more than one reason, which we need not now refer to. The Doctor's promise to support an Orange Bill, and all the other wiles however did not succeed, and not a few of them find themselves represented in a way they did not bargain for. Perhaps too, this is the reason that some of the Liberal Con. Club wish the Dictator in regions warmer than a Canadian Parliament Building, as a debating Club, as they consider they would be better without his dictation as his views were forced on the party, although strongly opposed.

The Conservatives can draw but little comfort from the votes given for Mr. Scott, as likely to be changed in any further contest.

In the last contest he obtained 907 votes, Mr. Cox getting 864, leaving Mr. Cox a majority of 45.

In this election about 730 votes are unpolled, notwithstanding the more than usual effort to get them out.

In the previous election about 560 votes were unpolled, so that matters have not improved much in this respect. It is true that great changes may take place in four years, but they are as likely to be on the side of strength to the present Government as any other way.

In the East Riding a change may take place sooner than some may anticipate, when another contest may tell a different tale. The figures there indicate some thing better than in the West Riding.

Mr. Read was elected by 400 of a majority one time. That has been reduced to 62, and if the same territory had been retained there would have been a different result. In the last election in the East Riding 500 votes remained unpolled, and this time about 700 votes remained unpolled. The voters list of the altered Riding being about the same. In Asphodel, we are told, not less than 180 wrong votes appear on the voter's list of 1874, and we fear the Assessor knew something of this, and nothing was done to get the list corrected. Other townships may have incorrect lists also, but this one was particularly pointed out by one of its own ratepayers, but he was unwilling to take action in the matter. This, however, will be seen to next time. The change in the system of voting too has affected the East more than the West, but as electors become better acquainted with the working of the ballott, there will be less blundering. Forty-seven rejected ballots in the East Riding is extraordinary, and we learn that the greater portion of them was on the Reform side.

The extraordinary means used in this election accounts easily for the result although the majority is much reduced from former elections. The Dr. promised to support an Orange Bill, and in consequence the Grand Lodge officials used every cunning to get votes for him, even to getting up trouble in some of the Lodges over it, and when it is known that the Grand Lodge circulars and work officials united with other influences, which are always against the above defeat can be calmly borne, as only likely to be of short duration. But matters must be in extreme danger when such opposing forces unite to save them. Neither church, whiskey nor money was used in aid of the Grit candidate. Was it so in case of the Opposition one? more light in reference to the way they managed things arrives daily. At one polling place voters were admitted all day, the place being full the whole time. Dr. O'Sullivan's Agent remained all day where he could see every elector mark his ballot, and the Deputy Returning Officer permitted this although remonstrated with. The same officer also refused to allow Mr. Stratton's Agent see him mark ballots for persons who could not mark their own ballots. At another polling division whiskey and refreshments were used freely, and at the candidate's expense. Teams and vehicles were employed and will have to be paid for, if not already paid, numbering [illegible] as we already know, and in other cases voters were not permitted to go to vote for fear of losing employment. Indeed in one place several ballots were rejected as the will of a partisian returning officer. This is the way the election was carried.

Lepine's Commuted Sentence.

(From the Montreal Witness.)

The issue of the commutation of Lepine's sentence foreseen, as might be expected, gives universal satisfaction, being dictated by the sympathies with his victim, on the one hand, as an abuse of clemency, and by the unselfishness of those in whose interests the murder was committed as scarcely less cruel than hanging would have been. Like almost everything else in this favored land of ours, it must needs be made a question of party politics. Although the Governor-General declares vigorously that he has dispensed with the advice of his Ministers and acted according to his own independent judgment, there are not wanting insinuations from party organs, opposed to the present Government, that the latter must, nevertheless, in some way or other have had a share in determining the result of His Excellency's deliberations, and among the reasons assigned for thinking so, is the publication of the decision immediately after the Ontario elections. As regards this latter point, however, the letter of His Excellency to the Minister of justice, announcing the decision, is dated the fifteenth instant, while the elections did not come off till the eighteenth, and unless it be contended that this date is also a fiction, it is clear that Lepine's fate had been determined independently of the political opinion of Ontario. It would rather seem that the Governor-General has been taking counsel of the Home Government, as his letter to the Secretary of the Colonies, announcing how Lepine's sentence has been commuted, refers to previous correspondence on the same subject, and it is fair to suppose that His Excellency may have received hints from the latter to guide him to his decision. In this view the objections taken to that part of the commuted sentence which deprives Lepine permanently of his political rights, as being illegal, lose much of their force, so far as those advancing them characterize the infliction of such a disability as the result of legal ignorance on the part of Canadian authorities. If it is, on the contrary, in accordance with the advice of the Crown lawyers in England, it will require very weighty reasons to upset its legality on this side. The reason for thus disfranchising Lepine is obvious enough in view of the repeated election of Riel to Parliament. The French ultra-clerical papers are particularly sore about His Excellency's downright characterization of Lepine's crime as "nothing less than a cruel and unjustifiable murder," which they consider as involving the whole half breed population in guilt as well as Lepine, ignoring apparently the fact that it was a half breed jury that found him guilty of murder. No doubt those in obedience to whose inspiration Lepine and his associates took the course they did in raising and carrying out the Red River Rebellion, cannot but feel the most terrible stigma thus branded into them, but it does not seem as if it would mend matters much to make a whole people responsible along with them. The more moderate portion of the French press, including the Courier du Canada, accept the Governors decision with thankfulness so far remembering the difficulties of his position and hoping for still further clemency. From Manitoba it is briefly stated that the commutation has given intense dissatisfaction, apparently on the ground of undue clemency. Doubtless at the approaching session of Parliament this matter will get well talked over, but the probability is, judging from the course taken by Lord Dufferin, that the present decision will not be disturbed [illegible] while to come, if ever. And as the demand for amnesty was merely a demand for unconditional pardon of the Scott murderers, this question would appear to be also shelved in the meantime.

LOUISIANA TROUBLES.

THE PRESIDENT'S RESPONSE TO SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The President has sent to the Senate, in further response to its resolution of enquiry, another large mass of manuscript copies of the correspondence relative to the disorders in Louisiana. The correspondence dates back to Oct. 25, 1874, and begins with various cipher telegrams sent by General Emery to the War Department, in which he expresses a strong disapprobation of Major Merrill's action in making affidavits against citizens of Shreveport, under which they were arrested for alleged violations of the enforcement Act.

Emery informed Merrill that he considered his personal appearance as prosecutor was a departure from the established rules of the service, and mischievous in its tendency.

Merrill thereupon explained that his action was due to the fact that no citizen could have made these affidavits except at the risk of his life, and submitted sundry voluminous reports, detailing the low less condition of affairs in the Red River division. Embraced in the documents is the report of Lieutenant Col. Morrow, sent to the Red River country by General Emery to investigate the condition of affairs here. Col. Morrow gives the following as his deep-seated convictions:—

The present state of the Government cannot maintain itself in power a single hour without the protection of Federal troops, and even with this protection they will not be able to collect taxes and perform the functions of the Government

In forwarding Morrow's report, General Sheridan makes the following endorsement upon it:

"This paper is most respectfully forwarded to the Secretary of War with the request that he submit it for the personal perusal of the President. I know of no officer of Col. Morrow's rank who is better qualified to speak and write of matters like this, and his opinions are entitled to great consideration. I profess to have some knowledge of the people of that section, both white and black, from a long residence among them before the war and several visits since; but I shall not intrude my opinion in the confusion in which the subject is now enveloped.

SIGNIFICANT!—The Globe says that the popularity of the Mowat Government, and the manifest predominance of Reform principles among the young men of Ontario, was well illustrated by the result of an amusing and instructive circumstance that has come to its knowledge. On Friday and Saturday last a political contest was conducted among the students of the Toronto School of Medicine, which comprises gentlemen from almost every section of the Province, and who, when once entered upon their professional careers, will doubtless exercise more or less political influence. Each student, unbiassed and uninfluenced by any one, was requested to record his vote either in favor of the present Reform Government or in opposition thereto. The result was that out of a total vote recorded of 66, no less than 49 were Government's 23 were Opposition, and 3 were Independent—or nearly a two-third vote was in favor of the present Ontario Government.

THE PREMIER OF CANADA.

THE CANDIDATE FOR A SELF-MADE MAN.

The present Premier of the Dominion is the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie. He was called by the Governor-General, Lord Dufferin, in 1873, to form a Ministry, on the downfall of Sir John A. Macdonald's Ministry, the latter having been convicted of selling the charter of the Canada Pacific Railway to Sir Hugh Allan for about $300,000, which money was expended in 1872 in carrying the elections to sustain Sir John's Government. He was unanimously chosen by the Reform party to the leadership in the Government. He was unanimously chosen by the Reform party to the leadership in the Government, as he had been the chief of that party in Parliament for some time He dissolved Parliament in December, 1873, and a general election was held in January, 1874. The election resulted in the Reformers returning 154 members, and the opposition had barely fifty seats. With such an enormous majority a party leader might readily have become intoxicated with the power in his hands, but Mr. Mackenzie's administration has been marked with economy and success, and he has steadily pursued the policy he has always advocated during a long Parliamentary career, favoring internal improvements and the extension of commercial relations; and he has the satisfaction to know that he is now more popular in the country than when he assumed the reins of Government, having demonstrated the possession of rare executive abilities and statesmanlike views. He is really a Reformer and liberal in his ideas. As a Parliamentarian, during fifteen years of public service, he disclosed rare powers as a ready and formidable debater. He has been an advocate of temperance, and his personal character is above reproach.

He probably offers the only instance in the history of England, or of the colonies, where a workingman has risen to the high office of Premier. He was born in Scotland, and is something over fifty years of age. He learned the trade of stone-cutter and mason, and came out to Cadada while a young man. He has resided at Sarnia for many years, and for the last fifteen years he has represented the County of Lambton in Parliament, always elected by an overwhelming majority, until it was found futile for a Tory Candidate to oppose him, since when his election has been had by acclamation. He has steadily worked at his trade of stone-mason, even while a member in Parliament, when not engaged with his public duties.

He had but few opportunities for early education, but with true Scotch persistence and application to study, he made hiself fully the in solid information about affairs, with any man in the Dominion.

When he rises in his place to speak he is dignified and impressive in manner. His style is easy but direct, his speech slightly tinged with a Scottish accent. He is tall, erect and spare, his head and beard tinged with gray. He is always sure of an attentive audience whenever he speaks. He is probably the most practical statesman the Dominion possesses, his ideas being plain and utilitarian. We have given this sketch in detail to show what brains, backed by energy, temperance and thrift will accomplish when directed aright. Here was a mechanic, poor, unlettered and friendless, who by self culture, integrity, perseverance and noble aims, draws about him the confidence and admiration of a numerous constituency, and finally places him in the highest position in the gift of a people numbering four and a half millions. A people who, [illegible] traditions [illegible] to the highest honors, and where family influence, and position, too, often have more weight in the advancement of men than the possession of character or intellect. *Rochester Ev'g. Canadian Lumber.

An interesting account is given in the Bay City Lumberman's Gazette by Mr. B. Wait, of the state of the lumber trade in Canada. The facts and figures were obtained while on a recent visit to the Ottawa Valley. His figures, which relate to forty-eight mills, owned by thirty-three different firms, are as follows:

	PINE.
The product for 1874	497,000,000
The amount now at mills....	187,250,000
Sold of 1874 product.....	309,750,000
Add for what was sold as held over stock from '73	147,250,000
And sales of the year	457,000,000
We find at the holding over	137,250,000
Add logs at Ottawa and for Ottawa mills 500,000 standards, a standard being 200 feet.....	100,000,000
250,000 ditto at and for the other mills.....	50,000,000
And we have for the early market at least	337,250,000
Now add what is proposed by the mill men to cut this winter, one-third of this year's sales	152,333,323
And we have for the market	489,583,383
Amount, most probably for United States	457,000,000
Left in Canada	32,583,333

This is more than was sold this year from this manufacturing point. Now to this we must add the gleanings from the mills marketing in Toronto and other points as far down as Kingston, and with them embrace the stock wintering at Oswego and Ogdensburg, showing in the whole an array of figures startling indeed It must be remembered that these statements do not cover any part of the stock made into deals and other stuff made for the European market:

Held on the Ontario front and at the various mills sending there for shipment	166,750,000
At Ogdensburg, leaving out home stock	48,500,000
At Oswego, leaving out the home saws	37,250,000
At Tonawanda, leaving out home saws.....	31,000,000
At Buffalo, leaving out the home saws.....	27,000,000
The amount at Ottawa and vicinity.....	187,250,000
Total.....	495,750,000

Then 500,000 standard logs for Ottawa 250,000 standard logs for outside mills' 375,000 standard logs in Upper Ontario; 225,000,000, making the following amount to be ready for early trade: 720,750,000.

This needs no comment, though it looks like exhibiting a fabulous pile, to be crowded upon the United States market ahead of the Michigan lumbermen's stock. We can assure the reader that there are over two score fair average mills manufacturing a goodly amount of lumber exclusively for the eastern trade, whose reserves (passably large) have not been embraced in this summary, because they and their owners were entirely out of range of our pathway, but whom we may yet reach.

Mr. Wait says that Canadian lumbermen are keeping faith with their agreement to cut only one-third of what they did last winter.

DARING ROBBERY.—A daring robbery occurred in Fort Robinson on Saturday night last, about 1 o'clock. Two masked men entered Capt Wm Rees' residence through a window, and one of the robbers rushed to Mr. Rees by the throat while in bed, also other threw a revolver and held it at his breast, and demanded his money. Mr Rees gave them $141, and the robbers left. The inhabitants are after them, but as yet no clue to the robbers has been obtained.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

(From the Stratford Beacon.)

The fire rushed along the whole line on Londesboro and the dust and smoke are now nearly well cleared away we may, like Sir Hugh Allan, of Pacific memory, take a calm view of the situation. The first thing, perhaps, clear beyond all manner of doubt is, that Mr Mowat's Government have been sustained by the people at the polls. Of this there can be no reasonable doubt in the mind of any discriminating person. Friends and foes alike agree that the Government have a majority, but as usual there is a good deal of discussion as to how large the majority may prove when Parliament meets The leading organ of the Opposition puts it at Seven votes, with two Independents The Globe makes it at Seventeen, with four Independents. Perhaps the real truth lies somewhere between; but of this there can be no certainty until Parliament meets. It must be remembered that Messrs O'Donoghue and Grange, classed by all parties as independents, voted much more frequently during the past session with the Government than with the Opposition. The same was true of Mr. Munk, of Carleton, who is classed as an Opposition member It should also be remembered that a large proportion of those returned as regular Opposition members are pledged to give the Government a factious opposition. On the whole there is a strong probability amounting almost to absolute certainty that the Government of Mr. Mowat will retain power for the next four years Possibly the majority sustaining it may not be quite so large numerically as during the last Parliament, but it will be more reliable. Mr. Mowatt's following has heretofore been composed largely of men elected to support a hostile Government, but his present backing is composed of members returned to support him. Besides there are no Conservatives returned that by any stretch of imagination could be supposed fit to go on the Treasury Benches. It is always a risky business to speculate about the future, but so far as any candid man can see at present a Reform Government will rule Ontario for the next four years, and very likely for a much longer period. Of course the Tory Journals can fix the day and almost the hour at which the Government will be defeated. If such silly vaporing pleases them it does not hurt any one else; and it would be cruel to refuse them such an innocent pastime In any event, a Tory Government is an utter impossibility. To speak about such a thing is to utter just so much unmitigated rubbish. Whatever a "no party" man like Hon. Wm Macdougall might do, a Tory is out of the question as Premier. They are distanced as a Party, and in fact are not in the race at all.

Extraordinarp Case of Religious Fanaticism.

From the Correspondent of the N. Y. World.

HONESDALE, Penn. Thursday, January 14, 1875.

Crissy Hacker, an intelligent and beautiful young lady, living at White's Valley, sixteen miles west of this place, deliberately burned herself to death yesterday, while under the influence of extraordinary religious fanaticism. She was the daughter of Wm. Hacker, a wealthy and prominent farmer of the county. For some five or six years past she has at times been subject to temporary insanity, during which lapses she imagined that she had committed sins against "her Immanuel" which could be only absolved by the making of burnt offerings. While labouring under this mental hallucination, she would erect altars in the fields of her father's farm, and sacrifice lambs to appease the wrath of her of fended deity, also burn clothing and household articles of different kinds. Her father, (a widower,) fearing that she might during one of these intervals, do herself bodily harm, kept a strict watch on her movements.

Yesterday Mr. Hacker had occasion to go to a neighboring village, and, as his daughter manifested signs of the recurrence of one of her insane intervals, he charged his hired man to watch her during his absence. At noon the man went to his dinner, leaving the young lady in the kitchen reading the Bible. For some reason he did not return to the house until Mr. Hacker came back, which was about two o'clock. When the latter entered his kitchen he was paralyzed with horror at the sight that confronted him. On the coals ashes and of what had evidently been one of Miss Hacher's alters, lay the body of his daughter, literally burned to a crisp. The face was the only part not burned. Notwithstanding the intense agony that she must have endured, her features were not distorted in the least, but wore an expression calm and peaceful, her lips being parted in a smile, as if she died believing that through that fiery ordeal she was to pass into a joyful eternity. It appears that while the hired man was absent Miss Hacker had formed out of a set of quilting-frames a pyre or altar. On this she had spread some carpet, and made herself a pillow. When found she lay on her right side, with her cheek resting on her hand. Everything seemed to indicate that this was the position she had taken at first, and from which she had not moved. At one side of the alter she had pillowed up a quantity of combustible wood, and when all was in readiness had fired it, from which the flames soon spread and enveloped the alter.

In the family Bible which was found open at the Book of Job, the following note was found in the hand-writing of the deceased:—

DEAR FATHER,—My Immanuel appeared to me to-day. He reveals to me the fact that I have committed the unpardonable sin, which I can only obtain forgiveness for by passing through the cleansing of fire. I will intercede for you, my dear father. You will find my purified body in the north-east corner of the house. I wish to have my ashes buried in my Immanuel's ground, at the north west corner of the house. Good-bye. Meet me on the Eternal ground.

CRISSY.

Mr. Hacker went to the corner of the house indicated in the note as the spot where the remains were to be buried, and found that his daughter had staked out there a space for her grave.

Martin Prentiss summoned a jury and held an inquest on the remains. A verdict in accordance with the above facts was rendered.

BREACH OF PROMISE.—At Dublin, the other day, a woman entered an action for breach of promise. The defendant allowed the case to go by default, and a jury was drawn to assess damages. On being questioned, the woman swore that she had never seen the man, but that she had heard a good account of him from his former wife, had correspondence with him, and had prepared to marry him.—The jury awarded her five pounds.

Commutation of Lepine's Sentence.

The following appears in an extra of the Canada Gazette issued last Wednesday:—

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
January, 15th, 1875.

SIR,—I am commanded by the Governor-General to inform you that His Excellency has had under his full and anxious consideration the evidence and other documents connected with the trial of Ambroise Lepine, who has been capitally convicted before the Court of Assizes held at Winnipeg on the 10th day of October, 1874, of the murder of Thomas Scott, on the 4th day of March, 1870 at Fort Garry

Although His Excellency entirely agrees with the finding of the Jury, and considers that the crime, of which the prisoner Lepine has been convicted, was nothing less than a cruel and unjustifiable murder he is of the opinion that subsequent circumstances, and, notably, the relations into which the Provincial Authorities of Manitoba entered with the prisoner and his associates, are such as, in a great degree, tend to fetter the hands of Justice.

It farther appears in his Excellency that the case has passed beyond the province of Departmental Administration, and that it will be best dealt with under the Royal Instructions, which authorize the Governor General, in certain capital cases, to dispense with the advice of his Ministers, and to exercise the prerogative of the Crown according to his independent judgement, and on his own personal responsibility.

I have, therefore, in command to inform you, that it is His Excellency's pleasure that the capital sentence passed upon the prisoner Lepine be commuted into two years imprisonment in gaol from the date of conviction, and the permanent forfeiture of his political rights.

His Excellency desires that the necessary instrument for giving effect to this commutation be forthwith prepared

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,
H. C. FLETCHER.

To the Honorable the Minister of Justice.

Ottawa.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA,
January 18th, 1875.

MY LORD,—In further reference to previous correspondence, I have the honor to enclose for your Lordship's information; a copy of a communication I have addressed to the Honorable Telesphore Fournier, my Minister of Justice, instructing him to commute the capital sentence recently passed on Ambroise Lepine into imprisonment for two years in gaol, and the permanent forfeiture of his political rights.

2. In thus dispensing with the advice of my responsible Ministers, and exercising the Queen's Prerogative according to my own judgement, I am aware I have undertaken a very grave responsibility, more especially as the facts and considerations by which the issue has to be determined are of a very complex and embarrassing character. Upon these, however, I will not enlarge as they have already been fully set forth in former despatches.

3. I am quite convinced that the matter is one which, in the general interests of this country, will have been best dealt with by my direct action.

4. Although the commuted sentence may appear very inadequate to the enormity of the crime, of which it is the punishment, I believe it to be such as will best satisfy the conflicting exigencies of the case.

I have the honor to be,
My Lord,
Your most obedient Humble Servant,
DUFFERIN.

To the Right Honorable
The Secretary of State for the Colonies.

The Abortionists

The Brockville Recorder describes the prisoners committed for trial for the murder of Miss Burnham: Greaves is a man about forty years of age, though looking much younger, heavy in build, with short thick neck, black coarse hair, very heavy moustache, the remainder of his face being clean shaven, complexion inclined to the florid cast, his demeanor calm and quiet. Evidently he is a person of great self possession and more than the average amount of assurance. During the examination a peculiar smile at times lit up his countenance, and at no time did any signs of fear or nervousness make their appearance. Dr. Eric B. Sparham is in almost every particulas the reverse of Mr. Greaves. The doctor is in appearance forty-five or fifty years of age, of medium height, slight build, and of a peculiarly nervous temperament, hair black, beard of same color slightly tinged with grey, complexion sallow, eyelids thick and somewhat puffed, hands lean and bony. His appearance during the examination was that of a man laboring under great mental excitement, which he was vainly endeavouring to conceal. He occupied the time by taking notes of the evidence that was adduced, but when the deposition of the deceased was read in a deep bass voice by Mr. A. E. Richards, he convulsively clutched the pencil he held in his hand, and sat half crouched over the table till it was concluded. He involuntarily started at each opening and closing of the door, and throughout the entire examination evinced the deepest interest in the proceedings, on several occasions calling the attention of his counsel to points in the evidence.

GOOD AND POOR HOGS.

Did our farmer readers ever take a slate and pencil in an evening and estimate the true difference between a good and a poor breed hogs? All have seen and acknowledged there is a difference, yet the larger portion of farmers do not fully realize the ample margin in favor of the best hogs. The increasing demand for hams and lard in all parts of the world shows that hogs that yield largely of these profitable parts are in demand. The consequence is, there is a range in the market at this time at St. Louis from $4.50 to $7.50, and at Chicago from $4 to $7, showing a difference of three per cent, in favor of the good hog Nor is that all. While the improved breeds of hogs can be made as easily and with equal food to average at fifteen months old 350 pounds as the "greaser" hog will 175 pounds, or a little better hog will 225 pounds; if a farmer has fifty head of the latter class to sell now he will get $6 per cwt., $1,125. If he has fifty "greasers," which are too numerous in the country yet, he will get $700. But if he has fifty of the best Poland, China, Suffolk, Berkshire, &c., which have cost no more and which reached a large amount of satisfaction, he will receive $2,450. These are figures that cannot be disputed, and are within the reach of every farmer who has a few acres of land in cultivation. The difference of weight or price is not over-estimated, and in raising them there is no $3 per day to be paid to harvest hands, nor that of drudge of corn cutted (for we would not suggest such crops any one to go into speculation in hogs. Run your pigs and corn, and then there is no guess work to meet when they are sold. Why keep an [illegible] heavy [illegible] nightly visits and loss of sleep, [illegible] was unkempt and shaggy. The Examiner.

PETERBORO, JANUARY 28th, 1875.

Victorine Lost.

On Monday, between the Music Hall and Ashburnham. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at the EXAMINER Office.

An Indefatigable voter.

Mr. S. J. Holden, of Balsam, at the late Election voted for the winning candidates in North Ontario, North York, East York, and for Mr. Farewell in South Ontario, and was on his way in his cutter to vote in West Durham when he got the good news that his vote would not be required.

Another Scholarship.

We take pleasure in announcing that Mr. W D. Russell, formerly a teacher in this County and a pupil of our Collegiate Institute, has carried off from several competitors the second year's Scholarship, ($50) in the Montreal Presbyterian University. Certainly the pupils of our Institute give a good account of themselves, and reflect great credit on the Institution at which they received their training.

Missionary Sermons.

The Rev. Mr. Rose, of the Methodist Church, will preach (D. V.) in St. Andrew's Church, on the 31st instant, at eleven o'clock, and the Rev Mr. Mitchell, of Millbrook, at 7.15 in the evening of the same day. A special collection will be taken up on each occasion, on behalf of the general schemes, or missionary projects, of the Synod, which members and adherents of the congregation are respectfully asked to make as liberal as circumstances will allow. The public generally are cordially invited to attend.

Those Who Live in Glass Houses

Our confrere down street appears willing to continue his old game of throwing dirt at those who stand in his way to self aggrandisement. His insinuations in reference to Mr. Drain of Asphodel, are not worthy of notice, except to remind the Editor-in Chief that perhaps in turn we may be compelled to give the story of himself as subscribed by an elector at a North Dummer meeting called by Mr. Carnegie's candidate. Would he like to have a true story? If so, we can please or, rather, displease him.

Agricultural Society.

The Annual Meeting of the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society was held in the Agricultural Hall, Warsaw, on Wednesday, the 13th instant. From the Treasurer's Report we observe a membership of 217 names The receipts for the year were $523.18, the disbursements, $461 69—balance in hand, $61 49. The officers for 1875 are: President, A. R. Kidd; Vice-President, Sidney Payne; Treasurer, G. W. Reid; Secretary, A. S. Maguire; Directors—John Sullivan, J. Calder, John Calder, Nehemiah Hamblin, Samuel Edwards, Charles Payne, David Forsythe, John Quinlan, and Alexander Smith; Auditors, Wm. Snelgrove and J. G. Choate.

Presentation and Address.

At the conclusion of the Public School Examination, School Section No. 4, in the Township of Smith, which was attended by the Trustees, Messrs. Elliott, Garbutt and Davidson, and a large number of visitors, the teacher, Mr. W. Wood, was presented with a beautiful walnut writing desk, elaborately ornamented, and containing a supply of fancy stationery; also with an address read by Miss Isabella J. Elliott, on behalf of the pupils, and expressive of their sorrow at his departure, after a period of seven years, and wishing him prosperity for the future—to which Mr. Wood very feelingly replied, thanking them for their valuable present and address, which would always remind him of the pleasant intercourse he had with them for the period named, and as he would not be removing very far, hoped to see them frequently, and would be very glad to hear of their advancement and welfare.

OBITUARY.

In last issue we chronicled the decease of Robert Casement, Esq., of Lakefield, one of the old and respected citizens of that place. He was ill for some time, yet his death was somewhat unexpected. Mr. Casement was a native of the West Indies. His father was Sergeant in the Artillery, and was in the West Indies when Robert, his eldest son was born. He soon after retired on a pension, and returned to his native country Ireland, where he remained with his family several years. On immigrating to Canada he settled in Douro where Thos Casement, Esq. now lives, and resided there till his decease. The subject of this short sketch was designed by edumation for the Church but had strouse sympathies for studying Law. His position in the backwoods in to early settlement led him to commence store-keeping, and continued in the business till his death. He was the first Post Master in that village. At an early period he was appointed Justice of the Peace, and in all his transactions gained the respect and esteem of all who had business with him. For many years he served in the Douro Council, and afterwards was Clerk and Treasurer till he gave both offices up. In all his business relations he was obliging and upright. His decease, which took place on Monday last, was lamented by a large number of friends and relatives. As he was never married, Mr. Thomas Casement and son are expected to succeed him in business.

Sabbath School Convention.

The Executive Committee of the Sabbath School Convention of the Township of Smith and Douro, take pleasure in stating that the second meeting of the Association will be held (D. V.) in Lakefield, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 9th and 10th of February, 1875, commencing at 2 p. m. in the Wesleyan Church. The Ministers in the vicinity and others from the Town of Peterboro', will deliver addresses on subjects relating to Sabbath School work, in the discussion of which the Convention generally will take part. The Sabbath school scholars in Lakefield are being trained to sing on the occasion, and in the afternoon of the second day they will meet in a mass at the Presbyterian Church. The Committee give a cordial invitation to all Ministers, Sabbath School Superintendents, and Teachers and others interested, and also to the different Township Sabbath School Secretaries in the County of Peterboro', to attend and take part in the proceedings.

GEORGE CROOK, Secretary.

OUR FORESTS.

The denudation of our forests is a subject that must sooner or later engage the serious attention of the Government. A writer in Land and Water, an English journal, referring to our annual export of ten millions of dollars of lumber says: 'We have this large export trade going on from year to year, and each successive year increasing in amount upon the one previous. Extensive clearances are thus being made of the best of the timber. On the other hand, while the population of the country increases, and the cultivation of the soil is pushed backwards each year, the forests are cleared indiscriminately, few portions of the forest being left for summer heat and severe winter cold, while the main source which retains the moisture in summer is thus removed. Replanting to any extent is not carried out, and thus many parts of the country are becoming gradually denuded.' If to the exports and clearances for agriculture purposes are added the destruction to our forests occasioned year by year by fire, and if the length of time it takes a tree to grow to any respectable size, is taken into consideration it will be seen that the subject of replanting if taken up now would not be taken up a day to soon.—Nation.

IN MEMORIAM.

Archibald McMivin, who died January, 18, 1875, aged 70 years, who when above 60 years of age at a Camp Meeting near Peterborough, experienced the truth and remained steadfast to the end.

The soldier on his armour throws—
The foe approacheth near—
And fiendish death for a good cause,
Without either dread or fear.

He knows through One upon his side
That he can conquer all,
Altho' the world may him deride,
And try to make him fall.

From strength to strength he onward goes,
Obeying his captain's word,
Who has equipt him 'gainst his foes,
With the two-edged sword.

Our friend that now hath passed away,
His own words here I write,
"I served the devil night and day
With all my strength and might."

'Till through divine grace I was brought,
To God for mercy cry:
Near sixty years 'gainst truth he fought,
And in sin's pool did lie.

The salt tear glistening in his eye,
To me these words he spoke,
It's end for an old man like me
On a misspent life look back.

The' latter life, before that he
Did buckle on the sword,
A truer soldier could not be
To stand for Christ, his Lord.
The change that on his soul was wrought,
He oftentimes did say,
Was like one from a dungeon brought
To see the light of day.

Christ's finished work; his hope of Heaven,
God's Word, his anchor true,
Until his soul from earth was riven,
Bedding us all adieu.

A FRIEND.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS ECLESIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN COLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eighty are standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil. have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 3 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Wicksford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

MARGUERITE.

O, take your violet wreaths away
Where down that fragrant jasmine spray:
They are dandy sweet,
And I loathe the lilac's purple bloom—
To me it is growing over a tomb,
For the scent one finds in that southern room.
Wash and toilet through the garden a-loom,
Marguerite!

Ere saw your name in like here I know,
Because your eyes are as lovely blue—
Clear wells of do-re,
I tell you the grief I die to forget,
The pain they awaken to fresh regret.
Judge you, if she loved me—loves me not
Or if she e'er but a false surprise,
Beware to
Marguerite!

I hat loved a through the fragrant shades,
Where he love sprang above our two e;
And I
The violets blossomed in silence, made
The sprays of the jasmine swept my cheek,
The dizzy perfume had made me weak,
And I said, "Tomorrow let your lover speak,
Marguerite!

"Long have you trifled my raw sway,
Long have you turned my passions to play
But my heart still beat!
And you learned to love me, making me wait,
You are charged with a lovair change of late
I—ah!—for to-night by this garden gate,
I will I ear my doom—I will know my fate
Marguerite?"

The heavy showers swayed and bowed,
And the mild wind swept the them as incensed cloud
To our lowery vau.
The silence chilled me through all my frame
So breathed no whisper of maiden shame,
I let rise up full when I named her name
Glowing and quivering like a flame
Marguerite!

Ah! what words of a death, where Better that I had never been born
To shame and doubt!
Better have lost of that perfumed breath
Better have ne'ished done to death,
Those lips, magnificent eyes beneath,
By the dagger hid in her silken sheath
Marguerite!

Breath'ess and sore I me, stricken dumb,
I fled awa through the odorous gloom
In a mad retreat:
I stood out full with the scented air
That had kiss'd her cheek and touched her hair
Seeing I let her, through my black despair,
Caressing Arabia sweet fairly
Marguerite!

The wrong whether I correct too late,
O! that has drew me with wile and lure,
To spurn from her feet
Whether my passion moved her hate—
Whether she loved me and tempted Fate
I know not—no, if she change—see late
I only know I am desolate,
Marguerite!

Amazing Somnabulism.

A few evenings ago Miss Bishop, a domestic employed in the family of Mr. Erastus G. Jones, on Syracuse Avenue, in this city, sat in long with some of her friends till rather a late hour about she elicited and entertaining subject of burglars and burglaries. Various stories of daring exploits in that line were related including in tances of nurder perpetrated by desperate burglars when at bay.

The girl went to bed rather later than usual, and with her mind unpleasantly impressed by the evening conversation. At a late hour, afterwards found to be half-past three, she heard a revolver discharged in the house, followed by several loud and distinct shots in rather rapid succession, during which she became greatly terrified. At the sixth shot she sprang from the bed, rushed to the window; raised it, threw wide the blinds, leaped to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet, and ran across the road to a neighbour's.

The master of the house was aroused by a vigorous rattle at his door and finally got up and opened it. He was dumbfounded to see this girl, whom he knew, standing at the door, clad only in her night dress, and trembling with the matter, and she told him in a wild and frightful way what she had heard. He took the girl into the house, dressed himself and went down street for a policeman, but not finding one quickly, he returned and seeing a light in Mr. Jones's house went over there. He found the family up and agitated, and told them he had been down for a policeman. They did not understand him and explained what had happened. Mr. Jones's folks said there had been no shots fired, but did hear the blinds of the girl's room open and afterwards felt the wind rushing into the house; that they went to her room, found her gone and were much alarmed about her.

The mystified neighbor went home and found the girl sleeping soundly. About five o'clock she awoke and was greatly surprised and mortified to find herself in a neighbor's house. Explanations followed, but she recollected nothing of hearing the shots, nor of jumping from the window; nor in fact anything she had related as having inspired. Then it was seen that the girl had been asleep all the while and during her slumber had been a victim to the impression made by the evening's talk—in fact had performed one of the most dangerous somnambulistic feats anywhere recorded.

Strange to say, she was not hurt by the leap from the window and has experienced no unpleasant result from her amazing and dangerous exploit.—Chicago Palladium.

Snooks had occasion to call on the Rev. Deminie Thomas Campbell while he was in Glasgow. "Is the Dominie in?" he enquired. "He's at hame, but he's no in," was the reply: "he's in the yard wi' superintendin' Sanners, the carpenter. Ye can see him noo if your business is very precise." Snooks assented, and walked through the door which led to him into the yard, where he beheld a carpenter briskly planing away to the tune of "Maggie Lauder," and the worthy dominie standing by. Not willing to intrude on their conversation, Snooks stepped unseen behind a near cask, and heard, "Saunders!" no answer from the carpenter. "Sanners, I say! can ye no hear me?" "Ay, minister, I hear ye. What's yer will?" "Can ye no whustle some mair godly tune while ye're at your work?" "A weel, minister, if it be your will, I'll try to do it." Upon which he changed the air to the Dead March in Saul, greatly to the hindrance of what was now painfully slow planing. For some time the Dominie looked on in silence, and then said to Saunders, who was working by the day, "Ye may whustle away at 'Bonnie Maggie Lauder!'"

A BRAVE WOMAN.—A Colored woman on the Erie Canal, being out of funds, attacked a man and his wife, who were passengers on his boat; but the brave woman, while pretending to plead for mercy, seized the rifle which he held in his hand, and kept him under its muzzle until her husband recovered from the effects of a blow from the butt-end of the weapon, when they made the would-be murderer a prisoner and handed him over to justice at the first opportunity.

"I am come for my umbrella," said the leader of it on a rainy day, to a friend. "Can't help that," said the borrower: "don't you see that I am going out with it?" "Well yes," replied the leader, astonished at such outrageous impudence; "yes, but—but—what am I to do?" Do?" said the other as he opened the umbrella and walked off; "do as I did—borrow one.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE

J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

CURATIVE PROPERTIES PECULIAR TO VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative power in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its components. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every section of the land, and hence need not publish them. Adapted to almost every known disease in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them a pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their regular action to health. And by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken, in such cases, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

As an occasional dose, stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better. From their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has any remedy been used so extensively upon the commencement of manifestations of a cough, as this Cherry Pectoral, and almost most of the cases of consumption, as it has become known. It possesses the character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, that have made it known as a reliable protector against death. While admitted to milder forms of disease to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affection of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with the antidote for them.

Although a remedy for consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers have been the cases in which it has been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. No medicine is in mastery over the diseases of the lungs and throat, half the most obstinate of which it subdues. When taking the cooling, healing influence under the Cherry Pectoral they suffer little or no pain.

Singers and public speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish those of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all Druggists throughout the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

THE DEATH OF THE OLD YEAR.

Full knee-deep lies the winter snow,
And the winter winds are wearily sighing
Toll ye the church-bell sad and slow,
And tread softly and speak low,
For the old year lies a-dying.
Old year, you must not die:
You came to us so readily,
You lived with us so steadily,
Old year, you shall not die.

He lieth still; he doth not move;
He will not see the dawn of day.
He hath no other life above.
He gave me a friend, and a true-love.
And the New Year will take 'em away
Old year, you must not go,
So long as you have been with us,
Such joy as you have seen with us,
Old year, you shall not go.

He frothed his bumpers to the brim;
A jollier year we shall not see,
But tho' his eyes are waxing dim,
And tho' his foes speak ill of him,
He was a friend to me.
Old year, you shall not die;
We did so laugh and cry with you,
I've half a mind to die with you,
Old year, if you must die.

He was full of joke and jest,
But all his merry quips are o'er.
To see him die, across the waste
His son and heir doth ride post-haste,
But he'll be dead before.
Every one for his own,
The night is starry and cold, my friend,
And the New Year blithe and bold, my friend,
Comes up to take his own.

How hard he breathes! over the snow
I hear just now the crowing cock.
The shadows flicker to and fro.
The cricket chirps: the light burns low;
'Tis nearly twelve o'clock.
Shake his hands before you die.
Old year, we'll dearly rue for you:
What is it we can do for you?
Speak out before you die.

His face is grown sharp and thin
Alack! our friend is gone,
Close up his eyes, tie up his chin;
Step from the corpse and let him in
That standeth there alone,
And ye tell all the door.
There's a new foot on the floor my friend,
And a new face at the door, my friend,
A new face at the door.

THE EVILS OF INTEMPERANCE.
A Tale of Woman's Suffering.
BY KATRINA.

"Tyrant! did you say, kind lady? Listen to my tale of woe and judge if a fiend in human shape would not be a more fitting appellation to that being who was once all my heart could desire—whose every heart-throb bespoke tenderness and love, whose sweet assurances and loving caresses so oft has driven the dark clouds from my mind where'er the tempting social glass was offered. Yet how manfully he rejected this social evil, offered in the shape and semblance of hospitality, quelling my fears by speaking in strong terms against this bane of society, which has blighted its brightest intellects, dragging them down to a drunkard's grave. But, alas! too soon did his powers of resistance fail him; too soon did the tempter become the victor and my noble husband fell. Fell from the high pinnacle of eminence which he had attained, fell in the high estimation in which he was held by the noblest of our circle of friends, fell upon the tender heart strings of his devoted wife, nearly severing them in twain. Oh, cruel demon, intemperance! What heights of joy might have now been mine but for thee. Well may my eyes become a fountion of tears as I recall the glad past, so fraught with joy, and now dwell upon the present with its weight of bitter woe.

The contrast is to appalling, kind lady! to admit of its rehearsal without tears, yet, could they bring back my lost joys, then could I weep day and night, burning bitter tears. But tears will not avail, dear lady, else long ere this, my joys would have been restored to me, for since that terrible fall they have indeed been my portion. But I will resume my narrative.

A time came, dear lady, when my health would not permit me to accompany him to the numerous parties to which we were invited. For a while, my husband shared my recluse, and as oft as he did, I remonstrated with him, begging him to accept the invitation, and be happy enough to compensate for my absence.

This he at last acceded to, first making me promise to retire at an early hour and not await for his coming, and he would enter with his night-key so as not to disturb me, and kissing me fondly, regretting that he could not go with him, he bade me good night and departed.

As his retreating footsteps sounded upon my ear, I proved that he might not be tempted to take the alluring glass, which I knew too well would be proffered. He had often told me that my pleading eyes had often restrained him, that although he had always denounced its use, yet the inherent desire was still with him, he had said that should be yield, his first glass would prove his inevitable ruin. The weakness inherited from his antecedents was his to control; then was it strange that I should fear? No pleading eyes to restrain, would his own strong will prove the mastery. How fervently I prayed for this, and my prayers were answered, for many times he returned to me unpolluted, narrating the events of the evening with an unclouded mind only regretting that I was not there to share his pleasure in the intercourse of talent; what had been his delightful participation.

The season for parties and entertainments (from which he had come home unscathed by the fell destroyer) had well-nigh passed. I had almost forgotten my former fears, so manfully had he turned the dart aside, when one night I had been eagerly watching for his coming as I was unusually unwell, but purposely avoided mentioning the fact, as I knew it would deter him from going to this, the grandest entertainment of the season.

It was much later than usual; the wee sma' hours were telling their silent tales, when a muffled sound of voices fell upon my listening ear after a time, which seemed an age to me, a faltering footstep crept up the stair and lingered at the door. For some hours, a presentiment of evil or threatening danger had harrassed my mind, which I strove hard to quell, thinking it arose from my indisposition, was I now to have that evil corroborated? I instinctively shuddered, and drawing the bed-clothes over my eyes, I awaited his coming, fearing, I knew not what. Cautiously peering over the bed-clothes, I watched him disrobe, noticed the unsteady hand as he disengaged his neckie and while he turned his face toward the bed in the act of turning down the gas, I noticed the deep flush upon his cheek, the undue light in his eye, and the painful truth flashed upon me, depriving me of the power of speech and motion. I must have fainted, for when next I became conscious of my being my husband lay at my side in that deep sleep which follows the drunken debauch. The violent twitching of the nerves, the fetid breath, as his incoherent sentences fell upon the stillness, told too plainly this was the sleep of a drunkard.

You may well start, kind lady, at this denouement. T'would have been better had I have died on that fatal night, but God willed it otherwise.

The very name of a 'drunkard' had always created a feeling of disgust in me. Now it was indignation that he, my husband, should have been brought home to me in this beastly state of intoxication. The thought was too grievous to be borne, and I threw myself upon his breast and wept as I had never wept before. My very brain was on fire. I even forgot my own bodily sufferings with which I had been racked for hours, in the thought of this o'erwhelming grief. I thought my heart would burst with each paroxysm, and there he lay unconscious of all my tears and groanings.

Again my aching heart o'ersurged with its bitter wailings, and with a shriek I fell from my kneeling posture prostrate upon the form of my still unconscious husband, and I knew no more.

Days lengthened into weeks, unheeded by my darkened mind, and when again the faintest ray illumined it, I became conscious of being tenderly cared for, while muffled voices administered reviving cordials.

A sob broke upon my bewildered ear and essaying to open my eyes to see from whom the sound emanated, a faint glimmering of light revealed to me my husband's form, as he gently came forward and kissed my forehead and lips again and again. I tried to move, but found myself incapable. I opened my lips, but utterance refused to come. Where was I? My feeble mind had not made an attempt to define. Gentle hands smoothed down my pillow and bade me sleep, while the same determined hand, drew my husband away.

I must have slept for hours, for when I again awoke, I found that new strength had been given me, my hands moved at my will, a delicious feeling of rest pervaded my whole being, a sweet repose rested upon each surrounding object My slumbering mind became active, and wonderment became its theme. Why was I there. I knew the room; every object was familiar to me—the pictures, the curtains, the satin couch, the easy chair, and dainty footstool, even to the tiny inlaid stand at my side, yet why was I here, this was my guest chamber, and turning my head I beheld my husband's portrait in its accustomed place.

The sight of this face, so life-like in every delineament, called up to remembrance of that fatal night. Busy memory reprinted the scene and a quivering passed o'er my frame accompanied by a moan. Turning at the sound of a heavy sigh I encountered the gaze of my husband who had crept closer to catch my breathings, as I faintly whispered, "Have I been dreaming, dear?"

"Would that it were a dream, my sweet wife, can you forgive your repentant husband? Your sweet life came near paying the forfeit for my debauchery."

As I imprinted the forgiving kiss upon his waiting lips, a faint cry of an infant caught my ear

In answer to my inquiring look, he told me of the birth of our boy on that fatal morn three weeks gone by—how he watched for my return to consciousness, barely leaving my side, that he might tell me how bitterly he regretted his sin, that had so nearly cost me my life.

You think this should have been a lesson for life to him! you say, dear lady.

We shall see.

For several years my happiness was complete, during which time my baby-girl was born. Prosperity enriched our board, sweet contentment dwelt within the walls of our luxuriant home, confidence and esteem were again restored to our numerous circle of friends, and we were happy.

Five happy years had winged their flight away, carrying with them their burden of happiness and sweet content, when again the deadly cup allured him from my side. The lateness of the hour at which he came home, the unsteady gait, the irritability of his temper at the least provocation—all told too plainly the truth of my fears. So gradual had been the inroads of this monster, so imperceptible had been the changes he had made with his dire encroachments, that he had fastened his poisonous fangs too deeply to be easily extricated, e're the truth had become evident to my incredulity. God knows I strove with all my powers to lead him back, to disengage him from this fearful, terrible thraldom.

At first he listened to my tearful entreaties and my earnest solicitations, and strove hard to quell the rising habit, while shame and deep remorse caused him many a repentant tear. But at last he grew indifferent, his heart had become hardened, callous to every finer feeling which he had once possessed—his whole character and bearing was changed—his standing in society was lost. Those who had been his friends now looked upon him with scorn—his word was no longer accepted in lieu of the money he owed. The debts he had contracted must be paid. Our household things were seized to satisfy the demands. Our home—our beautiful home—fell into the hands of creditors, and one fell swoop deprived us of nearly everything we possessed. Taking what little remained, we came to this city. Remorse again seized upon him, and he tried hard to reform—new scenes and associations had a beneficial effect upon him for a time, and again I hoped.

But this beautiful star beamed only for a while. For one short month my pathway was illumined by its gentle ray: then it flickered and died, leaving me more than ever in the darkness.

Expostulations and entreaties became of no avail, and every word I uttered toward reformation was but the prelude of bitter abuses.

Here among strangers, with no health to earn my children's bread, every article extorted to satisfy his fiendish appetite, everything that would bring money fast receding from my sight, the hungry wolf, with glaring eyes, standing at our very door, the wintry winds howling their mournful requiom over buried hopes, and chilling our poorly-clad bodies to the very bones, the frost-work upon our only window growing thicker and thicker, the feeble fire-light from the almost empty stove giving a mere semblance of warmth to our cheerless apartment caused a murmer to escape my lips,—

"Why, O God! hast thou forsaken us? Why am I spared to behold this wretchedness—to witness the shrunken features of my children, as they call in vain for bread?"

I had lain there with this bitter upbraiding in my heart, praying that death would put an end to my sufferings, when I was aroused by the tossing and moaning of my little ones, who had that night gone supperless to bed.

This put a new impetus within me, and I prayed God to raise me from this threatening sickness, that my helpless little ones might not perish.

God heard that prayer, and gave me strength from that hour of supplication, or I never would have lived through that night's horrors.

A Fight for Life

At Irvington, Washington, Ill., a small town on the Illinois Central Railroad, a few days since, occurred a frightful tragedy. The conductor of a northward-bound freight train put off a man who appeared to be labouring under temporary insanity, with the request that he be closely looked after as he was not in a condition to take care of himself. The man was taken to the railroad station by A. L. Marsh and C. Rohman, but sometime about midnight the lunatic made his escape, and made a terrible effort to break into the residence of Mrs. Barton. Again he was taken back to the station house by Marsh, Rohman, John M. Driver, and J. L. Womack, who bolted the doors of the station house, remaining on the inside with the madman. The madman seemed not to be satisfied with this kind of procedure, and drew a pocketknife and advanced towards Driver, saying, "I will kill you or you must kill me." Driver attempted to pacify the madman, when he struck at him with the knife, but Driver evaded the blow. The madman next turned to Marsh, who was sitting near the door, and stabbed him in the throat, the blade entering to the right of the wind pipe and passing out on the left side of the neck, behind the jugular vein. Marsh sank to the floor, saying, "Boys, he has killed me." Leaving Marsh, with fiend-like ferocity the madman sprang towards Womack, who dodged his first blow and clinched the terrible fiend closely around the waist, but he was a large, powerful man, and much more than a match for his intended victim, and soon succeeded in getting his right arm free and soon commenced to stab Womack in the back and head, who cried to Driver to "knock him down, he is killing me." Driver procured a crowbar and made an attempt to strike the madman, but he, with wonderful presence of mind, managed to keep Womack between himself and Driver. Driver still made for Womack's antagonist, but the blow intended for the madman fell with terrific force on Womack's right hand, crushing it completely, rendering Womack helpless, who let go his adversary, who then sprang at driver and was received with a blow from the crowbar across the left side of the head, which brought him senseless to the floor. At this juncture of affairs, Driver and Rohman started out for help, leaving Marsh, Womack, and the maniac lying on the floor. But scarcely had they left when the madman recovered himself, and seeing his knife upon the floor, started for it, and Womack, anticipating his intentions, secured an iron poker, and again commenced the combat for life. Womack this time had equal chances, and fought with the knowledge that his life was at stake. Six times the demon advanced towards Womack, and six times he was brought to the floor. Help soon came, and the insane man made his escape, and the next morning was found near the Baptist Church, almost frozen to death, having stripped himself of nearly all his clothing. His wounds were dressed, after which a warrant was issued, and the unfortunate wretch was committed to gaol. Young Marsh received every attention at the hands of his friends, but died next day, Wednesday, November 25, and at five o'clock Thursday morning his murderer breathed his last. Womack's injuries were not serious, and he will soon recover. What a fearful night was that at Irvington railroad station, and, no doubt, it will long be remembered by the people of that place.

A little story is told of Ferranti, the singer, now with the De Muraka troupe, which, if not new, is at least good. He was singing in Italian somewhere with Parepa Rosa, and as he came forward to take part with her in a duet, she remarked w disturbed expression on his face. Not being able to speak to him, she sung to the music of the opera, "What is the matter with you, my near friend?" He caught the words at once, and in the music of his own part, responded, "Oh, madame, on my back there is a terrible hole!" "In the name of Heaven," warbled she, in response, "how came it there?

Temperance.

The friends of the movement to lessen the number of drinking shops in Town, presented a petition to the Council on Monday evening, 22 feet long, containing 800 names, 400 of them ratepayers. The petition prays that the number of tavern licenses for the year be diminished that none but those affording accomodation to travellers deserve license. That no license for a Billiard Room be granted in connection with a tavern, and that no shop license be granted except to those who will sell intoxicating liquors only. The liquor traffic is a difficult one to deal with, and will require firmness and wisdom to deal with it just now.

"Mind vs. Muscles. Or Field and Forum."

This is the subject of a lecture to be delivered in the Music Hall shortly. The time will be announced next. From a synopsis given in an exchange, the lecture promises to be one of the best ever delivered in Peterborough. The lecturer, we understand, is a fluent, eloquent and graphic speaker, as the following notices from our exchanges testify :

THE PRESS ON THE LECTURE.

"A Finer Effort was never made in Hamilton."—Spectator.

"Mr. Stephenson handles his theme in a powerful manner, and his eloquence was positively thrilling."—Buffalo Advertiser.

"Vivid, graphic, and truly eloquent." Buffalo Express.

"His description of the pen of Thermopylae perfectly electrified the audience."—Buffalo Courier.

Hastings.

On Thursday evening of last week, this village was visited by the "Mulligan Guard Company and Brass Band." The theatrical managers are, of recent date, so unscrupulous in their use of printers ink that the simple announcement that this Company of artists would appear in Peter's Hall would scarce be sufficient to draw a house ; however, when they came on the scene, with a very fair band, their number and appearance generally served to dissipate all fears on the score of the merits of the Company, and a good audience greeted them in the evening. It is enough to say of the entertainment it was first-class in every particular, and various inducements were held out to persuade the party to remain for another night. If we were to particularize the performance we should say that Sam Melville and Bobby Newcombe in their eccentric business were the bright particular stars of the evening. Louis De Lammond is a pleasing balladist, Gus Howard a fine Dutch comedian, and the whole company were perfectly at home in their respective roles. We assure them if they ever return to Hastings they will be greeted with a bumper house.—COM.

A Caution to Liquor Sellers.

The case of Silver vs. Maunder, tried at the last Division Court in Lindsay before Judge Dean, is one which tavern-keepers and all other dealers in intoxicating liquors will do well to make a special note of, lest peradventure in their love of illegal gains the subject themselves to such a penalty as was most righteously inflicted upon the defendant, John Maunder. The plaintiff, Mr. Hugh Silver, a respectable and well-known resident of Lindsay where he has spent the greater part, if not the whole, of his life, has two younger brothers who are unfortunately addicted to drink, which they have been in the habit of obtaining at the tavern of the defendant. Mr. Silver has frequently expostulated with Mr. Maunder for letting the boys have liquor, and had even offered him pecuniary compensation for the loss he might suffer by refusing to sell to them, but was only derided and laughed at by the unscrupulous "spiritualist." At last, hearing that his brothers had spent $14 of their earnings in a single debauch at Maunder's tavern, Mr. Silver resolved to proceed against the offender as empowered by Sec. 42, Cap. 18, of Vic. 27—usually known as the "Temperance Act of 1864"—and employed an attorney to draw up a proper written notice forbidding the sale of liquor to the lads, which was duly served upon the defendant, but which he thought proper to disregard. Mr. Silver then sued Maunder in the Division Court for $40 damages, and the pending suit became a subject of much interest, it being the first of the kind in this County ; and many persons thought that until a By-Law was passed under the provisions of the Act, no part of it came into operation. Maunder, of course, readily adopted this opinion, and at first resisted the action ; but finally ascertaining beyond a doubt that no defence would stand, acknowledged his guilt and paid the $40. Judge Dean animadverted in the strongest terms upon the conduct of the defendant, and expressed regret that plaintiff had not brought his action in the County Court, in which case he (the Judge) would have directed the jury to return a verdict for two hundred dollars, which he had no doubt they would have done. Below we give the clause of the Act under which Mr. Silver sued, by which it will be seen how extremely difficult it would be for habitual drunkards to obtain the means of indulging in their degrading vice, were their relatives determined to avail themselves of the means of prevention afforded by the law.

VIC. 27, CAP., 18, SEC. 42.

The husband, wife, parent, brother, sister, tutor, guardian or employer of any person who has the habit of drinking intoxicating liquor to excess, or the parent, brother, or sister of the husband or wife or such person, or the tutor or guardian of the child or children of such person, may give notice in writing, signed by him or her, to any person licensed to sell, or who sells or is reputed to sell, intoxicating liquor of any kind, not to deliver intoxicating liquor to the person having such habit and if the person so notified do at any time within twelve months after such notice, either himself or by his clerk, servant or agent, otherwise than in terms of a special requisition for medical practitioner, deliver in or from any building, booth, or place occupied by him, and wherein or wherefrom any such liquor is sold, suffer to be delivered any such liquor to the person having such habit, the person giving such notice may, in an action as for personal wrong, (if brought within six months thereafter), recover of the person notified such sum, not less than twenty dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, as may be assessed by the Court or a jury as damages ; and any married woman may bring such action in her own name without authority from her husband ; and all damages recovered by her shall in that case go to her separate use ; and in case of the death of either party, the action and right of action given by this section shall survive to or against his legal representative.—Fenelon Gazette

BRANTFORD.

SHOCKING WIFE MURDER.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 28.—Early this morning some parties coming to Brantford along the Cockshut road, met a little girl crying, and on stopping to ascertain what was wrong she told them her father was murdering her mother. Proceeding to the place indicated they found a woman named O'Brien insensible, and her husband a short distance away. They went to O'Brien and got him to take his wife in a sleigh, but it is supposed she died before reaching there. It is reported that the deceased was drunk and fell down, and that O'Brien, then getting angry, commenced kicking and striking her on the head with a club, and otherwise ill-treating her. The club was found at daylight, covered with blood and long hair. The snow also was covered with blood, and appeared as if there had quite a struggle. The deceased lived about five miles from Brantford. The Coroner has the case in hand. O'Brien was arrested and brought to Brantford this afternoon.

A PRETTY PICTURE OF ENGLAND BY A BOSTONIAN.—We took up our abode at a little wayside inn at which in the days of leisure the coach must have stopped for lunch, and burnished pewters of rustic ale been tenderly exalted to "outside" athirst with breezy progression. Here he stopped, for sheer admiration of its steed thatched roof, its latticed windows, and its homely porch. We allowed a couple of days to elapse in vague, undirected strolls and sweet sentimental observance of the land, before we prepared to execute the special purpose of our journey. This fine region is a compendium of the general physiognomy of England. The noble friendliness of the scenery, its subtle friendliness, the magical familiarity of multidinous details, appealed to us at every step and every glance. Deep in our souls a natural affection answered, The whole land, in the full, warm reins of the last of April, has burst into sudden perfect Spring The dark walks of the hedgerows had turned into blooming screens : the sudden verdure of meadow and lawn was streaked with a rustier freshness. We went forth without loss of time for a long walk on the hills Reaching their summits, you find half England enrolled at your feet. A dense broad commotion, within the vast range of your vision, co-mingle their green exhalations. Closely beneath us lay the rich flats of hedgy Worcestershire and the copse checkered slopes of rolling Hereford, white with the blossoms of apples, At widely opposite points of the large expanse two great cathedral towers rise sharply, taking the light, from the mottled shadow of their circling forest—the light, the indubitable English light.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cox, [illegible], writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil. I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 1st, renders great caution necessary not to confound Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of PHOSPHATES and Calisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similiarity in action or effect.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from in fancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and no more harm can result from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner. 6f-tf

WOODS IN WINTER.

When winter winds are piercing chill,
And through the white-thorn blows the gale,
With solemn feet I tread the hill,
That overbrows the lonely vale.

For the rare sylvan I am on
Through the long reach of desert woods,
The embracing sunbeams chastely play,
And sweet birds sing their deep solitudes.

Go the gay rambler's eye to charm,
He can her choose the loud-trod nape;
What is to me a boon for him bare?—
His plowing suits the fitful scene.

Where, to the roots of the barren oak,
The summer vine in beauty clung,
And autumn over the stiffening brake,
The cruel frosts in beauty flung.

Where the rich fruits of summer ripened,
Pendent o'er their mother's grateful side,
Withered and sere the foliage rings,
And rotting fall the woodland nuts.

Alas! how changed from the fair scene
When birds sang out their mellow lay;
And winds were soft, and words were green,
And the song ceased not with the day!

But still, wild music is abroad,
Pale, desert woods, within your crowd;
And gathered winds, in hoarse accord,
Amid the vocal rocks pipe loud.

Cold stars, and wintry winds, my ear
Has grown familiar with your song;
I hear it in the opening year—
I listen, and it cheers me long.

JOSH BILLINGS

FARMER'S ALMINAK.

FOR 1875.

Being 38 years since the great American Eagle was first adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill, the obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compposition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaints and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. During a long series of years, and among most of the communities of men it has risen higher and higher in reputation, as it has become better known. Its wonderful character and power to cure the severest and most dangerous affections of the throat, lungs, and chest, have given it a world-wide renown, and made it the most reliable protector against them. While it is prized to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and hence its general use affords the best and surest means we can obtain against sudden attacks of croup. It should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed in all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote to disease.

Although for other complaints which are incurable, still great numbers of cases which could not be cured, have been completely relieved, and the patient restored to health, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. In the incipient stages of many of the diseases of the throat and lungs, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. No other thing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here. It is known that assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections, which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and it does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no way leaves any injurious effects. The number and importance of the cures it has made in these maladies are literally beyond calculation, and we believe without a parallel in the history of the world. We are able to be gratified by the knowledge that it is more positive of the radical cures effected in the severe and obstinate cases of Fever and Ague, than any other remedy that has been brought before the public. Travellers through, or residents in, localities subject to these disorders, should never be without it. For Liver Complaints, arising from a disorder of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, producing the Liver to a healthy condition.

For Bilious Diseases and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, usually producing a speedy and complete cure. Price $1.00 a bottle.

Hereditary Drunkness.

Not more pitiful are the approaches of madness than the well understood symptoms which signify to the hereditary drunkness the hour of his inherited passion. I knew in Texas a young man who was heir to such a woeful heritage. He was physically one of the handsomest of men, and possessed of great and varied talents, which he had carefully cultivated. Moreover, he had served his county with distinguished bravery, and was then holding a high position of trust and honor. But with regularity that was terrible, there came to him—no matter where he was, over his ledger, in the church, by the side of a woman he loved—a craving so deadly that possessed him like demons, and drove him forth from among his fellows. Without life and property free he would deliver to a friend the keys of his office and betake himself to his room—not as men go to a carousal, but as they go to meet a fateful reckoning—and for two or three days drink in sullen silence, until the craving was appeased. Some one passing in his presence, his vast stores of acquired information and his delicate fancy as an artist. "Yet I shall die like a brute," he said, sadly; and the despairing look of a hunted animal came into his eyes, and he added, "My father died drunk; my mother (God forgive her); my grandfather shot himself in delirium tremens. You know, boys how poor Patrick died; it will be the same with me." His prophecy was too soon fulfilled.—Science of Health.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FARMERS

Fowls in Winter.—One of the most essential things in Winter is to have a warm house for chickens to roost in. The best way to have a house constructed for Winter use is to have it partially under ground, facing the south, with a slanting roof reaching within three feet of the ground on the north side and the front or south side covered with windows, so that the fowls may enjoy the warm rays of the sun without being exposed to the piercing winds and freezing cold. For a summer house the building should be above ground, with ventilators, so that the fowls can be kept comfortable during the hot nights of summer. In the fall as the weather becomes cool shut up your summer roosts, and your fowls will soon take to their winter quarters again. In winter I give my fowls a warm pudding for breakfast, then keep corn by them during the day. I also keep scrap-coke by them from early Fall till Spring.

Water.—The consumption of dry fodder makes an ample supply of water necessary for the stock. Green fodder contains about 80 per cent (or four pounds out of five) of water. Dry fodder contains about 16 per cent (or one pound only, out of six of fodder) of water. If a cow consumes 20 lbs of dry, solid matter, a day, in the shape of green fodder, she takes with it 80 lbs, or nearly 10 gallons of water; if this 20 lbs is in the shape of hay or cornstalks, she takes with it only 4 pounds, or half a gallon of water, and the remainder must be supplied. Many poor animals cruelly suffer from want of water in the winter season, as neglect in watering is common enough.

Lambs.—Early lambs pay proportionately better than any other farm stock. All that is needed to have them in perfection, is tact and care. A lamb twelve hours' old, and on its legs, is able to take care of itself, if kept with the ewe in a small warm pen. A good plan is to have pens not more than four feet square, in a quiet stable, in which to put the ewes a day or two before they wean. In such quite places there is little risk of losing lambs, by their being disowned or neglected. Of course they need looking after until they are a few days old, when the ewe and the lamb may be turned out, and another ewe take the pen.

Pasturing Grain.—As a rule far too much of this is done. But where the wheat or rye is very thrifty, a few sheep may be allowed to run over the field without injury. Where the grain is heaved with the frost, coming soon after the rain, a flock of sheep will trample thousands of the plants into the soil again.

Procure Seeds for the spring before the busy time for the seedsmen arrives, when there may be delay and disappointment. Select seeds from the granery while there is opportunity to chose the heaviest and the largest and best grain. Keep all seeds in a cool, dry place.

A Cheap Ice House can be made out of a simple well-roofed enclosure, without hollow walls or pits, or other costly apparatus. Leave six inches of space next the sides all around, into which ram clean sawdust closely, and cover the ice when packed with a foot of the dust. The ice is cut into large blocks and made to fit at the joints as closely as convenient, but where edges are jagged fill in with pounded ice or sawdust—the latter being the cheapest. Drainage is important, but if the house stands on porus soil, or is so elevated that the water will run off readily, it answers every purpose. Ice may be kept several years in such a building, nine feet square and the same in height, the sides being only of inch boards. When the ice is taken out, be careful to keep all cavities covered with sawdust, or it will waste away rapidly.—Agriculturist.

A prisoner got out of the Green Bay calaboose, by picking the lock with a tooth-pick.

On arriving at Calais on her way to make the grand tour, an English lady was surprised and somewhat indignant at being termed, for the first time in her life, "a foreigner." "You mistake, madam," said she to the libeller. with some pique, "it is you who are the foreigners. We are English."

A strange story reaches us from Hamilton of an unfortunate mare, after one of her hind feet was broken entirely off, continuing to pull her best to the end of a fourteen miles journey. In justice to the character of the driver it is essential to mention that the night was very dark, and consequently the condition of the poor animal was unperceived until his arrival at home.

DEATH OF MRS. SHERWOOD.—The Toronto papers announce the death on Saturday morning, at the advanced age of 89 years, of Mrs. Charlotte Jones Sherwood; mother-in-law of Lieutenant Governor Crawford. Mrs. Sherwood was daughter of Mrs. Ephraim Jones, a U. E. Loyalist, who saw active service during the Revolutionary war, and wife of the Hon. L. P. Sherwood; She was born in the old eastern district of the township of Augusta, on the 15th March, 1686. Her father was a member of the first Parliament of Upper Canada, and her husband was Speaker of the House of Assembly, and afterwards, for a number of years, a Judge of the Court of King's Bench, dying in 1850. Deceased was mother to the Hon. George Sherwood.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

FIRST

VINEGAR BITTERS

[illegible] THOUSANDS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

GENTLEMEN:—It is now some four years since addressed you through the columns of the paper, but I now adopt the same method; and as there has been many changes since that time both political and otherwise, and as many of you are aware that I sold out my business in Norwood to Mr. Ackerman two months ago, and my agreement with him prevents me from starting in the Village or Township; therefore I must return you my most sincere thanks for the liberal support you have accorded to me for these last 12 years. And at the same time I beg to inform you that having erected a Large and Commodious
Where I intend to carry on the
HARNESS BUSINESS
in all its branches, and from my long experience in the trade, I flatter myself that I can give you a better article in my line, stock and workmanship considered than you can get elsewhere. My terms will be "Quick sales and small profits."
I also propose setting apart one day in the week viz. Saturday, when all small jobbing will be done free of charge.
I hope to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to patronize me, feeling assured that they will save money by travelling a mile further, as I intend to undersell all in the trade.
Repairing done with neatness and despatch.
Collars made to suit any Horse in the country. Send them posted to me for consideration of all.
P. S.—As I have been to a good deal of expense in the way of boarding, all parties indebted to me will please call and settle without further notice.

EDITH—A BALLAD.

"Oh what coarse work!" she cries "coarse work!"
Ah! she I seek by day and night,
For whom I search the world all o'er
Is fairer than the world so bright.
Whose the soul breathes out like an angel of light.

She dwells in the mother's nursery she rules
Of the sweet litters by their dad [illegible] on the sofa,
Whose the [illegible] are the eyes of the night,
Are the lips of the lovers I [illegible] in the spring.

As thick as a crow, as [illegible] as the silk,
Were the lone locks that fell on a neck like the milk,
She was fifteen years and [illegible] when he died,
And ah then the love time that should be her ch.

Poor little lad lorld! Ah the hopes an' the fears,
The [illegible] an' the pleasures, the sighs and the tears
Of kind she had known!—she had done their share of

The father sat down, laid her head on his breast:
"Oh God an' her father my Effie mann rest,

THE EVILS OF INTEMPERANCE.
A Tale of Women's Suffering.
BY KATRINA.

Did I still love him who had brought me down to this wretchedness?

Nay, dear lady! the lamp of my love had long since become obliterated by his cruel treatment. He that should have kept it brightly burning smothered it by his cruelty to me. You would never believe the half I might tell; but my heart revolts—I fain would draw a veil over those scenes which no pen could describe, no tongue portray. I have lain for hours insensible, caused by his abuse. Love him!

Why did you not leave him long e're this? you ask.

Alas! I had no home, no friends, no relatives—I was a lone orphan.

I thank you, kind lady, for those tears of sympathy—they do me good—I have so hungered and thirsted many times for them. But to resume.

I had lain a long time, waiting for one I dreaded to see, when he who had promised to love and to cherish came staggering in, demanding me in loud tones to get up and get him some supper. I told him it was impossible, as there was not a morsel of food in the house.

He glared at me with the look of a demon, and, with horrid imprecations, swore he would see that I complied with his request

Flying at me, he dealt me a blow which nearly deprived me of my senses. Here is the mark on this right temple.

Yes, it aches badly; but God grant it may be the last I shall ever receive from him who dealt it.

This brings me to the hour I met your kind, kind husband.

So soon as I recovered from this cruel blow, I sprang from the bed and snatching up my baby, ran from the house.

My strength had returned, but it was the strength of despair, for where is it now? I outran my pursuer, for I was fleeter than he, and when he found the distance between us becoming greater, with a horrid oath, he vowed that he would return and kill my boy. I was about retracing my steps to save my boy, when happily I ran against a policeman, who proved to be your kind friend. Hastily telling my story, we hurried back, just in time to prevent him from carrying his threat into execution. Oh, how much I owe your kind husband for his opportune appearance!

The hand of God was in it, for he said he had gone for hours on his beat, but by a change of it found himself upon the spot.

Well! enough of this, for it pains me to recall the past. I will now tell you how I have been able to support myself and family since.

No! complaining lady, No! kind friend, I trust God will open a way for me to support myself and family once. He has promised not to forsake those who put their trust in Him.

Time was when my lips would have been sealed to a rehearsal of this kind: but I could do naught but give to (who so kindly befriended me in this hour of need) my history, so that you can judge if the name you gave him as you dressed my frozen feet, and otherwise attended to my sad needs, and those of my little ones, was not merited. God bless you for your kindness to me and mine through this long sickness, in which I have been a recipient of your kind care. I thank God that health is again returning, and may He reward you, if I cannot. God help me, in a measure at least, to repay you!

My readers! call this not a fancy sketch I have endeavored to portray in the sad words of the sufferer. Are not these fearful scenes of daily occurrence among the millions who populate our globe? Could we but look upon the misery as our very own, our blood would curdle in our veins, and though I listened to this recital of one woman's sufferings, yet it is only one of MANY I could narrate.

Yes! I could tell you of sore trials, and burning eyelids that refuse to weep; of anguish too deep for utterance; of longings, oh! so vain; of sufferings and privations; of cruel, bitter wrongs; of revilings too fiendish for mortal lips to utter; of lone watchings for one you yet dreaded to see; of fearful tremblings at the approach of him who should have been the protector; of want and starvation; of death by cruel neglect;—all by this fiend Intemperance, who wastes the body and destroys the soul

How many happy homes have been made desolate by this Foul Demon it is impossible to know. We can weep over imaginary woes, and urge us to cry out against this growing evil if naught else will.

Oh, Mothers! Sisters! haste to the rescue of our husbands, sons and brothers, who are being victimized. Shall we think any sacrifice too great to save them from this worse than death?

Oh, hail we a vote, none but teetoler's should receive our support—our Council Chambers and our Legislative Halls should be graced by men who would support PROHIBITION. That is the word—prohibition—none other will do. We want that which will prevent the manufacture of this Deadly Poison, which is yearly sending our noblest and best, as well as those in the lower walks of life to a drunkard's grave.

These are they who suffer the keenest—the poor of our land, who have naught to sustain life but their daily earnings. When drink incapacitates them from labor, what then but a tale of woe and suffering to the wives and families of those degraded mortals can ensue!

The brightest, happiest homes, (for who shall say they are not the most frequently found among the laboring class than among the wealthy?) are oft made desolate, yea, more than desolate, —a living tomb, wherein its inmates eke out a miserable life of cruelty, want and starvation; and yet are we pained to know that this dire evil is a growing evil. And why is it so? What have our Temperance Leagues, our Temples, our different organizations done to stay this tide of woe? Much, very much, methinks I hear you say. Granted—but have you done to your utmost? Is there not some duty duly unfulfilled—some broken chain, severed by some thoughtless act of years perhaps, that could be repaired, by which your fellow mortal could be drawn from the horrible pit into which he has fallen, and which a word from you in season, and out of season, might have saved?

But the magnitude of the work is so appalling, says another, what can my feeble efforts accomplish?

Accomplish! Why, does not drop after drop wear away the adamant? The busy bee gathers her winter store but by the smallest particles. Then let us not be disheartened, but press forward, aiding by our prayers and co-operations this great work. This evil must be quelled. God wills it—suffering humanity calls in tones not to be misunderstood, to come to their rescue ere it be too late!—too late!

Then let us pray that "God who hearest prayer" may direct us in our efforts: and may the day not be far distant when every grocery and rum hole in our own infested town shall be forever swept from our midst.

Hasten the glad day when the glorious Temperance Banner shall be unfurled to the pure breeze of heaven, untainted by the polluting atmosphere which now meets us at every turn—when the dens now reeking with the filthy stench shall not be found in alley or by-way—yes, I blush to say it, from our very thoroughfare

Time was when these things were not so openly enacted, but many there are in the present day, who, lost to all shame, bedeck their windows and doors with their gaudy signs,—

LICENSED TO SELL
SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS.

Licensed to sell human souls would be a fitter motto. Licensed to desolate comfortable homes, to drag the clothes off freezing wives, to snatch bread from the very mouths of hungry, famishing children.

Who grants the licenses?—are they not responsible in a fearful measure for this wholesale human slaughter?

God forgive them, and pierce their hearts as with a "two-edged sword," until they shall be constrained to cry out in bitter repentance.

Oh, shall I ever behold the glad day when Temperance shall reign triumphant, when the sound of woe and sad lamentations shall not be heard through all our habitations, when we can pass through our streets with no fear of meeting the dread objects—the besotted drunkard; when little children shall no longer crimson with shame at the cruel taunts they so oft receive, hurled upon their defenceless head by the very ones who have wrought this withering blight; when wives shall no longer fear the return of their husbands, but instead be able to greet them with a glad smile of welcome! Then shall the happy day be—By Mrs. Dr. Cream.

MR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

[PHONOGRAPHICALLY REPORTED BY WILLIAM WATSON.]

God-Defying Extravagance of Modern Society.

"Moreover the Lord saith, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched forth necks and wanton eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet: Therefore the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their round tires like the moon, and their chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers, the bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the ear-rings, the rings, and nose-jewels, the changeable suits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the crisping-pins, the glasses, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and the veils."—Isaiah iii. 16-23.

Through this window of the text we look in upon the voluptuousness of an ancient city—the description, with the very little variation, as appropriate to New York and Brooklyn as to Jerusalem and Tyre. One might think that Isaiah had before him the fashion plates, and the head-dresses, and the jewel-caskets, and the dancing-schools, and the drawing-room parties of the present day, and that he foresaw Saratoga and Brighton and Long Branch. Through this same window of the text we also see the masculine extravagance and dissipation which always corresponds with the feminine. Woman may have greater varieties of apparel, but she lives a quieter life, and, therefore, may have the great varieties and luxuries of dress without impediment. Men would wear as much, if they knew how without interfering with their worldly occupations. The rough jostling of life is fitting [illegible] man's dragging a dress train two yards in length, &c. [illegible] time of the text, as well as in all ages of the world, the two sexes were alike in moralities or immoralities.

While in parlor sentimentalities it is well that men defer to women, and woman defer to men, in the presence of God, and in the light of eternal responsibilities, the sexes are equal

Our text takes us twenty-five hundred years back, and sets us down in an ancient city. It is a bright day, and the ladies are all out. The procession of men and women is moving up and down the gay streets. It is the height of the fashionable season. The sensible people move with so much modesty that they do not attract our attention But here come to the haughty daughters of Jerusalem. They lean forward: so far forward as to be unnatural—teetering, wobbling, wriggling, flirting, or, as my text describes it, they "walk with stretched forth necks, walking and mincing as they go." They have ere starting from home, and have in most astounding style arranged their bonnets and their veils and their entire apparel, and now go through the street taking more of the pavement than they are entitled to, sweeping along with skirts that the text describes as "round tires like the moon." See! that is a princess! Look! that is a chant! The jingling of the chains, and the flashing of the head-bands, and the exhibitions of universal swagger attract the attention of the prophet Isaiah, and he brings his censure to bear upon the scene and takes a picture for all the ages.—But where is that scene? Vermin-covered population pass through them Where are the hands, and the necks, and the foreheads, and the shoulders, and the feet that sported all that magnificence? Ashes! Ashes!

SPENT HOURS BEFORE THE MIRROR

Taking my text as a starting point, this morning I come out to talk to you about the God-defying extravagance of modern society. For the refinements and the elegancies and the adornments of life, I cast my vote.

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 11, 1875.

PARLIAMENTARY.

The Dominion Parliament met on Thursday last. The Governor's speech will be found in another column, to which we would refer our readers.

The Departmental reports have already been laid on the table, and distributed, showing that ministers have not been idle during the recess.

All the papers relating to Lepine's reprieve have been laid before the House. We will try and give them in full next week, they were not received in time this week.

Mr. McKenzie has given notice of a motion to grant a general amnesty to bellion, except to Riel, O'Donoghue, Ambroise Lepine, who are to be exiled for five years.

A Bill Establishing a Supreme Court is promised and details of state of progress of the Pacific Railway.

The session does not promise to be a long one.

No great amount of business has been transacted yet, and delays on the Grand Trunk have prevented the receipt of what has been done, owing to a strike of the employees. The Company has reduced their wages ten per cent, and the employees refuse to work. It is said that the Government had to guarantee full pay to those running express trains to secure the transmission of mails and other matter to suit the public convenience

SETTLING UP OLD SCORES

The Lindsay Post contains two letters on the subject of voting for Orange Bills which we copy below, and to which we invite attention. Mr. Dormer is a Roman Catholic, and when canvassing two years ago made promises of supporting what is known as an Orange Bill. Now that he needs no favours of Orange Electors he goes back on them and denies his promises, as they are not palatable to his own people.

THE LETTERS.

MR. FOSTER AND MR DORMER.

SIR,—I have again to beg space in the columns of your widely circulated paper for the accompanying letter from Mr. Jones. Feeling that it is due to my friends and the public generlly, to set myself right on the question of veracity between myself and Mr. Dormer, ex-member of the Commons of Canada, who, on the 11th January last, at the nomination of members to represent the S. R. of the County of Victoria in the Legislature of Ontario, declared solemnly that he "had never under any circumstances made a promise or pledge to support, if elected, the Bills to incorporate the Orange association of Ontario, to Mr. Foster or any other man in this country or any other man in the world, during the whole course of his contest or during any other time in his life. He thought that was strong enough, but if it were possible to make it stronger he would like to find words to do so," &c., &c., &c. I then merely reiterated my former statement—the fact of him making the promise or pledge to myself, and was not then aware of the fact of him giving the same promise or pledge to others who are prepared to testify to the same. "In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word be established." Vendarium memoram oportet.

I remain yours, truly,

WM FOSTER.

Omemee, Feb. 1st., 1875.

Dear Bro. Foster, Mariposa.—

Yours of the 26th instant, is at hand inquiring whether I remember Dormer, whilst prosecuting his canvass for Parliament, promising to give his support in the House to a measure incorporating the Orangemen, should they seek it.

In order to answer your enquires, it is perhaps better to state the circumstances of the interview which took place between Mr. Dormer and myself. Mr. Dormer and Mr Cottingham met me on the 7th con. Emily, opposite my own place. Mr. Cottingham introduced me to Mr. Dormer, as the master of an Orange Lodge. We entered into conversation, and after talking on various political matters, Mr. Dormer voluntarily stated that he should support a bill incorporating the orangemen, should they seek it, and further, he stated that it was a mere act of justice to the Orangemen. I am positive that Mr. Dormer was not asked to give this pledge, he gave it voluntarily.

During the same interview Mr. Dormer said that if he helped to fight Sir John's battles he considered that he would have a claim upon him, and as a vacancy in the Senate occurs now and then, he considered that he had a right to name a senator, and should undoubtedly name Mr. Cottingham for that position.

Yours, Dear Foster, fraternally,

JAMES ROBERT JONES.

In East Peterborough, Dr O'Sullivan promised, if elected, to support an "Orange Bill," in order to get orange votes. Let us wait and see how he will act in the future.

Mr. Stratton, although an Orangeman, has always refused to commit himself to any bill until it should be before the House and its provisions known. If defeated he has the satisfaction of not having acted in any way to deceive the Electors. Many of the Electors, however, were under the impression that Dr O'Sullivan would be in favour of Orange Bills if introduced. Mr. Stratton could be relied on as reliable as Dr. O'Sullivan. Perhaps the late County Master East will make the Dr. an Orangeman yet. In the meantime, we have a premier, made never to be fulfilled.

Mr. Dormer's course, however, is before us, and may again be enacted, but the next time in East Peterborough.

THE NORWOOD "REGISTER."

Is somewhat exercised because a citizen of Asphodel reported over 100 illegal votes on the roll of that Township. Can it be possible that the action of the assessor and a few others, should lead the Register to condemn the whole municipal ity ? If out of 520 electors 100 are presumed to be illegal, then 420 good, honest, intelligent elector would remain. Now, if our dear friend thinks that 100 constitute the whole of the electors we are not so obtuse. They would form but five twenty-sixths of the whole. It is not a very bad record, but a little effort would improve it. In Asphodel there are many upright, honest men, will the Register say they are all of that class? But as one diseased sheep frequently affects others of the flock, one man might do a great deal to affect the good name of very many of his neighbours.

Asphodel is not so bad as our confrere would, unjustly, represent us as saying. We did not intend to blame the electors of Asphodel, that nothing was done to correct the list, but rather the leaders of the Reform party in the County who should have taken proper steps to prevent illegal voters being allowed to remain on it. This will have to be looked after in future and our remarks were to stir them up to that end. "

Will the Register inform its readers whether he believes all the voters on the list were legal ones? Let us have an honest opinion.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

The Parliament of the Dominion was opened on Thursday last, at three o'clock, when His Excellency Earl Dufferin delivered the following speech from the throne :—

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate ; Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have much satisfaction in meeting you at this early and convenient season. I have to congratulate you upon the organization of the North-West Police Force and the success of its operations. It has materially aided in the creation of confidence and good will among the Indian tribes, in the suppression of the liquor traffic, the establishment of legitimate trade, the collection of customs duties, and above all in maintaining territory. Another season or two in the of the police in the North-West has been to enable the Government to largely reduce the strength of the military establishment in that country.

The negotiation of a friendly treaty with the Crees and Salteaux of the North west for the cession of their territory may be regarded as a further guarantee for the continuance of amicable relations with the Indian tribes of that vast region.

During the past summer I had the pleasure and advantage of visiting a very large portion of the Province of Ontario, including the whole coast of the Georgian Bay and Lake Superior. This official tour enabled me to form a better idea of the great extent of the comparatively well-settled country, and of that which is still almost wholly undeveloped. I was everywhere received with the kindest welcome, and was much gratified in witnessing the enterprise, contentment and loyalty manifested in every quarter.

Your attention will be invited to a measure for the establishment of a Supreme Court. The necessity for such a measure has yearly become more and more apparent since the organization of the Dominion, it is essential to our system of jurisprudence and to the settlement of constitutional questions.

You will also be invited to consider a bill relating to the important subject of insolvency.

Measures will be submitted to you providing for the re-organization of the Government of the North-West, and the consolidation of the laws relating to that country ; and for a general insurance law and on the subject of copyright.

Gratifying progress has been made in the survey of the Canada Pacific Railway route. Measures have been taken to secure the early construction of the Georgian Bay Branch and to provide a connection with the eastern railway system. The report of the surveys of the road from Lake Superior to Fort Garry, which will be ready in a few days, will afford information upon which tenders may be invited for the construction of the eastern and western portions of that section, so as to reach the navigable waters of the interior

Gentlemen of the House of Commons.

The accounts of the past year will be laid before you. The estimates of the present financial year will be also submitted They will, I believe, be found to have been framed with every regard to economy consistent with efficiency in the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate ; Gentlemen of the House of Commons.

I am happy to believe that, notwithstanding the general and wide-spread commercial depression which has prevailed over the continent, the trade of Canada is healthy, and that the contraction we have experienced in some branches of industry for the past year has not been greater than might naturally have been anticipated.

Papers will be submitted to you on the North West troubles, and in reference to the negotiations between the Dominion Government and the Government of British Columbia on the subject of the Pacific Railway.

Steps have been taken during the recess for a combination of effort on the part of the several Provinces and the Dominion to promote immigration from Europe under the General direction of the Dominion officials. It is hoped that the effect will be increased efficiency and economy in this branch of the public service.

I rely with confidence on your prudence and ability, and on your patriotic devotion to the great public interests entrusted to you ; and I pray that the Divine blessing may rest upon your labors.

On motion of the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie it was resolved the the speech of His Excellency be taken into consideration to-morrow.

PRINTING OF VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, it was resolved that the Votes and Proceedings of the House be printed, being first perused by Mr. Speaker, and that he do appoint the printing thereof ; and that no person but such as he shall appoint to presume to print the same.

SELECT STANDING COMMITTEES.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, it was resolved that Select Standing Committees of this House for the present Session be appointed for the following purposes :—

1. On Privileges and Elctions. 2 On Expiring Laws. 3 On Railways, Canals, and Telegrahh Lines. 4. On Miscellaneous Private Bills. 5. On Standing Orders, 6. On Printing. 7. On Polics Accounts. 8. On Banking and Commerce. 9. On Immigration and Colonization—which said Committees shall severally be empowered to examine and inquire into all such matters and things as may be referred to them by the House ; and to report from time to time their observations and opinions thereon with power to send for persons, papers and records.

OATHS OF OFFICE.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie introduced a Bill completing the administration of oaths of office. Read a first time.

CONTESTED RETURNS AND CORRUPT PRACTICES.

On motion of Hon. Mr. McKenzie it was resolved.

1, That if anything shall come in question touching the return or election of any member, he is to withdraw during the time the matter is in debate, and all members returned upon double returns are determined.

2. That it is shall appear that any person has been elected or returned a member of this House, or shall endeavored so to be by bribery or any other corrupt practices, this House will proceed with the utmost severity against all such persons as shall have been willfully concerned in such bribery or other corrupt practices.

3. That the offer of any money or other advantage to any member of the House of Commons for the promoting of any matter whatsoever depending, or to be transacted in the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, is a high crime and misdemeanoor and tends to the subversion of the Constitution.

REPORT ON PUBLIC WORKS.

Hon. Mr. McKenzie presented the report of the Minister of Public Works.

THE PARLIAMENTARY LIBRARY.

Mr. Speaker presented the report of the Librarian on the state of the Library of Parliament.

On motion of Hon. Mr. McKenzie, the House adjourned at 4 20 p.m.

Protestant Home.

Report of the Peterborough Protestant Home for the ten months ending Dec. 31st, 1874.

President, Mrs. Romaine ; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. F. W. Haultain, Mrs. J. A. Hall ; Treasurer, Mrs. W. G. Thomson ; Secretary, Miss Roger ; Committee, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. G. Shaw, Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Wallis, Mrs. Elder, Mrs. Clementi, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. J. Campbell, Mrs. Winniett, Mrs. C. Ormond, Mrs. Hilyard, Miss Edwards, Miss Patton.

The committee of the P. P. Home in again presenting their report to their friends and supporters would say, that as all find it more convenient to arrange their affairs at the beginning of a new year, we wish to be able to do so also, and that consequently our report will only extend over the ten months.

We feel that we have great cause for thankfulness to God for his goodness to us. The general health of the inmates has been good, no death having occurred in that time, and no epidemic come amongst them. There are now in the Home two old women, one young girl and seven children ; in all, including the matron, eleven persons. The old women are very infirm, one of them is blind ; the young girl is ill with the diabetis and has no home. Five of the children belong to a workingman, their mother died and the father unable to provide for them themselves through the winter, he pays a small board for them. The other two have been several years inmates.

Nine persons were received, seven were children , two of these were brought in under peculiar circumstances. Their mother was dead ; one of them was an infant thirteen months old, unable to walk and very delicate. She remained six months during which she improved very much ; she has been taken out by a farmer and his wife The other was a boy of pine years, an idiot and perfectly helpless, requiring one person's constant care, a very distressing case, fit only for an asylum ; he was at last taken to some of his own relations. The father promised to pay for their board but never gave anything.

Another little girl was taken by a farmer, the father removed her little brother, he also had promised to pay for their board, as he was able, being a strong able bodied man, but he was idle and drank, so neglected to pay anything for their support. Fair enough promises are generally made, but very few remember to carry them out ; there are, however, some honorable exceptions. Seven persons have gone out since last report, some being taken as above mentioned and some leaving of their own accord. During the past ten months twelve families have received out door relief, some casually and some regularly for months. No money is given, generally a ticket for groceries, varying according to the size of the family, from fifty cents to one dollar. These cases are always enquired into by some responsible persons who see what is needed and report at the next meeting of the Committee.

The Committee desire to thank their friends for useful donations of food, clothing, vegetables, straw, &c. The medical men for their kind attention to the sick—the clergymen for their visits—he editors who kindly insert the donations, acknowledgments and advertisements free of charge and to Mr. Romaine for a copy of the Review weekly.

They would also thank the different churches and the St Andrew's Society for their donations. The Two hundred dollars (200) granted by the County Council last year were expended on the upper part of the building, makes a most comfortable addition to the house.

The usual grant for 1874 from the Town Council has not yet been received, the Committee regret to say they stand much in need of it, as they have not funds to meet the incoming accounts ; they feel they must appeal strongly to all friends This being the only institution of the kind in the place should be well supported.

Secretary.

The Treasurer would wish to state here that it was thought expedient that their financial year should close on 31st December, instead of February, as formerly, so that the public will understand this statement embraces only ten months operations, and that some of their largest accounts remain to be paid.

East Riding Agricultural Society

The Annual Meeting of the East Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society took place on the 20th of January in Norwood. The attendance was very good, evincing that a lively interest is still being taken in this important institution. There is one very noticeable feature in connection with these annual meetings—namely, that it is the same gentlemen, from year to year, who meet, at great personal sacrifice, to keep this valuable society in good working order—to whom the thanks and praise of this community is certainly due.

The Treasurer's Report shows that the Society is in a good state financially ; that after paying last year the sum of $962,36 for prizes and incidental expenses, there is a balance yet on hand of $12.83.

We publish below, in full, the elaborate and ably compiled Report of the efficient Secretary of the Society, which will repay an attentive perusal :

"Your Directors, at the close of their term of office, in reviewing the past year, feel that they have abundant reason to prompt them to an expression of gratitude for the blessings of peace, plenty and general prosperity with which our fair Dominion has been so highly favored ; and as Agriculturists we have special cause for thankfulness, as the past season has been exceedingly favorable, and a splendid harvest has been the reward of our labors.

"In our Riding progress is everywhere visible. More attention is being paid to improved modes of culture ; labor saving machines are being more generally introduced ; greater taste is being displayed in the planting of shade trees and otherwise trimming up the surroundings of the farm ; and the old log barns and dwellings are rapidly disappearing, and giving place to large and commodious frame structures and comfortable brick homesteads.

"Your Directors are pleased that a spirit of enterprise largely prevails, and that every scheme for the advancement and improvement of the country is heartily encouraged. In the past year one Cheese Factory has been put in successful operation in Dummer. Several others are now proposed within the riding, with every prospect of their being established during the coming season. We are glad to see that our farmers are awakening to the importance and profitableness of the Dairy and becoming gradually weaned away from the hitherto entire dependence on, and the suicidal policy of the constant cropping of cereals.

"We are sorry that our income will not meet the expenditure of the year. This arises from the diminished receipts for admission to our show at Warsaw, being only $65 as against $166 of the previous year, and $135 in 1872. To the very unfavorable state of the weather during the days of exhibition, we think this is largely attributable, and to the same cause, to a large extent, is due the falling off in the number of entries, which reached only 535.

"We regret to report, therefore, that from causes beyond our control, the exhibitional Warsaw was not quitteas successful as its predecessors.

"Within the building most of the classes were fairly but not largely represented. Of butter and roots there were some fine specimens, and amongst the vegetables the onions exhibited were specially noteworthy.

"From the want of proper grounds in which to exhibit stock, the show outside, to visitors, is seen at a disadvantage. The entries of horses was numerous ; grade and thorough-bred cattle were favourably represented, and some fine flocks of long woolled sheep were also exhibited

"However, successful our exhibitions have hitherto been, Your Directors believe that if we had fewer Agricultural organizations in this Riding, and a more concentrated and United effort put forth to sustain One Central one, that better results and greater good would be accomplished. In the passing we thought our societies were dangerously kept, the prize allowed are too small to induce prize-givers to run much risk, and as a consequence only a medium class of animals and articles are shown, and frequently prizes are obtained for animals and articles unworthy of a place on the show ground. As your retiring Directors, we submit our opinion, but do not suggest a remedy, but believe it to be worthy the consideration of our successors.

"The annual ploughing match was held on the farm of Mr. John Brackenridge, near Westwood. The entrants in the male's class were 8, and in the boy's 7. The field was in capital condition, and the work done would compare favourably with that of any match in the province. The day was magnificent, and a large concourse of visitors were present. It is exceedingly manifested in these annual competitions and especially by the sons of our farmers.

"The ploughing match committee report to us the receipt from Mr. P. P. Cox, of the Norwood Foundry, and from Mr Bickle, of Hastings, of the donations of first class ploughs, competed for as the first prizes at the society's match, with answers to other articles of lesser value, present, by other manufacturers, and which we have no pleasure in acknowledging.

"We have examined the Draft Bill of an amended Agricultural Act, which will receive the attention of the Legislature at its next session. One of its clauses especially meets with our hearty approval It provides for the appointment of an Inspector of Agricultural Societies, to whom shall be submitted the Treasurer's and Secretary's books and accounts, so that compliance with the law will be better secured.

"In many of our Township Societies the spirit and intent of the law, with respect to the purposes of Agricultural Societies, is, we fear, frequently, though sometimes, perhaps unwittingly, seriously violated, and the supervision named will, we think, tend to o more healthy conducting of affairs."

The report was unanimously adopted.

The following gentlemen were then elected officers of the Society for the current year :—

Does he believe it ?

The Bobcaygeon "Independent" says Mr. Scott has found fourteen cases of personal bribery against Mr. Cox. Reverse this and you will have the truth. This nonsense is all to let Mr. Scott down "easily."

School Trustee.

Mr. Wm. Johnston was appointed Trustee of the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools, on Monday evening by the Council, in the place of Mr. Toole, who resigned at last meeting of the Board.

A Dreadful Affair

In the last issue of our Contemporary, the Review, it is stated that the stables of Mr. Boyd, Bobcaygeon, were consumed by fire, and the men also in it were burned. This must be a mistake, as the "Independent" says nothing about the burning of the men.

Social.

A Congregational Social in aid of St. Andrew's Church Sunday School Building Fund, will be held in the house of Mr. Robert Fairbairn, this Thursday evening, the 11th inst, beginning at 7 o'clock. Lane

We understand that many members of the Allandale Lodge intend withdrawing from it, on account of the course pursued by the late County Master, in endeavoring to make the Lodge a close Conservative Club, the members of which, must vote as he says. They should give him a simple pardon He's not always himself.

Licenses.

Those intending to take out Licenses this year would do well to note the following section of the act, on that behalf : "Provided that tavern and shop licenses may be issued between the 1st and 15th day of March, in each year ; and licenses by wholesale may be issued between the first and last days of March in each year," see 5 cap. 32, 1874.

J. Smith, of Bowmanville, on Monday evening, will deliver a lecture on "Church Song." Mr. Smith is an eloquent speaker, and his lecture will be worth hearing.

A Quick Step

At Montreal, the other evening, while a dancing party were in the middle of the Hall, in the act of their merry performance, a wall of an adjoining building fell on the roof of the Hall and passing through it carried the floor of the Hall and several of the gay party with it into the store beneath. Several of them were hurt, but none seriously. It was a quicker step than they intended

North Victoria.

There is a rumour that Mr. McRae is going to protest the election of Mr. Smith, and have a scrutiny of ballots. It would be foolish. The result of the last two elections would indicate the folly of bringing on another contest in that Riding. The people must be almost tired of such play, may we say annoyance. The sooner the people of North Victoria where the contests are so close, give the matter up for a while, the better for themselves.

Port Hope

The Port Hope Guide says :—A petition will shortly be presented to the Town Council, praying that no more licenses be granted to hotel-keepers than those already in existence, and that saloon licenses be abolished. The petition has already received a large number of signatures.

The best houses situated on the Creek, Port Hope, were wilfully damaged on Sunday night. The offenders of this case must have been out after sundown.

Lakefield—Fire.

On Saturday night about 12 o'clock a fire broke out in the workshop of Mr. James Hendron, Blacksmith, of this place. The fire had gained too much headway to be controlled by any available means, the whole building and contents were totally consumed; among the contents were two buggies, two cutters, and a large qunantity of tools. It was with difficulty that the dwelling house, only a few feet distant, was saved being considerably scorched. Loss about $1,500, only a small amount of insurance.

Advertising Agency

The American Newspaper Advertising Agency of Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York, is the only establishment of the kind in the United States which keeps itself persistently before the people by advertising in newspapers. They evidently receive their reward, for we have it from a reliable source that advertising orders issued by them for their customers have exceeded three thousand dollars a day since the commencement of the year, and this is not a very good year for advertising either

The Nation.

It is said that Goldwin Smith has accepted the Editorial management of the Nation, the organ of the "Canada First" party. The party will be some time before occupying a place in the affections of Canadians. Its Editor will, therefore, meet with disappointment in his new sphere This generation, at least, must pass away before Canadians will think of setting up for themselves. Reformers do not desire it, and Conservatives dare not express themselves in favour of it, although Sir A. T. Galt, at one time, avowed himself in favor of it, he dare not now.

Two Old Residents Gone

On Sunday last, Mr. James Sedgwick, of Otonabee died at the residence of his son-in law, Mr. Richard Mowry, at the age of 78 years. He was a native of Ireland, had been in the British Army, and for his services drew a pension till his decease. His remains were conveyed to their last resting place, on Tuesday, followed by a large cortege of relatives and others. On Sunday, also, Mrs. Craigie, relict of the late John Craigie, died at her residence, Ashburnham, on the 81st year of her age She was one of the oldest residents of Ashburnham. Neither of those were ailing long, old age, therefore must have done its work in each case.

The Way They Do

On the Election day, in the East Riding of this County, a magistrate refused to administer the declaration of secrecy to an agent of the Ministerial Candidate, because it was after 9 a.m., when the agent applied to him. Between 4 and 5 p m., the said magistrate made the declaration before himself, so as to be present in counting the ballots for Dr. O'Sullivan Is it not convenient for some men to be magistrates. We venture to say that this is the first instance of the kind ever recorded, and it remained for a Liberal Conservative to discover that he could, to use a common phrase, swear himself. The Deputy Returning Officer should have refused him admittance as an agent until he made his declaration as required by law. Those conservatives are always doing little things

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Ioca, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J Ashford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electro Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 1st, renders great caution necessary not to confound Dr Wheelers Compound Elixir of PHOSPHATES and Calisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similarity in action or effect.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from its fancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and nomore harm can result from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner. 8t-tf

'THE LIBERAL.''

As already announced, the first issue of the LIBERAL, the new daily morning newspaper has appeared. The publishers have secured commodious premises at 67 Yonge Street, which are now fitted up with all the appliances of modern journalism. The LIBERAL will be first first issued as a 32 columns paper, but although of slightly smaller size than other metropolitan journals, will contain a larger proportionate quantity of news and general reading matter, and be enlarged as soon as advertising matter encroaches on the space.

The EDITORIAL CORPS of the LIBERAL embraces some of the ablest journalists in Canada, including Mr. C. Tyner, of the Hamilton Times. The staff has been organized with a view to efficiency, and the publishers have met with gratifying success in their efforts to secure the best talent in the profession for each department. The public may confidentially look for a newspaper which will aim to give promptly rather than quantity, and which will take an immediate position in the front rank of Canadian Journals.

During the coming session of Parliament at Ottawa, our Reports will be well condensed, readable, and thoroughly Impartial, Political friends and opponents will receive the same courtesy at the hands of our reporters.

In general TELEGRAPHIC NEWS, the LIBERAL will be second to no other journal.

LEGAL matters will have special attention. The services of a gentleman specially competent for the duty have been secured in this department, and the legal intelligence of the LIBERAL will form one of its distinguishing features.

The publishers promise to spare no pains nor expense to render their COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL departments thoroughly reliable.

Politically the publishers have no new departure to announce. While maintaining their attitude as outspoken and independent journalists they will be staunchly and progressively Liberal in their views and utterances, and continue to extend a cordial support to the Administrations respectively of Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Mowat.

In the style of Advertisements the LIBERAL will be distinctive. No cuts nor poster type will be admitted to its columns. All advertisements will be classified and set in plain Roman type similar in style to the leading English and American newspapers. It is believed that business men will not be slow to perceive that this plan is the only one which is fair and impartial to all, and which gives to none undue prominence at the expense of the rest.

even taking the common Christian prudence of having their lives insured. While they live all is well, but when they die their children are pitched into the street. I tell you no man has no right to die under such circumstances. Fraud and larceny, even his death. If a man has been industrious and economical, and has not a farthing to leave his children as he goes away from them, he has a right to put them in the hands of the Master of the Fatherless, and the Widow's God will care for; but if you have been extravagant in life, are lavish in your entertainment, and then depart this life leaving your children to be hooted at by paupers, you deserve to have your bones sold to the medical museum for anatomical specimens, the proceeds to go to buy your children bread. I know the subject cuts close. I expected that some of you in high dudgeon would get up and go out. You stand it pretty well. Some of you are and after a while will die, leaving your family beggars, and you will expect an attendance of the Gospel to come and stand by your coffin, and lie about your excellencies; but we will not do it. If you send for me, I will tell you what my text will be: "He that provideth not for his own, and especially for those of his own household, is worse than an infidel."

In this day, God has mercifully allowed those of us who have limited income to make provision for our families through the great life insurance companies all over the land. By some self-denial on our part, we can make this provision for those whom we shall leave behind us. Is there anything so helpless as a woman whose husband has just died, when, with her children at her back, she goes out in this day to fight for bread? Shall she become a servant in some one else's household? No; not the one that has been lying on your arm all these years, and filling the household with joy and light. Shall she sew for a living? God knows that they get but six cents and eight for making one garment. Ah no! you had better have your coffin made large enough to take them all with you into that land where they never freeze or starve. How a man with no surplus of estate, but still enough money to pay the premium on a life insurance policy, can refuse to do it, and then look his children in the face, and say his prayers at night on going to bed expecting them to be answered, is a mystery to me that I have never yet been able to fathom.

This extravagance is becoming more and more widespread. A statistician has estimated that there are in New York and Brooklyn four thousand five hundred women who expend annually two thousand dollars each in dress. It is no rare thing when the wedding march sounds to see dragging through the aisle a bridal dress that has cost its thousand or fifteen hundred dollars. Things have come to such a pass that when we cry over sin with a handkerchief fifty dollar pocket-handkerchief. The tendency to extravagance was illustrated wonderfully when the late James Fisk, jun., sent the bridal presents to the home of William M. Tweed, a gentleman now occupying apartments at government expense. Fisk sent an iceberg of frosted silver, polar bears of silver living down on the handles, polar bears of silver walking over the gold spoons. There were in the house that day forty silver sets of imperial magnificence. There was a diamond set that cost forty-five thousand dollars. There was one dress that had in it thirty-seven yards of silk, with three hundred and eighty-two bows. Hundreds of thousands of dollars expended on that scene. The reason we have not a multitude of scenes as extravagant is because we have not so much money.

The wicked extravagance shows itself no more forcibly than on the funeral day. No one else seems willing to speak of it, I shall speak of it. There has been many a man who has died solvent, but has been insolvent before he got under the ground. One would think that the two debts most feared would be debts to the physician and the undertaker, since they are the last two debts contracted; and yet those two professions are swindled more frequently than any other. In the agitation and excitement the friends come, and they want extraordinary attention, and they want extraordinary expenditure, and then, when the sad scene is past, neglect to make compensation. What are those two professions to do under such circumstances? If a merchant sells, and they are not paid for, I understand he can reclaim the goods; but if a man departs this life and, though his friends, indebtedness is contracted, that is not met, there seems to be no relief, for the patient has gone off with the doctor's pills and the undertaker's white slippers. Greenwood and Laurel Hill and Mount Auburn hold to-day thousands of such swindles.

A man dies in our neighboring city of New York. He has lived a fictitious life, moved amidst splendor, and dies leaving his family not a dollar. In they, poor things! must keep up the same magnificence, and so

THEY RESOLVE UPON A GREAT FUNERAL.

The obsequies shall be splendid! I give you the actual of a man in uptown New York life, the facts authenticated, and in my market. The undertaker was not to blame; he only sold them what they asked for. The only blame was for those who bought, when they knew they could not pay.

Casket, covered with Lyons velvet silver mould: [illegible] $250
Heavy plated Handles 60
Solid silver plate, engraved in Roman letters 75
Two arm wreaths 120
Floral decorations 25
Music and quartet choir at the house 60
Twenty carriages, riding to the cemetery 100
Then fifteen other important expenditures, [illegible] ..... [illegible]

All the expenditures, added up, being $1,200

for getting one poor morsel to his last home! Perhaps it would have been all well if they had been able to meet the expenditure, but when it was known they could not, it was a villany. There are families that you know who, in the effort to meet the ridiculous outrageous, and wicked customs of society have gone to ologuies, have actually reduced themselves to penury. They put their last dollar in the ground. They wanted bread, and you gave them a stone.

There is in England what they call a funeral reform. It is high time we had such a reform society in our own country.

This wide-spread extravagance accounts, also, for poverty of religious institutions. Men pay so much for show they have nothing for God and religion. We pay in this country twenty-two millions of dollars for the great benevolent societies; but what are twenty-two millions of dollars compared with the ninety-five millions for cigars and tobacco, and the one thousand four hundred and eighty three millions for drink! How do you like the comparison! Great lavishment for the world; great niggardliness for God.

My friends, let us set ourselves in battle array against this God-defying extravagance. Buy not those things which are frivolous, when you may after a while be in lack of the necessities; Buy not books you will never read, nor pictures you will never study. Put not a whole month's wages into one trinket.

KEEP YOUR CREDIT GOOD

by seldom or never asking for any. Pay. Starve not a whole year so as to be able to attend one Belshazzar carnival. Do not buy a foolish paint color, and then in six months cover all the climax. Do not pay so much for a muffle for the neck, and the shoulders are bared. Flourish not, a cane that costs an elegant cudele, with drawing in appearance, and then vanish in the night, after having your compliment returned.

In the great day of fire, we will have to give an account of all the [illegible] we made [illegible] out for time or eternity. Into eternity, where no more suffering, nor crime, nor death [illegible] and may we [illegible] us, let us spend no waste. Men and women of God, I am upon you to set a Christian example. Remember that soon you will have to leave your wardrobe and equipage. I do not want you to feel on that day like the dying Cleopatra, who entered in her casket of jewels, and then with her pale, dying hand pulled them over, and said: "Alas! that I must give you up so soon. In that day, better have one treasure in heaven, just one, than to have had the bridal trousseau of a Queen Maria Louisa, or to have sat with Caligula at a banquet wasting out hundred thousand dollars, or to have been carried out in a pageant with senators and princes for pall-bearers. They who come to God their time, their talents, and their all, shall be held in everlasting remembrance, while the name of the wicked shall rot.

WE SHALL SEE HIM AS HE IS.

BY MARYANNE FARNINGHAM

We shall see Him as He is!
Sweeter promise in these words
Than ages can ne'er efface,
Tho' the heart finds in them no rest
Though we walk in darkness here,
With the fogs about our face,
All the more will it appear
When we gain our resting place.

We shall see Him as He is!
And Himself will be the light
In the home of perfect bliss.
Where the day shall have no night,
The clear shining of our sun
Will make summer ever more,
When the journey's end is won,
And the stormy days are o'er.

We shall see Him as He is!
Who shall say what it will be
Thus to know what Jesus is,
And His glorious face to see!
We shall stand in glad amaze
At His beauty and His grace,
Finding it is heaven to gaze,
As we will, at Jesus' face.

We shall see Him as He is,
And be like Him! Who can tell
What the sinless's purpose is,
For the friends He loveth well?
We but know as we are known,
When he meets us on the way
To our places by His throne.

We shall see Him as He is.
Shall we all be there at last?
It would grieve our hearts to miss
Dear ones, when this life is past.
O, that all may hear the voice,
And regain the heavenly bliss,
That shall make their hearts rejoice,
Who shall see Him as He is.

—London Christian World.

One of the Sorrows of Life.

Many a volume has been written about the love of parents, the love of mothers, its entire terms of hope and fancy, its aberrations of the heavenly, its agony for the lost; but I do remember that any one has ventured to touch on a still more terrible view of the subject, the disappointment, the example, with which such a woman as I have attempted to set before the reader—a woman full of high aspirations, noble generosity, and, perhaps, an unwarrantable personal pride, all intensified by the homely circumstances of life around her—sometimes to keep up the absurdly commonplace people upon whom she has brought into the world. She, too, has had her dreams about them while they were children, and all things seemed possible—while they were young, with soft young grace and freshness of the morning veiling their unknown future. But a woman of seventy can contain no final delusions about her middle aged sons and daughters, who are, to all intents and purposes, as old as she is. What a dismal scene of failure must come through a woman's heart when she look at them! Perhaps this is one reason why grandfathers and grandmothers throw themselves so eagerly into the new generation, by means of which, human nature can go on deceiving itself. Heaven! What a difference between the ordinary man or woman of fifty and the ideal creature which he or she appeared to the fond mother's eyes at fifteen! The old people gaze and gaze to see our old features in us; and who can express the blank of that disappointment, the cruel mortification of those old hopes which never find expression in any words?—Mrs. Oliphant.

According to a Paris letter hundreds of American mothers are there, seeking united Frenchmen for their daughters. The old ladies doubtless think that if they must add a fool or two to their families they may as well have the blue-blood kind.

Oppression after eating, headache, nervous debility, are the effects of indigestion. One, or two at most, of Parson's Purgative Pills will give immediate relief.

Life will seem brighter, says an American paper, when it is generally known that the Czar of all the Russians picks his teeth with a jack-knife, and is at out to go crazy like the rest of us.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment may be administered to children with perfect success, in cases of croup, whooping cough, influenza, and almost any of the diseases to which they are liable.

An Irishman bet $10 that he could ride the fly-wheel in a saw mill, and as one widow paid the bet she remarked: "William was a kind husband, but he didn't know much about flywheels."

The most unhappy person in the world is the Dyspeptic. Everything looks dark and gloomy; he feels "out of sorts" with himself and everybody else. Life is a burden to him. This can all be changed by taking Peruvian Syrup, a protoxyde of Iron. Cases of 27 years' standing have been cured by it.

Dear Sir—We have much pleasure in informing you of a large demand for your Cough and Lung Syrup and Hypophosphites, and we hear excellent accounts from those who use it. Some of our physicians who are acquainted with its valuable properties consider it a most reliable medicine, and is in fact becoming a popular one in this part of the Dominion as well as in your people. Wishing you every success, we are yours very respectfully, A. CHRISTIE & CO., Chemists.

Scientific Items.—A writer in Punch says: "When a carbuncle that here is never a sure cob on a black cat. The whole here we idiot out in the farm, and the jet black flew was unmixed ink." Whether this is correct or not, we cannot predict to say; but this we do believe, that the best medicine for removing pain from the system is the Canadian Pain Destroyer. In cases of rheumatism, sprains, bruises or severe cold- and summer complaints, it stands unequalled. For Sale by all druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Very Natural.—When a person has proved an article and found it good, and answering the purpose for which it is intended, he will not readily abandon it for one of doubtful reputation, or concerning which he knows nothing. We are led to make these remarks having seen the Awards awarded to those who have used that celebrated and valuable home-remedy known as Dalley's Canadian Pain Destroyer and Arabian Heave Remedy." All are so well pleased with that they will use no other; many have been induced to do so until the agent could obtain a new supply. There is nothing equal to it as a domestic medicine, or for any complaint affecting the stock of horses. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Henry & Co. is on each package. [illegible] PECULIAR VALUE OF VINEGAR BITTERS IN THE MOST WONDERFUL INVIGORANT that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and confidently spoken of as this remedy. Throughout long years of pulmonary complaints, it has relieved the greatest number of cases, and among those in the ranks of mankind, it has accomplished more than any other remedy. Those who have tried it, know that it does what is claimed for it, and they are not afraid to recommend it to their friends. Such a medicine is a boon to suffering humanity, and we are proud to be able to present to the public one which we know will do all that is claimed for it. Whenever a cure can be effected by any medicine, this will do it. Where the best medicines fail, this will often give relief. Even when other medicines do not seem to aggravate the disease, this will frequently do so, and for the reason that it is making its way to the disease, and is producing the desired effect. Many cases of apparently confirmed Consumption have been cured by this medicine, when all other remedies had failed. Where the lungs are not entirely destroyed, and there is a remnant of vitality left, this remedy will restore health and vigor. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical Chemists, LOWELL, MASS. Sold by all Druggists everywhere.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, Remittent Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

Ayer's Ague Cure has been made to meet these cases, and does not fail. Containing neither Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc nor any other mineral substance, we know it is purely vegetable. The number of cures it has effected in the ague districts, are legion. Its early use will prevent the development of the system in the fatal form of Ague cachexia. Our people have been so long poisoned with the various quinine nostrums, that they have lost the tone of their stomachs, and the use of this antidote for quinine will be productive of the best results. Ayer's Ague Cure is not a quinine remedy, but one which will restore the digestive organs to healthy action, and thus expel disease from the system. Those who have been long afflicted with Fever and Ague Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the liver, and giving tone to the digestive organs. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical Chemists, LOWELL, MASS. Sold by all Druggists everywhere.

GENTLEMEN:—It is now some four years since addressed you through the columns of this paper, and I now adopt the same method; and as there has been many changes since that time both political and otherwise, and as most of you are aware that I sold out my business in Norwood to Mr. Ackerman two months ago, and my agreement with him prevents me from starting in the Village or Township; therefore I must return you my most sincere thanks for the liberal support you have accorded to me for these last 12 years. And at the same time I beg to inform you that having erected a Large and Commodious

I also propose setting apart one day in the week, viz. Saturday, when all small jobbing will be done free of charge.
I hope to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to patronize me, feeling assured that they will save money by travelling a mile further, as I intend to undersell all in the trade.

Select Poetry.

THE WORLD IS WHAT WE MAKE IT.

I've seen some people in this life
Who always are repining,
Who never, never yet could see
The cloud—aloud's silver lining.
There always something is amiss,
From sunrise to its setting;
Their God had made their map of life,
They mean the while forgetting.

And I have seen a blessed sight
To the beholder vision,
Some people who, wherever they be,
Make earth seem as Heaven,
They change into the brightest skies—
The direst shadows never—
And keep the flower of hope in bloom
Within their hearts forever.

The sun can make the roughest day
Seem wondrous and and dreary;
The other makes the clouds away,
And makes a dark day cheery.
This life of ours is, after all,
About as we shall make it.
If we can banish grief and care,
Let's haste to undertake it.

THE AMNESTY QUESTION.

IMPORTANT CORRESPONDENCE.

The Governor-General to the Earl of Carnarvon.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA, 10th December, 1874.

MY LORD,—I have the honour of forwarding to your Lordship a very important Order in Council which my Ministers have desired me to transmit, with the request that your Lordship will be pleased to give it your most earnest consideration.

2. The purport of the document is to move your Lordships and the Imperial Government to undertake the settlement of what is known here as the Amnesty question.

3. The reasons for which my Ministers are desirous of seeking your Lordships assistance are founded in the fact of the circumstances out of which the Amnesty question has grown having occurred at a time anterior to the assumption by Canada of the Government of the North-West. They are further impelled to adopt this course by the obvious embarrassments attending the settlement of a controversy whose aspects are alleged to have been already modified by the intervention of Imperial authority, and which are so seriously complicated by the vehement international antagonism which they have excited in this country. Under these circumstances my advisers are of opinion that a dispassionate review of the whole question emanating from an Imperial source, as Her Majesty's Government would tend more to tranquilize the public mind and secure a loyal acquiescence in whatever decision may be arrived at than would be the case were they themselves to undertake the settlement of the dispute.

4. Your Lordships are so well acquainted with the history of the troubles which was occasioned by the somewhat precipitate attempt made in the year 1869, to incorporate the present Province of Manitoba with the Dominion before the proposed union had been explained to its inhabitants, that I need not do more than recapitulate the special incidents which directly bear upon the subject under consideration. It will be sufficient to remind your Lordship that on the news of these disturbances reaching Ottawa, emissaries were despatched to Fort Garry in the persons of the Vicar-General Thibault, Col. de Salaberry, and Mr. Donald Smith, with the view of quelling the agitation which had arisen, and of giving ample assurances to those whom it might concern that both the Imperial and the Canadian Governments were anxious to secure to the people of the North-west every right, privilege and immunity to which they might be entitled. Each of these personages was furnished with copies of a proclamation drawn up under the Instructions of the Imperial Government by Lord Lisgar, couched in the most conciliatory language, concluding with the following paragraph:

"And I do lastly inform you that in case of your immediate and peaceable obedience and dispersion, I shall order that no legal proceedings be taken against any parties implicated in these unfortunate branches of the law."

5. At the time this instrument was placed in the hands of these gentlemen no blood had been shed nor any very heinous crime committed, but on arriving at their destination their papers were seized by the insurgents, and they were precluded on this or on some other account from issuing the proclamation in question. There can be little doubt, however, that its purport must have been known to Riel and his partizans, before the murder of Scott—an event which took place some time after these gentlemen had arrived at Fort Garry.

6. Subsequently, by an invitation of the Canadian Government conveyed to him when at Rome, through Mr. Langevin, the Minister of Public Works, Archbishop Taché returned to Canada with the view of placing his services at the disposal of the Dominion Government. On his arrival at Ottawa he was provided with another copy of the Governor-General's proclamation, as well as with an official letter of instructions from the Secretary of State, Mr. Howe, of which I subjoin a copy:

"Ottawa, 16th February 1870.

The Very Rev. the Bishop of St. Boniface.

My Lord,—I am commanded by His Excellency the Governor-General to acknowledge and thank you for the promptitude with which you placed your services at the disposal of this Government, and undertook a voyage and journey that you might by your presence and influence aid in the repression of the unlawful by disturbances which had broken out in the North West. I have the honour to enclose for your information:—(1) Copy of the Instructions given to the Hon. Wm. McDougall on the 30th September last. (2.) Copy of a further letter of instructions addressed to Mr. McDougall on the 7th November. (3.) Copy of a letter of instructions to the Very Reverend Vicar-General Thibault on the 6th of December. (4.) Copy of a proclamation issued by His Excellency the Governor-General, addressed to the inhabitants of the North West Territories; by the express desire of the Queen. (5.) Copy of a letter addressed to the Secretary of State by Donald A. Smith, Esq., of Montreal, on the 24th of November. (6.) Copy of a letter of instructions addressed by me to Mr. Smith on 10th December last. (7.) A semi-official letter addressed by the Minister of Justice, on the 3rd January, 1870, to Mr. Smith; also, (8.) Copy of the commission issued to Mr. Smith on the 17th of Jan. 1870. Copies of the proclamation issued Mr. McDougall at or near Pembina, and of the commission issued to Col. Dennis having been printed in the Canadian papers and widely circulated at the Red River are, it is assumed, quite within your reach, and are not furnished, but it is important that you should know that the proceedings by which the lives and properties of the people of Rupert's Land were jeopardized for a time, were at once disavowed and condemned by the Government of this Dominion, as you will readily discover in the despatch addressed by me to Mr. McDougall, on the 24th of December, a copy of which is enclosed. Your Lordship will perceive in these papers the policy which it is and is the desire of the Canadian Government to establish in the North West. The people of Canada have no interest in the erection of institutions in Rupert's Land which public opinion condemns, nor would they wish to see a fine race of people trained to discontent and insubordination by the pressure of an unwise system of government, to which British subjects are unaccustomed or averse. They look hopefully forward to the period when institutions, moulded upon those which the other Provinces enjoy may be established, and in the meantime would deeply regret if the civil and religious liberties of the whole population were not adequately protected by such temporary arrangements as it may be prudent at present to make. A convention has been called, and is now sitting at Fort Garry, to collect the views of the people as to the powers which they may consider it wise for Parliament to confer and the Local Legislature to assume. When the proceedings of that Conference have been received by the Privy Council you may expect to hear from me again, and in the meantime, should they be communicated to you on the way, His Excellency will be glad to be favoured with any observations that you may have leisure to make. You are aware that the very Reverend the Vicar-General Thibault, and Messrs. Donald A. Smith and Charles De Salaberry, are already in Rupert's Land, charged with a commission from the Government. Enclosed are letters to those gentlemen, of which you will oblige me by taking charge; and I am commanded to express the desire of His Excellency that you will co-operate with them in their well-directed efforts to secure a peaceful solution of the difficulties in the North-West territories, which have caused His Excellency much anxiety, but which, by your joint endeavour, it is hoped may be speedily removed.

"I have, &c.,
"JOSEPH HOWE."

7.—At the same time His Lordship also received a letter from Lord Lisgar to the following effect:—

"Ottawa, Geb. 16th, 1870.

"My Dear Lord Bishop,—

"I am anxious to express to you, before you set out, the deep sense of obligation which I feel is due to you for giving up your residence at Rome, leaving the great and interesting affairs in which you were engaged there, and undertaking at this inclement season the long voyage across the Atlantic, and a long journey across this continent for the purpose of rendering service to Her Majesty's Government, and engaging in a mission in the cause of peace and civilization. Lord Granville was anxious to avail himself of your valuable assistance from the outset, and I am heartly glad that you have proved willing to afford it so promptly and generously. You are full in possession of the views of my Government and the Imperial Government, as I informed you, anxiously desires to see the North-west territory united to the Dominion on equitable conditions. I need not attempt to furnish you with any instructions for your guidance, beyond those contained in the telegraphic message sent me by Lord Granville on the part of the British Cabinet, in the proclamation which I drew up in accordance with that message, and in the letters which I addressed to Governor McCavish, your Vicar-General, and Mr. Smith. In this last letter I wrote, 'All who have complaints to make or wishes to express are to address themselves to me as Her Majesty's representative;' and you may state with the utmost confidence that the Imperial Government has no intention of acting otherwise or permitting others to act otherwise than in perfect good faith towards the inhabitants of the Red River district and of the North-west. The people may rely that respect and attention will be extended to the different religious denominations; that the title to every description of property will be carefully guarded and that all the franchises which have subsisted, or which the people may prove themselves qualified to exercise, shall be duly continued or liberally conferred.

In declaring the desire and determination of Her Majesty's Cabinet, you may safely use the terms of the ancient formula, that right should be done in all cases. I wish you, my dear Lord Bishop, a safe journey and success in your benevolent mission.

"Believe me, with all respect,
"Faithfully yours, (Signed), "JOHN YOUNG.

"To this was added a private letter from Sir John Macdonald, which will be found at page 19 of the Canadian Blue Book, and which proceeds in conclusion, contained the following paragraph:—

"Should the question arise as to the compensation of any claims or goods belonging to the Hudson Bay Company by the insurgents, you are authorized to inform the leaders that if the Company's government is restored not only will there be a general amnesty granted but in case the Company should claim any payment for such claims, that the Canadian Government will stand between the insurgents and all harm."

8. At the time these communications were made to Archbishop Taché no news had arrived of Riel's proceedings in regard to ... In the meantime a commission of Forty of the representative inhabitants of the North west had been organized for the purpose of hearing what Messrs Donald Smith, Thibault, and De Salabery had been commissioned to say on behalf of the Canadian Government; and in consequence of the representations made by Mr. Smith, the Convention determined to select and send to Ottawa three delegates for the purpose of communicating the demands of the people in the North west to the Dominion authorities, and offering a settlement of the terms upon which they were to enter Confederation. After this business was concluded the Convention proceeded to the erection of the so-called Provisional Government, of which Riel was named the President. These occurrences took place on the 10th of February.

9. On the 4th March Scott was shot.

10. On the 9th March Archbishop Taché arrived at Red River and in a letter of June 9th 1870, he informed the Secretary of State, Mr. Howe, that he had promised in the name of the Imperial and Provincial Governments both to the insurgents generally and to Riel and Lepine in particular a full amnesty for every breach of the law of which they had been guilty including the murder of Scott. On receipt of this communication Mr. Howe replied to Archbishop Taché in the following terms:—

OTTAWA, July 4, 1870.

MY LORD,—Your letter of the 9th June, which reached me yesterday, has been laid before the Privy Council and has received their consideration.

"Your lordship states that personally you felt no hesitation in giving, in the name of the Canadian Government, an assurance of a complete amnesty. Your lordship has no doubt read the debate and explanations which took place in Parliament during the discussion of the Manitoba Bill. The question of amnesty was brought forward, and the answers and explanations given by the Ministers in the House of Commons were that the Canadian Government had no power to grant an amnesty, and that the exercise of he perogative of mercy rested solely with Her Majesty the Queen. The Rev. Father Richot and Mr. Scott must on their arrival have informed your Lordship that in the repeated interviews which they had with Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir George E. Cartier they were distinctly informed that the Government of the Dominion had no power as a Government to grant an amnesty, and I would add that this Government is not in position to interfere with the free action of her Majesty in the exercise of the Royal clemency. Her Majesty's Imperial Ministers can alone advise the Queen on such an important matter, when called upon to do so. No doubt can be entertained that Her Majesty, advised by her Ministers, will, on a calm review of all the circumstances, discharge the duty of this high responsibility in a temperate and judicial spirit. The foregoing explanations are given to your Lordship in order that it may be well understood that the responsibility of the assurance given by your Lordship of a complete amnesty cannot in any way attach itself to the Canadian Government. The conversations to which your Lordship alludes as having taken place between your Lordship and some members of Canadian Cabinet when your Lordship was in Ottawa about the middle of February last, must necessarily have taken place with reference to the proclamation issued by His Excellency the Governor-General on the 6th of December last, by command of Her Majesty, in which His Excellency announced that in case of their immediate and peaceable dispersion he would order that no legal proceedings be taken against any parties implicated in these unfortunate breaches of the law at Red River. Though I have felt it my duty to be thus explicit in dealing with the principal subject of your letter, I trust I need not assure you that your zealous and valuable exertions to calm the public mind in the North-west are duly appreciated here, and I am confident that when you regard the obstructions which have been interposed to the adoption of a liberal and enlightened policy for Manitoba, you will not be disposed to relax your exertions until that policy is formally established.

"I have, &c.,
("Signed), "JOSEPH HOWE."
"To Right Reverend the Bishop of St. Boniface, Red River."

11. Such are the circumstances out of which has arisen the "Amnesty Question," a controversy which, for these last three years, has agitated the Dominion and embarrassed its successive Governments, Archbishop Taché contending that both the Imperial and Colonial Governments were bound by the promise of immunity he gave to Riel and his associates, while the late Governor-General, Her Majesty's Government, and the present and late Canadian Administrations have declined to recognize the force of any such obligation.

12. Last session at the instance of those who may be supposed to conciliate with the Bishop's view of the case, a Select Committee of the House of Commons was appointed to inquire into the causes which retarded the granting of the amnesty announced in the proclamation of the Governor-General of Canada, and also whether and to what extent other promises of amnesty have ever been made. A copy of the evidence taken by the Committee, together with their report, I transmit by this mail. Although these documents supply the best material's for the elucidation of the two points above referred to, it may be convenient that I should subjoin a short summary of the merits of the case as it presents itself to my understanding, though ... pre-disposing to exhaust the arguments on their side.

13. A full and complete amnesty to Riel and the authors of Scott's death appears to be claimed on five several grounds:—

(1). Archbishop Taché as envoy to the plot that were to find its consummation in the Provisional Government of Manitoba, was empowered both by the Imperial and the Dominion Governments to convey the assurance of amnesty to the lives of the insurgents, and without the acceptance of the former, here all may stand themselves of the use of an article which has done more than anything else hitherto known to suppress the ambition and relieve the sufferings of the insane. There will not see it will be the issues, and their friends the sufferers; to

THE AMNESTY.

The great event of the first week of the session at Ottawa was the discussion of Mr. McKenzie's resolution for an amnesty to those engaged in the Northwest troubles. The resolutions refer to the whole history of the rising of the half-breeds and the part the government of Sir John A. Macdonald played in the affai. The evidence of Bishop Tache before the committee appointed to investigate the matter went to prove that Sir John's Govern ment did promise "to make the case their own" before the British Government and secure an amnesty for all concerned. Lieutenant Governor Archibald having accepted the assistance of Riel and his associates to repel the Fenians, it is held, was an evidence of acceptance of Riel and Lepine and other leaders, and induced Earl Carnarvon to advise an amnesty on certain terms. John A. Macdonald also gave $1000 to get Riel out of the way, and Lieutenant Governor Archibald, at the request of the Ottawa Government es pecially of Sir John and Sir Geo. Cartier, got £800 stirling towards maintaining their families in their absence. Sir John has admitted all of this, but says he did it in the interest of the Dominion and for the best.

An amendment was moved by a French member, to make the amnesty complete. McKenzie Bowell urged that Riel and Lepine be not included in the resolutions. Sir John, however, shirking the vote on the amendment, returned just in time to vote against the resolution. He dare not vote against a conditional amnesty for fear of his Lower Canadian followers, and he dare not vote for a complete amnesty for fear of his Ontario followers, and to take a middle and wiser course would be so fall in with the Government resolutions. He lacked the moral courage to take a straightforward course, and the result was he was left to vote with the minority. The vote stood, for the Government resolutions 126 ; against them 50. This vexed question is now settled. Every province of the Dominion, except Manitoba, giving a majority in favor of a conditional amnesty. Ontario, majority for the resolution, 60 ; Quebec, 37 ; New Brunswick. 8 ; Nova Scotia, 14 ; Prince Edward Island, 4 ; British Columbia. 3. The minority thus :—Ontario, 22 ; Quebec, 21 ; Nova Scotia, 1 ; New Brunswick. 3 ; Manitoba 1 ; British Columbia, 2

The punishment of Riel and Lepine for the murder of Scott is light compared with the crime, but the members believed it better for the country to settle the matter now and put an end to the agitation that has existed so long. They also looked upon the Government as pledged to an amnesty, and met the difficulty by granting one that would prevent Riel taking his seat in the house for five years at least, and by that time the prejudices of the people will be overcome by lapse of time. It is also a compromise of opposing opinions originating largely from the inertness of Sir John in dealing with the matter while in power.

In Ontario many will be ready to say the punishment is too light, while in Quebec the majority will accept it merely to settle the agitation, but think it too severe. If it puts an end to the North West troubles, it will be accepted as a boon to the country.

The strength of the Government was tested on the resolutions, and the amendments and the divisions show that Mr. McKenzie is strony in the confidence of the House. His straightforward course commands the respect of all, although it may not meet the approbation of every member. Let us trust that he will so conduct the affairs of the Dominion as to secure the peace and contentment of the people, and with a view to economy and useful Legislation.

RELIGIOUS DISCUSSIONS.

Few of those now living will remember so much uneasiness in religious communities as prevails at present. The Ritualistic tendencies of some of the clergy of the Episcopal Church, have stirred up the laity to prevent, what they term Romeward tendencies of the clergy. This question is dividing them into parties which assume names to distinguish each from the other. This Ritualism in the United States has divided the church and Bishop Cummins has already extended his work to Canada. The church association of Toronto has attacked the teaching of their own University and forced the professors to defend themselves and declare their doctrines and teachings. Contrary, too, to past usage, the Bishop of Toronto, to prevent division had to appoint an Evangelical minister to a Toronto Church : and still the strife continues.

The Roman Catholic Bishop, too, has been induced to defend the teachings of his church and to explain to his flock, perhaps, rather, to the Protestant community, the way in which they hold and defend their dogmas, or doctrines. All these signs of the times point to the anxious enquiries of the people after doctrines at least, if not after truth.

The end of these things is not yet. The very necessity for the defence of certain teachings, or for the denunciation of forms of godliness without the power indicates an uneasiness in the public mind that may not settle into inactivity until it has overthrown some of those forms or demolished the phantasies of imaginations that are at work to supply the place of vital religions faith.

Among Presbyterians there is a closer coming together or union, that seems to indicate a determination to act in concert in extending those principles held almost in common by them before the union. Union is said to be strength, but it is only so when directed in a right channel, and will only produce strength by avoiding the causes of divisions that are at work in other associations.

The Methodist denomination also is uniting and extending their influence. Are division and contentions not ominous of baneful results.

Notwithstanding the religious chasm that divides Roman Catholics and Protestants, there is not that strong difference between them that existed in the past. While quarreling over their religious dogmas, they are not widely apart in political questions. Conservatives and Reformers are wooing the hand of those whose doctrines they condemn, and whose influence they cannot but deplore, if they are sincere in their own teachings. And, notwithstanding the strong language used to prove the unscrupulousness of their tenets, they are both willing to offer the right hand of fellowship to them to secure their votes. This may not indicate any thing serious in worldly matters, but it should be a lesson to Roman Catholics to accept this as an opportune period in Canadian history to have all past grievances remedied, and all questions of dispute settled. We do not wish to be considered as advising this course, but it does seem to us as a fit time for them to put forth their claims with the strongest hopes of succeeding.

The leading dailies are devoting one day in seven and a little more to religious matters. Let us hope that it is true religion that induces them to report the sermons of every leading preacher in the city churches from time to time. If it be not religion it is at least a desire to supply their readers with a knowledge of what is going on in the religious world. All this indicates a religious activity that must bring about, perhaps a revolution, in places where least dreamed of or expected, and should serve as a lesson to all to be on the alert, lest in the din about trifles, ruffles, church linen, dogmas and union, the chief principles may be lost sight of, and men contend about the decorations of the temple, rather than provide the sacrifices of the altar.

JOYOUS TOO SOON.

On Saturday, a rumour was circulated in town, that the McKenzie Government was defeated on the Amnesty resolutions, and great were the rejoicings in the Liberal Conservative ranks. It was said that John A. Macdonald had taken the "wind out of McKenzie's sail by proposing "a complete and unconditional amnesty," and this carried the house. The greatest joy was pictured in Conservative faces, and found expression in words of flattery of Sir John's tactics.—Not a word about inconsistency was heard, "a complete and unconditional amnesty" was the master stroke of Sir John, which carried the French members, and routed McKenzie.

They were ready to grant an amnesty of any kind and defend it, if they could but gain the Treasury benches, and obtain another $10,000 more, would it be the last time of asking ? Doomed to disappointment, however the daily papers brought the news of an immense majority in favor of Mr. McKenzie.

WHAT A CHANGE

followed ; even a partial amnesty, or any conditions short of execution for Riel and Lepine, is condemned, because proposed by the grits. Anything proposed by Mr McKenzie is unconstitutional, but no matter what Sir John proposes is right. Those men who cry execute them, execute them, are ready to condone and defend the murder, if Sir John but nod his head For our own part, we are not inclined to applaud or condemn the resolutions The punishment is light, and the chances of Riel yet sitting in Parliament are foreshadowed by the action of the half breeds. This should have been provided against, in our opinion. But the course pursued by the late government in promising bishop Tache, or leading him to believe an amnesty would be granted, appears to have been sufficient to induce Earl Dufferin to grant a conditional amnesty, and about this we are not disposed to quarrel. It is better to have the matter disposed of as it is, than to be disputing over it for years. Perhaps, too, this was the only thing that could be carried in the present temper of the House.

ANAHEIM, LOS ANGLIS CO. CALIFORNIA.

DEAR EXAMINER,—At the time I last wrote to you we had a fine rain, and grasses and grain started to grow nicely. However, it did not continue to grow for any length of time, all through the month of December, we had heavy frosts, ice forming almost every night in the month, the days were usually hot, clouds often threatened rain, but no rain came, the vegetation began to wither and fade for lack of moisture and from the effects of the frost. We were all at least as disdhoppers beginning to imagine we were going to have no rain and really I can only convey to you a faint impression of the meaning of that word rain in this country. In fact to us i means everything, the sheep men too had started to drive their sheep for pasture, and most of them not knowing where, although about the first January the frost ceased, yet the days were raw and cold always seeming likely to rain, turning out always a Californian cheat. The frost did a good deal of damage especially to some kinds of trees. The Mexican lime suffered much, being frozen to the ground in many places This tree may more properly be called a shrub, does not grow tall, and young ones not over two feet high suffered badly, especially as they were sending out new and tender leaves. We had ten rendered almost useless, two escaped without much damage. Orange and Lemon trees escaped although in the same field; but they were taller and more hardy, I have heard of some nurserymen in the City of Los Angeles who have lost many lime trees by the frost of December.

On the 16th January the face of nature suddenly changed, commencing raining about 7 p.m. on Saturday. It continued with little intermissions till the 18th, about 1 a.m. it quit, there had then fallen eight inches of rain, and again on the 14th we had another fall of 4 inches, so that now in place of being bowed down in despair, every countenance beams with joy. There is now going on here one of these complicated land suits for which this country is most famous, I may as well give you a short sketch of it, many years ago an American by the name of Searns settled in Los Angeles, and being of a shrewd mind obtained possession of much land in this vicinity. A few years before he died he sold out much of this land to a company for the purpose of being subdivided into farm lots and sold to settlers, the tract in question containing some sixty thousand acres, was one of these. Last year some people took it into their heads to settle on this land, declaring it to be Government Land. The Company brought suit against them, now numbering about 100 settlers, to dispossess them. The first case came up for hearing, and the company postponed it. Some few days before the court came on again, the settlers' lawyer deserted them making some flimsey excuse, The settlers' when the case came into court applied and obtained an extension of time for one week until other counsel could be had. at finally came up for trial, and the settlers won the case, and now their numbers are fast increasing, the company, no doubt, will try it again, and it may be long before the matter is settled. The settlers' claim that no patent for the land has been issued by the Government, that the deed held by the company is a fraud, should it turn out to be public land there will be a great rush of settlers come in, especially when it will be sold under the United States Land Law, at about $1.25 per acre. The Company now ask from fifteen to twenty dollars per acre for the same land, but on this subject I will write again as the case goes farther, we are all busy seeding since the rain, in good hopes of a bountiful harvest. Since the advent of 1875, I have great pleasure in meeting an old acquaintance, Mr. J E Edwards from Puget Sound, son of your respected townsman, J. Edwards, Esq., he had some thought of starting a lumber yard at this place He was much taken with our fair climate, and on leaving promised to write me again, he was, I am sorry to say, too late, another party had the ground occupied here, yet I hope he may locate some where near by the railroad is now running to this place and probably before this year is out, rail communication with San Francisco will also be a fact, a gap now of about 100 miles has only to be filled up. After the rain fall we had no train or mails for about one week, and then irregular, several numbers of the paper are behind, and from this cause I delayed writing until the mails were again open. At the time the rain fell here there was a very heavy snow storm on the mountains, they appear quite wintry looking in the distance.

Yours, truly.

J. HUNTER.

THE AMNESTY QUESTION.

OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE

blue book)—first, as regards the Imperial Government, on Lord Lisgar's letter and penultimatum ; and secondly, as regards the Local Government, on the paragraph I have already quoted in Sir John Macdonald's communication of the 15th July, 1870. I confess I do not think that his Lordship's argument can be sustained. In the first place, the Archbishop's claim to such extensive powers is certainly invalid. The nature of his position is clearly defined in Mr. Howe's official despatch of the 16th February, 1870. The instructions already conveyed to Messrs. Thibault, De Salaberry, and Smith are communicated to him as additional guides for his conduct, and he is further invited to associate himself and to act conjointly with these persons. There are therefore no grounds for regarding the mission or powers of the Bishop as differing in character or extent from those entrusted to the gentlemen who had preceded him, and there is certainly no intimation in his instructions that he was authorized to promulgate a pardon in the Queen's name for a capital felony. Still less can it be considered that he was empowered to engage on his own mere motion a principal term from a royal proclamation. Mr. Smith and his colleagues had been already furnished with Lord Lisgar's proclamations, but so far from considering that document as conveying a warrant of immunity to Riel Mr. Smith expressly states that after the murder of Scott he refused to speak with him. On a reference, moreover, to the wording of the only sentence to Lord Lisgar's proclamation which professes grace to the insurgents, it becomes self evident that it had in contemplation those minor political offences of which news had reached the ears of the Government when the document was framed.

14. That this was its intention, becomes even more apparent when we read the sentence in Sir John Macdonald's letter, to which the Bishop next appeals. In that communication Sir John Macdonald says :—"Should the question arise as to the consumption of any stores or goods belonging to the Hudson Bay Company by the insurgents, you are authorized to inform the leaders that if the Company Government is restored, not only will there be a general amnesty granted, but in case the Company should claim the payment for such stores that the Canadian government will stand between the insurgents and all harm." It would seem impossible to expand the permission thus conveyed to the Bishop by Sir John—to promise the rebels protection from the monetary demands of the Hudson Bay Company—into an authority to condone such a savage murder as that of Scott. But even were this point to be conceded, there would still remain an unsurmountable difficulty in the way of proving Monsignor Taché's case. The terms of pardon, both in Lord Lisgar's Proclamation and Sir John's letter were made conditional on the immediate and peaceable obedience and dispersion of the insurgents," and in the other "on the restoration of the Company's governments."

15. But none of these requirements were complied with. Scott was put to death some weeks after the arrival of Messrs, DeSalaberry, Thibault and Smith to whom the proclamation had been originally confided, and by whom its contents, at all events, must have been communicated to Riel before the accomplishment of that tragedy ; and, though, immediately after the Bishop's advent, and at his instance one half of the English prisoners were released ; the rest was kept in peril and for more than a week longer. Riel and his associates still remained in arms, continued to prey upon the goods within their reach and permained in the exercise of their illegal authority. It is true, many considerations may be adduced to mitigate the culpability of the latter portions of these proceedings ; but be that as it may, they manifestly barred the effort of the conditional promises of forgiveness, which the Bishop, even from his own point of view, was authorized to announce.

13. I understand His Lordship further to plead that the ultimate negotiations which secured the North West the constitutional rights they enjoy under the Manitoba Act chiefly flowed from the assurances of a complete amnesty which he promulgated; but although it would be difficult to exaggerate either the purity of the motives by which the priests was actuated in all that he did and said, or to over estimate the self sacrificing patriotism which induced him to tear himself from the attractions of Rome in order to encounter the hardships of a winter journey for the sake of his fellow countrymen of Red River, or to deny that his exhortations and remonstrances had an immediate and beneficial effect in restraining Riel and his companions, and of superinducing a feeling of security in Winnipeg, it must still be remembered that the people of the North west had chosen their delegates and had consented to treat with the Canadian Government some time before the Bishop had appeared upon the scene. In conclusion, it is to be noted that immediately Mr. Howe, the Secretary of State, received the information of the promise made by His Lordship to Riel and Lepine, he at once warned him that he had done so on his own responsibility and without the authority of the Canadian Government.

17—The Archbishop refers to letters of Sir G. Cartier as having neutralised the language of Mr. Howe's official communication, but to a doctrine of this description I cannot subscribe. In the first place, I do not think the letter in question bears the interpretation put upon it by the Archbishop, and even if it did it must be held that no private communication made by a single member of an Administration, without the cognizance of his colleagues can overrule an official despatch written in their name and on their behalf by the Head of the Department specially responsible for the conduct of the business in hand. Were such a view to prevail, every Government and the Crown itself would be at the mercy of an inconsiderate rash, or treacherous member of the Ministry.

18. The view taken by Sir John Macdonald who was Premier at the time that the Archbishop left for the North West, of His Lordship's powers and the nature of his mission, is set forth in the hon gentleman's evidence, at page 109 of the Canadian Blue Book, and, I need not say, is entirely a confirmation of the conceptions I have derived from the written instructions that the Archbishop received, and the correspondence which took place with him.

19. Under these circumstances I am of opinion that the Crown is not committed to the pardon of the murderers of Scott on the ground that the Archbishop was in any sense authorised to make a promise to that effect.

20, The next plea urged by those who demand a full and complete amnesty is based upon the occurrence which took place during the visit of Judge Black and Messrs, Richot and Scott to Ottawa, in April, 1870, as declared from the people of the North west, and on the alleged purport of the conversations which took place between Archbishop Taché, Lord Lisgar, and Sir George Cartier at Niagara. With respect to the transactions of this date we have unfortunately no public correspondence or other official intercommunications in which they have been recorded, and so far as regards the individual statements of the personages concerned there is unhappily a direct conflict of assertion.

21. On the one hand Abbe Richot and the Archbishop states positively that an amnesty to Riel was explicitly promised, both by Lord Lisgar, Sir Clinton Murdoch, Sir John Macdonald, and Sir George Cartier. On the hand teh statement is denied in the most emphatic manner by each and all of these gentlemen. The Abbe Richot's affidavit, in which a history of his interview with the Governor General and other members of the Administration is set forth with considerable particularity, will be found at page 72 of the Canadian Blue book. The denial of the occurrence of the Abbe Richot's assertions is conveyed first in a despatch to Lord Kimberley from Lord Lisgar dated 15th April, 1872, and in a letter from the same gentleman to Mr. Geo. Cartier, dated the 21st February, 1872, page 104 of the blue book ; in a letter from Sir Clinton Murdoch to Mr. Herbert, dated 5th March, 1873, on page 104, and again in another letter of the 6th March of the same year in a letter from Sir Geo Cartier to Sir John Macdonald, dated 8th February, 1873 ; and in Sir John Macdonald's evidence, page 107. But a still more significant light is thrown upon what occurred by a dispatch from Sir Clinton Murdoch to Sir Frederick Rogers, dated 28th April, 1870, page 193 of the blue book. This communication was contemporary with the event recorded The statement was not a reply to any leading question nor evoked by any special reference. It was simply a narrative drawn up for the information of the Under Secretary of State for the colonies, as to the purport of Sir Clinton Murdoch's conversation with his interlocutor the Abbe Richot, immediately after the interview had occurred. In the fifth paragraph of that document, page 193 of the blue book, Sir Clinton Murdoch says the 19th condition would secure an indemnity to Riel and his abettors for the execution of Scott, and he all others for the plunder of the Hudson Bay Company's stores and for the damage committed during the disturbances, concealing which the government could not venture even if it had the power, to grant ; while the condition which, though not contained in the terms was conveyed to Judge Black and the other delegates in writing, that whatever was agreed here must be subject to confirmation by the Provisional Government would have involved a recognition of the authority of Riel and his associates. Under these circumstances there was no choice but to reject these terms.

22. Of course it is a very invidious office to pronounce an opinion as to the respective accuracy of statements conflicting, emanating from such eminent personages, and indeed, I have no doubt, by every individual concerned in the most perfect good faith ; but when it is remembered that Lord Lisgar had not even the power to make the promise which as is alleged to have given, and that he and Sir Clinton Murdoch and Sir John Macdonald are so perfectly in accord with what passed, one can only conclude that the Abbe Richot, through the unfortunate circumstance of the conversation having been conducted in a language with which he was not familiar, must have derived a totally wrong impression of what had been said.

23. This view of the case is in a great measure confirmed by the evidence of Mr. Suite, page 181 of the blue book, in which he states that one day Father Richot said to him in reference to his recent interview with Lord Lisgar, "As I do not understand English very well, I am not satisfied with what His Excellency said to me at our interview." From this it may be gathered that the reverend gentleman has shown some precipitancy in consigning to an affidavit an elaborate a record of a conversation of which he himself admits he carried away an imperfect apprehension.

24. Cognate to this branch of the enquiry are the allegations advanced by Archbishop Taché as to his interview with Lord Lisgar at Niagara, 23rd July, 1870. The Archbishop does not appear to maintain that on this occasion Lord Lisgar made him any specific promise, but he says that His Excellency, being unwilling to enter into any discussion upon Red River affairs, referred him to Sir George Cartier, and that Sir George Cartier then repeated the remonstrances, as on Lord Lisgar's behalf, to which the Archbishop attaches so much importance. As the facts connected with this incident are fully set forth in the Archbishop's statement, on page 40 of the blue book, I need not further refer to them.

25. With regard, however, to Sir George Cartier's general attitude, language, and correspondence in reference to the whole of this subject, I am ready to admit that there appears to have been a certain amount of ambiguity and want of explicitness in his utterances which undoubtedly encouraged the archbishop Father Richot, and others, to entertain larger expectations in respect to the extent of the suggested amnesty than he was justified in exciting

26. I don't for a moment imagine that Sir George Cartier intended to mislead these gentlemen, but he evidently himself leaned to the opinion that the clemency of the Crown might be extended with advantage to Riel and his associates, and his naturally sanguine temperament led him to anticipate that, as the public excitement calmed down and years went by, he would have sufficient influence to obtain immunity for those in whose behalf the Archbishop and Abbe Richot were interesting themselves. As a consequence, the tenor of his language implied that, if only matters were properly settled in Red River and the population quietly submitted to the new order of things, a settlement would ultimately be arrived at satisfactory to all parties. But though this forecast was in his mind and coloured his thoughts and language, it does not appear from the evidence that he ever made any specific promise in regard to the murder of Scott. On the contrary, he was always very careful to state that the power of granting a pardon to them did not reside with the Canadian Government but the Queen and her Imperial advisers. As Sir John A. Macdonald observes, he and the Abbe Richot and the Archbishop appear to have been moving in different planes. Both make use of the word 'amnesty' but Sir John always referred to 'amnesty' as applicable to the general body of insurgents and to political offences, whereas the Archbishop and the Abbe were solely preoccupied with the thought of securing an amnesty for Riel and his fellows. Be this, however, as it may, to my apprehensions it cannot be for a moment contended that Sir George Cartier's casual conversation and private letters can bind the Imperial Government.

27 The third plea on account of which a full and plenary amnesty is demanded is, that the authorities who ordered Scott's execution were a de facto Government, duly constituted by the will of the community, and that consequently it was a legitimate proceeding and only reprehensible as an error of judgment. I think it but fair, in reference to those who hold this opinion, to call your lordship's attention to the fact that the convention which erected the so called Provisional Government and placed Riel at its head, was composed of a number of French and English delegates fairly elected from the population at large ; that persons of very great respectability were members of it and took part in its proceedings ; that Mr. Donald Smith—the Canadian Commissioner, and the person who was instructed to take up the Government of the North west on behalf of the Hudson Bay Co., in the event of Gov. McTavish being precluded by ill-health from exercising his functions, appeared before it, was the exponent of the views of the Canadian Government, and that the delegates it chose were subsequently recognized as duly authorized to treat with the Dominion Executive on behalf of the Northwest community. An attempt has been made to show that these delegates really drew their appointment from Riel, and were to be considered as commissioned by his Government. This, however, was not so. They were selected, and the terms they were instructed to demand were settled before the election or Riel to the so-called presidency. On the other hand it is to be noted that when the proposal to constitute a Provisional Government was mooted in the convention a certain portion of the English deputies declined to take part in the proceedings until they had ascertained whether or no Governor McTavish, the legal ruler of the territory, still considered himself vested with authority. A deputation was accordingly appointed to wait upon him in his sick chamber, for this gentleman had unfortunately during many previous weeks been suffering from the mortal disease of which he soon after died. In reply to their enquiry Gov. McTavish told them that he considered his jurisdiction had been abolished by the proclamation of Mr. McDougall that he was 'a dead man,' and they had therefore better construct a Government of their own to maintain the peace of the country. Returning to their colleagues, the deputation announced to the Convention what Governor McTavish had said, and as a result Riel and his colleagues were nominated to their respective offices. But though these proceedings thus received a certain sanction at the hands of the representatives of the population of the North-west, it does not appear to me to affect Riel's culpability with respect to Scott. In the first place, as has been very clearly laid down by the Chief Justice of Manitoba, in his charge to the jury on the Lepine trial, it is not possible for any lawful executive authority to spring into existence within Her Majesty's Dominions, unless it emanate from Herself. Without, however, laying too much stress upon the purely legal aspect of this part of the question, it is very evident that the killing of Scott was not an exercise of jurisdiction known to any code of law, but inhuman slaughter of an innocent man, aggravated by circumstances of extraordinary brutality. In company with a certain number of other Englishmen, Scott had started from a place called Portage la Prairie, with the view apparently of endeavouring to rescue a number of persons who up to this time Riel had been holding prisoners in Fort Garry, but at the entreaty of those who were anxious to prevent the outburst of civil war, the party were induced to give up their project and to return home. Scott and his companions were captured as they were passing back to their own part of the country. The utmost alleged against Scott is that he used violent language in the prison, and that he had attended to an intention of capturing Riel and retaining him as hostage for the release of the prisoners already returned to ; but even these allegations were not proved, nor, had they been proved ten times over, could they have rendered him liable to serious punishment. Even the decisions of an ordinary drum-head court-martial were disregarded. The trial, if it can be so termed, was conducted in the absence of the accused, who was confronted by no witnesses, not furnished with any indictment nor allowed to plead for his life. The further details of the tragedy are so horrible, if the statements in the evidence can be relied on, that I will not shock your Lordship by repeating them. Suffice it to say that all the pleading in the world cannot prove the killing of Scott to be anything else than a cruel, wicked, and unnecessary crime. Nor had the origin of Riel's authority been even less questionable would it have silenced him of the right of taking away the life of a fellow-citizen in so reckless and arbitrary a manner. I have therefore no hesitation in concluding that any claim for the extension of amnesty to Riel, founded on the assumption that the murder of Scott was a judicial execution, by a legitimately constitutional authority, must be disallowed.

29. A fourth consideration occasionally urged, though not with any great pertinence by the apologists of Riel, is that when Sir Garnet Wolseley's forces had taken possession of the territory of Red River, a cloak of the name of Goulet, one of those who had been concerned in the murder of Scott, was pounced by certain persons, of whom two belonged to a Canadian regiment until he was frightened into the river and drowned in his attempt to swim across it. How far the foregoing is an accurate account of this transaction I know not : it a murderous assault of this description can be brought home to a Court of Justice to any individuals they ought of course to be dealt with in due course of law But it is idle to allege such a circumstance as exonerating the authors of another deed of blood.

29. There is a further plea which has been sometimes urged, not indeed as of itself sufficient to command an amnesty, but as commending a commutative force to those already mentioned, namely the transmission of money to Riel from the Government of the day on condition of his leaving the country and his subsequent resignation of his seat for Provencher in order to make room for Sir. Geo. Cartier. But with transactions of this nature the Imperial Government cannot be expected to concern itself.

30. I, therefore, pass on to the fifth consideration which is adduced as a reason why the Imperial Government should concede an amnesty to the murderers of Scott. To the plea which I am about to exhibit, I must ask your Lordship to give your earnest attention, as it appears to me to involve the consideration of a most legal question of very great moment the ultimate decision of which will not only effect the case of Riel, but also that of the prisoner Lepine, now left for execution in Winnipeg gool.

31. In the year 1871 a rumour prevailed in in the Province of Manitoba, at that time incorporated with the Dominion and under the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Lieutenant Governor, the Hon Mr Archibald, that a considerable body of Fenians were gathered along its southern frontier and were prepared to make a very formidable irruption over the border. In order to understand the gravity of the situation it must be remembered that the leader on this movement was a man by the name of O'Donohue, who had been associated with this insurrectionary movement. A very considerable probability consequently existed that O'Donohue and his people might be acting in concert with the French leaders of the previous revolt. Mr Archibald was alone cut off by distance from the advice and countenance of the central authorities and thrown entirely upon his own resources. He had no military forces worth speaking of with which to confront the raiders, and he was administering a country inhabited by distinct nationalities and disturbed by differences of religious faith. Only a few months before a considerable proportion of its population had been arrayed in arms against the Queen's authority and their fellow subjects, Under these circumstances it can be readily understood that a person in Mr Archibalds situation would feel it his primary duty to sacrifice every other interest to the defence of the Province over which he presided, and to the safety of the population for whose welfare he was responsible. Acting upon these considerations, Governor Archibald determined to appeal to the loyalty of the French Metis and their leaders. but these last were no others than Riel. Lepine, &c.,—the very men for whose apprehension he had been issued on a capital charge. Notwithstanding the anomaly of such a proceeding, Mr Archibald concluded to enter into relations with these persons. The account of what he did, and the reasons by which guided his conduct in a narrative which will be found at page 1:9 of the blue book.

32. From the statements therein contained it will be observed that the Lieut. Governor reviewed the troops which had been collected under the command of Riel, Lepine, and their companions ; that he accepted their services ; that he promised them at least a temporary immunity from molestation on account of the crime of which they were accused ; and that through his Secretary he addressed to them an official reply, commending them on the loyalty they had shown and the assistance they had rendered. He further states that he was convinced himself, though Sir John Macdonald appears to have had misgivings on this point, that this exhibition of fidelity was genuine and bona fide, and that it largely contributed to the preservation of Her Majesty's dominions from insults and invasion ; in short, he is satisfied, to use his own language, that "if the Dominion has at this moment a Province to defend, and not one to conquer, they owe it to the policy of forbearance. If I had driven the French half breeds into the hands of the enemy, O'Donohue would have been joined by all the population between the Assiniboine and the frontier, Fort Garry would have passed into the hands of an armed mob, and the English settlers to the north of the Assiniboine would have suffered horrors it makes me shudder to contemplate."

33. Of course I am not prepared to say whether the Lieutenant-Governor's appreciation of the necessities of his situation and of the consequence of a different line of action are correct or not, but if such be the deliberate opinion of an undoubtedly able, prudent and conscientious man, of a person whose successful administration of Manitoba has been rewarded by promotion to a more important post. I do not think it is competent for us to go behind it or to act upon a different assumption.

34. The legal or rather constitutional question then arises, to what extent is the Crown of England committed by the acts and declarations of the Lieut. Govern or, these acts and declarations never having been disavowed or repudiated by the central authority of the Dominion or by the representative of the Home Government. Although my experience in such matters does not enable me to speak with any great authority, I confess I should have difficulty in convincing myself that after the Governor of a Province has put arms into the hands of a subject, and has invited him to risk his life—for that, of course; is the implied contingency—in defence of Her Majesty's Crown and dignity, and for the protection of her territory, with a full knowledge at the time that the individual of question was amenable to the law for crimes previously committed, the Executive is any longer in a position to pursue the person thus dealt with as a felon. The acceptance of the service might be held, I imagine, to bar the prosecution of the offender. For, undesirable as it may be that a great criminal should go unpunished, it would still more pernicious that the Government of the country should show a want of fidelity to its engagements or exhibit a narrow spirit in its interpretation of them. It is in this apprehension that I have ventured to call special attention to the last of the pleas for "Amnesty."

35.—I must ask your Lordship to remember that in the foregoing brief observations I have attempted to deal with but few of the sact and incidents displayed in the evidence : neither do I pretend to have reproduced with anything approaching completeness the various arguments which either have been or may be adduced in support of the conflicting views of the contending parties ; but my shortcomings in this respect will be more than supplied by the materials collected in the accompanying Blue book, where each individual in any way implicated in these transactions has had an opportunity of explaining his conduct enforcing his opinions. My only object has been to save your Lordship trouble by a preliminary co-ordination of the elements of the controversy. In order, however, that the defence may not lack all the assistance to which it may be legi imately entitled. I have thought it right to enclose two very able papers marked 'A,' and 'B,' of which have been framed for the purpose of embodying within a short compass the views of those who have convinced themselves that the various circumstances referred to require the issue of amnesty.

36 I have, further, the honour to append a petition addressed to me by the Catholic Archbishop and Bishops of the Province of Quebec, drawn up in the same sense.

37 Perhaps my despatch as regards the matter in hand will not be altogether complete unless I transmit to your Lordship some of the general views taken of the question by the population at large. With regard to the French section of Her Majesty's subjects I may say that although there are probably few of them who do not regard the death of Scott as a regrettable event, they are united to a man in the opinion that the part played by Riel in the North West was that of a brave and spirited patriot—that it is principally to him and to those who acted with him that Manitoba owes her present privileges of self-government and her parity of rank and standwith her sister Provinces. They are equally convinced that the Government of Canada and of Her Majesty are bound by the promises of the Archbishop, and that the Government Riel established at Red River was authoritative and legitimate. Nor do I think they

The Mails

The Ottawa Times complains of irregularity, reception of mails, and of the great disadvantage of only one train a day. The complaint is pretty common since the heavy snows and severe cold set in.

The "Warsaw."

In a late issue argues that there will always be Conservatives and Liberals. Our confrere has cast away the "No Party" cry of a year or two past, and now discloses the term Liberal, by applying it to a party in contradistinction to the Conservatives. In a few days or months they may task on the Liberal to suit their purposes.

The Cold.

Ottawa has had the thermometer down to 36 below zero, Peterboro to 32. That is low enough for any one not wishing to go lower himself. The cold took our iron bridge down, but prevented it getting into the river by the strong ice formed under it.

A number of workmen have been thrown out of employment in Montreal, from want of water to turn the machinery where employed.

Fire at Warsaw.

We regret to learn that Mr. Thos. G. Choate's saw mill was consumed by fire on Thursday night last, about 11 o'clock. The whole was in flames before seen and was beyond control. The grist mill attached was in danger for some time, but being of stone, was saved. The loss is over $4,000, and we learn there was an insurance of $1000. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

This Evening

A lecture will be delivered in the Music Hall this evening, by the Rev. W. Stephenson, of Hamilton. Subject—"Mind vs. Muscle, or The Field and Forum." Mr. Stephenson is a "great natural orator," and is certainly "second to none" in the Dominion as a lecturer. Those expecting a great treat, we feel assured, will not be disappointed. For synopsis of lecture and opinions of the press, see large posters.

Lecture.

Professor McLellan, Inspector of High Schools, delivered a lecture in the lecture room of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, on Friday eve'g, subject "This Canada of Ours." The Doctor is an eloquent speaker, and his lecture was calculated to increase Canadians with a love of country and to give them the strongest hope in a great and glorious future for our Dominion. He was several times during the delivery applauded. A vote of thanks, proposed by Dr. Kincaid and seconded by Mr. Hilliard, was tendered to the Doctor at the close of the lecture.

Father Chiniquy.

While the Rev. Father Chiniquy was preaching on the 7th inst., in the Protestant church, on Craig Street, Montreal, some person threw stones through the window, one of which fell very near him, and a piece of iron, thrown through the window also, hit a woman in the church. The police authorities refused to send any policemen to prevent the disturbance. The zeal of those engaged in the disturbance may be admired, but not their arguments. The time should, be past for the prevention of free speech, especially in a church, where none need go who do not desire to hear the preacher.

The Bridge.

The Council of Ashburnham would find it advantageous to its ratepayers to put a temporary crossing for foot passengers at least across the broken span of the iron bridge. It would not cost a great sum, and would be of immense advantage to persons wishing to get to town when the ice gives way, and this latter may occur any day, indeed in a few hours. There is no time to be lost, as with all the expedition possible, the main structure cannot be rebuilt before a month, and perhaps it might require two months.

Another Failure.

D. Faucher's liabilities amount to over $17,000, assets probably about $7,000. Saloon keeping can't pay if it requires $10,000 over and above the daily profits to enable the individual to live. We wouldn't advise the trial by a sane man and an insane man is not accountable for his acts. It must be insanity that induces any one to remain in a business in which he is daily losing money.

The Snow-Storms.

The quantity of snow that has fallen this season exceeds that of any year since 1870, and many believe it even exceeds that year. We are informed that it is fully five feet deep in the woods. The roads are blocked up in every direction. The lines of travel are now changed to the fields almost everywhere, and in some directions the people have with difficulty reached the town. The cold has been intense, reaching 32 below zero, and it has been continuously cold for several weeks. The oldest inhabitant around here does not remember anything like it. We may keep up our spirits, however, summer will soon appear again, with all its wonted blessings, and cause us to forget the cold February snap.

Lindsay—Fire

Lindsay had a big fire on Monday, when the Doheny block was destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown—the loss is not less than $30,000; the buildings were estimated worth $25,000, insured for $13,000. Lovell & Ray's loss is $8,000—insured for $12,000; John Bleasley, Boots, Shoes and Harness, loss $600; not insured. J. Porte, Watchmaker, loss covered by insurance. P. Brisstand, Groceries and Liquors, loss $6,000; insured for $3,500. Lindsay has Water Works, but the wheels were frozen up and would not work. Peterborough must have Water Works, as in such cases they would be of immense value. There must be something wrong in Lindsay too, when their works were not seen after. The Council was to move immediately to put the works in position; the old story of locking the stable when the horse is stolen.

Practical Maxims for everyday life

According to announcement, the Rev. W. Mitchell, of Millbrook, delivered his lecture on the above subject, on Monday evening last, in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The lecture was excellent, combining humor and common sense, with occasional really eloquent passages. It was listened to with marked attention, and we are persuaded that obedience to its principles would add very greatly to the comfort and well-being of our race. The tea provided by the ladies of the church was all that could be desired, so that those who attended were favoured with an abundance of good things of the body, and a rich store of precious truth for the mind, delivered in such a manner as to rivet the attention, fix upon the memory and persuade the the heart. We earnestly wish the revd. lecturer increasing success in this as in every other department of usefulness to which he is consecrating all his noble energies.

The Joint Committee

Of the Town and County met on Tuesday evening. After considerable discussion, the Town members of the Committee sought to have it agreed to to build two bridges, one on the site of the iron bridge and one at Judge Dennistoun's residence. The members of the Committee from the County Council consisting of the Warden and Messrs Millar, Garbutt, Collins and Burnham were ready to advise the erection of a substantial iron or wooden Bridge where the iron Bridge was, but would not so certain the construction of any other Bridge at present.

Some of the Committee thought that the span of the Bridge still standing should be examined by a competent engineer, and if practicable, have it put in good repair, as it might stand for ten or twenty years without danger. Other members considered it best to build an iron Bridge of Boiler plate, rivited, and substantial; and then it would be sure to remain for generations. While a third party advised the construction of a Wooden Bridge. As the County Council will meet on Tuesday next a solution to this division of opinion will be found. In the meantime some means of crossing should be devised, perhaps, constructed, as if the ice should break up, crossing in small boats would be impossible just now without risk of loss of life. A temporary bridge from the Ashburnham pier to the remaining span of the bridge would not cost over $250, while the material would be very little damaged and could be sold for nearly first cost.

The following resolution was moved and carried:

Moved by Mr. Birdsall, seconded by Mr. Millar, That the west span of bridge now remaining entire be forthwith examined by some competent person to see if the same can be put in a good and sufficient use; and that Mr. Collins and the Mayor of Peterborough be authorized to have the same reported in time for the next meeting of the County Council, on 24th instant; and to collect such information as may be practicable, regarding the cost of new Girder or Cleveland Bridge for the East span.

Messrs Belcher and Birdsall examine the standing part,

Do We Want Two Bridges?

This question cannot be out of place just now. The breaking of the Iron Bridge, if there were no ice, would be a great disadvantage and loss to the travelling public. To go round by the Locks' Bridge to get to town, for any length of time would be of calculable disadvantage to people from the east of the River, and would also inconvenience many from the west of the river, who have business to do eastward. Would it not be well therefore in view of the chances of accident to one bridge to have two constructed at an early date? The wharfboats of such a structure would have to be left to the wisdom of the Council, as that body is jealous of its rights and responsibilities, but the hint that two bridges are required cannot give offence. Some of the ratepayers favour a bridge on the boundary line near Judge Dennistoun's residence, others would prefer it near the Dickson's Flour Mills. Perhaps a bridge near the point would have its advocates also. It is certain a second bridge is required both for convenience and advantage, and its early construction would be looked upon with favour, by many of the ratepayers, although perhaps not by all. The Council at a special session last week referred to the subject, but thought of deferring the work for another year. If the Iron Bridge were repaired, the second one might not be needed for many years, but no one can tell how soon it might be required, through some accident. A bridge at Judge Dennistoun's just now would be useless, as no one could get to it.

THE IRON BRIDGE COLLAPSED

On Friday night about 10.45, the eastern span of the New Iron Bridge gave way and fell, not into the river as long anticipated, but unto the bridge of ice underneath, which fortunately was strong enough to bear it up. Teams had been passing and repassing over it all the previous day, and to a short time before the collapse. Foot passengers too had also passed over it a few minutes previous to its giving way, but very fortunately neither teams or travellers were on it at the time.

Next day the broken material was removed, which was easily done, as the ice was strong. Teams are crossing a little below the place of the bridge. The ice is good and serves a good purpose just now, in enabling people from the east to enter the town without going round by the Lock's bridge.

The County Council will meet on Tuesday next to devise ways and means to rebuild it. As Iron Bridge has proved a failure in the present case. It will not stand the rigor of the climate, unless after some other model than the one that has been tried. The matter now will be what sort of structure should take its place. Public opinion round town is in favor of a wooden one as best adapted to the place and climate. It is also believed that the western span of the Iron Bridge is safe enough and may last for many years, and hence only the eastern half requires to be replaced. It would be a good time now to have it examined and put in a thorough state of repair, if needed. A trifle will do it, and thus save half the expense of the bridge until necessity compels the Council to replace it.

For some time the greatest indifference prevailed as to the rate of speed of teams crossing it. Daily, almost, teams could be seen trotting at full speed over it, and some even going as fast as their horses could go. Mr. Reynolds complains that when parties were brought before the Magistrate inadequate fines were imposed and thus making it a farce to reform on them, whether this be so or not, we will not stop to enquire, but would merely point out the necessity for more watchfulness and heavier punishments of parties caught driving furiously over all such brid ce

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL

The Council met February 6th, pursuant to adjournment. All the members present. The Reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Councillor Robson deposited his qualification and affirmation of office with the Clerk.

A communication was received from H. H. Smith, on the part of Mr. Henthorne, relative to the sale of certain portions of Park lots for taxes, and claiming the amount of expenses incurred for the municipality.

Moved by Mr. Robson, seconded by Mr. Brunnscombe,—That in the opinion of this Council, it does not appear that they have any right to comply with the demand of Mr. Henthorne, through his agent H. H. Smith, as it appears to be between him and the County Treasurer, but should it be shown to the satisfaction of the Council that Mr. Henthorne has suffered any pecuniary loss caused by the negligence or otherwise, of any of the officials of the Municipality, then the Council will at once examine into the whole matter referred to for the purpose of having it amicably settled.—Carried.

The following appointments were made: Mr. W. Wood, Clerk: T. Bradburn, Treasurer, Chas. Braley, Assessor and Collector; J. Green, sr., Inspector of Taverns; J. F. Birney, Caretaker of Town Hall.

By-laws to appoint overseers of highways, pound keepers and fence viewers, were read a first time.

Order on Treasurer, A. Hunter, $3.50, for cordwood.

Council adjourned to Feby., 27th inst., then to meet for the purpose of appointing overseers of highways, pound keepers and fence viewers.—Com.

LIVE AND LET LIVE

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I find that some evil disposed person has been reporting that I was not now following the business of an Auctioneer, and as such a statement would naturally injure my business, if not denied I trust you will enable me to contradict such a false report and to state that I am still a licensed auctioneer for the Town and County of Peterboro, as will be seen by my advertisement in another part of your paper, and that I have only removed my office from Simcoe street to my residence on Water Street, next door north of Croft's Hotel, and am still prepared to undertake and attend the sale of any kind of merchandize, real estate, farm Stock, household furniture, &c, in any part of the Town and County on the most reasonable terms.

Thanking you for this favor, I am, Mr. Editor,

Your obd't servant,
W. H. PENDRY.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

As the iron bridge will have to be rebuilt or some other kind of structure put in its place, it might be well to keep in view the weak points of the old or broken one, and perhaps one way to do this is to read the report of the Messrs. Belcher, published 30th January, 1873.

After giving a description of the bridge, which we may omit at present. The report proceeds thus;—

Having described the various parts of the Bridge under consideration, we shall now proceed to investigate their condition as well as the strains to which they are subjected.

The abutments on either side of the river, as well as the pier in mid-stream, stand well with the exception of a slight fracture in the Ashburnham abutments, which we are of opinion, was caused shortly after the weight of the girders was imposed and probably while the work was green, before consolidation, or possibly the effect of frost.

The limestone flags on which the girders are imposed are of the poorest description, and on those rest the entire weight of the superstructure; they are all, with the exception of two, crushed and fractured.

Working from the above dimensions we find the fixed load per foot run on each girder to be 668 lbs., and adding 360 lbs. per square foot of platform, (the load assumed for structures of this kind) which gives a load per foot run of 1,028 lbs., we obtain a total load of 1836 lbs. on each main girder, exercising a terrible strain on tie of 151 Qt tons, and conceding to the load of Trade of England, as wrought iron should never be subjected to a greater strain than 5.6 tons per square inch, being about one-sixth its breaking weight, we employ this as our factor of safety, and obtain a required area for ties of 21.6 square inches. Compare this area with that of the existing tie as above described, we find a deficiency of 12.6 square inches, thus clearly showing the present tie to be totally inadequate to the work it should perform.

With reference to the construction of the existing tie, we are of opinion that the mode of construction is not suited to perform its required function, inasmuch as the welding of the links is decidedly objectionable, as from experiment it has been proved that welding even when performed in the most perfect manner by heating the pieces to a welding heat in a gas flame, and welding them together by intense pressure, the tenacity of the joint is found to be about three-fifths the tenacity of the iron

We found on examination that some fifteen links have been recently severed in a temporary manner with iron clumps, indicating weakness or fracture, and that two new links have been added, one passing round the gib at one end and secured outside the gib at the other end with plate and nuts, the other passing round the gib in a similar manner and secured with wedges in cotter.

The bow at the crown is subject to a horizontal thrust equal to the tension of the tie, and though not quite up to the standard of calculation, is yet in our opinion sufficiently near to perform the work developed upon it.

The suspending rods are of sufficient sectional area to bear the strain to which they are subjected, but the four central forked suspenders which are subjected to the greatest strain are much impaired in their tenacity by the welding at their junction.

Having fully entered into the nature of the structure both as to its construction and strength, and having mathematically calculated the several strains in its various parts and shown where the weakness, in our opinion exists, we will now endeavour to lay before you what we consider necessary to make the bridge permanently secure, which we think is far from being under existing circumstances.

The girders will require to be raised from off the stone flags on which they rest, sufficiently high to allow the removal of the fractured stones, and bed stones of Bobcaygeon or Kingston limestone inserted under, which must be at least four feet square and one foot in thickness each, tooled fair on their face and bearing surfaces, and bedded on the masonry in Portland Cement. On the upper side of these stones and between them and the girders' feet we would have expansion rollers and plates in the usual manner, the masonry being built flush to the upper side of the bed stones, the stones being laid in cement and extending for a distance of at least three feet at either side of the bed stone, to which length the bearing plates should be extended so as to diffuse the weight over a large area of the masonry.

The masonry of the Ashburnham pier where fractured to be repaired and crossbonded with long stones set in cement.

An additional tie of links of similar area in section to those at present in use, should be applied to each girder. The eye link of an approved form which should be proved by test being employed instead of the weld link. The new tie being properly fixed and in position, the fractured links should be removed and new links placed in their stead. The operation of fixing the new tie will be a difficult one, and one requiring skill and ingenuity to accomplish it, so that each link may have due share of tension.

The wood sleepers or joists which form the platform, are in two instances fractured, and require to be replaced with sound timber.

These with an occasional examination of the structures from time to time will complete what we think necessary to make the bridge a fair permanent structure of its kind.

We have now laid before you all the important elements in connection with the bridge, having given it mature deliberation and thought, and though possibly the weights and dimensions may differ a little from the actual workshop dimensions and weights, yet we feel assured the differences will be of so trifling a nature as to render them inappreciable in our computations for practical purposes.

The bridge being the only means of communication with the Ashburnham side, and by which a large and important traffic is conveyed to and from our rising town, deserves more than ordinary consideration, owing to the fact that any interruption in this traffic caused by failure in the structure would seriously effect the trade of the town; and bridges in general are structures no matter of what material constructed, that should be dealt with cautiously and with prudence, being so formed that each part should perform its allotted functions with the greatest precision, especially in bridges constructed on the Bow-string principal. As there may be diversity of opinion as to what weight the bridge should be constructed to carry; (though we give the ordinary allowance, that for a crowd of people,) but one thing is evident that it has badly failed in consequence of having insufficient strength in one of its most important parts, and as we are instructed to advise as to what will make a permanent job of the structure, we give the strength required to sustain and withstand the violent shocks, vibrations and atmospheric influences to which bridges are at all times subjected.

The Grand Trunk and its Employes

The passenger trains are running as usual to day. The conductors and brakesmen on each route are, however, reduced in numbers one set—that is, where there were six conductors, five men do the work, and so on with the brakesmen. There is no reduction in pay. The men, however, complain that they will not often not get sufficient rest by this arrangement, and the question is asked, Is it safe or wise to run passenger trains with overworked or sleepy employees? The freight train conductors and brakesmen from Toronto East have quit work, and no freight trains are running. The officials state that all the obstinate employees will be paid off as soon as possible and new men secured in their places. It is not long ago since a reduction of ten per cent took place in the wages of the Vermont Central employees who took the matter submissively. The outside Grand Trunk employees, however have generally been living up to their incomes, and any decrease in their earnings is keenly felt by them and families.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS ECLESIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electre Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electic Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

'THE LIBERAL."

As already announced, the directors of the LIBERAL, the new daily morning newspaper has appeared. The publishers have secured commodious premises, at 61 Yonge Street, which are now fitted up with all the appliances of modern journalism. The LIBERAL will be first first issued as a 32 column paper, but although of slightly smaller size than other metropolitan journals, will contain a larger proportion of quantity of news and general reading matter, and be enlarged as soon as advertising matter encroaches on the space.

The EDITORIAL CORPS of the LIBERAL embraces some of the ablest journalists in Canada, including Mr. C. Tyner, of the Hamilton Times. The staff has been organized with a view to efficiency, and the publishers have met with gratifying success in their efforts to secure the best talent in the profession for each department. The public may confidentially look for a newspaper which will aim to give quality rather than quantity, and which will take an immediate position in the front rank of Canadian Journals.

During the coming session of Parliament at Ottawa, our Reports will be well condensed, readable, and thoroughly impartial; Political friends and opponents will receive the same courtesy at the hands of our reporters.

In general TELEGRAPHIC NEWS, the LIBERAL will be second to no other journal.

LOCAL matters will have special attention. The services of a gentleman specially competent for the duty have been secured in this department, and the local intelligence of the LIBERAL will form one of its distinguishing features.

The publishers promise to spare no pains nor expense to render their COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL departments thoroughly reliable.

Politically the publishers have no new departure to announce. While maintaining their attitude as outspoken and independent journalists they will be staunchly and progressively Liberal in their views and utterances, and continue to extend a cordial support to the Administrations respectively of Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Mowat.

In the style of Advertisements in the LIBERAL will be distinctive. No cuts or poster type will be admitted to its columns. All advertisements will be classified and set in plain Roman type similar in style to the leading English and American newspapers. It is believed that business men will not be slow to perceive that this plan is the only one which is fair and impartial to all, and which gives to none undue prominence at the expense of the rest

THE NEW CHURCH ORGAN

BY WM. H. RAMSON.

They've got a brau new organ, Sue,
For all their fuss and search;
They've done just as they said they'd do,
And fetched it into church.
They're bound the critter shall be seen,
And on the preacher's right.
They've hoisted up their new machine
In everybody's sight
They've got a chorister and choir,
Ag'n my voice and vote;
An it was never my desire
To praise the Lord by note.

I've been a sinner good an' true
For five an' thirty years;
I've done what seemed my part to do,
An' prayed my duty clear;
I've sung the hymns both slow and quick,
Just as the preacher read,
And twice when Deacon Tubbs was sick,
I took the fork and led!
And now, their bold, new fangled ways
Is comin' all about!
And I, right in my latest days,
Am fairly crowded out.

To-day the preacher, good old dear,
With tears in all his eyes,
Read—"I can read my title clear,
To mansions in the skies."
I always liked that blessed hymn—
I s'pose I al'ays will;
It somehow gratifies my whim,
In good old Ortonville;
But when that choir got up to sing
I couldn't catch a word;
They sung the most dog-gonedest tune
A body ever heard.

Some worldly chaps was standin' near,
An' when I seed them grin,
"I bid farewell to every fear,"
And boldly waded in.
I thought I'd chase their tune along,
An' tried with all my might;
But though my voice is good and strong
I couldn't steer it right.
Wh n they was high then I was low,
An' also contra' wise;
And I too fast or they too slow
To "mansions in the skies."

An' after every verse, you know,
They play a little tune,
I didn't understand, and so
I started in too soon.
I pitched it pr'tty middlin high,
I fetched a lusty tone,
But oh, alas, I found that I
Was singing there alone
They laughed a little, I am told;
But I had done my best;
And I not a wave of trouble rolled
Across my peaceful breast.*

And sister Brown—I could but look—
She sits right front of me;
She never was no singin' book,
An' never meant to be;
But then she always tried to do
The best she could, she said;
She understood the time right through
And kept it with her head.
But when she tried this morning, oh,
I had to laugh or cough,
It kept her head a bobbin' so
It e'en a'most come off.

An' Deacon Tubbs he all broke down,
As one might well suppose;
He took one look at Sister Brown,
And meekly scratched his nose.
He looked his hymn-book through and through
And laid it on the seat,
And then a pensive sigh he drew,
And looked completely beat.
An' when they took another bout,
He didn't even rise,
But drawed his red bandanner out
An' wiped his weepin eyes."

I've been a sister good an' true
For five an' thirty years;
I've done what seemed my part to do,
An' prayed my duty clear;
But death will stop my voice, I know,
For he is on my track:
And some day I to church will go,
And never more come back,
And when the folks get up to sing—
When'er that time shall be—
I do not want no patent thing
A squealin' over me.

YEDDIE'S FIRST & LAST SACRAMENT.

A half-witted lad, who was supported by his parish in the Highlands of Scotland, passed his time in wandering from house to house. He was silent and peaceable, and won the pity of all kind hearts. He had little power to converse with his fellow men, but seemed often in loving communion with Him who, while He is the High and Holy One, condescends to men of low estate. Yeddie, as he was called, was in the habit of whispering and muttering to himself as he trudged along the highway, or performed the simple tasks which any neighbor felt at liberty to demand of him. The boys, while they were never cruel to him, often got a little fun out of his odd ways. He believed every word they said to him; and because he had been told that if he once rode over the hills to kirk in a donkey cart he would never be heir to the Earl of Glen-Allen, he refused all the kind offers of farmers and cotters, and replied always in the same words:

"Na, na, ill luck falls on mo the day I mount a cart; so I will aye gang on my sin feet up to the courts of the Lord's house, and be talking to Himsel' as I gang."

Once when a merry boy heard him pleading earnestly with some unseen one, he asked,

"What ghost or goblin are you begging favors of now, Yeddie?"

"Neither the one nor the tither, laddie," he replied. "I was just having a few words wi' Him that nether ye nor I can see, and yet wi' Him that sees the baith o' us."

The poor fellow was talking to God, while the careless wise ones laughingly said, "He is talking to himself."

One day Yeddie presented himself in his coarse frock and his hob-nailed shoes before the minister, and making a bow much like that of a wooden toy when pulled by a sterng, he said,

"Please minister, let poor Yeddie eat supper on the coming day wi' the Lord Jesus."

The good man was preparing for the sacramental season, which came half-yearly in that scarsely-settled region, and was celebrated by several churches together, when the concourse of people made it necessary to hold the services in the open air.

He was too busy to be disturbed by the simple youth, and strove to put him off as gently as possible. But Yeddie pleaded,

"Oh, minister, if ye but kenned how I love Him, ye wud let me go where He's to sit at table?"

This so touched his heart that permission was given for Yeddie to take his seat with the rest. And although he had many miles to trudge over hill and moor he was on the ground long before those who lived near and drove good horses.

As the service proceeded, tears flowed freely from the eyes of the poor innocent, and at the name of Jesus, he would shake his head mournfully, and whisper,—

"But I dinna see Him."

At length, however, after partaking of the hallowed elements, he raised his head, wiped away the traces of his tears, and looking in the minister's face, he nodded and smiled. Then he covered his face with his hands, and buried it between his knees, and remained in that posture till the parting blessing was given, and the people began to scatter. He then rose, and with a face lighted with joy and yet marked with solemnity, he followed the rest.

One and another from his own parish spoke to him, but he made no reply until pressed by some boys. Then he said:—

"Ah, lads, dinna bid Yeddie talk to-day. He's seen the face of the Lord Jesus among his sin ones. He got a smile fro' His eye and a word fro' His tongue; and he's afeard to speak lest he lose memory o't; for it's but a bad memory he has at best. Ah, lads! lads! I ha' seen Him this day that I never seed before! I ha' seen wi' these dull eyes yon lovely Man? Dinna ye speak, but just leave poor Yeddie in His company."

The boys looked on in wonder, and one whispered to another, "Sure he's na longer daft. The senses ha' come into his head, and he looks and speaks like a wise one."

When Yeddie reached the poor cot he called 'home,' he hardly dared to speak to 'granny,' who sheltered him, lest he might, as he said, 'lose the bonny face.' He left his 'parritch and treacle' untasted; and after smiling on and patting the faded cheek of the woman, to show her that he was not out of humor, he climbed the ladder to the loft where his pallet of straw was, to get another look and another word 'fro' yon lovely Man.' And his voice was heard below, in low tones,—

"Ay, Lord, it's just poor me tha hus been sae long seeking ye; and now we'll bide together and never part more. Oh, ay, but this is a bonny loft, all goole and precious stones! The hall o' the casle is a poor place to my loft this bonny nicht!" And then his voice grew softer and softer till it died away.

Granny sat over the smouldering peat below, with her elbows on her knees, relating in loud whispers to a neighboring crone the stories of the boys who had preceded Yeddie from the service, and also his own strange words and appearance.

"And beside all this," she said in a hoarse whisper, "he refused to taste his supper, a thing he had never done before since the parish paid his keeping. More than that, he often ate his own portion and mine to, and then cried for more,—such a fearful appetite he had! But to night when he cam' in, faint wi' the long road he had come, he cried, 'Na meat for me, granny; I ha' had a feast which I will feel within me while I live. I supped wi' the Lord Jesus, and noo I must e'en gang up to the loft, and sleep wi' Him.'"

"Noo, Molly," replied granny's guest "noesna' that remind ye o' the words o' our Lord Himsel', when he told them that bid Him eat, 'I ha' meat that ye know not of?' Who'll dare to say that the blessed Hand that fed the multitude when they were sat upon the grass, hasna been this day feeding the hungry soul o' poor Yeddie as he sat at His table? Ah, Molly, we little know what humble work He will stoop to do for His ain puir ones who cry day and night to Him! We canna tell noo but this laddie will be greater in the Kingdom of Heaven than the Earl himsel'—puir body—that looks very little noo as if he'd be able to crowd in at the pearly gate!"

"And oh, Janet, if ve could ha' seen the face of yon puir lad as he cam' into the cot! It shone just like the light, and at first—even afore he spoke a word—I thocht he was carrying a candle in his hand! I believe in my soul, good neebor, that Yeddie was in great company to-day, and the same shining was on him as was on Moves and Elias when they talked with Jesus on the Mount. I e'en hope he brocht the blessing home wi' him to 'bide on the widow that was too auld and feeble to walk to the table, but who has borne with him, and toiled patiently for him, because he was one of the Lord's little and feeble ones."

"Oh ay, doubtless he did bring hame the blessing, and that ye'll get the reward o' these many cups o' cold water ye've given him; for what's the few pence and shillings the parish grants ye, compaired wi' the mother's care ye gave him?" said Janet.

"Aweel, awell," replied granny, "if I get the reward, it will not be because I wrought for that. I seemed e'er to ken, ayn the day I took the daft and orphanted lad, that I was minding and feeding and clothing ane o' the 'little ones,' and I ken it better to-night than ever. I ha' strange new feelings mysel' too, neebor, and I am minded o' the hour when our blessed Master cam' and trod among His faithful ones, the door being shut, and said, 'Peace be unto you.' Surely this strange heavenly calm can no' be of earth, and who shall say that Himsel' is not here beside us twa—come to this poor place more for the daft lad's sake than our ain?"

And thus these lowly women talked of Him whom their souls loved, their hearts burning within them as they talked.

When the morrow's sun rose, granny, unwilling to disturb the weary Yeddie, left her poor pillow to perform her humble task. She brought neat from the stack and water from the spring. She spread her humble table and made her "parvich;" and then remembering that he went supperless to bed, she called him from the foot of the ladder. There was no reply. She called again and again, but there was no sound above but the wind whistling through the openings in the thatch. She had not gone up the rickety ladder for years; but anxiety gave strength to her limbs, and she soon stood in the poor-garret which had long sheltered the half-idiot boy. Before a rude stool half-sitting, half-kneeling, with his head resting on his folded arms, she found Yeddie. She laid her hand upon his head, but recoiled in terror. The heavy iron crown had been lifted from his brow, and while she was sleeping, had been replaced with one crown of the ransomed, which faideth not away. Yeddie had caught a glimpse of Jesus, and could not live apart from him. As he had supped, so he had slept with him.

A deep awe fell on the parish and the minister at this evident token that Christ had been among them; and the funeral of the poor lad was attended from far and wide. A solemnity rarely seen was noticed there, as if a great loss had fallen on the community instead of the parish having been relieved of a burden. Poor "granny" was not left alone in her cot; for He who had come hither after that last supper with Yeddie was with the even to the end.

There is a difference in the biography of James Watt and the legend of the pillar of salt. One is the story of Watt's life and the other is a story of Lot's wife.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE TRADE MARK

PURELY WALKER'S CALIFORNIA ALCOHOL

VINEGAR BITTERS

OVER FIFTY THOUSAND PROCLAIM WALKER BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guaranteo of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor is there any hitherto so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it does cases it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither alcohol nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by any one. No one ought sanction preserves them from disease and renders them; beneficial to take, while being pleasant to the taste, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood, and infuse it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular actions to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and vigor.

For Liver Complaint and its various forms of Biliousness, Bilious Headache, Bilious Dysentery, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Sick Headache and Bilious Fevers, they should be judicious ly taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but a mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continually taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Suppressed Secretions, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppressions a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often safest to suppose where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this expectorant remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. It has adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and Sold by all the world.

Mr. BRIGHT'S SPEECH

AT BIRMINGHAM.

MR. BRIGHT, who on rising was received with great cheering, said—Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen—Yet once again I must thank you for the kindness of your reception, and for the resolution which you have passed. I feel how little I deserve much of what has been said in my favour—("No,no")—but you know, as I know, that if I have in any degree neglected your interests and my duty, it has been from causes which were altogether beyond my control. ("Hear, hear," and cheers.) At these our annual gatherings it has not been my custom to dwell much upon the past; I have been content to let the past speak for itself. (Hear, hear.) What I have united in doing with other men, I believe, has generally been that which justified itself in the eyes and in the understanding of the great body of my countrymen. (Cheers.) And now I shall not go back much upon the past, but shall ask you to go with me a little to look upon the present, and to endeavour to peer into the future. Since I was here last, great changes have taken place; changes not here, I am happy to say, but elsewhere; changes under which the political power exercised in Parliament has been shifted from one side of the House to the other; changes under which a new set of occupants are found upon the Treasury bench. Now, it has been said very often within the last years that the people—not the people of Birmingham—of the United Kingdom were a little tired of legislation and great measures, and that they prefer, at least for a time, to have rest and quiet. If too much had been done, and if nothing more was to be done, there has been a wonderful consistency in the action of the constituencies—(cheers)—because they have discovered twelve gentlemen whom they have placed upon the Treasury bench—twelve gentlemen whose special recommendation is that they never did anything—(cheers and laughter)—and, further, that if they attempted to do anything, it was only to prevent their opponents from doing something. (Laughter.) Now, when the new Government was formed, I was asked, being somewhat of an old stager in Parliamentary matters, I was asked how I thought they were likely to get on, and I answered with a simplicity which is commendable that I thought they would get on for a good while pretty well if they would keep off politics. (Laughter.) But then, let me remind you that in two years, under one roof in Westminster, there are assembled about a thousand gentlemen from all parts of the United Kingdom, whose special object in coming together is to talk politics; and therefore it was not easy for the Government altogether to keep off politics—(laughter)—and, indeed, instead of doing that, or attempting to do it, we were surprised that they at once plunged into ecclesiastical affairs, the most exciting and explosive of political affairs. Last July I was spending some time in the extreme north, on the shores of the Pentland Frith. It was a much pleasanter atmosphere down there than in the House of Commons—(laughter)—and I was obliged to pick up my information from the papers that came down there once, or at the most three times in a week. I pictured to myself what was going on in Westminster; and it was a surprising picture. There was the Duke of Richmond—a solemn Scotch proprietor, although not a Scotchman—a man, I should say, incapable of recklessness and of enthusiasm. (Laughter.) There was the Lord Chancellor with his wig on, his wisdom under it importing, as I thought, some notions into the affairs of the Irish, (Laughter.) I saw these two in one House, and the Prime Minister in another, engaged in applying a match to every bit of gunpowder in their way. (Laughter.) First of all they dealt with the Church of Scotland. In the Church of Scotland there has been a thing which is called patronage—that is, the appointment of ministers in the church resting mainly with the proprietors of the land. There was not much in it; there was no money value. In Scotland there has been none of that remarkable corruption which has existence in connection with the Church of England, But then bear in mind what one of our poets has said: He has said—

"A little learning is a dangerous thing Drink deep, or taste not."

And so the little patronage of Scotland was found to be most dangerous, whilst a committee of the House of Lords has recently decided that the enormous and corrupt patronage of the Church of England was a thing to be carefully guarded from destruction. (A laugh, and "Hear, hear.") Now, what Parliament did was this, it transferred the patronage in Scotland from the landed proprietors generally to the congregations. They thought it would perhaps prop up the Church; that it would add to its popularity—perhaps make it as popular as the Free Church; but they seemed to forget that it was necessary to place the reliance of the Church on the hearts of the people. (Cheers.) And by that means only could they make it really and permanently popular. (Hear, hear.) Well, the church appears, as far as I can gather, to be very much puzzled what to do with its new powers; but the Free Churches of Scotland—the secessions from the Scotch Church, the United Presbyterian Church, and the Free Church—have declared by a remarkably unanimous vote that the ecclesiastical affairs of Scotland can never be placed upon a satisfactory basis until the Established Church of Scotland is disestablished and set free. (Applause.) The result of this is, that the Government, by its measure, has raised something like a new and great question in Scotland; they have stirred a fire which in all probability will no longer slumber; and there is a great likelihood that in the future elections for Scotland the question of disestablishment will come up as a great and vital question, before almost every constituency. (Hear, hear.) Ireland and Scotland, dealing, with the Scotch Kirk, formed the Scottish bill, and the Scottish bill was not the bill of the Government at all. It was introduced by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Now, the Archbishop of Canterbury is a very moderate man. Every Archbishop of Canterbury is a moderate man. (A laugh.) No man who is not believed to be very moderate could be elevated to that high office. But an old friend of mine once told me that he found the most reckless and dangerous things were often proposed and done by very moderate men. (A laugh.) Well, the Archbishop brought his bill into the House. It was cherished and cherished by the Lord Chancellor and Lord Shaftesbury; it was popular, and soon passed the House of Lords. It then came down to the House of Commons; and in the House of Commons it was found to be still more popular. Now may I tell you a little of my experience about the House of Commons? I never knew the House of Commons unanimous and enthusiastic about anything except at a time when it did not know what it was doing and where it was going. (Laughter.) I have known it twice [illegible] and almost unanimously—Sir Robert Peel and Lord John Russell brought in his bill on the subject of ecclesiastical titles amongst the Roman Catholics, the House was enthusiastic and unanimous almost, and the bill passed by enormous majorities. The bill was of no use except to irritate and exasperate. It was many years afterwards repealed by a still more unanimous House, and everybody who agreed to pass it, I presume, now wish es the matter to be forgotten. (Cheers) And another time when the House was almost unanimous, and very enthusiastic, was when it agreed to the declaration of war on the Russian Empire. I was in the House when that declaration of war was agreed to, and I spoke against it and objected to it. (Cheers) Well, what has happened since? There is scarcely a newspaper of that time that did not treat me with scorn and contempt and insult, on account of the course I took. I suffered much through public obliquy, and yet now, I believe, there are very few men to be met who do not believe that the House of Commons was foolish, and did a very unpatriotic and evil thing. (Cheers.)—Well, the bill came down to the House of Commons—I mean the Archbishop's bill—it was very popular, the Prime Minister was glad to have anything in his hand that was popular, he tagged himself to the Archbishop's apron, and the bill passed the House. Well, now what is the charge of this till? I ask you, gentlemen, citizens of this great country, residents of this great city, surrounded as you are by circumstances in connection with this great question which demands your serious attention what is it that this bill charges? Why did it exist? It is brought as a charge against some thousands, I believe, of the clergy of the Church of England that their conduct is lawless, and that they require to be curbed. Now, who are these clergy? I am not going to make any ill-natured or unfair—indeed I should say any attack upon the church—but I may ask you to consider the path on which you are invited to travel. Who are these persons, these some thousands of the clergy of the Church of England? Men who know very little of the dissenting ministers, say that in opposition to the dissenting ministers their clergymen are gentlemen. (Oh!) And yet their own friends—archbishops and bishops, and ministers of the State—declare that their conduct is so lawless that it is necessary to have special legislation to keep them in order. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) Now, a very dear old friend of mine, the late Col. Perronet Thompson—(hear, hear)—once said to me when there had been some talk somewhere of a revolt of troops, that it was a very dangerous thing when the extinguisher takes fire. (Laughter and cheers.) He thought that there was not much chance of the conflagration being put out; and so, if it be true that our State instructor in morals and religion have got into this condition of lawlessness, and they require special legislation to curb them, then I think things are coming to a serious pass, and it behooves all men and all women who think upon public questions at all, to consider the position in which we are placed. (Hear, hear.) We know that there are special cases in which there is special legislation. There is special legislation in regard to publicans, they sell articles which unfortunately promote disorder and crime and even madness, and special legislation is necessary There is special legislation for some other businesses. Marine store dealers for one. (Laughter.) Some years ago there was special legislation for a small and brutal class of men who go by the name of gurreters. It is said now that there will be some special legislation for persons who are so extraordinarily savage as to beat their wives. Well, all these may be necessary. I do not argue whether it is so or not, but there is something far more dreadful than this, and that is when you find men, thousands of them, upon whose consecrated hands the hands of a bishop has been placed, and still it is necessary to have special legislation to keep them in order. (Laughter and cheers.) Now, in a great body like the Church of England there will always be, there must always be, some very considerable divergence of opinion, and it is on account of this divergence that the Government have assisted to carry a new Act of Uniformity. Now, just over 200 years ago, there was a great and celebrated Act passed, which was known by the name of the Act of Uniformity. Under it at least 2000 men, the bulk of them pious and learned men, clergymen of the Church of England, were ejected from that Church. It was a most blessed secession for the country, because, no doubt, it laid the foundation of a party which has ever since in England been the consistent friend of freedom and improvement in legislation. (Cheers.) Under that Act, the persons who were ejected were those who were farthest from Rome, but under the Act passed last session the persons who are to be restrained, and if possible retained, are those agitators whom it is changed that they are honest and conscientiously going nearer to Rome. (Cheers.) There is great disappointment, they have got to obey the rules of men and women in the Church of England, and by many persons, in their notions of things, honours all of you who have been appointed to [illegible] and who have been appointed to [illegible] and who have been appointed to [illegible] and

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 25th, 1875.

PARLIAMENTARY.

Since the debate on the Amnesty question, nothing of an exciting nature has occurred at Ottawa. Mr. Cartwright has delivered his budget speech, indicating a fair and economical management of the finances of the country, and showing an increase in revenue as well as a fair surplus over expenditures.

The public works undertaken by the country before the advent to power of the present Government, will tax the resources of the country to their utmost. In 1867, when John A. McDonald got a new lease of power, the consolidated debt was placed at ($62,000,000) Sixty-two Millions. To day the best authorities place it at One Hundred and Fifty Millions, or an increase in the Dominion debt of two and a half times that amount in eight years. For the necessary outlay on the Pacific Railway yearly we may fairly put down an increase of about Five Millions perhaps ten millions some years, so that it will be completed in ten to fifteen years. This, with enlargement of canals and other public works, will entail an expenditure of a no trifling character. The redeeming feature of our debt is that it is spent in works of utility which will enhance the value of property and ensure prosperity. Our money has not been largely spent in war or on armaments, and a wise and conciliating policy may prevent anything that will necessitate a recourse to arms. So long as we are being taxed to build enduring and permanent improvements, all that will be needed is economy to prevent the waste and evil influence that accompany too often the expenditure of public money

About one million five hundred thousand dollars are annually spent in Canada at playing soldier. At least one half of this sum has been worse than wasted; there is no regular drill, the existence of companies, from the time of annual drill to the return of the season for it, is doubtful. When the time approaches boys and men, fond of a week's excitement and hot tea and coffee with more caffein or thein admixed, are picked up, and enrolled as volunteers. The eight days are spent, the men draw their pay, it may be admitted nothing so much, but here the matter ends for another year, and for this the Finance Minister has to provide $1,500,000 annually.

Malcolm Cameron, the member for South Ontario, said the other day in the House of Commons, that he would nearly as soon permit his son to learn to steal as to become a volunteer. If drunkenness and stealing, both, lead to moral ruin, then we is not far astray, for the eight days drill afford excellent opportunities to form drinking habits, whith are calculated to lead many to ruin. No one is opposed to the volunteers, nor are the people opposed to a wise outlay for national security and defence, but if our young men are to learn the art of war, Mr. Cameron and other men as patriotic as any of our citizens, think the temptation of strong drink should be removed out of their way. The public money should not be spent in such a way as to destroy the moral character of any one in the volunteer force. A change in our militia system is promised; let us hope that it will be for the better.

The expenditure for the year on the Pacific Railway surveys, gradings, telegraph line, &c., has been considerable, and it will be greater next season. The debates are dull on account of the state of the Opposition, and the doubtful character of their leader. The session will not be a long one; all ministers have already laid all their proposed measures before the House.

THE NEW POSTAGE BILL.

We have received a copy of the Bill amending the act relating to postage and consider it unjust to country publishers. It provides for the absolute necessity of prepayment of newspaper postage by the publisher, which is most unjust to all outside of the cities. At present city publishers send all their papers, or nearly all, to agents, having to prepay express, carriage. The new law cause their burden by making postage to agents less than express rates, thus giving the large dailies and weeklies a decided advantage over those of small towns and villages, which by the new postal regulations will have to prepay the postage on their entire issue. The postage on single papers is not less than before nor is there any provisions for paying by weight for all mailed to one post office. If, therefore, country publishers have to prepay by single papers, it will amount to not less than $300 a year, which becomes oppression on them, while the Globe, Mail, Leader, Witness, and large city papers have less to pay than before. Is this just or right? We ask no favors but we must protest against a law discriminating as this one does, against one class of publishers, and in favour of another class. Let us have a law allowing newspapers to pass free in the County in which they are published, and only light postage rates if they please on papers mailed to places outside of that County. But it is an injustice that we cannot submit to the Government will inflict, to force country papers to go for his postage because best to clubs or agents than if mailed singly as his to be done in the case of country newspapers.

ASSESSMENT AND ASSESSORS

The last number of the Norwood Register contains a good common sense article on the duties of Assessors, in which is pointed out some irregularities in the assessment roll of Asphodel. If our remarks a few weeks ago have been the means of inducing one "Injured Ratepayers," to draw attention to the shameful manner in which the assessor did his duty, and if the letter but arouse the people to see after this important duty, will feel amply repaid for our trouble and the silly attempt to turn our remarks to political account against Reformers. The duty of an assessor is the most important one in all our municipal institutions. His work forms the basis of all taxation for the year, and may by the mode pursued inflict the greatest injustice, not only on one ratepayer, but on many independent of the political aspect, although this is by no means the least wrong that can follow unjust assessments.

We have long contended that all property should be assessed at its cash value instead of at one-fourth or one-fifth of that value. The attempt to make a vote, no matter on what side of existing parties should be abolished, as unjust in principle and wrong in practice.

It is now a matter of notoriety that the political leanings of an assessor too often indicate the state of the voters' list, and we have seen the desperate effort made to get an assessor of a particular "political stripe," with a view to the making of votes no doubt.

The system of assessment that has prevailed entails the greatest wrong on the poor man. His property has to be valued at more than a fourth compared with a rich neighbour, in order not to deprive him of his vote. This entails increased taxes compared with the rich neighbor, which might not be if both were assessed at a cash value.

The writer in the Register gives a few examples, which we reprint, to show the gross neglect of duty in one township and we fear we might say in every township in this County. Two properties on King street, Norwood, are each worth $600. One is assessed at $200, the other at $100. We would like to know the political creed of the man assessed at $100 He was deprived of his vote. Of course he saved a little in taxes. On Peterboro Street, in the same village, there is property which the writer says is worth $800 assessed at $50, or $10 less than is paid in yearly rent for the property. This belongs, no doubt, to some man that has other property to put along with it. In the very centre of Norwood, the writer says there is a property worth $1,550—there is a three storey brick edifice besides a half dozen other buildings, the whole worth not less than $8000, assessed at $450. Another property on the back street, the writer considers worth $150, yet it is assessed as high as the other, viz: $450. A farmer in the township owns a farm worth $60 an acre, and yet he is assessed at $600. He concludes thus:

"I have no doubt that to some extent the Municipal Council is to blame for the low assessment, but not for the glaringly unjust manner in which the Assessor has discriminated between different parties.

As a hint to the newly appointed Assessor, and by way of conclusion, allow me to say that certain ratepayers have come to the determination no longer to be imposed upon, and to insist upon the strict letter of the law being carried out, no matter what the consequence may be."

This Ratepayer has probed the matter a little. We could add to his information what we heard in reference to an assessment in Asphodel, but we refrain, merely wishing this "Injured Ratepayer" success in his determination "to be no longer imposed upon" in this matter.

The people of Lakefield are also determined to have the assessment law enforced, and if they see to it, they will deserve the thanks of the majority of the County. The great obstacle in the way, is the fear of unjust assessments in other municipalities, but if they find this to prevail they can apply the remedy and prosecute the guilty assessor or assessors. It will require to be only once to produce a whole some effect. The writer has just now in his mind property which is worth $1000 to $1200 per acre valued at $40 to $45 per acre; and other property, portions of which are being sold from time to time at from $800 to $1000 per acre, and these are assessed at about $100 to $160 per acre. How can these irregularities continue to exist if assessors do their duty. Now is the time to give the assessors warning, so that if prosecuted for malfeasance of office hereafter, they may have no excuse.

The following extract from the communication referred to fully justifies the remarks we made a few weeks ago.

"The Examiner, after the late election contest, drew attention to the many illegal votes in this township. The inference drawn was not correct. there being as many bad votes on the one side as on the other. Yet the fact remains that a great many illegal vote, there are, and placed there, I believe, in almost every instance with the knowledge of the Assessor.

COUNTY COUNCIL

The Council met in special session yesterday.

All the members present except Mr. Blewett.

The Warden addressed the Council on the cause of his calling them together and asking them to decide as to a temporary bridge, and the construction of a new one in the place of the broken one. The Address was referred to a Committee.

Messrs. Belcher and Bird reported on the state of the standing span, but reported it in a bad state, and recommended that it be taken down, and a new structure put in its place.

Messrs Boyd and Croly, of this town Mr. Brown, of Haldimand, and Mr. Griffin, of Wentworth, addressed the Council and submitted plans of a new bridge for one or both spans. The latter gentlemen in answer to questions stated that the standing span could be made moderately safe for about $200 to $300 by using the old material, or for about $500 by putting new and first quality of iron. All condemned the iron in the first bridge as bad, not fit to be put in anything, the worst quality, &c. Mr. Burnham to vest the minds of the Council, seconded by Mr. Boulton, moved that a new iron bridge be built, and that the standing span be not used in it.

Mr. Corbett moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Brown, that the new bridge be of wood, and across the whole river.

An amendment was carried by 9 to 5

The original motion was then put, on the same division, but reversed.

The Council adjourned till ten o'clock to-day.

COBOURG and the M L F

The Cobourg Star is bewailing the injustice done to that town by the Mowat settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund. During the Election contest John Carnagie wailed the other way, asserting that in consequence of too much leniency to Cobourg and Peterborough, Peterborough East and West had suffered injustice. Those good Conservatives do not agree in their philosophy; but it was politics and not principle or truth that actuated John.

Hear what the Star, (Conservative,) says:

COBOURG CALLED UPON TO PAY.

Cobourg has been called upon to pay the interest of the debt saddled upon her by the Ontario Government, the amount being $70,000 and the annual interest, $3,500. After the Railway was built and in running order, the Legislature of Canada, then sitting in Toronto, passed an Act reviving an old Charter from Port Hope to Peterborough, and Peterborough wishing for two roads, subscribed $100,000 towards building the Branch to Millbrook, which completed the connection with Port Hope, and cut off the trade of the back country from Cobourg. Under those circumstances, Cobourg refused to pay any further interest to the Municipal Loan Fund. and the Government recognizing the fact that the Legislature had destroyed our prospects by giving a rival Charter to a better and shorter line, did not attempt to enforce their claim. The indebtedness of this Town was to all intents and purposes wiped out. But in the settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund Mr. Mowat's Government revived the claim and awarded us to pay $70,000, in liquidation of the whole sum borrowed.

For the losses which we had sustained by having our trade with the back country cut off by the action of the Legislature in chartering a rival line, we had the right to expect that our debt would be cancelled; and we did expect it. When we yielded obedience to the act of the Legislature we confided in its justice. This was our mainstay and support in the hour of trouble and misfortune. This, too, has now been wrenched from us The first blow —the loss or all that we had invested in our railway,—we were prepared to receive; but the second fell upon us with the weight of an unexpected calamity. We were entitled to expect that a great injury would be compensated by a long indulgence, and that we would be permitted to recruit our strength, and repair our loss before we became the victims of an economical experiment. We have been cheated alike of our hope and prosperity, and are left to struggle with the calamities which the Legislature has heaped upon us, and are thrown upon our own resources. Deserted at the same time by the Government and the Legislature, we have looked about to see in what way we could help ourselves. Our only device was to repair this loss by a severe economy, and to neutralize by retrenchment the evils of Legislative action. This is what we have done and are doing, but, after all, it is but a drop in the bucket, and we must demand some further consideration from the Government.

Through the action of the Legislature we have lost the lumber and grain trade of the whole country.

Through the Legislature, we are exposed to the merciless competition of our sister Towns.

Through the Legislature we have been overwhelmed with a burden too heavy for us to bear.

Our taxation is already so heavy that the question with hundreds of our people is, whether they shall sell their property for a tenth part of its value and quit the Town for good. Whichever way they turn they recognize nothing but the hopelessness of making any exertion, and the wretchedness of making none.

It all depends upon Mr. Mowat's Government and the Legislature, whether this depression be merely temporary or is destined to be perpetual. Without aid from those sources we will not be able to raise our heads above the sea of troubles that now surrounds us. The present crisis is plain; —its cause is notorious, its remedy is obvious. Mr. Mowat must be asked to withhold his demand for interest until we can appeal to the forbearance and justice of the Legislature, If he will not do so our finances will be thrown into confusion, the Government into perplexity, and the people into disgust and discontent.

WHERE IS BOASTING NOW?

The Editor of the Review is very quiet over the protests. Is he beginning to fear that his fiddle is out of tune? Some of the friends of the Opposition are already proposing a withdrawal if the East Riding Petition be withdrawn. They have ceased boasting lately, especially since Sir John's master stroke didn't carry the French party. But, as he said, we'll see what we'll see.

They now seek to lay the blame of the protests on the parties who filed the petition against the return for the East In doing so they forget how they threatened, and, boasted and clapped their wings for a week or two, before any thing was done in the East. They also forget to tell those to whom they talk, that Mr. H. H. Smith had the petion or protest in his pocket for more than a week, showing it now and then to the doubting few. They both are now in, and we'll see what we'll see.

Accounts from—

Douglass & Logan.....$20.00.
Davidson & Co..... 3.40.
Robertson & Walsh.... 31.25.

were referred to the Finance committee

A Report from the Inspector of Streets and Bridges was read, showing the amount paid for work.

The following report of the Finance Committee was read.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Your Committee beg to report having examined the following accounts and claims, and finding them correct, recommended their payment:

Messrs. Bertram, acct.....	$101 37
Geo. Stethem's acct.....	3 44
J. Tagney's acc'.....	3 13

Your Committee recommend that the Treasurer be instructed to pay the account of N Berrensbaw for $6.50 and Mr. Cole $11.25 for attendances on the late F. H Knapp, on the order of the Chairman of the Charity Committee.

Your Committee are of opinion that the petition of Messrs. Brodie & Paisly cannot be entertained.

With reference to the account from F. McAuliffe, for cedars, your Committee cannot find that this Corporation is indebted to Mr. McAuliffe. Mr. Breckenridge bought the cedars on his account to sell again to the town and has already been paid for whatever of them have been used.

With regard to the resolutions from the Board of School Trustees, asking to be allowed to retain the $3,600, placed in the estimate in error last year, to be appropriated to the payment of salaries for the current year, your committee recommend that the request be acceded to, but that the School Trustees be requested to allow the Town the same rate of interest as has been charged, as charged by them for the amount during last year for the term of three months from the date of payment This Committee have examined the School Estimates of last year and made a comparative estimate of what will be required this year for school purpose, which we think ought not to exceed for the current expenses of the School the sum of 12,500 or $13,000, and assuming the Government allowance to be the same amount as last year, the $3,600 alluded to in their resolutions, which is being paid now for the year's purposes in advance, will make $7,388 to be deducted from the former amount, so that your Committee do not think the Town will be required to provide more than about $5,500 to 6000 for School purposes this year.

With regard to the Communication of the Town Treasurer, in reference to providing for the $3,500 borrowed from the Ontario Bank, for the purpose of paying for the South Ward School building, it will be necessary to make arrangements with the Ontario or some other Bank, to carry the amount for the Town until debentures can be issued for the No. 1 Ward School, or borrow the amount from the Commissioners of the Town Fund.

This Committee are of opinion that it would be advisable to make an arrangement with some of the Banks to loan the amount until the debentures for School purposes are issued. which cannot be done until after the next meeting of Parliament in Toronto. This will not in all probability take place until next November.

Respectfully submitted.

W. BEAL Chairman.

A report from the committee on appointments to office, recommending Mr Thos. Beavis. Inspector of Licenses, and Mr. T. E. Belcher, Town Engineer, was read and received.

To the Mayor and Town Council:

Gentlemen,—The Committee to whom was referred the communication of Frank Dobbin, Secretary of the late Independent Band, beg leave to report.

Your Committee would recommend the Council to call in all the instruments, and pay each of the late Band having just claims and holding instruments, for their respective claims.

Your Committee recommend the Council to appoint the Chairman of this Committee a Trustee on behalf of the Town to take and keep possession of the instruments until otherwise ordered by the Council.

And your Committee would further recommend that before the instruments are given out, bonds will be required from each person receiving any one of the instruments, and also a deposit of five dollars in the hands of the Trustee; and, further, any member of the band wanting any of the said instruments, shall receive a recommend from the Band Trustee and Secretary. And if any member of the band wishes to withdraw from said Band, he shall hand the instrument to the Town Trustee, and demand his five dollars, providing the instrument is in perfect order. If said instrument is in any way damaged, to give a satisfactory reason for the cause of such damage.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM HELM
Chairman of Committee.

Your Committee find that 18 loads of firewood have been given to sundry persons since the first of this month.

We have also an application from a young man named Cornelius Kennedy, who has got his feet frozen; we have called on him, and would recommend that Mr. M. Christy be allowed two dollars, and one dollar a week for four weeks.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. PATERSON,
Chairman of Charity Committee.

Moved by Mr. Patterson, seconded by Mr. Hamilton,—That the Clerk have a By-law prepared with reference to Mr. McNamara's petition in accordance with the act regulating the running of R.R. trains, within the limits of the corporation.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Hamilton,—That Mr. Jas. Buller be and is hereby appointed a special constable for Ward No. 1, without a salary, and that Chief Constable Johnston furnish him with a Constable's Badge. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Helm,—That the tenders of Narcisus Feli and D. Roseberry, be referred to the Special Committee appointed to enquire into the best method of Covering the Bridges—with instructions to report. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That the Town Clerk be instructed to prepare and get printed proper pay lists to be filled in each week by the Street Inspector and certified to by him, and that in future the Treasurer pay the employees of the Town individually, and further that the pay lists be afterwards submitted to the Finance Committee. Carried.

On motion a by-law to repeal the license by-law passed at last meeting, and to provide for issuing licenses was read a first time.

The Council adjourned till Thursday evening at 7.30 p.m.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the above road was held on Tuesday, 16th instant, at Port Hope.

Mr. Hugel read a report from which we gather the following items of interest.

Receipt of 1874.....	$303,602,56
" "	318,157,88
Decrease.....	14,557.32
Decrease in Lumber.....	10,000,000 ft

36,000,000 feet passed over the road in 1872. There is an increase in passenger, general goods, grain, &c.

The working expenses of the line.....	$117,751,87
" " " ...	120,178,90

or 58 per cent off gross receipts.

Mr. Hugel feels confident that he will be able to complete the line to Waubashene next summer.

The Report was received and unanimously adopted.

Mr. Hugel entertained the shareholders and directors afterwards to a private lunch.

Several gentlemen who had done good service to the Midland R. R. were also present, and amongst these we find that of Mr. Romaine, of Peterborough. In connection with whom we find the following:

From Report in Port Hope Times:—"The Banking Institutions" proposed by Mr. Hugel, in a brief but complimentary speech, coupled with the names of Messrs. A. M. Cosby and R. A. McGregor, was responded to by those gentlemen in appropriate terms.

Mr. Romaine rose to answer a question, and in reply said he had at one time spoken to a great many people in reference to the removal of the head offices of the Company to that town, and found all very anxious that Peterborough should be made the main line and become the head-quarters of the Midland.

Mr. Fraser said he had a large interest in Peterboro. He thought the Midland the best property in Ontario, and he was very sorry the people of Port Hope did not appreciate its importance. He felt that he would like to sell out in Port Hope unless something was done for the railway. We have an excellent harbor, but it would not amount to much without the road, and the town should give a bonus of $100,000.

Mr. Hugel proposed the health of Mr. Robert Romaine, editor and proprietor of the Peterborough Review, who had ably advocated the interests of the Midland Railway, and who had done good service on its behalf.

In response Mr. Romaine said it was true he had aided the Midland Railway in its efforts to progress, and thought in doing so he had only performed his duty to the good town of Peterboro, as he thought the interests of that town were bound up in the Midland only to a less extent than Port Hope. When completed to Midland it would undoubtedly be the best railway, geographically and topographically in the Dominion.

Mr. Covert proposed the health of Mr Tayler (who had just arrived) as an old associate, not only of the Midland, but on the old Cobourg Road also, a man of few words but a great many acts. He had always given satisfaction in every position he had filled by his ability and good management. His promotion as superintendent had resulted in substantial gain to the Co'y. of which he was a faithful official,

A little farther on we find the following:—

Mr. Fraser then gave The Press, speaking in favorable terms of the Times, which elicited a suitable reply from Mr. Trayes,

Mr. Romaine being also called for said Port Hope would have to be very careful for it would not be the fault of the people of Peterboro, if it was not put made the headquarters of the road. He thought that town would be willing to give a bonus of from $100,000 to $200,000. He then gave some interesting details in reference to the back country which he was sorry was not better known and appreciated and known by the people of Port Hope.

Mr. Romaine may have thought he was speaking the minds of the people of Peterboro, but he will find that before they will do as he sets forth better terms will be demanded.

The people of Port Hope should deal liberally with the Midland Company. To them it is all important; but it is a little different with Peterborough.

The action of the Midland Co'y forced two of our largest forwarding firms to remove from us, and their neglect to afford our merchants accommodation to get away their grain, flour, &c., has been the cause of numerous and grievous complaints here. There are no two opinions but that the Company could have done better for Peterboro than it has done. If it is so in this respect there is no telling what the people would do. Still we will be excused for giving it as our opinion that they will require an equivalent before voting away $200,000. This was merely to move the passions on the Port Hope people.

VISITING ASSOCIATION.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PETERBOROUGH AND ASHBURNHAM DISTRICT VISITING ASSOCIATION 1874.

In presenting their second Annual Report, your Committee feel that there are some things which are encouraging and some which are discouraging in the work of the past year.

The year began with what seemed great misfortune—the loss of our first President, Mrs. Renaud, who had been the most valued of all our members, a devoted and successful visitor, and one specially fitted for the duties devolving on the President at the meetings, and for being the guide and helper of all the members.

But notwithstanding all discouragements, we have cause for thankfulness in the very fact that the work has gone on, twenty-one districts, containing about three hundred and sixty families, having been more or less regularly visited; and no doubt individual visitors, who have not made any report to the Committee, know of real good that has been done. In one district the visitor tells of two persons in whom there has been a very decided change, and that many in the district express their thankfulness for the tracts and for the visits paid them, saying that the present and former visitors were the only friends they had to care for their spiritual interests. In almost every district there are old people, or sick ones, who, though specially needing Christian sympathy and help, would get none but for the visitor who comes regularly to read God's word to them and cheer them with words of kindness. And what a boon these visits are to such, we who are blessed with health and every comfort cannot realise. As a hint that may perhaps help other visitors, we may mention that one visitor called on a French woman who would not accept a tract, but on calling again the visitor found that the woman thought she was expected to pay for them and now takes French tracts regularly.

The object of this association is the care for the souls of those to whom its members go and to labour for their conversion and help in the christian life; still much temporal help is often brought to the sick and poor by the personal kindness of the visitors, and by cases of distress being found out that would not otherwise be known, and reported to those who can aid them. Any such cases should be made known either personally or through your secretary, to the committee of the Protestant Home. But one great trouble amongst the very poor, the want of sufficient winter clothing, the committee of the Home have not so far been able fully to meet, and some help was given in our first year by our forming a clothing club. This was not done last winter, but something, we hope may be done in that way, if necessary, during the coming winter.

Our report would not be complete without some mention of the South End Mission Sunday School, the founding of which was suggested by this association, and which at the beginning of this year we were able to help out of our funds at a time when it greatly needed help. This school, though always having a claim on the sympathies and help of this association, is entirely under the management of the superintendent and teachers, which have been very successful, there being now an average attendance of about sixty scholars, and a new school room being in course of erection through the liberality of the teachers and friends of the Sunday School. And it is hoped that when the new building is completed, it may be a centre of religious interest for the district where Sabbath and week day services may be held, for not only the children, but all in the neighborhood.

What your committee feel to be the most discouraging thing they have to report is the small attendance there has been at the monthly meetings for some months past. And this they think must be caused by a want of understanding the object of these meetings; for they find that some do not come because they have not been able to visit their districts as regularly as usual. But this should be the more reason for their coming. We meet together to hear reports from the different districts, in order to help each other by mutual interchange of sentiments and advice, and by sympathy in our efforts to extend the kindom of Christ; and, oh! does not every Christian sister here, who is earnestly trying to win souls for the Saviour, and meeting with the many discouragements that we constantly find in our way, feel how cheering and helpful is the christian sympathy and counsel of those engaged in the same good work. And another special object of our meeting here monthly, is to unite our prayers for the cause of God in our town and neighborhood, and we earnestly invite all christian sisters to help in the good work in every way that they can.

E. GILMOUR,
Secretary.

DUMMER COUNCIL.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Mr. Editor, will you give me space in your valuable paper to say a little in reference to the doings of our Council. Last year our Council made a By-law stating what should be done with our Municipal Loan Fund which amounted to something over four thousand dollars. We find by that by-law that four hundred dollars was to be spent on the side line between lots 10 and 11, on the 4th concession. Another four hundred in opening up the road known as White Lake Road. At the convention held in Warsaw, on December 28th, some of the ratepayers found fault with the Council for spending this money on these roads which would be of little use to any one. But the Council informed those men that this by-law had been signed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and therefore could not be broken by any Council, but must be spent according to by-law. At the last meeting of Council our Reeve and Councillors saw fit for their own purpose to break the said by-law and instead of spending four hundred dollars between lots 10 and 11 they are going to run their side line through lot 11. If the Council can do this the whole by-law is not worth much. What was the Council's idea in appointing $400 to open this side line in the Township of Douro. We understand that it cannot be opened up very far unless at a large cost of money; and if it was opened there would be few to travel on. If the Council wish to open a road back to Burleigh, why not go to the east side line North where it is open back to the 7th concession, why not spend a portion of this money in repairing this road and open it as far as money will allow. It would cost hundreds of dollars to open the side line between lots 10 and 11 and to the 8th concession. We think that the Council meeting have scarcely any personal interest in this line.

But what about the White Lake Road? We have heard that it is to begin somewhere near lot 18, or George Payne's Bridge on the 3rd concession Line, and to take the East side of the Indian River to go in a North East direction and strikes David Drain's road; the distance from Payne's Bridge to Drain's road must be six or seven miles, that it will require 64 rod of a crossway as the North end of it the balance will be a very rough Country. What will $400 do with this road? Two thousand dollars would not make it fit to travel on in summer, and who will it benefit; why not take this money and spend it on the road already open and have a road fit to travel on; but if White Lake road is opened the people in the North East part of the township will have no road at all. But, Mr. Editor, this road has never been surveyed and whether a road can be had there we think remains to be known.

Will our Reeve or Council answer the following questions, viz:—

1st When and by whom were you petitioned by a portion of the ratepayers of Dummer, to open either of these Roads;

2nd. What are your motives for spending this money on these roads.

By answering the above question satisfactorily, you will oblige a large number of the ratepayers in Dummer, and also remove a good deal of blame from yourselves.

We understand further, that at the last meeting of the Council their salary was raised from $1.50 to $2.00 per sitting, and if our Council hold as many meetings this year as they did last, our taxes will be no less.

We are, Mr. Editor,
RATEPAYERS IN WANT OF LIGHT.

THE QUEENS SPEECH

HOUSE OF LORDS.

Friday, Feb. 5.

The second session of the ninth Parliament of Her Majesty was opened by Royal Commission to-day, in the presence of about 20 peers and a large body of the members of the House of Commons. The Treasury and the front Opposition benches were unoccupied during the ceremony. There was a large number of ladies in the Peers' seats, and the strangers gallery was filled by ladies and gentlemen. The Royal Commissioners entered the House and took their places in front of the throne at 3 o'clock. There were the Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Malmesbury, the Marquis of Hertford, Earl Beauchamp having divested Colonel Clifford, Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, to summon the Commons, the Speaker, attended by the Serjeant-at-Arms and the Yeoman Usher, came to the bar some after, followed by about 100 members of the House of Commons. The Royal Commissioners having been read by Mr. Bethell, one of the clerks at the table.

The Lord Chancellor read the following most gracious Speech of Her Majesty:—

"My Lords and Gentlemen, It is with great satisfaction that I again meet you, and resort to the advice and assistance of my Parliament.

"I continue to receive assurance of friendship from all foreign Powers. The peace of Europe has remained, and I trust will remain unbroken. To preserve and consolidate it will ever be a main object of my endeavours.

"The Conference held at Brussels on the Laws and Usages of War has concluded its sittings. My Government have carefully examined the reports proceedings; but bearing in mind, on the one hand, the importance of the principles involved, and, on the other, the widely divergent opinions which were there expressed, and the impossibility of their being reconciled, I have not thought it right to accede to proposals which have been made for further negotiations on the subject. The correspondence which has passed will be presented to you.

"The Government of Spain, presided over by Marshall Serrano, has ceased to exist, and the Prince of Asturias has been called to the throne under the title of King Alfonso XII. The question of formally recognising, in concert with other powers, the newly-restored Monarchy, is at that moment before my Government, and its decision will not be long delayed. It is my earnest hope that internal peace may be speedily restored to a great but fortunate country.

"The exertions of my Naval and Consular servants in the repression of the East African Slave Trade have not been relaxed, and I confidently trust that they will bring about the complete extinction of a traffic equally repugnant to humanity and injurious to legitimate commerce.

"The differences which had arisen between China and Japan, and which at one time threatened to lead to war between those States, have been happily adjusted. I have learned with pleasure that the good officers of Minister at Pekin have been largely instrumental in bringing about this result.

"The past year has been one of general prosperity and progress throughout my Colonial Empire.

"On the Gold Coast a steady advance has been made in the establishments of Civil Government, peace has been maintained, and I have procured the assent of the protected tribes to the abolition of slavery. Henceforward, I trust, freedom will exist there, as in every part of my Dominions.

"In Natal, I have found myself under the necessity of reviewing the sentence which has been passed upon a native chief, and of considering the condition of the tribes and their relations to the European settlers and my Government. I doubt not that I shall have your concurrence in any measure which it may become my duty to adopt for insuring a wise and humane system of native administration in that part of South Africa

"Papers will be laid before you on these several matters.

"The King and Chiefs of Fiji having made a new offer of their islands unsolicited by conditions, I have thought it right to accept the cession of a territory which, independently of its large natural resources, offers important maritime advantages to my fleets in the Pacific.

"An ample harvest has restored prosperity to the Provinces of my Eastern Empire which last year were visited with famine. By the blessing of Providence my Indian Governments has been able to avert the loss of life which I had reason to apprehend from that great calamity

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons,—

"I have directed the estimates of the year to be prepared and presented to you without delay.

"My Lords and Gentlemen,—

"The condition of the finances is satisfactory. The trade of the country in the past year has somewhat fallen short of that of the year before, but the general prosperity of the people, supported as it has been by an excellent harvest, as well as by the great reductions lately made in taxation, has led to a steady increase in the consumption of all the necessities of life, and of those articles which contribute to the revenue.

"The various statutes of an exceptional or temporary nature now in force for the preservation of peace in Ireland will be brought to your notice with a view to determine whether some of them may not be dispensed with.

"Several measures which were unavoidably postponed at the end of last session will be again introduced. Among the most important are those for simplifying the transfer of land and completing the reconstruction of the Judicature,

"Bills will be also laid before you for facilitating the improvement of the dwellings of the working classes in large towns: for the consolidation and amendment of the Sanitary Laws; and for the prevention of the pollution of rivers.

"A measure has been prepared for consolidating and amending the laws relating to friendly societies. Its object will be to enlist, without unnecessarily interfering with, the laudable efforts of my people to make provision for themselves against some of the calamities of life."

"A bill for the amendment of the Merchant Shipping Acts will be laid before you.

"Your attention will be moreover directed to legislation for the better security of my subjects from personal violence on, and for more effectually preserving for the trial of offences by constituting the office of a Public Prosecutor.

"Although the report of the Council submitted by me to Inquire into the state and working of the Law as to offences connected with Public Meetings, Combinations, &c., would not call any legislation in this session, which may be found to be expedient may take place in the present year.

Re-elected.

Mr. John Flavin McDougall is re-elected by a majority of about 30.

Our Thanks

Are due to James Hall, Esquire, M.P. and to J. Bertram, Esquire, M. P., for several valuable parliamentary papers, and for a copy of the Hansard forwarded regularly.

Mr P D Doran

Has succeeded to the whole business of the Messrs. Elliott & Whitney and is offering bargains for 2 few weeks. Give him a call and examine his goods and hear his prices.

Farm for Sale

Mrs. Jane Thompson, of South Monaghan, is offering an excellent farm for sale. The soil is of best quality, and the farm is one and a half miles from Bobcaygeon.

Mr W. H. Scott

Has filed a petition against the return of Mr. Cox. He has not claimed the seat, however, and if reports be true, does not intend being a candidate, if Mr. Cox should be unseated, which is not at all likely.

Bible Society

The Peterboro' Branch Bible Society will hold a meeting in the George Street Methodist Church, on Monday evening, 1st March, at which the local agent with several ministers will address the meeting. Chair to be taken at 7.30 o'clock.

Bound for Europe

Mr. Loah intimates to his numerous customers that his business will be continued in his absence, on his visit to the "Fatherland," and that it will be conducted in the interest of those who patronize him, by selling at moderate prices.

Fishery.

Mr Bunster, of British Columbia, made an attempt on Thursday last to get the wine refreshment rooms re-established in the House of Commons, but failed. The common sense of the House prefers that the thirsty members should go some other place for their drinks.

Diverse Opinions

Some are of opinion that the Iron Bridge fell up, and not a few are convinced that it fell down. A large number of ratepayers in both town and county are anxious to see it up again, established on a sure and certain basis.

Irish Affairs.

Mr. John Mitchell was lately elected for Tipperary, but was not permitted to take his seat. He is fugitive in America, and cannot return to his native country least he might fall into the hands of the officers of the Law, and be again sent to some fine colony.

The Canada Farmer.

This very excellent monthly is becoming still more popular from year to year. It is very much improved in appearance, coming as it does in a new paper cover. The reading matter is invaluable to farmers, gardeners, and poulterers; and the information on almost every subject that every one number contains, is worth the annual subscription.

County of Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Society

We are informed that the first Annual Meeting of the above Society will take place at the Hutchison House, on Wednesday evening next, the third of March, when the election of Officers for the year will take place. A full attendance of members is earnestly requested.

Liberal.

The Lindsay School Board at its last meeting, according to a report in the Warder, appointed Messrs Bennett and Reeve Auditors, at a salary of $100 each. These Auditors should keep the finance in "ship-shape." The Lindsay School Board Auditors get as much as Peterborough teachers get. The Secretary and Treasurer gets $75.

A Temporary Bridge.

A numerously signed petition was presented to the Town Council on Monday evening, praying that a temporary bridge be erected across the Ouseabec River to serve till a more permanent structure be erected on the proper site. It is an absolute necessity, as at present there is great danger and uncertainty in crossing the river.

Musical

Mr. G. Ambdown of Amherstburg, Ont. shows rare good taste in the selections for THE CHRISTMAS, No. 3 of which lies on our table. Its contents are the new Anthem, "Hark the Song of Jubilee," and a sacred Quartette. "Go to thy rest in peace." This is a Canadian enterprise and we are pleased to learn that subscriptions are rolling in. It is a marvel of cheapness being only 50c. a year and postage free. If you send 15c. you will receive the first three numbers by return mail. The next number will contain two rousing secular Choruses and a splendid Glee for male voices.

Attempted Burglary in Asphodel.

The Norwood Register gives an account of an attempted burglary on the premises of Mr. Thos. Ford, of that township. Two scamps, [illegible] Greenbanks, on their way home from Mr. Ford's [illegible] a horse between them in the woods, and suspecting something wrong, their father sent them back to tell Mr. Ford. They found a man in the granary filling up pans. He attempted the escape, but the [illegible] and locked up in Mr. Fordy stable, but the fellow broke the stable door, took his horse and left such motives. Mr. Ford went to his house in Hastings and told him if he would leave at once, he would prevent his father. The fellow took the hint and left for other parts. The Register does not give his name.

The Rejected Ex-Governor.

On account of the death of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq., of Toronto, a new election will be necessary. In this connection some rumor says that the conservatives intend inviting the rejected ex-governor of Manitoba, Mr. Wm. MacDougall, to take the position, ignoring the claims of several capable conservatives in the riding. We have to regret that another election is necessary, but the fates having decreed that such should be the case, we hope that a better man than Wm. MacDougall will be returned, and would therefore suggest that no promises be made until it is publicly known who the candidate may be.

Personal.

Mr. G. B. Mills has been appointed Local agent at Napanee of the Canada Life Insurance Company, and he and his family removed thither last week. The best wishes of their numerous friends here for their success and happiness accompany him and his good lady. They are sociable, kind and courteous, and will soon make many friends whither they are gone.

Personal

Mr. M. W. C. Sanders is clerk of the Municipality of Lakefield. The council and ratepayers are determined that their property shall be assessed according to law, and have appointed Mr. G. J. Galvin their first assessor, and have made an excellent choice.

A Cold Season.

We have had several parties complain that their whiskey from this year in their flavor and in many instances this is given as proof positive of severe weather this season. A few, however, insinuate that not the liquor but the water freezes, and thus cruelly implies that even Old Rye may be skimmed with water. Pure water is a blessing not to be despised just now, when many springs are dry.

Dr Tucker's Lecture.

Announced for Friday evening, offers an opportunity not often enjoyed in this community, of obtaining an intellectual entertainment of a very high order. A graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, the lecturer has been for years a devoted student, and from time to time, has given to the public the fruits of his literary labor, in lectures and addresses worthy of the important themes on which he has discoursed, and of the celebrated seat of learning with whose well-earned honors he has been decorated. To just and valuable thought he adds the charms of elegant style, and an attractive personal manner, whereby his public appearances have been invariably made both instructive and pleasing to the large audiences whom the announcement of his name has always secured, where he is known personally, or by reputation. It is no disparagement to others, from different quarters, who have come before a Peterborough audience, to say, as is said with all confidence, that, with one or two exceptions, his equal has not appeared among us. All that "Chip's" Lectures was in humor and light entertainment, the present lecture will be found to be in its own more purely literary character. Let those who can appreciate such rare excellence, and they must be numerous in the society of the Town and neighborhood, make it their study to attend and show their appreciation of a form of public entertainment fitted to refine the taste and elevate the mental tone of the population. The tickets of admission have been placed at the lowest rate—25 cents—in order to admit of the most general attendance.—COX.

Sabbath School Convention

A Sabbath School Convention of the Townships of Smith and Douro, was held in the Methodist Church, Lakefield, on the 9th and 10th inst. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there was a good attendance at each of the Sessions. A Mass Meeting of the S. S. Scholars in Lakefield and vicinity, was held in the Presbyterian Church in the afternoon of the second day, when very interesting and pointed addresses were delivered by the Rev. C. Carroll, C. Macpherson, W. L. Scott, J. McCamus and N. Clark. The Scholars showed by their prompt and correct answers to the many questions put by the different speakers that great pains had been taken by their instructors in their training. The subjects on the programme were discussed by the Convention in a very earnest and lively manner. A spirit of Christian love and union pervaded all the meetings insomuch that although different opinions were expressed on some of the subjects. Each one felt "How good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." The following gentlemen took part in the discussions:—Rev's C. Carroll, W. L. Scott, N. Clark, J McCamus, A. Richard, C. Northrup, Messrs. T. S. Bell, T. Elliott, W. Harper, McCombie, J. Sharpe, Atkinson, C. Crook and Major Bolton. The Choir, who attended all the meetings, rendered very efficient service by singing many very lively and appropriate pieces. The Convention separated at about 9 o'clock on Wednesday evening, pleased and instructed by coming together, and with renewed determination to be more and more devoted to the work of bringing the rising generation to Him who has said, "Suffer little Children to come unto Me," and of installing into their minds the principles and doctrines of our common Christianity.

NORWOOD.

Norwood is to have a Cheese Factory.

Mr. John Elliott, of Asphodel, died last week at the age of 80 years.

Mr. James Harper received a severe injury at Mr. Finlay's hoop and stave factory by a spoke flying out of its position and striking him on the forehead, giving him a severe scalp wound.

Mr. James Hamilton fell through the loft of the barn at Mr. H. Beckett, and dislocated the collar bone, and broke several ribs.

The South Dummer Factory.

A meeting of the patrons of the South Dummer Cheese Factory was held at the Factory on Wednesday of last week. There was a very large attendance, and considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings. The business of the past season, as well as the results of the working of the Factory for the ensuing year, were taken into consideration; and Mr. J Elliot president of the Factory gave a lengthy statement embracing the business and other items regarding the conducting of its affairs for the past season from which was gathered that the Factory in every respect has been a decided success and that a fair dividend to each of the patrons has been the result of the efforts of the above made in it.

A large majority of the patrons expressed their satisfaction with the manner in which Mr. Elliot had conducted his part in the management of the business of the Factory, and a desire that he would continue to take the interest in the which it for the coming season. It is understood that he has consented to do this having received the promise of support from nearly every one of the old patrons of the Factory and expecting to receive the patronage of a number of farmers who have not yet sent any cows to the establishment.—Register.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

On Monday a sad accident happened to a train which left Rivière du Loup at seven in the morning. About noon, as the train was approaching Trois Sammon's Bridge, carpenters, who were employed repairing the bridge, went ahead of the engines, holding a red flag which the engineers were unable to see on account of heavy snow being thrown up by the plough attached to the engines. Two engines and one baggage car were precipitated over the bridge into the river. The two engineers and one fireman were killed, all residents of Point Levis. Only one body has as yet been recovered—the others are supposed to be under the engines in the bed of the river, No passengers were injured.

THE LATEST.

The Tobacco County of Lincolnshire is running all about town that the Hon. R. M. Wells is going to take the position of Provincial Treasurer, in place of Mr. Crooks, who was defeated at the late elections. Mr. Wells is a shrewd financier, and we hope that the rumour may prove true. The Conservatives appear to have great faith in the report, and E. A. Healy has already declared his intention of opposing Mr. Wells, should he accept office and come back for re-election.

A few days ago a huckster from London purchased a quantity of what was supposed to be butter, from a party residing not a hundred miles from the township of Caradoc. On examination, however, it was found to consist of a thin disguise of good butter, a quantity of stones and dirty grease. The huckster was naturally indignant, and the next day he repaired to the scene of action. Meeting with the guilty party at home, he left a notice at the house of a neighbor, asking the favor of a greased and stoned to settle the matter at once on pain of being proceeded against with such pains and penalties as the law directs. With a wholesome dread of consequences he was glad to proceed to the Forest City next day, where he settled the matter by paying back the money and $2 more for the trouble he had caused, and became quite an enthusiastic possessor of the stones and grease. But with a perseverance worthy of a better cause he very soon brought the patent mixture to Strathroy, and sold it to one of the grocers, perhaps thinking that thong not good enough for London it might pass in Strathroy. The Strathroy grocer was, however, no more satisfied than the London huckster, and soon compelled him to disgorge the cash, and take back his mixture. We have not learned whether he is yet persevering in the course he has chosen, and can only say that it is hard to tell which is most conspicuous in this transaction, its dishonesty or its stupidity.—News Record.

Gunpowder Accident.

An exchange says: On Friday last an accident of a most frightful and distressing character took place at the little village of Crieff, in Puslinch, which had well-nigh proved fatal to Mr. Henry Baker, who keeps a store at that place. About 4 o'clock on the afternoon aforesaid day, Mr. Baker's little boy had come down from above the store, where the family lived, to get some coffee, and not being able to procure it himself, his father went to get it for him, and unfortunately mistook a canister containing gunpowder for the one in which was the coffee. He was smoking at the time, and had no sooner lifted the lid of the canister, containing six or eight pounds of gunpowder, when a spark fell from his pipe and ignited the combustible material, causing a tremendous explosion to take place. The flame caused by the explosion caught Mr. Baker fair in the face, burnt his hair and his whiskers completely off, and otherwise injured his face in a dreadful manner. Mr. James Hamilton, a cousin of the above, was in the store at the time and was also badly injured, a portion of the canister having struck him on the nose and caused a cut to off. The body was by no means the only one in the house, being thrown to the wall. The windows and doors of the store were shattered, a number of the stones under the floor were crushed, the ceiling was rent up above and the roof and a hole driven clean through. Considerable damage was done to goods in the store, and to some property in the vicinity, but fortunately no other lives were lost, and no other persons injured, and everything else is expected to recover, however, before many days. Mr. Baker has not been able to speak since the accident. We are sorry to state that it is very doubtful whether his eyesight will ever be restored, as badly are his eyes injured. Dr. Hamilton, of Puslinch, is in attendance, and it is expected he will be present again in a few days. Mr. Baker and family have the sympathy of the entire community in this sad affliction.

PORT HOPE.

An unusual and unfortunate accident has happened to the schooner W. T. Greenwood, owned by Messrs Dickson Leitch and McKechnie, now lying in our harbor. It appears that about a month ago Mr. Clarkes, of Peterboro, commenced loading her with a cargo of peas in order to be ready on the opening of navigation. Not withstanding every precaution to keep the peas dry, it is supposed the severe frost of last Saturday and Sunday last caused a timber to spring, thereby allowing the water to enter. The peas immediately began to swell, and before any of the cargo could be removed the deck was completely forced up, and the cross beams were broken asunder. The accident must entail a heavy loss to the owners, and is variously estimated. Until the entire removal of the cargo it will not be known whether the hull has sustained damage. The peas were sold at auction yesterday afternoon, by R. H. Read, and realised 17 cents per bushel.—Guide.

Make Children Useful.

The energy which some children manifest in mischievous pranks may be made to subserve useful and instructive purposes. Little odds and ends of employment may be given them—work suited to their small capabilities may be assigned them—and under judicious direction and considerate encouragement their little heads can accomplish much and that gladly. The bright little ones who would help mamma should not be repelled with a harsh word but some simple task should be devised for their occupation and some trifling thing—as very great to them—should be the reward of its performance.

As a general rule, give your children something to do. A daily employment of some sort will exercise their health fully, and develop elements of usefulness and self-reliance which may prove incalculably valuable to their manhood and womanhood. Miserable is the plea urged by some that they "have not the time" to look after their children. No such pretext can divest them of the grave responsibilities which the having of children imposes. The laws of God and of humanity demand of parents the best care and training for their children they can bring into exercise. How many poor wretches there are, taxing society with their maintenance, who owe their worthlessness and sins to the negligence of their parents in developing and directing good natural endowments for lives of industry and independence Large Firmness in a child is a good thing it contributes to steadiness of thought and deed. Large Self-Esteem is desirable in that it confers the sense of personal worth and dignity. Large Approbativeness is most serviceable in its restraining and stimulating ministrations. Large Destructiveness is a good heritage under proper control it contributes to activity and achievement. Large Combativeness is a good quality; it contributes courage, boldness, and progression to the character. Large Acquisitiveness rightly trained supplements industry with economy and thrift. But such qualities in children need the guidance of a discreet parent. Mismanagement neglect easily lead to their perversion and the ruin of a splendid success.—Phrenological Annual.

A Pacific coast editor really wished to say something very complimentary about an "interior" contemporary, but his compositor made him remark that the periodical in question stood "in the front rank of inferior journals," and now the would-be flatterer wears bullet proof underclothing, and does his writing intrenched behind a feather bed in the three pair back of this lodging-house while his irate inland colleague stands guard with a brace of revolvers and a double barrled duck gun at the door of the editorial sanctum.

We understand that the whooping cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however says a little pepsee, to produce vomiting would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kind of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious and others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsee's invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parson's Purgative Pills.

Dr. Wistar's Wild Cherry Balsam.—This Balsamic compound has become a home fixture. Let all who suffer, and have in vain attempted to cure their coughs, colds, bronchial or pulmonary complaints, make use of this unequalled remedy. It can be relied upon, the mass of testimony that has been published since its introduction, being ample proof of its efficacy.

No organ of thought or action can be employed without the assistance of the blood, and no organ can be employed safely or without a supply of healthy blood. With healthy blood the exercised organs become well developed, whether they be muscular or intellectual. By the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites the blood is speedily vitalized and purified, and so made capable of producing a sound mind and a sound body.

"Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving way, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find in the Syrup the material to build them up and the tonic to keep them there."

Railway Travelling.—Railway travelling with all its drawbacks and accidents is the safest system of travelling ever organized—the persons injured while travelling by this mode of conveyance only amounted to one in half a million. Now while it is very gratifying to know that it is so much safer than the older system; it is pleasing to know that we have in the Canadian Pain Destroyer a medicine equally safe and sure for the cure of coughs, colds, rheumatism and summer complaints. For sale by Druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Not Quite So.—It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected," but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than anything else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the sufferings of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, and their beasts the sufferers: to avoid both use "Darley's Condition Powders and Animal Healer Remedy," and you will be satisfied with the result. Remember the name and see that the signature of Hard & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Great Female Remedy.

Job Moses' Peridecal Pills.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

MARRIED LADIES.

It is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affection, Pains in the Back and Limbs, on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics, and Whites, the pills will not affect a cure when all other means have failed, and although a powerful remedy, do not contain Iron, calomel antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pill, by return mail.

Sold in Peterboro by Dr. Taylor, A. W. Kempt, W. S. Johnston, Dr. McCamus, Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co. C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS ECLELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it cuts like a charm—it was short at first but taken splendidly now." H. Cole, of Ione, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." [illegible], Jamesville, writes, "send at once [illegible] supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electro Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Riverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lamoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Prop'r, N. Y., and

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, emmenagogue in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by sedentary and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, diphtheria, pains in the side, loins, and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, cuts, chafes, chilblains, [illegible] boils, cholera infantum dysentery, &c.

GENTLEMEN:—It is now some four years since addressed you through the columns of this paper, and I now adopt the same method; and as there has been many changes since that time both political and otherwise, and as most of you are aware that I sold out my business in Norwood to Mr. Ackerman two months ago, and my agreement with him prevents me from starting in the Village or Township; therefore I must return you my most sincere thanks for the liberal support you have accorded to me for these last 15 years. And at the same time I beg to inform you that having erected a Large and Commodious

Shop at Wigmore's Corner

Where I intend to carry on the

HARNESS BUSINESS

In all its branches, and from my long experience in the trade, I flatter myself that I can give you a better article in my line, stock and workmanship considered than you can get elsewhere. My motto will be "Quick sales and small profits."

I also propose letting apart one day in the week, viz. Saturday, when all small jobbing will be done free of charge.

I hope to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to patronize me, feeling assured that they will save money by travelling a mile further, as I intend to undersell all in the trade.

Repairing done with neatness and dispatch.

Collars made to suit any Horse in the country. Sad dles padded to the satisfaction of all.

P. S.—As I have been to a good deal of expense in the way of building, all parties indebted to me will please call and settle without further notice.

OPERATING REMEMBER PROCLAIM VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast, tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, assisting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatisms, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine.

Perhaps no one remedy is so universally needed, or so valuable, as a cathartic, or purgative. Everybody requires, occasionally, to relieve the system of the impurities which, if retained, breed disease. Unless these are thrown off, they corrupt the fountains of life, and make the blood poison the springs of health. Every man, woman, and child, rich and poor, high and low, has, at times, need of a cathartic medicine, and the best one is the most economical, as this only will effectually purge the system of the foul humors that make sickness. Ayer's Cathartic Pills, being sugar-coated, are pleasant to take, and are the safest medicine to be given to children, as they contain neither calomel or any deleterious drug, and may be taken with safety by anybody. As a purgative dinner pill, or to relieve the stomach after a surfeit, or as a mild aperient to open the bowels, they are unequaled, and every family should have them on hand. Prepared by J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all Druggists everywhere.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in the estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a prevision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is nowise injurious to the most delicate patient. The number and importance of its cures in the agueish districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Disacclimated persons, either residents in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all Druggists around the world.

A CHARMING WOMAN.

A charming woman, I've heard it said
By other women as light as she;
But all in vain I puzzle my head
To find wherein the charm may be.
Her face, indeed, is pretty enough,
And her form is quite as good as the best,
Where nature has given the bony stuff,
And a clever milliner all the rest.

Intelligent? Yes—in a certain way;
With the feminine gift of ready speech;
And knows very well what not to say
Whenever the theme transcends her reach,
But turn the topic on things to wear,
From an opera cloak to a robe de nuit—
Hats, bonnets, or bonnets (will make you stare
To see how fluent the lady can be,

Her laugh is hardly a thing to please;
For an honest laugh must always start
From a glamsome mood, like a sudden breeze
And here in pursuit a matter of art—
A muscular motion made to show
What nature designed to lie beneath
The finer mouth; but what can she do,
If that is ruined to show the teeth?

To her seat in church—a good half mile—
Where the day is fine she is sure to go,
Arrayed, of course, in the latest style
Le mode de Paris has got to show;
And she puts her hand on the velvet pew
(Can hands so white have a taint of sin?)
And thinks how her prayer-book's tint of blue
Must harmonize with her milky skin!

Ah! what shall we say of one who walks
In fields of flowers to choose the weeds?
Reads authors of whom she never talks,
And talks of authors she never reads?
She's a charming woman, I've heard it said
By other women as light as she:
But all in vain I puzzle my head
To find wherein the charm may be.

THE ISLE OF MAN.

There is a patch of land in the stormy Irish Sea called the Isle of Man, about which many traveled and untraveled Americans know scarcely more than its name. On a sunny day, the highlands of Ulster in Ireland, and of Galloway, in Scotland, are visible from its western shore, and from the summits of Snaefell Mountain, busy little England is seen fretting in the golden haze far across the sea. It is not much greater than Staten Island in area, and an ambitious Californian might look upon it as a fair-sized ranch. But small as it is—a mere speck on the map of Great Britain—it has a government of its own, with a House of Parliament, a people infused with noble blood, and a thrilling and eventful history. Hawthorne found it out while he was a consul at Liverpool, and has praised it in the delicious prose of his English Note-Books; Scott gathered material for Peveril of the Peak from its romantic scenery and legends; and Wordsworth commemorated a visit to it in a sonnet. But it is not in these few literary associations that its chief interest lies. The history of its varied fortunes and the ancestry of its superstitious people have a peculiar interest, dating as they do from the thrilling age when the Norsemen were mighty in the West.

In its greatest length the island measures about thirty three miles, and in its greatest breadth about thirteen. Its circumference is seventy-five miles, excluding the sinuousities of the bays; and it contains a superficial area of about one hundred and thirty thousand acres, or two hundred and three square miles. Enjoying the benefits of the Gulf Stream, the climate is singularly mild and genial, and there are few other places in the world where the difference between winter and summer is so slight. The mean temperature of summer is usually about 56.17°; of autumn, 46.97°; of winter, 40,90°; of spring, 44.70°. There is plenty of rain, but very little snow or frost. Fuchsias grow to the height of ten or twelve feet out-of doors, and are found a mass of crimson blossoms, in the poorest gardens. As to the healthfulness of the climate, you should see the native girls, rosy-checked, plump, active, and gleeful, and the men, who are as stalwart, muscular and handsome a race as ever breathed sea-air.

For the most part the coast is rocky and wild, hoar with the foam of the turbulent sea that surrounds it, and indented with capacious harbours and innumerable creeks; but in the north the land sinks into slow pasturage, and meets the water on the glistening pebbles of a smooth beach. The interior includes nearly every kind of natural scenery—heather-clad balsamic hills, plains as richly cultivated as the downs of Surrey, wide reaches of prickly gorse as drear as Yorkshire moors, and the prettiest of cascades. The enchantment of Northern land dwells in its subdued light and on its lovely mist-crowned heights. * * *

The vikings are fishermen now, and all the great treasure steamers from Liverpool sail into the West without a thought or wish of evil toward them. Sleepy villages are perched on the cliffs where once the beacon-fires of the wreckers allured many a goodly ship to her doom. In the bays where the pirates hid themselves fly the the white sails of pleasure boats. So great are the changes wrought by time that even the spell of mist worked by the wizard king has been broken, and the summer has its share of cloudless days. The invaders are not Romans, Picts, Scots, or Scandinavins, but aggressive tourists bearing knapsacks instead of eagles, and walking-sticks instead of javelins. These confront you in nearly every part of the island, and the primitive character of the natives if fast changing under the influence of the town manners which the visitors bring with them. Many of the superstitions have been laughed away, and hospitality has acquired a fair money value. I do not mean to say that there are no more generous hearts and simple minds in Mona. An old fisherman's wife entertained me with flour, bread, salt fish, and tea, in her hut at Creg-y-neeah, and indignantly thrust me out of the only door in the house when the meal was ended because I offered her a shilling. There are not a few honest folks too, who yet have a steadfast faith in mermaids and fairies.—WILLIAM H. RIEHING, in Harper's Magazine for March.

THE RECENT ELECTIONS IN ONTARIO.

The result of the elections for the Ontario Legislature seems to show that a real Conservative re-action has set in throughout that Province. The elections have been held under the system of voting by ballot, which leaves the voter free from intimidation. They have also been held under the influence of the very stringent laws against bribery, which have been enforced so rigorously and impartially by the Judges of the higher Courts. It has generally been supposed that with a low franchise and freedom from bribery and intimidation, there would be a large preponderance of votes for the Liberal side. The Liberal party it is which has secured the right to vote at all for large numbers of people. It is to that party in Canada that we owe a constitutional system of government, and the breaking up of an autocratic rule more galling than anything that has been known in England since the days of Charles the First. A good system of education, equal rights for all religions, the opening of national universities to the whole people—these also have to be credited to the same source. For although they may have been carried into effect by the opposite party when in power, it was only after years of persistent agitation on the part of Liberal members of Parliament.

For all this, however, the Liberal party has been only for a very short time in power either in Ottawa or Toronto, and however firmly-seated they may appear to be, there are evident signs of a tendency in the opposite direction already; and certainly in the Ontario Legislature there will be a far nearer balance between the parties since the election than there was before. The Conservatives have been really "nowhere" since the breakup of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's Administration. The Opposition has been too weak even to be an efficient check upon the Government. But in spite of the defeat of one or two of their prominent members, they have received a large accession of followers, and will go into the House with a very respectable array of members. Under a skilful leader, this array would be quite formidable, and might before long easily find opportunities of upsetting the Government and taking the reins of power in its place. It is very doubtful, however, if this skilful lead will be forthcoming. Mr. Matthew Cameron is an able lawyer, and a good speaker; but, like many other lawyers, he lacks many of the elements necessary for the leader of a party. The organizing power, the faculty of handling men, the ability to see how to conduct an attack—these are not prominent features in his character, and his party know it. They do not, therefore, follow him with that confidence which is necessary to success. The Ministry in Ontario is strong in personal character and in ability also, and will probably be able to hold it ground unless some new and untried talent develops itself on the Opposition side.—From "Review of the Times," in New Dominion Monthly for February, 1875.

FEAR

One of the worst features against which physicians have to contend in the treatment of the sick, is that of foolish fear on the part of the patient or of the friends of the patient. In the strong man, who is usually well, touched with an ague chill? Has he now, for the first time in his life, felt the twinges of rheumatics or of neuralgia? His appetite gives way, his courage fails him, and he timidly gives up, and fears he is going to die! The doctor is sent for, his tongue looked at, pulse felt, and powerful medicines prescribed, and he gets no better fast. Now, wife and children catch the infection—fear—and a general alarm excites the entire household, drives away sleep, and aggravates the difficulty tenfold. Now came a consultation of physicians, and the treatment of the regular physician is approved, and more medicines—poisons—of the same kind are prescribed. The "fear" is kept up, and the patient is kept down. Had he been let alone, or given a sweat or a wet sheet pack and a day's quiet, with a dish of oatmeal porridge, he would have come around all right in good time, without all that cowardly scare, and that little bad matter being made ten times worse.

A child overheats, or eats what it ought not to eat; is taken sick, and the poor, timid, figety mother becomes frightened out of the little wit she was supposed to have, and, boo-hoo, calls the doctor. "Eva threw up something as black as a crow. Could it have been her liver, poor thing?"

Now, if self-control and coolness of judgment be ever important, nay, indispensable, it is in the emergency of sudden sickness or of occasional accident: and with this calm, cool self-possession, without foolish fear, nine lives out of ten now sacrificed could be saved. The "let alone" policy, when one don't know exactly what is best to do, is just what is best. Nature, in any event, does all the healing, tinker with the patient how we may. But the doctors must live, no matter how many others keep their beds a long time, and then either give up the ghost or recover sufficiently to become permanent chronic invalids the rest of their lives, a prey for those whose interest it is to keep them so. But the point we wish to impress on the reader is, the fact that vastly more people are frightened to death than die from old age. And what's the use? Why not be more courageous? Why not be more plucky? Why not fight? It is in accordance with God's will and with God's laws that we should live healthfully, till the oil of life shall be exhausted, burned out, by work, wear and old age. Is it not a sin to be sick? Has not a law of nature—and nature's laws are God's laws—been violated? Do you cast the blame on Him? Look out! Do not be irreverent—do not blaspheme! No, no, dear reader, the blame, if any there be, rests otherwise. See thou to that.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

New Brunswick, according to the speech of the Lieutenant-Governor in opening the Local Legislature, has not much reason to be dissatisfied with her lot. The late harvest was most abundant; notwithstanding the commercial depression, felt in that Province in common with other places on the Continent, the state of trade and commerce is on the whole satisfactory. The Caraquet riots are not alluded to; but the genial heart is cheered with the assurance that there is every reason to believe that the claims of the Province upon the Dominion will be brought to a final settlement at an early day. Combined action is being taken with the Dominion Government to increase the settlement of the country by immigration; the Free Grant Act has worked well; an act for the encouragement of Agriculture is promised. Altogether, the bill of fare contains nothing to provoke a ministerial crisis, or in the least upset the tranquility of the Province.

DEBTS OF NATIONS.

According to the Pall Mall the debts of the world are increasing. In 1873 they were calculated at £4,200,000,000 sterling; the following table shows what they are in 1875 in sterling money, together with the interest they bear and the rate per cent.

	Debt.	Int.	Rate per cent.

The debts of these twenty countries, alone impose, then, a charge of £188,000,000 a year on their inhabitants. If we add says the Gazette £11,000,000 or £12,000,000 for the unenumerated debts, the national debts must impose a charge of $200,000,000 on the taxpayers of the world, or twice he sum which France, the country with the largest revenue in the world, is annually raising.

The Dominion Parliament is passing a Bill to create the Supreme Court for Canada with the jurisdiction proposed to be conferred upon it by the Bill introduced into the Commons. The new court is to be composed of six judges. It will try revenue cases; it will have appellate jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matter throughout the Dominion. Its most important clauses are those which confer upon it authority to decide upon the constitutionality of any Bill passed either by the Parliament of Canada or any one of the several provinces; and upon any question touching the interpretation of the British North American Act, or of any treaty with a foreign state. The court may also take cognizance of disputes between any two provinces, or between a province and the Dominion. The appeal to the Privy Council in England appears not to be done away with, but this luxury will not be taken advantage of except in very important cases indeed.

OUR EYES.

The eyes minister to sight, that most important of the senses, which brings us into communicuication with the physical world; and not only do they subserve this property of human intellection, but they also constitute a medium for the external expression of "the thoughts and desires of the heart." This expression in its numerous phases is the most easily learned and understood by all classes of mankind. Many of these phases, indeed, need no interpretation, but are instinctively comprehended by the civilized and savamong men, and by even brutes.

As a vehicle for transmitting thought or intelligence, it is most facile. The questioning eye, the "look that answers 'Yes,'" the stern gaze that says so plainly "No," has no need of the lips to act as their interpreter. The dog reads his master's wishes in his eyes, and hastens to obey the command before it goes forth.

All comprehend and acknowledge the power that speaks in the flaming eye, that inspires terror in the guilty and fresh courage in the virtuous; in the commanding eye that compels awe and prompt obedience; in the "look that speaks volumes" when the tongue fails to express the fast-thronging thoughts and emotions. As a natural organ of language, the eye may express all the nobler emotions of the mind; so, also, may it be made the servant of baser uses. The look of coarse insolence, the leer so expressive of a brutal mind, the insinuating glance that hints more than the lips dare utter, are some of the forms of the lower language of which the eyes are susceptible.—Our Annual of Phrenology and Physiognomy.

SIZE OF THE EYE.

Size with the eye, as with the brain, is generally conceded to be a measure of capacity. A large eye has a wider range of vision, as it unquestionably has of expression, than a small one. A large eye will take in more at a glance, though perhaps with less attention and detail, than a small one. Generally speaking, large eyes see things in general, and small eyes things as a whole, considering them in a philosophical or speculative way, often seeing through and beyond them; the other seeing fewer things, but usually looks keenly into them, and is appreciative of detail. Some eyes, however, look at everything and yet see nothing.

Fullness of the eye, causing a bulging of the lower eyelid, is the well-known sign of Language. Persons with this sign large have not only a speaking eye, but also a speaking tongue: whereof their fellows do not long remain in ignorance. A general projection or fullness of the eye above and below, which brings the eyeball forward on a line with the face and eyebrow, denotes the quality of physical perception, or the capacity to see quickly whatever appears upon the surface of things. A person with such an eye, on entering a room for the first time, would note rapidly the shape, size, arrangement, and general appearance of the different articles of furniture in it, the color of the walls, curtains, etc.; take in with equal facility, the features, the color of eyes and hair, size and appearance of any person who might be present. In looking at a picture such a person would as once incline to examine the details of color, number grouping, attitude, and costume of the figures composing it.—Annual of Phrenology and Physiognomy.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 4th, 1875.

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.

In their excess of political agitation and partizanship, the conservative press has not permitted itself to discuss the proposed Treaty in a spirit of fairness, nor yet with a view to the best interests of this country. And it may be, that in defence of the Treaty, the Reform press has not been as jealous of the people's rights as it should at all times be.

The rejection of it by the United States Senate and people, affords strong proof, that they, at least, considered it more favorable to Canadian than American interests, and this should be accepted as favorable to the judgement and care of the Canadian representative in the framing of the Treaty, namely to the Hon Mr. Brown.

Political feeling runs high in the United States as well as in Canada, and to this unnaturally excited political feeling the rejection of the Treaty may in part be due.

We have been favored with a copy of a circular addressed to the Woolen Manufacturers in Canada by Mr. W. Stephenson of Montreal, who is more largely engaged in this trade than any other man in Canada, and who, is as jealous of his own interests as most men are. From the commonsense view of the matter taken by Mr. Stephenson, and as he is a conservative in politics, we give his opinions to our readers in full to show that were partizanship does not cloud the judgement a favorable view of the treaty is avowed boldly. The following is the extract referred to :—

There is another matter of vital importance to us all, on which I am unwilling to let this opportunity pass without saying a word. I mean the question of Reciprocal Free Trade, in all native products, with the United States, the advantages of which few will dispute, however much they may differ as to the merits of any Treaty that may be proposed for the purpose of securing them.

With reference to the proposed Treaty, or, rather, project for a Treaty, now under consideration by the Senate of the United States, it is not unknown that I have adopted a view which many of you regard as highly inimical to the prosperity of the business in which we are engaged. I have favored the adoption of the proposed Treaty with all its defects and drawbacks, —subject, however, to some alterations of details about which there could be no difficulty—on the practical ground that it was than to have no Treaty at all. In coming to this conclusion I did not overlook the fact that, in obedience to what I believe to be a fancied necessity, arising out of our colonial relation to England, and in order to avoid the appearance of discriminating against her, it is intended, if the Treaty should pass, to provide, by legislation, for the free admission into Canada of everything included in the Treaty, when imported from England or from any other country. This, it must be admitted, is the great drawback to the Treaty, involving us, as it does, in an unequal contest for the possession of our own market with English and European manufacturers, whose advantages over us of cheap and highly trained labor, unequalled facilities for procuring and making the most of inferior materials, and for transporting them to all parts of the world; and, above all, cheap money, are such, that with Free Trade they are, all but able to monopolize the markets of the world. All this I would risk in order to secure the free admission of our fabricks into the markets of the United States. Of the advantages to us, of such an arrangement we may form some idea from the fact that, in the face of an average duty of 65 per cent, the yearly import of Scotch tweeds and kindred fabrics into the port of New York Dominion. Surely then, with our aptitude for the production of such goods, we ought to make some effort, and incur some risk, to secure a footing in a market, where our only competitor would be handicapped to the extent of 65 per cent. Besides, the free admission of European manufactures, to which we object, will be provided for, by a Legislative enactment, which may be repealed or modified at any time the Parliament of Canada may see fit to make the change. The Treaty on the other hand is for twenty-one years.

If, however, the present negotiations should come to nothing as seems not improbable. Reciprocity will still survive and continue to be a real live issue, It therefore behooves us to consider well, and with the utmost possible freedom from all political bias and without reference to political considerations, how and by what means our own special interests can be best promoted, in common with the general prosperity of the country. I have no faith in the permanent prosperity of any industry whose existence depends on an avowedly Protective Tariff I am and have always been in favor of a Revenue Tariff as low as our fiscal necessities will admit, but so adjusted as to permit the free import of raw products and otherwise giving our native manufactures a fair chance of struggling into self-sustaining existence, and I apprehend that this is about as near Free Trade as we will ever come in this country, at all events, so long as we have to depend upon import duties for revenue.

If this be so and that we neither require, nor ask for any more protection than such a Tariff affords, why should we waste time, as we do, in arguing about Free Trade and Protection, while in the proper meaning of these terms, we have no practical interest in either? Let us rather unite in endeavoring by every means compatible with the independence and honor of our country, to bring about an arrangement with the United States, "Providing for the free interchange of all the native products of both countries, whether natural or manufactured. With such an arrangement and with a moderate revenue tariff on all foreign imports, whether from England or elsewhere, Canada would soon become the Lancashire of this Continent and increase in wealth and population to a degree that can hardly now be imagined. The pretence that England would not consent to our imposing a party to such a Treaty is an assumption at variance with all past experience of her last thirty years' Colonial policy. We have only to show England that such a Treaty would be beneficial to us to obtain her consent. England's connection with Canada is not maintained for any selfish purpose of her own. Her best men and leading exponents of public opinion in the Press no slowly and acknowledge in the plainest terms, that our interests lie in the direction of free commercial intercourse with our neighbors, and see nothing either disloyal or disadvantageous to them in our exerting ourselves to secure these advantages. Looking deeper into matters than we do, they see that any arrangement beneficial to ourselves, by which our wealth and population will be increased, must indirectly benefit them, by enabling us, under our low Revenue Tariff, to buy more largely of their products. In short the real interests of the two countries in this matter are identical.

THE COUNTY vs. THE TOWN.

During the last session of the County Council, a question arose as to some money due by the town to the county, which has caused no little stir. It appears that in the letting of the contract for building the Iron Bridge. The Committee from the Town entered into some secret understandings that if Messrs, Whyte & Davis would give a refund to the Town of $425, the town portion of the Committee agreed to vote them the contract. This was done, and it now comes out that the contractors gave their note to Mr. Stevenson in the name of the Town, to be paid when the contract should be completed. The note was placed in the Town Treasurer's safe for safe keeping. At the winding up of the Town portion, or one-half, the $425 were kept back and note given up.

There was a rumor of something about $300 at the time, but it could not be found out. And said rumor had it that two of the Committe were equal sharers. This now proves false, as all along they had not the money. but they cannot be free from the blame of secretly trying to take a portion of the money from the County, and all must regret that the foolish act is calculated to weaken popular faith in public men.

At the late session of the County Council the members got excited and rushed to the Town Treasurer's office, searched his books, made out a statement, returned and drew up a foolish report. Foolish because not correct in particulars, and foolish because done in haste, and doubly foolish in the style of the report. They should have made a stasement of their own outlay, for all matters between the two Councils, made a demand for a statement of the outlay of the town on that behalf, and then appoint a committee to investigate the statements : and if the Town should refuse to pay any sum fairly due, then compel payment.

The amusing part of the County statement already furnished is, that it establishes an apparent attempt to run to excess also, to take more than is due to the county. So the statement would establish. The statement, however, proves more, it proves the necessity that always exists, for due deliberation.

The statement in abstract is as follows :

Paid by County towards Iron Bridge and Breakwater ...	$4469.54
Locks Bridge	2979.37
Court House Square	577.50
Total	$8026.41
The Town paid to Iron Bridge. (This omits the $428 in dispute)	$3876.28
Locks bridge	2978,18
Court House square &c	290.23
Total by town	$7134.65
Leaving an apparent deficit on part of town due to County	$881,75

The above figures from the report of County Committee are fallacious, and run to the other extreme. Just suppose the town to pay this sum over. The County would then have paid $7124.65 and the Town $8026.41, and they (the town) in turn might turn round and demand the refund of it.

Let us establish this axiom "that the Iron Bridge cost what was paid for it in money," and we can soon find the true balance. The account would stand thus:

County paid for Iron bridge..	$4,469 54
Town " " ..	3,876 25
	$8,342 70
One-half of this is the share of each. viz.	4,172 84½
Of this the Town paid	3,876 25
Difference due on Iron Bridge	296 59½
Court square in same way shows due	143 63
Total due County	$ 440 22½

From this must be taken $50 paid the Messrs. Belcher, Engineers, leaving due the County $380.22½.

This assumes all items in the statement correct, except the $425, and the $60 paid Mr. Toole for overseeing the work, which items are not taken into this statement.

The accounts as to Lock's bridge about balance.

Two items have been added to the report by the County Clerk since, which makes his balance to be $1001 96. It ought to be as above $380 22½, which will be found correct when investigated. We intend to blame no one until the investigation is completed.

BUT WHERE

are the $423 ? This is the question that concerns the people of this Town, and to allay their fears we now state positively that the money was always, and is still duly accounted for in the Town Treasurer's books and accounts. The people have not lost a single cent of it. The School Board. it is true, got $425 but they put in an estimate less that amount for that year.

In looking over the items of charges on account of Bridges between the County and Town we have our own opinions, but not being an auditor, nor yet a County Judge, we prefer to keep them to ourselves.

When the matter is fully investigated our figures will be found correct except as to $52.50 for temporary bridge which must be added to the $380.22½, making a total of $443.72½, which sum the Town should pay the County. This shows also how easy it is to make a mistake. The County statement is $881.75 ; just twice the amount due them, and obtained by fallacious reasoning.

The fuss about the lost money may afford a laugh, but it also affords reason for reproof of those who make charges of malfeasance on slender grounds, or without full investigation.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

SPECIAL SESSION.

THURSDAY

THE WARDENS ADDRESS.

GENTLEMEN,—On the night of Feb. 12th inst., one of the coldest ever known in this part of the country, the east span of the iron bridge over the Otonabee river, between the Town and Ashburnham, gave way and fell on the ice below.

The Joint Committees of County and Town Councils had, most opportunely, called a meeting for the transaction of other business on the day following, and forthwith proceeded to take up the question of the fallen bridge also.

They passed a resolution that the Warden should be informed of the disaster, and requesting him to call a special meeting of the County Council at the earliest convenient opportunity.

With praiseworthy alacrity they caused the fragments of the bridge to be removed from the ice and properly cared for ; in this as in all other matters under their charge they appear to have displayed their usual promptness and energy.

Owing to the roads in my neighborhood being so badly drifted at that time as to prevent regular transmission of the mails, no news of the accident reached me till the night of the 15th inst.

The next day I proceeded to Peterboro' and in compliance with the resolution of the Joint Committee summoned the present special session of the Council

In order that there might be something to lay before you, and that any information available bearing on the matter might be gathered together in time for this meeting, the Advisory Committee with myself met a large Committee of the Council of the Town of Peterborough on the same afternoon. At this meeting the members of the Town Council seemed to be unanimous in endeavoring to bring the subject of another bridge into consideration along with this, and very strongly urged that the Town and County should jointly engage in the construction of a new bridge near Benson's mills.

In case of this idea being carried out they appeared to think that two wooden bridges would answer every purpose and together cost very little more than one new iron one.

The members of the County Council then present, feeling bound by the previous action of the County Council with regard to the proposed new bridge near Benson's Mill, unitedly opposed the consideration at the present time of any other work save remedying the late accident.

After much discussion the subject of the new bridge was dropped, and in reverting to the broken bridge the opinions of many of the members present seemed to undergo a change and at the last be in favor of replacing the damaged span by a new iron one.

It was finally moved and carried that the Mayor of Peterborough and the Reeve of North Monaghan should engage a competent person to inspect the west span of the Iron Bridge, now standing, and to have ready to lay before you to-day a report as to its sufficiency, and as to the measures necessary to be taken to render it fit for safe and permanent use; also to collect for the same purpose all information possible, bearing upon the different kinds of iron bridges suitable for this case, and the possibility of obtaining material for the immediate construction of a wooden span, if such should be decided upon.

The first question for you to decide is whether you intend to assist in making a temporary wooden bridge or not. If you do purpose, no delay should take place in commencing operation.

It will be well for you to consider before deciding on this matter, the importance of having sufficient time to properly consider and prepare for putting up a good and permanent structure, and the great loss and inconvenience that would take place if the traffic over such a great thoroughfare be temporarily stopped.

With reference to the character and description of the new bridge, or portion of badge, to be built in place of the iron one, it is neither requisite nor desirable that any particular line of action should be recommended in this communication. The matter will hereafter have to be fully discussed by the whole Council, and in that case it will be much better to be unfettered, by having neither to agree to nor reject any particular cut and dried plan.

The Reeve of North Monagan, on behalf of the joint committee, will lay before you the reports he has received and information he has received and information he has collected on the subject of the Bridge.

R. E. BIRDSALL,
Warden.

Peterborough, Feb. 24, 1875.

On motion of Mr, Collins, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, the Warden's Address was referred to a special committee, composed of Messrs. Burnham, Boulton, Greorne, Garbutt and the mover.

The Report of the Engineers was then handed in, and is as follows :—

To the Joint Committee appointed by the Town and County of Peterborough, to Report on the condition of the remaining span of the Iron Bridge, over the Otonabee River, at Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with your instructions, we have carefully examined the remaining span of the Iron Bridge over the Otonabee River, spanning the Western bays, from the Western abutment to the central pier ; with the view of ascertaining its condition as to the desirability of repairing and retaining it as part of a future bridge : and after a close examination, we found several defects of a serious character, and of a such nature that we consider the outlay necessary to make a permanent structure more than compensative for the result that would be finally obtained. Several of the links being broken and the tie bars strained ; and we are of opinion that though there was no direct connection between the existing girders and those collalsed, yet the piping which formed the safe guard, and which passed through standards—several of which were broken even to the West end—that were attached to the needle girders was continuous, and transmitted sufficient shock to those needle girders and thence to the bow girders to which they are attached by the suspension rods, to impair the strength of the entire span in its then state of contraction, the Thermometer being, as we have been informed, over 20° below zero at the time of the collapse of the eastern span girders Taking these conditions in connection with our examination of the quality of the workmanship and material exhibited in the debris of the broken girders and iron work of the fallen portion, which is very inferior quality, into consideration, we are of opinion that the existing portion should be removed and an entirely new structure be erected.

Signed { J. Z. BELCHER, C. E.
{ JAMES BIRD, C. E.

On motion of Mr. Collins, the Engineers Report was received and ordered to be filed.

The Warden submitted communications received by him since the last meeting of the Council, which were referred to the proper Committees.

In reply to a question Mr. Belcher said that they had estimated that it would cost nearly as much to repair the standing span as to build a new one owing to its bad construction.

Mr. Millar hoped the County Council would this time, prevent the Town Council taking the same course as they did before. A little scandal had grown out of it. It is said $500 are missing, and if so a repetition should be prevented,

Mr, Collins defended the County portion of the Committee, but animadverted severely on the Town part.

Mr. Hamilton explained that the Town Council would meet that evening, and asked that a Committee be appointed to meet with them.

After some discussion it was Moved by Mr. Golborne, seconded by Mr. Brown—That Messrs. Burnham, Sanderson Collins, and the Treasurer be a Committee to ascertain and settle with the Town as to the balance due by the County to the Town, or by the Town to the County, in connection with building the Iron and Locks bridges over the Otonabee, and the grading and planting of the Court House Square and grounds.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Boulton,—That this Council recommend that the bridge over the river, on the site of the old Iron bridge, should be of iron, and that the standing span be not used for the construction of the new bridge.

Mr. Garbutt moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Brown,—That the bridge to be constructed over the Otonabee river be made of wood over the whole width of the river.

The amendment was carried on the following division: Yeas—Garbutt, Sanderson, Biezard, Golborne, Burgess, Brown, Wilt, Cossello and Moloney. Nays—Boulton, Burnham, Choate, Millar and Collins.

The Council then adjourned until next morning,

SECOND DAY,

Thursday Feb. 25th 1875.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment. The Warden in the chair, and all the members being present except Mr. Blewitt, Reeve of Harvey.

The minutes of yesterday were read and confirmed.

The Warden stated that they had attended a meeting of the Town Committee last evening, and he had been handed the following :

PETERBOROUGH, Feb. 25th 1875,

To the Warden and County Council of the Town of Peterborough :

At a meeting of the Committee appointed by the Town Council as a Joint Committee to act with the County Council for the reconstruction of the Otonabee Bridge on Hunter Street, it was Moved by Mr Rutherford, and seconded by Mr Beal,—That in view of the fact that some time must elapse before the permanent bridge can be built, that it is advisable to recommend to the Town Council the construction of a temporary bridge to accomodate the public during the construction of a permanent bridge and that tenders be advertised for the same immediately, contractors to guarantee bridge to stand spring freshet,

Moved by Mr Beal, and seconded by Mr Beacon,—That this Committee recommend to the Town Council that it is advisable to construct an Iron Bridge on the best and most reliable model.—Carried.

Signed, PETER HAMILTON.
Chairman.

Feb 25th, 1875.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Hamilton explained that the Town Council would meet to-night, and asked that they should appoint a committee to act with the committee to act with their committee.

Mr. Boulton spoke strongly in favour of an iron bridge, and urged that they should reconsider the motion passed yesterday.

Move I by Mr. Golborne seconded by Mr. Burgess,—That the Warden, Collins, Garbutt, Miller, Burnham and Choate, be a Committee to meet the Committee appointed by the town for for the purpose of taking down the Western span of the Iron Bridge, and awarding the contract.—Carried.

The Special Committee appointed to settle the amount due from the County to the Town or the Town to the County, in respect to the Iron and Locks Bridges and the Court House square and Grounds, beg leave to report :

Your Committee have gone into the matters referred to them, and upon going over the accounts, find that the County have made payments in excess of the Town to the amount of $381.75, as appears by the detailed statement submitted herewith.

The balance due the County is much larger than the Town admits, owing to some peculiar circumstances connected with the payments by the Town on account of the Iron Bridge.

Your Committee waited upon Mr Edwards the Town Treasurer, to obtain a statement of the amounts he had charged the County with in respect to this bridge : and in going over the items and the vouchers thereof, we found that a sum of $425 had not actually been paid to Whyte & Davis, though the receipt therefor was produced. The mode of conducting this financial operation was as follows, as nearly as we could ascertain :—When the contract was given White & Davis Mr. Edwards, on behalf of the Town Committee, brought Mr. Edwards a note for $425, and told him to put it in his safe. On March 18th, 1872, when making final settlement of contract, Whyte & Davis were paid by cheque $7694, as their receipt taken for $8031.—Giving them up their note. The note and cheque making that amount. Upon enquiry from Mr Edwards as to what was done with the $425, he informed your Committee that he had paid it to Mr O'Beirne, the Sec Treasurer of the School Board, upon the written order—which was produced—of Messrs. Toole, Stevenson, Alexander Smith and George A. Cox.

Your Committee beg leave to state that Mr Edwards does not appear to them to have been aware of the fraudulent nature of the transaction, and frankly and openly gave them all the information required by your Committee.—It appears to us to be a gross fraud upon the county, and whether there are any more dishonest transactions of a similar nature committed by the town upon the County, of course your committee are not aware (though such may be found upon a diligent scrutiny, and for a more personal object than for educational purposes.

The above are the facts as they have been ascertained by your Committee, and as the transaction in respect of the $425 are of such a nature, and possibly punishable as a misdemeanor, your Committee refrain from suggesting what action should be taken by the Council in the matter.

All of which is respectfully submitted

JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

February 25th 1875.

After being read over twice before the Council, and a few words of explanation given by Mr. Burnham, the Report was on Mr. Burnham's motion unanimously adopted

Messrs. Burnham, Boulton and Sanderson, were appointed a Committee to act with the Town Committe in the matter of a new bridge.

A motion to pay Mr. Calcutt $25 for detention of his boat when the Wallace Point Bridge fell, was lost.

A motion also to pay one half of it, was lost.

It was moved and carried, not to pay Mr Wm. Hamilton for expenses incurred in reference to the Iron Bridge.

On Friday morning the Council met and passed a By-law appointing the members of the Joint Committee, and adjourned till called together by the Warden.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

—Fogarty.

On my return to Peterborough this morning after a few weeks' absence, I took up one of our local "weeklies" (I beg pardon : excuse my pseudography, defective education, &c..) weekly, I mean, in which I read with mingled feelings of astonishment and contempt, a communication relative to the management, &c., of our Public Schools, signed significantly "Dark Shade" and I vowed in my heart of hearts, the shades of evening should close not o'er me ere I, even I, poor modest, blushing, sensitive flower that I am, would express my indignation and disgust at the scurrilous dastardly, slander emanating from the foetid orain of "Dark Shade," or shall I say 'Shader,' may I presume so far as to say 'Shades' ? I am led to plead for this form of expression from the fact that it is very seldom we see a combination of the 'nglies' in one soul—envy, hatred, malice and uncharitableness rarely have their abode in one clay tenement : occasionally mayhap, we hear

Of some poor wretch
In the hands of Jack Ketch,
With his neck in the rope,
Without shadow of hope,
Fearless of God and regardless of man,
As the drop fall hurls forth his last ban.
Which sounds through vast space his funeral knell—
"Curse Judge and maker have sent me to hell."

—Lyrics of Tyburn.

But I won't say that "Dark Shade" has go quite to that border land yet. I trust not. I sincerely hope and pray that both feet, nay even one foot, may be still on the safe side of the boundary line. I have been looking everywhere for an excuse for this opaque correspondent ; To the Heaven above, to the Earth beneath, to the water's under the Earth, have I appealed for a solution. Where, oh, where ? can I find one ? And echo answers 'where ?' Perhaps, my dear EXAMINER, zero has something to do with it. Rivers, lakes, aye, even seas have been frozen during this dreadfully inclement season. Let us be charitable Is it unreasonable to suppose that "Dark Shade's" poor, little soul has also been frozen? That is, if there is anything freezable in it I believe there are souls entirely unsusceptible of the purer, holier feelings, graces, and emotions of humanity.

We are told somewhere in the good Book of a certain class whom God gave over to a reprobate mind, being filled with certain things among which are enumerated envy, deceit, malignity : who were called whisperers, backbiters, despiteful, proud boasters, inventors of evil things, &c., &c., people that speak lies in hypocrisy, having their consciences seared with a hot iron. Well, searing or freezing, it doesn't matter which—they are hardened as hard as the ice-bound foundation of the north pole. Now, I don't want to be misconstrued, I wont say that this is "Dark Shade's" case, but I do say that if I was to write against any person or persons known and respected of all men as honorable, honest, industrious, faithful, good citizens and kind neighbors, sans reproche, as I believe (and the vox populi is with me) the parties maligned in "Dark Shade's" letter are, I repeat, if I (not Dark Shade) were to write such a slander I should fear this world would look on me as a moral abortion, and that even on earth I should have more than a foretaste of my future, when my abode, in all probability would be with the worm that dieth not, that my dwelling place hereafter might not unreasonably be expected to be in the hold of every foul spirit in the habitation of —— and the cage of every unclean and hateful bird, and my association through eternity might, without injustice, be allotted with the fearful and unbelieving, and all liars, and with every one who not only made, but loved lies.

But I am an old maid and have notions some people say (even my sister Keziah does) they are far-fetched ; but I take them all from the Book. I am done now and I won't put a P. S. to this lengthy epistle, but I have a fellow feeling (bother ! what have I to do with fellows) a sisterly feeling I mean, for all who are oppressed, and if I were a man (which Heaven be praised, I am not) I would drag "Dark Shade" by the throat into the light and shake him. Oh, wouldn't I ! until he gave up gnawing away people's reputation by sneaking innendoes and daubing them with petty slanders.

"Blow, blow thou winter wind,
Thou art not so unkind
As man's ungratitude.
Thy tooth is not so keen
Because thou art not seen,
Although thy breath is rude.

Freeze, freeze thou bitter sky,
Thou dost not bite so nigh,
As benefits forgot.
Though thou the water warp,
Thy sting is not so sharp
As friend remembered not.

Yours faithfully,

ARAMINTA CAUDLE.

Peterboro, Feby. 27th, 1875.

Letter from Mr. G. Laidlaw, To the "Mail."

SIR,—In reply to a question from Mr. Cinon, the Premier declared it was not the intention of the Government to subsidise railway lines leading southwards from the Georgian Bay section of the Pacific Railway ; and in this morning's Globe the Hon. R. W. Scott is reported to have said in the Senate "that the building of the Georgian Bay Branch was predicated upon the construction of the subsidised section of the railway, (from Ottawa River to Lake Nippising), and on subsidising any such railway it would be the duty of the Government that they would take very good care that the two works would proceed pari passu. He believed he was warranted in saying that a line of railway was to be built from Quebec to Montreal, on the north shore, and that another road would be built from Montreal to connect at Ottawa, Portage-du-Fort, and Pembroke, or some point further west. The Government would take good care that the subsidised road would be completed in time to afford proper connection for these roads, so that the people of the east might have through communications by rail with the Georgian Bay.'

The Government thus assumes the responsibility of constructing a railway from some point, probably on the Canada Central, or Northern Colonization Railway, to a point on the Georgian Bay. The construction of the new line would have to be commenced at the junction with some other railway serviceable as a base for supplies. Commencement at the Georgian Bay and would only be useful in relation to grading and bridging—the freight on iron or steel would preclude its shipment to the French River terminus.

The late Government projected the Pacific Railway eastwards only as far as a point at the south east end of Lake Nipissing, leaving it to the Province of Ontario and Quebec to connect their railway systems therewith. The present Government is practically undertaking the construction, on behalf of the Dominion, of a line to the mouth of the French River, from the City of Ottawa or vicinity, while Mr. Scott probably wisely, relegates to the far off future the question of the extension of the Pacific Railway north of Lakes Huron and Superior.

I have seen no record, nor have I any knowledge of any proposition to build a railway from Montreal to the mouth of the French River, antecedent to the suggestion contained in my Canal Report, and I am fully convinced that no line of railway projected in Ontario or Quebec is likely to be fraught with such consequences—in this case it will be a great addition to the prosperity and volume of trade of the Cities of Montreal and Quebec. It is a work of very great importance to the Province of Quebec.

It is true it will occasion the settlement of the north eastern portion of the Province of Ontario, but it will also secure the whole of the trade of that section to the City of Montreal—which will be the entrepot for its commerce—and Montreal deserves it for giving its constituction $1,000,000 as a bonus. It is not, however, an entire delusion to call it a section of the Pacific Railway, and subsidise it wholly with Dominion funds ?

The Government of the Province of Ontario is left to make connection with that railway and territory as best it may, or totally relinquish its trade so far as the people of Ontario are concerned, while the Dominion Government kindly relieves the whole Province of Ontario from all trouble about it. The line from the Canada Central to near Lake Nipissing—which the Government are going to subsidise, and the so-called section of the Pacific from the said point to the Georgian Bay, are local lines, and no more a connection with the Pacific Railway than with the Chicago and Illinois Central Railway —the latter being of the most consequence as a feeder.

Ontario has to furnish all the means necessary to connect the Western Ontario system of railways with the so called Pacific Railway and the country on both sides of it, and pay the larger share of the cost of the Government Montreal, Ottawa, and French River line. The Dominion subsidy, ten thousand dollars per mile, and a four per cent guarantee on a certain amount of bonds upon that portion of the Pacific Railway, to extend, it may be said, from the Canada Central to the mouth of the French River, will secure its early construction, and make it a splendid railway property.

Now upon what scale is the Province of Ontario going to deal with the railway system which should connect with the Dominion line, and dispute with it the local business of the country through which it is to pass—its through trade being indisputably safe for Montreal ?

The Kingston and Pembroke Railway Company have only obtained an Order in Council for $3,000, the Victoria Railway Company $3,000 for a short section, and the Northern Railway Company $4,000 per mile for a shorter section. Therefore the Government of the Dominion is offering too much or the Province of Ontario too little to secure the construction of railways in that country. That Ontario has offered too little is manifest, for since the Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald's Railway Act has been passed not a mile of railway has been built on the Government bonus into the new country without liberal municipal aid.

Before we consent to be outflanked and surrender the whole of our commercial, financial and political influence in the northern portions of this Province to the domination of Montreal and Quebec, we ought to receive assistance for at least one line extending northward, and this line ought to be either the Northern or the Victoria Railway. The construction of the Kingston and Pembroke Railway to Pembroke and the Victoria Railway to intersect the Government Pacific line on its way to the Matawan River is equally imperative in the interests of the frontier counties. The extension of our frontier railway system to this new backbone of our country projected along the Valley of the Ottawa requires consideration and decided action if we are to keep our position with regard to the northern part of our own Province, and also in the Dominion.

Eight thousand dollars per mile of cash or Provincial twenty-year debentures, six thousand acres of land per mile, and a guarantee upon a certain amount of bonds per mile would be sufficient to secure the construction of the Kingston and Pembroke Railway to Pembroke, the Victoria Railway to the Matawan, and the Northern Railway to the western terminus of the Georgian Bay section of the Pacific Railway.

The line to be subsidied and constructed by the Government from the Ottawa River to the mouth of the French River, should certainly commence at a point accessible to both the Northern Colonization and the Canada Central Railways, and undoubtedly Ottawa should be that place—otherwise unless the Montreal Colonization has fair play, both in regard to running powers and connection with the Government railway, it will lose the stake after winning the game. The Canada Central, or the Intermediate Railway Company, would absolutely govern the direction of traffic to Montreal, or via Prescott and Odgensburg, to the States.

With reference to the land which it is proposed to grant to the contractors for the Dominion Government scheme I do not know where it is.

Land should be granted in alternate sections by the Government of Ontario as part of the bonuses, to lessen the cash bonuses, and the pressure on already railway taxed counties, to the lines necessary to open up ways to the proposed Dominion Railway and its territory, say to the Kingston and Pembroke, the Victoria, and the Northern Railways,

The alternate sections reserved by the Government to be granted free of charge or sold to recoup the country for the cash bonuses, People would rather give from $1 to $3 per acre for land and timber alongside a railway than take for nothing land fifteen or twenty miles away.

Suppose the Ontario and Quebec Governments give 8,000 or 4,000 acres of land each per mile alongside the line in aid of the Dominion Government railway from Ottawa to the mouth of the French River, eight thousand dollars per mile in cash, and a guarantee of three per cent. on a small amount of bonds—enough to pay for the iron or steel—the Dominion Government, by the saving so effected could give a per cent. guarantee upon a similar amount of bonds, which, with the assistance of the Government of Ontario, would enable us to have have fair play.

It would be almost a crime on the part of our statesmen in either Government to neglect the present remarkably favourable concurrence of circumstances to give the whole country a grand fillip in the path of material prosperity—money in England 3½ per cent. ; good iron £7 sterling ; freight nominal, timber cheap and labour plenty. &c., &c., and as for immigration, the prudent and energetic management of our public works gives us a chance to call and absorb from the states and settle in our country a vast number of our kinsmen, and with a well managed European immigration we would secure a rich tide of human life, and achieve more for the country in four or five years than we could in fifteen if American public policy were as wise as ours and their people as prosperous.

INCONSISTENCY.

It will be remembered what a howl was made by the Conservatives about Riel stealing into the Parliament buildings at Ottawa and signing his name on the books. This was stigmatised as Grit insincerity and hypocrisy. Now that Mr. Mackenzie has taken the initiative in declaring his seat vacant and making an order for a new election, Sir John and John Hilliard Cameron, and even McKenzie Bowell voted against the motion, and in favor of an amendment that

Below will be found the speeches and addresses and will be proof of their insincerity and inconsistency in reference to this Riel question.

THE OUTLAWRY OF LOUIS RIEL.

On questions being called,

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie said : Before proceeding on the regular business of the day I propose to move in the matter of which I gave notice verbally on Monday. I then laid on the record of the judgment of outlawry of Louis Riel, the member elect for Provencher, upon the table, and intimated my intention to move in pursuance of the course taken in England upon a similar occasion, or one as nearly parallel to it as any case that can possibly be found. I propose to move in the same sense as the leader of the Opposition in the same sense as the leader of the House of Commons moved in the case of Smith Gardiner, who was convicted of felony when he was a member of the House, being advised—for I do not presume to enter upon any legal argument in the matter—that the sentence of outlawry is equivalent to a conviction by the court of the crime charged in the indictment. In that case Lord John Russell simply moved, in the first place, that the record laid on the table be read. I have private notice given me by the hon. member for Cardwell that he intends to dispute both the motion and the legislation. I am not sure that I am being quite right in anticipating his own statement of the case, but it is necessary in submitting my motion to do so to some extent. He disputes the legal outlawry has been pronounced at all ; he disputes the legality of the proceedings, and proposes that this House shall constitute itself into a Court of Review of the proceedings of the court in Manitoba. I am not aware that any proceeding of that kind was ever undertaken, or was indeed ever proposed, by any member of the English House of Commons. There is no case where anything of the kind has taken place. He also proposes, as I understand from him, to establish the point that outlawry in this country is entirely foreign to our own criminal procedure for the reason that in our Act of 1869, at the 32nd section, it is stated that any person indicted for any offence made capital by any statute, should be liable to the same punishment, whether it be a conviction by verdict or confession, and therefore the omission of the term outlawry in parenthesis from our criminal procedure in cases so setting aside all the outlawry points hinges in criminal cases. I will not venture for a moment to discuss the legal aspect of the case. They will be discussed, no doubt, by the gentlemen learned in the law on both sides of the House. I simply take the ground that I think I am entitled to take by enquiries on the subject, that the law of Eng and still prevails throughout these territories and in Canada, which has not been specially repealed by special enactments. That the law of England related to these territories in this respect in this particular instance there can be no doubt whatever ; and it it be disputed, there is abundant proof of the allegation that it is in the 58th section of the Act relating to criminal procedure we find that our own Act does contemplate a verdict by outlawry, and it is tolerably clear to my own mind, looking at question from a common sense point of view, that the ground proposed to be taken by the hon. gentlemen is not tenable so far as the enactment is concerned, upon which he proposes to enter upon the question as to whether or not. I simply state the facts in order that the hon. gentlemen who were to follow in conducting the legal part of the argument. The question may possibly be raised as to whether the document laid before the House is precisely the kind that it should be. I do not know whether it is or not. In the O'Donovan Rossa judgment, the document itself was not laid on the table, but a certificate from the officer of the Court stating that such a decision had been rendered. In the present case, the document itself was laid on the table, and it is not competent for the House to question the legality of it.

Mr. Mackenzie then moved in the first place, "that the record on the case of Louis Riel, laid on the table of the House on the House on the 22nd inst., be now read. I follow as I said before, the closest precedent in the Smith O'Brien case, in which the motion was that the decision be read, as read.

The motion was carried, the House dispensing with the reading of the document on the table.

Hon Mr Mackenzie—I now move, as it appears by the said record that Louis Riel, a member of this House, has been convicted of felony and outlaw for felony."

Mr Masson suggested it would be well to know if there was anything before the House to prove that the Louis Riel who had been adjudged an outlaw was the Louis Riel who was a member of the House.

Hon. Mr Mackenzie said the hon. gentleman must judge for himself. The document was on the table making that statement, and the house had dispensed with the reading of it.

Mr Masson—The hon. gentleman is to take shelter behind forms.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie—I do not go behind forms. The hon. gentleman should have called for the reading of the document at the proper time.

Sir John Macdonald—The hon member for Terrebonne says the fact that Louis Riel is an outlaw in Manitoba is no proof that he is the Louis Riel who is a member of Parliament. That is the point the hon. gentleman makes.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie—If the hon. gentleman has any doubt of it he will vote against the motion.

Sir John Macdonald said that upon a certain extent an answer to the objection, because the Premier in his reply had by inference stated the two were one and the same person

Hon. J. H. Cameron quite agreed with his hon. friend that there was enough to bring before the House the fact that the person charged with outlawry was a member of the House. The Premier had partly stated that (Mr Cameron's objection to the the House, but not being a lawyer could not be expected to remember exactly what was said. His (Mr. Cameron's objection was not merely with regard to the criminal law of the land not having process of outlawry in it, but that so far as this particular case was concerned, in the Province of Manitoba, what ever it might exist, and that the proceedings in outlawry upon an indictment for felony could not be had in the manner required by the law of England. No one for a single moment could imagine that he (Mr. Cameron) would be prepared to move that he be expelled. The position that should be taken with regard to constitutional forms and rights was one that should not be given up unless they had strong convictions on the subject. He (Mr Cameron) had very strong convictions on this point, and felt bound to offer the grounds which had influenced him in arriving at that conclusion. He found in perusing that case on the face of the records of the proceeding there was no valid judgment of outlawry. Those versed in the case were aware that certain proceedings must be taken in relation to outlawry in England. They go back to a very remote period, except recently, when a change was made in civil procedure by what was called the Common Law procedure Act. They dated from the times of Henry VI down to the last Act passed in the reign of William and Mary. They explained the manner in which proceedings were to be taken in criminal and civil cases, and afterwards in outlawry. While in common law proceedings for initiating outlawry might be taken upon an indictment for criminal proceedings the manner in which these proceedings were afterwards carried on and the ceremony to be observed in respect to them were pointed out ; when they had before them a record of judgment and there was either in the law with regard to it or on the face of the judgment itself that which invalidated it, they were not precluded from declaring that it was not a record of outlawry. They were not in the least degree precluded, as they would be in dealing with a question of fact, from going back of the record. They could not be prevented any more than a court could, from declaring from the face of the record that there was no outlawry and that the House could not therefore take proceedings upon it. The proceedings to be taken in outlawry involved rights and privileges, and an explanation

Assessors' Meeting.

A meeting of the Assessors of this county will be held in the Perth Town Council Chamber on Thursday next, 4th March, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, with the object of arriving at some joint and uniform system of assessing real and personal property throughout the county, and to make such arrangements that the letter or the spirit of the law shall in no particular be violated by the assessors in discharge of their somewhat difficult duties. We hope there will be a full attendance. The above is taken from the Perth Courier, and affords a hint that might be acted upon in this County.

Another Mistake.

The Finance Committee of the Town Council on Monday evening reported recommending referring the investigation of the disputed account of Town and County to the County judge. If they had read the clause of the act they refer to, they would have found that it does not apply in such cases. It applies to investigation of malfeasance by members of a Council, or by officials of a Council, but not to dispute accounts between different Councils. The disputed accounts can only be referred to him, by putting the matter in court, or referring it to him simply as an arbitrator. A Joint Committee can settle it in two minutes. It is a matter of accounts. As to where the $636 are, the County has no business to enquire. It is the amount due them they want. The ratepayers of the town may rest satisfied. Not one cent of the $425 is or ever was lost, or taken by anyone.

S. M. Pettengill's Agency confessedly leads all others in this business. In all forms of business, some institutions must come to the front. Prudent men who propose to carry a policy for a term of years, do not select an insolvent or third rate institution. They do not deposit in a shaky bank. In an important law suit, they do not call in a second class lawyer. Elegant rooms, papers from all parts of the country, and facilities to use them, are at the disposal of his customers. Mr. Pettengill has many rare qualifications for his extended business. He gives personal attention to his customers and is accessible to all comers. Prompt and decided, no one leaves his presence without recognising the genial influence under which he has stood. The business of the Agency is conducted on the strictest principles of honor. During all the long years of his business life he has hardly had a dispute with a customer, and no one has found him other than prompt, honest, manly in his dealings.

"Desperately Wicked."

We read these words in some book, in reference to the sent of the passions. The authority is considered good—not to be rejected. If true in general, we may reasonably make a particular application in reference to a certain editor, not far from the Town of Peterborough. The intents of his heart must be like the hearts of the ante-diluvians, when the Allwise said, "Every imagination of the thoughts of his heart is only evil continually," but we console ourselves with the thought that all men are not so. There is no charity in our heart. But another writer says, "Comparing ourselves with ourselves" is not wise, and this is just the error of this one heart referred to. It brings all things to its own standard and motives, and therefore deserves the rebuke that the philosopher of Us administered to Mrs. Job, when he said, "Thou speakest as one of the silly women." But then, "Can a clean thing come out of an unclean?" We forgive him for he is not always responsible for what appears in a short published in this town. He does not possess the grace spoken of by an old writer, viz, that "thinketh no evil."

NEW POSTAL REGULATIONS.

In our remarks of last week, in reference to certain proposed Legislation in postal matters, we were mistaken as to the meaning of certain portions of the Bill. From a letter received from the Post-Master General, we learn that it is proposed to charge postage by weight on the whole issue, and not on each parcel, handed in to the post office. Although this will be more favorable to the publisher than the other view of it, still we think it would be more in accordance with popular feeling to do away with news postage altogether. We do not desire, however, to stand in the way of any reform in the post office department, and as this is a lessening of the tax on news paper circulation, we are ready to accept it, although placing an additional burden on ourselves. Since it appears necessary to continue a rate of postage, could it not be placed at a small sum yearly and collected in the beginning of each year, from subscribers. Five cents a year from each subscriber would more than equal the one cent a lb rate, and it would have the advantage of dividing the amount so as not to oppress any one individually. Why make newspaper men collectors of postage, while postmasters have a salary for so doing?

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR:—The following remarks were intended for a member of the County Council, but he having left Peterborough before the council adjourned last week they were read to the Warden and two members of the council who merely said Plate Girder bridge had been decided on and so curtly dismissed the matter without further consideration.

As the subject is one of considerable importance to the whole county, and especially to the Town of Peterborough and Ashburnham, and further as the rate payers have discovered that on the subject of bridges at all events. All the wisdom of humanity is not centered in our corporations or their favorite officers, whether Engineers or Contractors, a little light on the subject may not be unacceptable to the people no matter from what quarter it may come.

Without further preface therefore I give you my remarks for what they are worth, and ask your kindness to give them a place in your next issue.

I am, sir,

Yours truly,

JAMES W. FITZGERALD.

Peterborough, 1st of March, 1875.

DEAR SIR,

In submitting for your consideration the following observations I am sure that you will acquit me of any desire to intrude my opinions on yourself or on the County Council.

Since the collapse of the East Span of the Otonabee Bridge, which at best was a very foolish and sickly structure, unsuitable in design, construction and strength, various plans I hear are proposed for a bridge. The relative merits and cheapness of a How Truss, Wood, and Bow String and Plate Girder, Iron, are I hear canvassed with more or less energy by their respective advocates.

Upon either of these plans, no doubt, a safe and substantial bridge could be built, the How Truss or Wood probably being the cheapest, although, now a-day looking somewhat clumsy and old fashioned.

Should the Plate Girder be adopted, it is I hear, intended to make four spans, thus necessitating the erection of two additional piers midway in the present span.

I understand that much trouble and expense had been incurred by the contractors in getting a foundation for the present central pier, and although the then difficulty might not be met with in sinking for intermediate piers, yet from the uniform nature of the River bed, no doubt considerable difficulty would be encountered, even at low water and therefore in the absence of reliable borings and full and proper information, it would be impossible to form anything like a correct estimate of the cost on this plan.

But assuming that good foundations might be got at reasonable depths, and they would require to be deep and well protected to resist the increased Scour and force of water caused by the new piers in reducing the waterway, the cost of construction of these two piers would form no small item in the Bill of works.

Such a design, if carried out, in these days of "Long Spans" would hardly be creditable to the resident engineering genius of Peterborough.

As for the Bow String principle, it is of course unobjectionable, even in this climate, when properly constructed of good and approved material, but it is doubtless felt by the members of councils interested and the taxpayers of Peterborough generally that they have already had one String too many to their Bow. Considering all matters, and if a wooden structure is not decided on, my humble suggestion would be as follows:—

1. To let the water way of the present spans alone.

2. To build no additional piers that would encroach upon it.

3. To examine and see that the present abutments and pier are made sound from the bottom up; to remove, if necessary, (and I think it will be found necessary) say three or four feet of masonry from the tops of the abutements and pier, more if defective, and replace it by heavier and better bonded work, laid in Portland Cement right through the walls.

To provide solid granite bridge seats, at least one foot deep, with proportionate facing and well bedded into wall for the bearing pieces. I have seen granite builders around Peterborough that would answer this purpose admirably.

This done, a substantial Lattice Girder Bridge of tough wrought iron of suitable construction and dimensions, consisting of two main girders with cross girders, say 16 or 20 feet, secured to lower flanges of main girders, and outside foot walk 5 or 6 feet, with provision for another if required hereafter, can be built for a sum not exceeding, if it would approach, the cost of a Plate Girder and two piers. Indeed, in the matter of iron alone there would be very little difference if the proposed piers are dispensed with. So that with or without additional piers the Lattice Girder would be more economical and agreeable to the circumstances than a Plate Iron Bridge.

The Lattice Girder would have the further advantage of affording more head room under bridge than either a wooden or Plate Girder; would of itself serve as the handsomest and best guard rail for the road way, which on a Plate Girder must be constructed separately without furnishing the security and strength presented by the Lattice Bridge; would not interfere with the present width of the water way, every member of it would at all times be exposed to view for examination, painting or any other purpose, and it would in a way be more ornamental and in harmony with the progress and advancement it is to be hoped the Town of Peterborough and Ashburnham will be the future scene.

JAMES W. FITZGERALD.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electre Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

A DREAM.

The early moonlight, faint and meek,
Fell in white lines across her bed,
And turned to gems on bush and shrub
The tears that had but now been shed.
Sleep, coming from the shadows brought
A clear relief from grievous thought.

I dulled the present dark distress,
The sense of loss too hard to bear,
The haunting thought of loneliness,
The imminence of unaried care
She lost remembrance of the pain
That dawn would surely bring again.

She lost the world; no, not dly,
Another consciousness was born.
And then she dreamed that she was free,
Wandering beyond her life, forlorn,
And soul and body still were wed,
Although it seemed that she was dead.

Some mighty power, unseen and strong,
Had cast her in an angry sea.
She strove to breast its billows long:
And, as she struggled wearily,
She saw a low black line of shore,
With lights upon it just before.

And, striving still more urgently,
The current reached the wished for land;
Then a great wave rose in the sea,
And bore her over rocks and strand;
Rolled back, and left her there alone
And helpless in a land unknown.

But while she lay there, torn and bruised,
And dripping with thankful brine,
She seemed to see, with sense confused
The darkness round about her shine,
To feel a touch that charmed all pain
From broken frame and weary brain.

And One bent near with pitying face,
So grave, so gentle and so sweet,
So full of promise and of grace,
She smiled while lying at His feet—
As homesick children, home once more,
Forgot the grief that came before.

He led her to the inner land—
The night was lured back by day—
She was content to hold his hand.
In counsel there were no words to say.
Because she understood so well
Whatever there could be to tell.)

She saw the place was glad and bright
With welcome stammerings heaven brought;
She had not known it by the sight,
And yet it was not new to thought:
All happy living things were there,
Refined, in such a finer air.

A little bird flew from above
And softly lit upon her hand;
She knew it for a painted dove
She loved in childhood—long since dead;
The Christ smiled on the spoke no name,
And said, "We kept it till you came."

And there were flowers and trees and sky—
All wealths of olden memory;
Each they detail, far and nigh,
With some past beauty did agree.
The Christ said, "See! they are the same;
We kept them for you till you came."

Then suddenly she heard a voice
Like some dear, well-remembered song;
It made her very heart rejoice
At comfort it had wanted long.
She knew are sight could satisfy,
No she had mourned for stood since by.

Again her radiant Leader smiled—
The smile held more than words could say;
"You needed not to mourn, my child,
For God hopes all He takes away."
Again he said, "They are the same;
We kept them for you till you came."

Then lived a joy that naught can tell:
Delight that filled infinity;
Love with no former parallel,
And utter peace that heaven made free.
But, breaking through the glimpse of grace,
A murmur seemed to fill the place.

The vision faded, passed away,
And left the darkness blank and cold;
Else saw the light of dawning day
Far in the east. The air was cold!
The cock's shrill warning of the sun
Told of another day begun.

Amusement for the Faithful.

How are we to account for these indecencies in places and books consecrated to devotion? A voice from the church of the fifth century gives us the just of the true answer, "You ask me," writes St. Nilus to Olympiodorus o Alexandria, "if it is becoming in us to cover the walls of the sanctuary with representations of animals of all kinds, so that we see upon them mares not, hares, goats, and other beasts in full flight before hunters exhausting themselves in taking and pursuing them with their dogs; and again, upon the bank of a river, all kinds of fish caught by fishermen. I answer you that this a puerility with which to amuse the eyes of the faithful." To one who is acquainted with the history and genius of the Roman Catholic Church, this very simple explanation of the incongruity is sufficient. The policy of that wonderful organization in every age has been to make every possible concession to ignorance that is compatible with the continuance of ignorance. It has sought always to amuse, to edify, to moralize, and console ignorance, but never to enlighten it. The mind that planned the magnificent cathedral at Rheims, of which Mr. Tomes was so much enamored, and the artists who designed the glorious San Carlo that kindled rapture in the poetical mind of Mr. Howell's, did indeed permit the scandalous burlesques that disfigure their walls; but they only permitted them. It was a concession which they had to grant to the ignorant multitude whose unquestioning faith alone made these enormous structures possible.

We touch here the question insinuated by Gibbon in his first volume, where he plainly enough intimates his belief that Christianity was a lapse into barbarism rather than a deliverance from it. Plausible arguments in the same direction have been frequently made since Gibbon's time by comparing the best of Roman civilization with the worst of the self-torturing mockery of the early Christian centuries. In a debate on this subject in New York a few months since between a member of the bar and a doctor of divinity, both of these gentlemen of learning, ability, and candor, the lawyer pointed to the famous picture of St. Jerome (A.D. 375) naked, grasping a human skull, his magnificent head showing vast capacity paralyzed by an absorbing terror, and exclaimed. "Behold the lapse from Virgil, Horace, Cicero, Seneca, the Plinys, and the Antonines." The answer made by the clergyman was, "That is not Christianity! In the Christian books no hint of that, no utterance justifying that, can be found." Perhaps neither of the disputants succeeded in expressing the whole truth on this point. The vaunted Roman civilization was, in truth, only a thin crust upon the surface of the empire, embracing but one small class in each province, the people everywhere being ignorant slaves. Into that inert mass of servile ignorance Christianity entered, and received from it the interpretation which ignorance always puts upon ideas advanced or new, interpreting it as hungry French peasants in 1792 and South Carolina negros in 1870 interpreted modern ideas of human rights. The new leaven set the mass heaving and swelling until the crust was broken to pieces. The civilization of Marcus Aurelius was lost. From parchment scrolls poetry and philosophy were obliterated that the sheets might be used for prayers and meditations. The system of which St. Jerome was the product and representative was a baleful mixture, of which nine-tenths were Hindoo and the remaining tenth was half Christian and half Pluto.

The true inference to be drawn is that no civilization is safe nor even genuine until it embraces all classes of the community, and the promulgation of Christianity was the first step toward that.—JAMES PARTON, in Harper's Magazine for March.

Lover's Irish Stories.

Mr. Bernard's second volume of the life of Samuel Lover is, to a great degree occupied with the capital stories with which Lover interspersed his Irish entertainments both in England and America. Some of these are so good that we may mention them here. Molly Maone, a washerwoman, used to say invariably after hearing a sermon on Sunday morning, "Oh, it's mighty improving!" Questioned as to which part of the discourse particularly pleased her, she retorts upon his reverence: "Your reverence sees that linen I've been washing and dhrying on the hedge there?" "Oh, certainly, Moll." "Wa'nt it the soap and wather that made the linen clane, sir?" "Most true they did." "And isn't the linen all the brither for it?" "Oh, not the slightest doubt of that, Molly." "But not a dhrop of the soap and wather stays in it. Well, sir, its the same way with me. Not a word of that sarmint stays in me—I suppose its all dhried out o' me—but I'm the brither and claner for it, when its over for all that."

This again is excellent. A Rayptree arrested for a highway robbery, on being brought before a magistrate, asserted that he was more entitled to pity than punishment. "Pity!" exclaimed the justice, whilst his eyebrows arched with more than ordinary wonder and contempt—"and on what account, pray?" "Sure, on account of my misfortune." "Your misfortune, indeed! What—that we have caught you, I suppose?" "Oh, the jintleman that brought me here knows my misfortune well enough." But the gentleman was as astonished as the magistrate himself, as incapable of guessing the culprit's meaning. "You will own I suppose," said his worship, "that you stopped the gentleman on the highway?" "Oh, yes, I did that same' 'And that you took fifty pounds in Bank of Wexford bills?' 'An! there your honor is right again.' 'Well, then, you perplex ing ragabond, what do you mean by your misfortune?' Sure, I mean that the money was not in my pocket above a week, when the dirty bank topped payment, and I robbed of every shilling.'

At the Central Criminal Court an aged prisoner, who had been convicted of firing a gun out of a window at some school girls who annoyed him, was discharged upon entering into recognizances to appear if called upon to receive sentence. 'And,' said the judge, "if you behave yourself, and do not shoot any more guns out of windows, you will probably die before you hear any more of this?"

Not long since a very nervous lady took passage at the Tip-Top House, White Mountains, to descend by the almost perpendicular railroad. Her fears were apparent to everybody, and the following antique dialogue took place between her and the conductor: Lady—Mr. Conductor, how do you hold them cars when you want to stop? Conductor—Madame, we apply the brake, which you see there. Lady—Suppose, Mr. Conductor, the brake should give way, what do you do then? Conductor—Madame we then applied the double-acting brake, which you see at the other end of the cars. Lady—But Mr. Conductor, suppose that brake should not be sufficient to check the cars, where will we go then? Conductor—Madame, I can't divine. That depends entirely upon how you have lived in the world!

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL

D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

OUR PEOPLE THROUGHOUT THE LAND KNOW VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Billous, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

A GREAT SACRIFICE

DRY

Ayer's Cathartic

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does for one it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its constitution. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of its remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal Secretions to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaints and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Erysipelatous Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels liberably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as has our concentrated remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or elsewhere, to assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no case injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgment we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all around the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

JUST AS GOD LEADS.

Just as God leads me I will go;
I would not ask to choose my way;
Content with what he will bestow,
Assured he will not let me stray;
So as he leads my path I make,
And step by step I gladly take,
A child in him confiding.

Just as God leads, I am content
To rest me calmly in his hands;
That which he has decreed and sent—
Then whosh his will for me commands—
I would that he should all fulfill,
That I should do his gracious will
In living or in dying

Just as God leads, I will resign:
I trust me to my Father's will;
When reason's rays deceptive shine,
His counsel would I yet fulfill.
That which His love ordained as right,
Before e brought me to the light.
My all to Him resigning.

Just as God leads me, I abide,
In faith, in hope, in suffering true;
His strength is ever by my side—
Can aught my hold on him undo?
I hold me firm in patience, knowing
That God my life is still bestowing—
The best in kindness sending.

Just as God leads me, I onward go,
Out amid thorns and briars soon;
God does not yet His guidance show—
But in the end it shall be soon
How, by a loving Father's will,
Faithful and true, He leads me still.

A ROYAL LOVE STORY.
(From Harper's Bazar.)

On the 26th of August, 1819, a boy was born at the Rosenau, the summer residence of Ernest, Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld, who was destined to play an important part in the world. He was furnished at christening with a long list of names, after the fashion of royalty—Francis Charles Augustus Albert Emanuel—but in the household was known simply as Albert, the consort of the Queen of England. The birth of a prince or princess at one of the innumerable petty courts that once divided Germany between them, before the nation had become consolidated into an empire, was, as a rule, a matter of very little importance to the great world outside; and but for the influence that made him the husband of Queen Victoria, Prince Albert would in all probability have been reckoned with the vast multitude of German royal personages who lived undistinguished but blameless lives, and whose record is only found in the pages of the Almanac de Gotha. A different and happier fate awaited the amiable and large hearted boy, whose story is so well told in Theodore Martin's "Life of the Prince Consort," the first volume of which has just been published by Smith, Elder & Co., London. The work was undertaken by Mr. Martin in compliance with the express desire of the widowed Queen, who placed much very interesting material in his hands. His portraiture of the prince is most attractive, and will enable the grumbling British public to understand better the prolonged sorrow of the Queen, which it has viewed almost with resentment. His was a rare and excellent nature, royal not only by the accident of birth, but by every moral and intellectual quality which men deem admirable. Americans have every reason to honor his memory. It was his wise counsel, almost the closing act of his life, that averted war between this country and England when the Trent affair roused national passion to fever heat, and when the Queen's ministry were not unwilling to precipitate hostilities.

Albert was the second son of his parents. His only brother, Ernest, now Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, was born a little more than a year before. Both the young princes were distinguished by their precocity. The beauty, gentleness, and vivacity of Albert seem, however, to have made him the favorite. As a child his beauty was remarkable. In 1821 the Dowager Duchess of Coburg writes of him to the Duchess of Kent, the mother of Victoria;—"Little Aberinchen, with his large blue eyes and dimpled cheeks, is bewitching, forward, and quick as a weasel. He can already say everything. Ernest is not nearly as pretty, only his intelligent brown eyes are very fine; but he is tall, active, and very clever for his age." And again, a few weeks later. "The little fellow is the pendant to the pretty cousin, (the Princess Victoria) very handsome, but too slight for a boy; lively, very funny, all good nature, and full of mischief." Like his mother in person, and resembling her also in quickness, vivacity and playfulness, Albert was her favorite child, and she made no secret of her preference. But this was not to last. The Duchess was not only beautiful, but exercised a great charm through her intelligence and kindness of heart. With a habit of viewing men and things in a droll and humorous way—characteristics in which the Prince strongly resembled her—she was a general favorite in society. But her wedded life, which commenced under the fairest auspices, proved unhappy In 1824 a separation, followed by a divorce in 1826, was arranged between the duke and herself, but not before she had established a hold upon the affections of her children, which although they never saw her again, remained with them to the last. She died at St. Wendel, in Switzerland, in 1831, at the age of thirty-two, after a long and painful illness. "The Prince," writes the Queen, "never forgot her, and spoke with much tenderness and sorrow of his poor mother. and was deeply affected in reading, after his marriage, the accounts of her sad and painful illness." All that could be done to compensate the loss of a mother's presence and care was done by the grandmother of the princes, who continued to watch over them with a tweefold tenderness. Their education was of the broad, general character best suited to their position, and included history, geography, mathematics, philosophy, religion, Latin and the modern European Languages, relieved by the study of music and drawing, for both of which the Prince early showed a marked inclination. His father was an ardent sportsman, and the two brothers as they grew up took an eager interest in the sports of the field and forest, which in Germany are the prescriptive past me of their class. Albert, though an excellent shot, enjoyed them, however, chiefly for the sake of exercise and for the pleasures of the scenery into which they carried him.

The house of Coburg was intimately related by marriage with the royal family of England. In 1816 Prince Leopold, the youngest brother of Prince Albert's father, had married the Princess Charlotte, then presumptive heiress to the English throne. After her untimely death the Duke of K[illegible] married the youngest sister of the Duke of Coburg, and on the 24th of May, 1819, she presented him with a daughter, who was destined to become Queen of England. But long before it was known that she would ascend the throne the idea of her marriage with one of her Coburg cousins had taken such root in the family that Prince Albert's nurse was in the habit of prattling to her infant charge, when he was only three years old, of his destined bride in England. In 1836 there was no longer any doubt as to the succession of the Princess Victoria to the throne, and already several aspirants for her hand were in the field. King Leopold, her uncle and loved advisers in all matters, greatly desired her marriage to Prince Albert; but he also desired that the union should be one of affection, and not one merely of political expedience. He therefore arranged with the Duchess of Kent that she should invite the Duke of Cobourg and his sons to visit her at Kensington Palace. The object of the visit was knot strictly secret from the Princess and the Prince, so as to leave them completely at their ease. The Prince's grandmother had, it is true, often spoke to him years before of her earnest desires on this subject; but he had no reason to think this was more than a family wish, and the Princess at least was left freely to the impulse of her own inclination. Her uncle, King Leopold, saw that the impression was favorable, and made her aware of his wishes in the matter. Her answer made it impossible to doubt how entirely those of the Princess were in accordance with his own. In June, 1836, soon after Prince Albert's departure from England, she wrote to the King: "I have only now to beg you, my dearest uncle, to take care of the health of one now so dear to me, and to take him under your special protection. I hope and trust that all will go on prosperously and well on a subject now of so much importance to me."

The Prince, however, was still kept in the dark; but his education was directed with a view to the possibility of his marriage with the English Princess. He and his brother were sent to Brussels, where, under the care of Baron Wiechman, a retired officer of the English German Legion, they remained for a period of twelve months, closely occupied with the study of history, the modern languages, the higher mathematics, &c. From Brussels they went to Bonn, where they remained eighteen months. While they were still at that university the death of William IV., June 20, 1837, threw upon the Princess Victoria, then only eighteen years old, the grave responsibilities of Queen of England. Her accession to the throne revived the rumors, which had been for some time current, of a contemplated marriage with her cousin, and it was thought inexpedient by their uncle, with the view of withdrawing public attention for the time from the young princes, that they should spend the autumn of 1837 in making a tour through Switzerland and the north of Italy. September and October were accordingly spent in a thorough exploration of Switzerland and the Italian lakes on foot—a mode of travelling of which Prince Albert was very fond.

But the time had arrived when one question of the English marriage had to be settled. King Leopold desired some decisive arrangement should be made for the year 1839; but to this the Queen demurred, for reasons which her uncle considered conclusive. She was herself, she urged, too young, so also was the Prince, and, moreover, his mastery of the English language was still very imperfect. The Prince, on being made aware of what was proposed and of the necessity of delay, very sensibly declared himself willing to submit, if he had only some certain, assurance to go upon; "But," he said King Leopold, "if after waiting perhaps three years I should find that the Queen no longer desired the marriage, it would place me in a ridiculous position, and would, to a certain extent, ruin all my prospects for the future." This serious question, was, however, soon settled in a way entirely satisfactory to the Prince's mind, and in the winter of 1838 he set out on a protracted and interesting tour through Italy, returning to Cobourg in the following May.

Meanwhile political events in England, which it is needless to go into, made it desirable that the question of the Queen's marriage should again be pressed. Those who had her welfare most at heart were anxious to secure for her without longer delay a husband guidance and support. To effect this was, however no simple matter. All that the Queen had heard of the Prince was most favourable. Her inclination toward him remained unchanged, and to use her own words "she had an idea if she married at all, or any one else." Still she desired delay, and the Prince went to England with his brother in October, 1839, under the impression that she wished the affair to be considered as broken off, and that for four years she could think of no marriage. Her reasons for delay were, however, destined to five way before the irresistible feeling inspired by the Prince when they met again. The three years which had passed since the Princess were last in England had greatly improved their personal appearance. Tall and manly as they both were, Prince Albert was eminently handsome. But there was also in his countenance a gentleness of expression and peculiar expression and peculiar sweetness in his smile, with a look of deep thought and high intelligence in his clear blue eye and expansive forehead, that added a charm to the impression he produced in all who saw him, far beyond that derived from mere beauty or regularity of features. The Queen was most favourably impressed. On the second day after their arrival she wrote to her uncle.

"Albert's beauty is most striking, and he is most amiable and unaffected—in short very fascinating." The question was soon settled. The Prince arrived at Windsor Castle on the 10th of October, on the 15th the Queen informed Lord Melbourne of her decision. To Baron Stockmar, the uncle's lifelong friend and confidential counsellor, to whom she had recently sent messages by command her resolution and to many the same time the queen also a natural embarrassment.

"WINDSOR CASTLE,
15th October, 1839.

I did [illegible] now and here to begin my letter, for I think the news it contains will be sufficient to insure your forgiveness. Albert has completely won my heart, and all was settled between us this morning. . . . I feel certain he will make me very happy. I wish I could say I felt so certain of my making him happy, but I shall do my best. Uncle Leopold must tell you all about the details, which I have not time to do. . . . Albert is very much attached to you."

The next day Prince Albert wrote to give Baron Stockmar what he knew would be the most welcome news possible." He added:

"Victoria is so good and kind to me that I am often pained to believe that I should be the object of so much affection. I know the interest you take in my happiness, and therefore pour out my heart to you.

More anxious I cannot write. I am at this moment too much bewildered to do so.

"Das Auge sieht dem Himmel offen.
Es schweigt das Herz in Bel gluck."
[Heaven opens on the ravished eye,
The heart is all entranced in bliss.]

While offering to the Prince his hearty congratulations on the happy event, Stockmar coupled them with earnest counsels as to the course which must be pursued in laying the foundations of his future happiness, and in fulfilling worthily the duties of his high position. To this the Prince replied in a strain of lofty aspiration, and with a deep sense of the great part he was to play in his new career, which evinces true nobility of character and promises well for the future. Neither the happiness of love—a happiness in his case made more intense by the singular purity and unselfishness of his own nature, on which the devotion shown him seems to have come to him with a bewildering strangeness—nor the brilliancy of the position to which this love had raised him, blinded him for a moment to its sterner features. "Treu und fest' (True and firm) was the motto of his house, and he was prepared to grapple with difficulties and face opposition with a manly heart. "With the exception of my relations to the Queen," he wrote to his stepmother, "my future position will have its dark side, and the sky will not always be blue and undoubted. But life has its thorns in every position, and the consciousness of having used one's powers and endeavors for an object so great as that of promoting the welfare of so many will surely be sufficient to support me."

The announcement of the betrothal caused great rejoicings in England and among the Prince's own people. But when the question of the annuity to be settled upon him on his marriage came before parliament there was a squabble which must have been very disagreeable to him and to the Queen. Her cabinet proposed £50,000 a year, these same that had been granted to Prince Leopold on his marriage with the Princess Charlotte; but after an acrimonious debate this sum was reduced to $30,000 The Prince took it in a manly manner, merely remarking to Baron Stockmar that his only regret was to find that his ability to help artists and men of science, to which he had been looking forward with delight would be more restricted than he had hoped.

A thousand times more vexations were the questions as to the rank and precedence he was to enjoy as the husband of the Queen. There is no provision in the English constitution for the title and precedence of the husband of a queen regnant, while the wife of a king has the highest rank and dignity, after her husband, assigned her by law; and whole it is no doubt always in the power of a queen regnant to give her consort precedence at home over all her subjects by placing him next her person, but there her power stops. The status is due to her personal favor alone and, if acknowledged by other royal personages, it is so merely by courtesy. A bill was introduced in Parliament giving the Prince precedence for life next after the Queen in Parliament or elsewhere, as Her Majesty might think proper; but after much debate Parliament refused to give him any distinctive title, and left the question of precedence to the royal prerogative. It was not until 1857 that the title and dignity of Prince Consort were conferred upon him by royal letters patent. This omission gave rise to endless vexations, especially when the Queen and her husband were abroad. The position acceded to him at foreign courts the Queen always had to acknowledge as a grace and favor bestowed upon herself by the sovereigns whom she visited.—Several sovereigns positively refused to gratify her wishes in this respect, and the only one who was courteous enough to do so without an offensive show of doing a favor was the late Emperor of the French. Even in England annoyances constantly arose from the want of Parliamentary action on this question. The Prince's right to occupy the seat next the throne when Parliament was opened or prorogued was questioned by the Duke of Sussex and others; but the Queen, supported by the Duke of Wellington, quietly ignored the interference. "Let the Queen put the Prince where she likes," he said. The great Duke had not much toleration for the traditions of court etiquette when they conflicted with the dictates of common sense. The late Lord Abermarle, when Master of the Horse, was very sensitive about his right in that capacity to sit in the sovereign's carriage on state occasions. "The Queen," said the Duke, when appealed to for his opinion, "can make Lord Abermarle sit at the top of the coach, under the coach, behind the coach, or wherever else Her Majesty pleases him."

The marriage took place at the chapel of St James's Palace on the 10th of February, 1840. It was very popular with the people, because it was not one of political convenience, but of pure affection, and thousands lined the roads from Buckingham Palace to Windsor Castle to see the Queen and her husband as they passed. The morning of the day had been wet, foggy and dismal but there was not wanting some who saw the occasion which came afterwards to be proverbially known as the "Queen's weather." Whatever auspices seemed to the Queen and her consort from that day to the hour of the Prince's death came from the [illegible]. The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 11, 1875.

IT IS AS IT IS.

Human nature is as it is, and that is not saying much for it. Nor yet is it saying of it what can be considered unduly harsh.

Last week we referred to the strange revelations in reference to a certain $425 which were said to be unfairly taken from the County by the Town Committee in the matter of the Iron Bridge. We condemned the act, and gave it as our opinion that all due the County should be refunded, but instead of recommending an investigation by the Judge first, we gave it as our opinion that a Committee could settle it in a few minutes. This is our opinion still, and the latter would show a better spirit than the former. One newspaper editor singles out one member of the committee, viz., Mr. Cox, as the only sinner and completely ignores the existence of the other members. The other editor has discovered a mare's nest, and insinuates that the advocates, (who are they?) of the guilty parties, seek to cover up the crime by preventing investigation. Both the parties referred to exhibit the traits of human nature in no ordinary degree.

The original committee from the Town consisted of W. H. Scott, Jas. Stevenson, Wm Toole and A. Smith. These men were concerned more or less in letting the contract in connection with the county members of the committee, viz., Messrs R. D. Rogers, Henry Collins and Wm. Moher. Suppose we consider the County Members as quite innocent of trying to cheat themselves. Then the guilty party would be W H. Scott, Jas. Stevenson, Wm, Toole, and A. Smith. Mr. Smith voted and worked to get a bridge proposed by Mr. Wm, Hamilton accepted, he was opposed to Messrs. Whyte and Davis' plans and tender, and because the latter was accepted he ceased to act on the Committee. He cannot be in the blame very much. Mr. W. H. Scott, as Mayor of the Town, must have been a prominent member of that Committee, and was to a large extent the advisor thereof. Why does the sheet published down street, drop his name out of the list of the accused, simply because Mr. Scott is the Conservative leader, and to find him guilty of malfeasance, or cheating the County, would damage his prospects, but it is no sin to try to blacken Mr. Cox. Human nature as exhibited in the editor of that sheet is as it is, and not very lovely at that. Mr W. H. Scott remained a member of the Committee till January 1872, when Mr. Cox succeeded him as Mayor. Mr Cox, then, of course, became a member of that Committee, but took a very small part in the work, as he was but newly elected, and not intimately acquainted with what had been done, not knowing of the existence of the note for more than three months after his election, and not till after he had signed an order to pay $425 to Mr. O'Beirne, Treasurer of the School Board; but we cannot say definitely how long after the signing of the order it was, that he first heard of the rebatement But we may fairly infer, that Mr. Scott was aware of the transaction, from the inception of it, and as an influential member of the Committee may have been a party to it.

Mr. Millar, in the County Council in answer to Mr. Collins, who was trying to screen Mr. Scott, and condemn Mr. Cox, asked was Mr. Scott the legal adviser of the County at the time? and said if so was he not doubly to blame? How could he reconcile this Act, with his duty as a county officer? Why does the sheet not give Mr. Millar's remarks in full? O, they would place Mr. Scott in an unenviable light, that is it. Review human nature again, such as it is, and not much at that. Let there be a full investigation, and then the parties who figured in the discreditable act will come to the front. The twaddle about false entries, is in keeping with other nonsense, not unfrequently met with in newspaper articles, where the Editor has selfish, or partizan, or spiteful motives.

The act of cheating the county cannot be defended, and should meet generel condemnation. The whole matter should be fully investigated. The County must be refunded the amount unjustly taken from it. The Ratepayers have a right to know what was done with their money. But all this could have been done without introducing political feeling or animosity in the matter. In our last issue we determined to avoid personal allusion to any member of the Committee, and would have persevered in this but for the unprecerous, unmanly, unfair course pursued toward one member of the committee, while that member was to all intents and purposes innocent of any knowledge of the transaction.

To the editor of the Review must be laid the blame of imparting political animosity into this bridge affair. Can we not have one little transaction sifted without having all the bitterness of party feelings exhibited,

In our last issue we also gave figures to show that the report of the County Committee was not correct. We intimated that it was got up in haste, and drew the conclusion that there should be more deliberation in such matters; and was this not right? The County desired only what was due to it, but in haste, demanded twice as much, showing how easy it is to get astray in accounts unless due deliberation is exercised.

We wish it expressly understood that we condemn the act but will not condemn anyone till it is known to a certainty who is guilty, then let him or them bear their just deserts.

The report of the Finance Committee of last meeting of the Town Council has been handed to the judge, but it is not known that he will act on it.

Since writing the above we learn that every member of the Town Council knew of the $425, and whence it came. If they did, the more is the shame that they consented to it, and by their silence allowed suspicion to rest on one or two.

WATER WORKS.

This is a subject that is calculated to affect the pockets of the Town. ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS is asked for their construction. The cost of the works, if ever undertaken will be nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The working expenses and interest will necessitate a direct tax of not less than $8,000 a year, over and above any income from them. The interest alone will be $6,000. The annual additional expenses could not be less than $3,000, or an annual outlay $8,000. That would be about five mills on the dollar, yearly The income for water would be trifling for years to come. In view of the cost and interest compared with the losses by fire, during the past five years, it does appear that the object sought safety from fire, and a less rate of insurance than at present; might be obtained more cheaply and more satisfactorily to all the people.

Suppose the $8,000 a year were invested at six per cent and kept as a kind of insurance fund to assist in meeting all losses by fire in the town, it would secure the same object as the Water Works, a lessening of the rate of insurance, It would more than meet all losses by fire from year to year. It would guarantee to every citizen a proportionate share of any loss suffered, and would be less expensive than water works. There would be less chance for rings and cheating, and not so many to be open to accusations of living on what they could secure by intrigues. The ratepayers must, however, be the judges as they will have to pay the taxes and there is reason for consideration here. If the taxes be increased thirty per cent the ratepayers should canvass the probability of a return before voting to increase them. Some of our ratepayers favor water works, and some do not. It is not our wish to oppose what might be of advantage to the town, but we do not yet see that water works would benefit the whole town. Fire rates in Toronto are fixed at three fourths per cent. Water works might reduce our rates to about that amount, but even that is doubtful. This reduced rate would only be where water was easily of access. The rest of the Town would have to pay present rates, and yet would have to pay a portion of the tax for the works. This would hardly be fair to all the ratepayers. We do not care to force our views on the ratepayers unless in their interest, and when we see that the opposite course would be injurious to them. In this case, we are of opinion that the water works would entail a burden in the way of taxes without an equivalent either, as to protection from fire, or reduce insurance. There may be interested parties who have given this matter more consideration, and to them we will gladly give space, to the intent that our citizens may be enabled to cast their votes intelligently, either for or against the by-law on the 2nd day of April next.

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.

Mr. Robertson, Secretary of the Grand Junction Railway Company was in Town on Monday feeling his way as to a bonus to this road, provided it be extended to join the Midland at Omemee, and that the workshops &c., be at Peterboro. All is a bad time to talk of Bonuses to Railways. The people feel the burden of present taxation and do not desire to increase it, but if an equivalent should be guaranteed there might be a possibility of a favorable vote to that end, at present however, it would fail.

Mr. Hugel, of the Midland, was in Town on Saturday and in a conversation hinted at the possibility of an amalgamation with the Grand Junction, and the removal of the Company's Car Works to Peterborough.

The people of Peterboro would look on this favorably and would in that case be liberal towards the Company, but it is very little use discussing the matter until in a more tangible shape. As soon as Mr. Hugel places such a proposition before the people of Peterboro they will be prepared to give it careful consideration, and perhaps a favorable one. But we cannot imagine that Port Hope will be so blind to her own interests as to allow the removal of the works by withholding a reasonable bonus. Making Belleville the terminus would ruin Port Hope but would build up Belleville.

It is difficult to understand the talk of Railway men, and hence their conversation requires full developement before placing the schemes talked of before the people. It is not likely that either the extension of the Belleville road or the amalgamation of the Midland will be resolved on this season.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

The great excitement in that province is the law relating to public schools. The Roman Catholic population in one County refuse to pay taxes for public schools and demand the right to have separate schools. The Legislature remain firm in support of one class of schools, and have passed an act to enable the tax collector to force payments where refused. As our readers are aware, an appeal was made to the Imperial Council, but they refused to interfere. Mr. Costigan is now moving in the Commons to have certain changes in the confederation Act, so that separate schools may be secured in New Brunswick. Roman Catholics are divided as to the means they should adopt to secure their object. The movement is a foolish one, and if successful will overstate in the greatest confusion in discussing educational changes.

Ontario is opposed to separate schools, and if brought as a test question would vote to do away with them. By the confederation act Ontario considers herself bound to abide by the school system as it then existed. Should the Catholics of New Brunswick demonstrate that the provinces have power to remodel the school law, Ontario may sometime claim the same privilege to remodel the Ontario School Law. If this should come to pass, and separate schools suffer who will be to blame? At present many who are suffering on account of divisions in school sections would willingly vote for a change if let alone. The course pursued by the New Brunswick friends of Separate Schools has not established confidence in their wisdom to control their own actions and would indicate a necessity for increased educational facilities, and hereafter may afford a precedence disastrous to the cause they seek to serve. The people of Canada do not want continual bickerings about secular matters and they believe that if parents, clergymen and sabbath school teachers do their duty, truth will not suffer, nor the rights of any portion of our citizens be endangered.

There is an apparent desire manifested by Roman Catholics in America everywhere to control Legislation on School matters, in their own interests. The desire in them is founded on a conviction of danger to their religion in mixed schools. There is greater danger from schools of ignorance and vice that are unchecked and unrestrained in every place of resort, and not a word is raised against them. Men, not unfrequently gape at a gnat and swallow a camel, and we fear that the promoters of the riots in New Brunswick are among those who do so.

How many schools of vice and drunkenness have they in that county against which not a word is raised, while blood is being shed for the right to teach A, B, C, in the schools.

UNDERSTANDING

The Review of last week understands that Mr. Cox and his friends having made up their minds that his (Mr. Cox's) election will be voided, but hoping that he will escape personal disqualification, are already soliciting the votes of the "free and independent" in the expected "coming contest." We take the liberty of stating that the Review understands nothing of the kind. It is one of the imaginations and thoughts of the editor's heart and they are evil continually. Mr Cox feels certain that he will not be unseated and hence will not require to solicit the votes of any elector, at least till the close of the next four years.

Furthermore he knows (and has no hopes about it) that he cannot be disqualified under any circumstances. Can Mr. Scott say that much.

And, furthermore, if by some fall swearing he should have to appeal to the electors again, he is certain of every vote polled before and a few additional ones. Can Mr. Scott say this much? And a little farther still, can Mr. Scott explain to the electors of the county how he as County Solicitor, was party to a corrupt bargain, by which he agreed to vote the contract on conditions that cheated the county out of $212.50, or half of the $425, and eventually caused a loss to the Town and County of $8,500, as the whole structure is now in pieces on the river Bank.

These little items will take about as much time from Mr Scott for explanation as he can spare, as he was mixed up with it from the beginning and knew all about the $425. Mr. Scott may well say: "Save me from my friends." If the editor of that sheet (our readers will forgive us if we quote from the Review) thinks he can serve his party by traducing innocent men, Mr Scott will not think so. He may, however, establish the fact that Mr Scott, not Mr. Cox, is the particeps criminas, as he puts it.

McKENZIE'S RAILWAY POLICY

The Policy of the Ottawa Government regarding the Pacific Railway is to put it where the produce of the West will get to the seaboard by the shortest route. Hence the intention of the Government to subsidize with $12,000 a mile a line of railway from the Georgian Bay to Ottawa. The result of this will be that until the line is built to Sault St. Marie the freight will come from Manitoba and the Great West by water, and then take a through line (like the Grand Trunk) and pass to Ottawa and thence by the Northern Colonization Road to Montreal and Quebec. Such a line from Georgian Bay to Ottawa will certainly open up the North country, but it will carry the trade which we have always looked upon as flowing south, away to Montreal, without giving us any chance to levy toll on it. We cannot, looking far into the future, and regarding the railway policy as a permanent thing and one which, to be most successful, should be right in the first instance, complain of this policy. The first duty of the Government is to be in harmony with the demands of the laws of trade. There is one and only one best course, and that should be aimed at. We think Mr McKenzie has done it, and while we feel Crown, it is utterly insufficient. Let a more liberal policy be devised to aid those struggling enterprises, which are so fruitful in prosperous results, but which so far have received but little aid from the Government, which after all reaps therefrom the greatest gains.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

At a special meeting of the Board held on Friday evening, the committee on appointments and Salaries failed to agree to recommend any changes in salaries just now. This may be taken as indicating that the salaries are as liberal as the times will warrant, or that they do not wish to be coerced into any course of action. If the members of the Board are persuaded that injustice is being done to any teacher they should not hesitate to remove the injustice, although in doing so the salaries might be increased one or two hundred dollars a year. If a teacher is giving satisfaction he should be fairly and liberally dealt with even at the risk of dispensing one or two individuals. But if the Board consider the salaries as high as can be afforded let them say so and put an end to the whole question of increase. The trustees are elected by the people and have to give an account to them at the end of their term, and in fearlessly doing what they believe just and right they will merit approval. At a late meeting of the Town Council some of the members talked about looking after school matters in the future, insinuating mismanagement. If the Council will take a retrospect they will find that their own business will take up all their looking after time. They have no control over the Board, and if they had what guarantee have we that they would manage things any better than the trustees do? Every man in his own place. The Councillor in his own place and the School Trustee in his own place. The Council is not without its sins, and let him who is without sin throw the first stone.

DUMMER AGAIN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In your issue of the 25th ult., over the signature of "Ratepayers in want of Light," I observe a communication touching the disposal of our Municipal Loan Fund. What the object of the writer is in thus annoying your many readers with the discussion of a subject so purely local, I am at a loss even to imagine. Perhaps I am wrong, but it has occurred to me the writer is itching for fame. It may be he is desirous of shewing your readers in other parts of the county how he can use up a live Township Council. If this be his desire allow me to say that I would not have noticed his effusion, but to say that I will give him a chance to immortalize himself. If he will come out over his real signature, I will undertake to discuss the provisions of the by-law he complains of in all their bearings. This is certainly a fair offer, and if his object be the public good he cannot object to practice what he teaches and thereby let his light shine without hiding it under a bushel. Allow me then to say that beyond the making of a very few observations on the communication in question I shall not notice in future any anonymous correspondent.

The first thing that strikes my attention is the rather amusing way these "Ratepayers in want of light" commence their epistle. They say, "will you give me space, &c." They have evidently forgotten that a certain kind of people should always have good memories and constantly exercise them, otherwise the truth will come out in some way as in this instance by a stray pronoun. Notwithstanding the attempt at deception, I shall call my friend as he is, simply ratepayer.

At our last municipal nomination the by-law in question was read and its provisions thoroughly discussed; questions were asked and answered concerning it ad libitum, and every information sought was cheerfully given. Speeches in the key of E flat, in the fourth space, were the order of the day; in fact, a thorough sifting of the subject was the result, with this simple drawback, some of the parties did not confine themselves to the principles laid down by the celebrated Doctor Watts as to the manner of conducting a debate. Result—four Councillors elected who will carry out the details of the by law and one against it, and he narrowly escaped defeat by A. R. Kidd, who made no effort whatever to gain his election. This is the light the ratepayers supplied.

And now as to a few matters of fact. Ratepayer says "we find by the by-law that $499 was to be spent between 10 and 11 in the 4th concession. This makes blunder number two, as the money is to be spent in the fourth and fifth concessions. Again he says "the Council informed these men the By-law had been signed by the Lieutenant Governor and could not be broken. The Council did nothing of the kind. Some members thereof said the by-law had received the assent of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, and could not be easily 'repealed' or changed if opposition were offered to such repeal or change—blunder three. Again, "at the last meeting our Reeve and Council saw fit to 'break' the said by law"—egregious blunder number four. The Council caused the survey of a road in the fourth Concession, forthwith they have broken the by-law, while not one dollar of the appropriation for the road between ten and eleven has been expended. Did ever any one exhibit such unpardonable ignorance. Again, "if the White lake road is opened the people in the north east will have no road at all. This is positively rich. The object of the White lake road is essentially to accommodate the people of the north east, thereby giving them a direct road to Peterborough. This road with the 9th line now about to be built and the present travelled one secures them a third outlet, and yet they have no road at all. This is worse than a blunder.

Ratepayer talks rather fast when he says it will take $2,000 to open the White lake road. Perhaps he is not aware that the Council appointed a Council appointed a commissioner in the person of Mr. Jas. Robb to examine it a suitable route for a road could be found, and to report upon the cost of opening should such be found. Mr. Robb, quite as reliable a man as Ratepayer, reported very favorably of the proposed road and estimated that it could be opened for five or six hundred dollars.

Two questions are asked by my friend, viz:—

1st. When and by whom were you petitioned by a "portion" of the ratepayers to open either of these roads, and

2nd. What are your motives for spending this money on these roads? I answer never and by nobody to the first, and to the second, to open them. I suppose it is unnecessary to add that Councils can act in these matters without being first petitioned to do so. Now that I have answered this question squarely, will he kindly answer the following—over his name of course.

1st. These appropriations having been made last fall when did you petition the Council to change them or appropriate the money on other roads.

2nd. What are your motives for writing over any other name than your own.

3rd. Did you ever travel over either of the proposed routes of road you condemn.

4th. Did the Reeve state at the nomination that if elected he would carry out all the provisions of the By-law?

5th. Did you, knowing the decided stand he took on the matter, nominate a candidate for Reeve, whose opinions on the By-law were the same as your own?

6th. If you did not where is your consistency

7th. This matter having been before thoroughly ventilated and having had the judgment of the ratepayers passed upon it, what was your object in bringing it into a public newspaper?

I will close this communication, already too long, with a quotation from Watts, which I give for the benefit of my friend.

"As you should carry about with you a constant and sincere sense of your own ignorance, so you should not be afraid or ashamed to confess this ignorance by taking all proper opportunities to ask and enquire for further information."

Yours truly,

THOS. G. CHOATE.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A CHURCH ROOF BROKEN IN.

The following from the New York 'World,' is a full account of the church accident in New York, of which a brief account has been telegraphed:—

A little more than six weeks ago the immense brick five story crockery warehouse fronting on Duane and Chatham streets, and inclosing Sweeny's Hotel upon the corner, was destroyed by fire. The west wall was left standing at near its full height overhanging on its west side St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church, a narrow alley-way running between them.

The wall fell last night over upon St. Andrew's Church, where services were going on, and breaking through the east side of the roof, from the middle toward the Northern end, crushing it down upon the east gallery, where from 100 to 150 people were sitting, killing seven people and injuring several more severely. The Lent services had crowded the church more than usual, although the weather was very rough and wet, and probably a thousand worshippers were present. Father Curran, the pastor of the Church, was acting as celebrant, and with his boys occupied his place near the pulpit, on the east side. Father Carroll of the St Stephen's preached the evening sermon, taking "Now is the accepted time" for his text.

He had not been speaking long when the crash came. In the high wind that prevailed during the first quarter of an hour after night o'clock the wall, weakened by the frost and thaws of the past month, had given way. The noise was accompanied by a stifling and blinding dust from the shattered plaster of the ceiling, and for a time it was impossible for those who had escaped the ruin to see what or how great the disaster was. The house was filled at once with the cries of the hurt in the gallery and the shrieking of the terribly frightened crowd upon the floor, who made one united rush for the three doorways opening on Duane street. As is usual in a church congregation, the women far outnumbered the men, and though the doors will, when fastened open, empty the church in five minutes, the crush was so strong that it lasted fifteen or twenty minutes, and was as great a calamity as the fall of the wall itself.

The crowd from the floor, reenforced by two streams from the galleries, fought for the doors. The three doors opened inwards. Two of them—the main door and the small door—luckily were fastened wide open before the crowd reached them. The third door, which was beset more strongly because the disaster on the east side of the church had sent many frightened people hurrying over to the west side, had one of its two leaves shut and left only a narrow exit. The police outside gathered in some force by this time, endeavoured to force open the other leaf of the door, but the crush of the crowd against it was so great that the attempt, two or three times repeated, succeeded only when the other doors had relieved the church of the extreme pressure. In the terrible crush within women and men fainted and fell and were trampled upon. The breath was fairly ground out of others, and they were lifted along insensibly in the press.

Blinded and choked with dust and screaming with fright and pain, the 900 odd people who were able to move, found themselves in the street mingling with a crowd of horrors struck spectators, as frightened as anybody, families separated, children lost, no one certain except of individual safety, and no one knowing how great or how little the disaster might be. They were a torn, bruised and bleeding crowd whom the police had to clear from the flags with the other crowd that filled the street from sidewalk to sidewalk, and was pressing up to see what was the matter. Without, the church showed no signs of the disaster. The front wall was uninjured, When the crowd was nearly out, a company of firemen and policemen forced their way in They found the aisles littered with sleeves, cloaks, coats, hats, and rags torn off in the struggle, and found also a few men around the insensible bodies of a woman and boy who had fainted in the press, and others assisting those who had been too much injured to walk. The roof overhead broken through, and the almost entire absence of debris upon the floor sent them to the east gallery at once. There There they found a few heavy timbers from the roof lying among the remnants of the pews, and the whole northern two thirds of the gallery strewn with broken and splintered boards, brick, slate and mortar, and wet by the drenching rain. One woman lay under a beam with her leg broken, and under another timber a man was crushed fatally, but still breathing. The church wall had not given way, though it was driven out of plumb and bulged inwards, and only a portion of the roof, close to the wall, the break beginning in the middle of the roof and spreading both ways, further to the north than to the south

From the first point reached by the falling debris along the gallery and down to the doors, an irregular line of bodies was found. In some few the life was extinct; others were so badly hurt as to be unable to move, while not a syncope, the result of fright The debris was light enough to admit of the easy extrication of the twenty or more who lay unable to move. The large force of police and firemen made short work of carrying out the dead and injured.

The policemen, who were caught between the two crowds, say that the crush was a terrible one. The fall took place at 8:20, or within a moment or two thereafter. The noise of the crash at once brought a crowd from the neighboring horses and streets and they attempted to pass into the church, One policeman on duty in the neighbourhood and a fireman were alone in front of the door and for some time they worked hard and at tremendous odds to fight back the crowd. The outcoming crowd had trodden some of those in front and was trampling them, Aided by several able-bodied citizens who took in the situation at a glance, they tried to save those already down by shouting to the crowd to wait a moment and hold back at the same time pulling out those from below. But the current was too strong, and little could be done by attempting to stem it in this way. The five dead found upon the gallery were conveyed from Sweeney's to the Sixth Precinct Police Station house They were all of the humble class which made up the body of the worshippers.

Education in New Brunswick.

The New Brunswick School law seems to be fulfilling its object in imparting education to the people. The annual report on the schools by the chief Superintendent, laid before the New Brunswick Legislature on Friday last, shows continued progress in the work. It appears that during the summer term of 1873 the number of schools in the Province, including Common, Superior and Grammar Schools, was 979, on increase of 92 over the previous summer term. The number of teachers and assistants was 1,030, an increase of 99. The number of pupils in attendance at the schools was 43,911, an increase of 2,774 During the winter term of 1874 the number of schools were 992, an increase 98 over the previous winter term. The number of teachers and assistants was 1,020, an increase of 99. The number of pupils in attendance at the schools was 43,661, an increase of 2774. During the term of 1874 the number of schools was 992, an increase of 98 over the previous winter term. The number of teachers and assistants was 1,054, an increase of 24. The number of pupils at school was 44,875, an increase of 4,380. During the summer term of 1873, the proportion of the whole population of the Province attending school was one in every 6.72 of the population, an increase of about one per cent.

The position of the teachers is also being very much improved. During the winter term of 1874 the average rate of annual salaries, was as follows: Male teachers of the first class, $653.84—increase $19.48. This does not include the principals of the grammar schools, nor the extra Government grant to those teachers of the first class who taught superior schools. Including the latter the average was $660.88. The lowest average was in Queen's County $361, and the highest in St John's County $779. Female teachers of the first class, $338.97—increase $15.74. Male teachers of the second class, $375.38—increase $42.17 Female teachers of the second class, $1256.82—increase $15.50. Male teachers of the third class, $377.66—increase $3.39. Female teachers of the third class, $199.47—increase $4.85.

In other respects, such as the building of new school houses and repairs and improvement of existing ones, gratifying progress is also apparent, and the effect of the new Act and by to be judged of when it is considered that there are now at least double the number of children attending school all over the Province that there was ten years ago. The result must tend greatly to place New Brunswick in the front rank of enlightened and, therefore, prosperous communities, and her citizens certainly will be none the less faithful to their duties to God and their neighbor because they are well up in the three R's. Evidently the Province is determined to maintain the law Bishop Sweeney or Mr. Costigan to the contrary notwithstanding. The people of Quebec, who are as persistently goaded by their ecclesiastical guides to make an outcry over this non-sectarian school system, would perhaps do well to quit such barren work, for while they are finding fault with the way New Brunswick is so effectively teaching her children to read and write, they are neglecting their own education. Whether they are the better Catholics for that, they know best themselves but their fellow religionists in non-sectarian parts, such as the States and elsewhere, generally maintain that there is no reason why Catholics should oppose public schools, except that somehow or other their clergy do not like them.—EX.

The Rev. W. This speaks well for Peterboro' liberality. The amount was $51.

Mr Joseph McClelland leader of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Choir has opened a singing class in the school room of that church, on Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock. The instruction book is the "Vineyard of Song." Mr. McClelland's well known talent will ensure a large class, and progress in this beautiful and refining accomplishment.

It Fell

Whilst Mr. Meyers was taking down the remaining span of the Iron Bridge, and when the bows and several needle beams were removed, the remaining one fell and broke like pieces of metal, of course. It was very fortunate that no one was hurt. It is wonderful how many men escape injuries, notwithstanding that not unfrequently some of them are in the way of danger.

Vick's Floral Guide

The second number of Vick's Floral Guide for 1875, is now on our table and it is fully equal to any of the previous numbers. It contains a great deal of useful matter in reference to gardens and flowers, and should be read by every one who values the beauty of the flower garden. It is only 25 cents a year and may be obtained by addressing James Vick, Rochester.

Separation

A movement is on foot in the County of Durham to get separated from the County of Northumberland, with a view to making Newcastle the County Town. It is not likely, however, to take place without discussion, and then Port Hope will be expecting the honor of County Town, as well as Bowmanville and perhaps Orono. Separation will be more costly than profitable to the people, and would not produce the magnificent results anticipated, unless to those securing fat offices.

The Temporary Bridge

Is completed and teams are crossing it. It was commenced on Thursday and completed on Monday. That is something like quick work. The only question now is will it stand up against the spring floods? We must wait and see. It cannot do worse than the Iron Bridge, except being of wood it might flood away Its up and now a thaw may come any day.

Soiree.

A Literary and Musical Soiree will be given in the Music Hall on Friday night, 19th March, in aid of the building fund of the Methodist Church. A number of able readers from a distance will assist. A choice musical programme is arranged for and a pleasant night may be expected. As our Methodist friends have undertaken a work which will do everybody good we bespeak for them a bumper house as an expression of our sympathy with them in their laudable effort.

Resigned

The entire community will learn with profound regret that the Rev. Jas. Thom, the deservedly esteemed Presbyterian Minister here, has signified his determination to cut connection with that body and cast his lot with the Methodist Church of Canada.—The resignation to the Rev. gentleman cannot fail in being a great loss to the Presbyterian Body while his admission into the Methodist body will prove an important acquisition. Mr. Thom's manly, consistent Christian demeanor has gained for him the esteem and respect of the community.—Ontario Chronicle.

Protestant Home

The Committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations for the quarter ending March 1st:—Mr. Bertram, two bags of tarsnips; Mrs. Patton, cheese and biscuits; Mrs. Nicholls, a goose and groceries; Miss Nicholls, a goose; Mr. Mathias, toys for the children; Mrs. Alex. Smith, books for the children; Mrs. W. H. Rackham, a goose; Mrs. Edwards, basket of apples; a friend, a load of straw; Mrs. Elder, parcel of clothing; Mr. McCullagh, two pairs of German felt slippers and mending boots; Mrs. Dr. Taylor, parcel of clothing, a friend, a load of wood.

Disappointed.

We clip the following from the Port Hope Times. Is it applicable here? Perhaps only in part. Our Councillors, however, are as friendly as possible to the trade. "A large number of the townspeople attended the special meeting of the Town Council on Friday evening last, expecting, doubtless, a little circus on the license by-law. In this they were disappointed, there being no fight, no discussion, in fact, no nothing, except formal resolutions. They went home sadder and we hope wiser men, for if they put any faith in future in the average town Councillor ever doing what is expected of him, they have more confidence than we have.

Mr. Millar's Concert

Mr. James Millar will favor the people of Peterborough with a grand Concert in the Music Hall, on Wednesday evening, March 17th. The programme is a good one and the best talent of the Town will assist. Mr. Millar has succeeded in obtaining the assistance of the celebrated Prof. Jones late of Toronto, now of Galt, and considered the best baritone singer in Canada. The concert will be the best of this season. No one should miss going. This concert we understand is at the winding up of a term of his Music classes, and will include on the programme some choice pieces by his pupils. Mrs. Fowler, and Messrs D. D. Gallelly, R. Graham, T. Brown and others will take part.

Rev. W. Affleck.

Wesleyan Minister from England, who is making a tour of Canada, visited our usually staid and quiet town this week and lectured thrice under the auspices of the Y. M. C. Association, on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday evenings, in each case to crowded houses. He is quaint, witty and fluent—sometimes eloquent—carries his audience with him, and delights, pleases and instructs. He is very happy in the selection of language, pleasing in his address, and convincing in argument, as a lecturer. He preached twice on Sabbath, both times to crowded congregations. He cannot be considered a convincing preacher, nor yet a close reasoner, still there is a something about his style that rivets the attention and retains it throughout the whole discourse As a temperance lecturer he has few equals.

A New Bridge.

We recommend to the attention of the Committee on the New Iron Bridge, the letter of Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald in last week's EXAMINER. Mr. Fitzgerald has had considerable experience in bridge building on the Intercolonial, when he informs us the "Lattice girder" bridge is largely used, and this experience might be of service to the committee just now. The County Council acted wisely in taking time to consider what they should do in the matter. Letters such as Mr. Fitzgerald's may invite discussion, by which the County and Town may be saved from a repetition of their first Iron Bridge folly, and the stigma attached to contractors for the first Bridge, and the doings of the Town portion of the committee will induce watchfulness on the part of the people which will also have a wholesome effect in preventing, if only in part, a repetition of favoritism to the great loss of the ratepayers. Our columns will be open for any remarks on bridges or bridge building that may tend to enlighten the people or be of service to the committee in awarding the tender to the party prepared to construct the best bridge at the cheapest rate with due regard to appearance or beauty of design.

The Hours for Closing Bars and Billiard Rooms.

This matter was the subject of some discussion lately in our Town Council, during the preparation of a by-law for that purpose. Several of the clay fathers were rather weak-kneed on this point. The tavern keepers were present in force, and their presence had its effect. The hour for closing was made 12 o'clock every night instead of eleven, as in a previous By-law. And strange to say that in drawing up the by-law reference to Billiard rooms and such like are wholly omitted, so that they may be kept open as usual all night. It was admitted by all that these were the greatest curses of our town in demoralising young men and not a few old ones too, notwithstanding the evil is perpetuated. Only Councillors Rutherford, Thornton, Dixon and Towle voted to close bars at eleven o'clock. But all omitted or neglected to fix the hours for closing the Billiard rooms. We were willing to believe that the efforts put forth, by several ministers and friends of temperance would have succeeded in abating the evil somewhat. Present appearances, however, are to the contrary. And we venture to predict that the excise revenue collected in Peterboro, during 1875, will not be one cent less than it was during 1874, while billiard rooms remain as before to induce young men to commence, what must end, in thousands of cases, in ruin Should our christian churches cease their work until this time next year and then make another spasmodic effort? If they do they will never see the evil abated.

WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Peterborough March 10, 1875.

SIR,—Will you permit a poor man who finds it sufficiently hard to live to ask a few questions about the proposed Water Works.

1—Will the expenditure of $100,000 increase our taxes?

2—Will the interest of that sum be $6,000 a year?

3—Is it true that $6,000 a year would buy two new steam fire engines every year? or a brea new Ward School every year?

4—If the $100,000 was kept and $6,000, the interest, given as bonuses to new manufactures each year, would more good be done than by getting the Water Works?

5—Will Water Works bring into Town and support many mechanics, laborers, &c.?

6—Would it be better to spend the money encouraging railways to develope and increase our Town?

7—Would Robert Romaine (the self proposed Water Commissioner) get a salary of $1,000 a year with perquisites?

8—Is he the same Robert Romaine who with his friends wanted the citizens to take Stock in the Gas Company (each of them having $1,000 of paid up Stock which cost nothing)?

N.B—See the Report or the Great Canadian Oil Swindle—the honorable directors had paid up stock!

9—Is it true that the fires in Peterborough during the last twenty years would not amount to $6,000 a year?

10—Will Water Works to supply printers in fourth storys and to put out fires on George Street, do much good to a poor man on Donegal street?

11—Do Water Works always put fires out

12—Will the Dry Goods, &c., on George St. which are owned for pay any share of the cost? or must poor men who don't cheat the Town out of taxes have to pay for the Montreal Merchants who own the goods?

13—Is it the big property holders who are so anxious about the Water Works, or only the men who several times brought the great engineers and contractors here to give estimates, that want to do so much good for the poor people who lack water?

14—Is $100,000 about one-fifteenth of the entire assessed value of the Town and does an expenditure of $100,000 mean that every man is to give away one-fifteenth of his property to gratify the Commissioner?

15—After taxing ourselves will we have to pay for the watar if we wash the skillet with it?

16—A Mr. Romaine the other day at Port Hope said Peterboro would give $200,000 to the Midland Railway if they would put up a few shops here. In this the same man who wants our $100,000 for Water Works? Will some person go and tell Mr. Edwards to lock the safe.

Your early answer will oblige me and a few more of us who can't see it!

DONEGAL STREET.

OBITUARY.

(From Port Hope Times.)

Another of our good old loyalists has gone to his rest. Isaac Preston, Esq., was born near Market Hill, County Armagh, Ireland, on the 1st day of January, 1777, and died at the residence of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Preston, Township of Manvers, on Tuesday, 9th February, 1875, being in his ninety-ninth year.

Naturally of a strong and vigorous constitution, and thoroughly temperate in his habits, he knew little of pain or sickness until a few days brfore his death. His mental faculties were very much above the average, and these he retained to a remarkable degree of perfection almost to the last moments of his life. Latterly he spent the greater portion of his time in reading, and could converse intelligently on every topic.

He was particularly noted for his strong Conservative principles, and unswerving attachment to British institutions. In his native land, he served for five years in a regiment of dragoons which was dismembered by the treaty of Amiens in the year 1802. In the same year he emigrated to America, and settled at Amsterdam, United States. Not feeling at home or happy under republican institutions, he crossed over into Canada, and was one of the earliest settlers of Amherst Island. It was here where, during the Rebellion of 1837, he and his worthy family suffered very great hardships. Both himself and his six sons took an active part in quelling the Rebellion. Their house was broken into and plundered by the rebel party, and father and some of the sons seriously wounded—indeed narrowly escaped with their lives.

He left the Island in 1854, and settled with his son James in the Township of Manvers, with whom and his family he lived until the day of his death. It was here in the year 1866 that his wife died at the advanced age of eighty-four years. Deceased joined Orange Lodge, No 3, in the year 1796, and was the oldest Orange-man in America. He also joined the freemasons in the year 1816.

His religious opinions were strong and decided, and much more practical than theoretical. Being thoroughly plain and out-spoken himself, he utterly despised and heartily discountenanced anything verging on hypocrisy in others, whether strangers, friends, or relatives.

He leaves behind him a large connexion, nearly all of whom are remarkable for extraordinary mental capacity—pushing, energetic thoroughly loyal and universally respected.

MANVERS.

WITCHCRAFT IN ENGLAND.

A remarkable case of credulity came before the Exeter magistrates. It appeared from the evidence that a woman named Arthurs a fortune teller, was consulted by another woman on behalf of the son, who was suffering from some internal complaint. Arthurs pretended to read from a book the nature of the complaint and the remedy required. She also went through some mystic performances with a pack of cards, and said if the young man did not recover by a certain date he would die. Arthurs gave the woman some mixture in a bottle, for which she charged £1, but the invalid did not get better. The mother told Arthurs that she believed her son had been bewitched, and believed she was able to effect a cure. The police, however, got hold of the affair and arrested Arthurs, who told a police officer that she had cured "hundreds of cases" and that "she was very clever in that way." A witness said she had also consulted Arthurs and had recommended the woman in this case to her. The magistrates sent Arthurs to prison for two months and ordered £5 found on her to be kept towards her maintenance in gaol. By a singular coincidence a witchcraft case also came before the Newton Abbot Board of Guardians on Wednesday morning. A laboring man applied for relief saying he had been bewitched and was unable to work. In reply to the Chairman, the man said that he believed in witchcraft. Admiral Wise, one of the guardians, said there was no doubt the man believed he was bewitched, and his faith could not be shaken; his illness, however, was no doubt due to an attack of apoplexy. The man was granted relief, and it was suggested that the police should look after a "wizard" who had promised to cure him.

He had lately removed to Town to get away from the cares of a farm life, but was removed to another and happier place after a short residence here.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send as once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Prop., N. Y., and

A HAPPY REPORT.

(By our special Sapphic.)

Last week the Mail published some poetry in Greek ; real, pure Greek ! characters and all. Not to be outdone we at once telegraphed to our special Sapphic to get up something equally classic, regardless of expense. The following charming piece is the result. Owing to an intimate P. D. having knocked our Greek type into "pie," we are obliged to give the original in English characters, appending a revised translation in verse by our private poet.

Alpha, Beta, Gamma. Delta !
Time our pipes to classic squeak
Cut along muse ! better chatter,
Show the world we're up to Greek !
Sing a song of attic glee !
Muse it has charms for we !

In the days when earth was young.
Love once woke the lyre quite bossy.
De-re me-fol—(thus he sung)—
Ho-hem-pe-kee-wank-kee-weevy
Kappa, Lambda, Eeta, Mu !
Love he knows a thing or two !

Laughter then would try his skill
But he made such 'orrid screech-e .
Played so very ill,
Mother Muse she spanked his breech-e.
Lo ! there came a dismal fome—
De-ree me-ree me-ree moan !

Ever since that ancient time
Love no more can sing with laughter ;
Music (Laughter says) ain't prime
When a spanking follows after.
Laughter never will sing more,
'Cos his ma she made him sore !

NEW METHOD OF MAKING BREAD

Good bread is a good thing, and one not so easily obtained. A correspondent says she can make good bread, and tells others how to do it. She says ; "Instead of protracted agony of twelve or eighteen hours, it will only be a pleasant exercise of a few minutes in making it —just two hours for raising—and caked in fifty minutes, and then out comes the loaves, so sound and light, so tender and sweet, the whole household will be delighted. The first thing, and last in fact, is proper temperature, both in making it and in the process of raising. Without heat, internal as well as external, fermentation cannot be repaid enough. Then heat two bricks to 100 or more and place the pan you make the bread in on them, and so knead and work in the heat with the materials. And now, although the great army of breadmakers stand up in floury array against me, and even shake their doughy fingers at me, I shall not wince or abate one jot.' 'Success is the test of merit,' as the world goes, and this past delusive notion that after bread is light once, it must forsooth be moulded into loaves and set to work again, is all nonsense. It often induces sourness, certainly multiplies labour, and takes time. Well then, have two tins well greased (butter is hopeless in these days) and divide the dough equally (I use two quart tins which, of course require two quarts of flour, and over for a loaf) and set them to raise by the stove on hot bricks, with a piece of carpet over the bricks to moderate the heat, and then well cover with warm woollens. In two hours it will be rising like aladdin's palace, and when fairly brimming full place it in your oven, and you will soon have as delicious bread to eat as one ought to expect out of paradise. I claim this as an original, and only ask you to follow these directions and give us the result. Thus bread making ceases it be the tax of time and patience to usually is, and the harrassing doubts and fears one usually goes through while following the old method, are quite done away with. I could say much on the philosophy of baking bread in adjusting the 'golden mean,' which, after all, is half. A peep into some of the closed ovens would, I fear, call out the exclamation of the dogs in Landseer's picture of 'too hot, too hot.'" These instructions are so plain, and the results promised, so great, that they are worth trying.—Woods household Magazine

FARMING AS A PURSUIT

If a young man of a vigorous constitution, good common-school education and a year or two of instruction and practice under some good farmer, should ask my advice as to whether it would be well for him to choose farming as his life occupation, I should reply some what as follows :

After trying farm labor for a year or more you must know better than any one else whether you would like it as a life-long business. If quite sure that you would take hold at once. There is much to be done this very winter. It must be done soon, or you will fall behind your neighbours, and so become discouraged. Old farmers about you are doubtless taking their winter very leisurely ; but they began many years ago, and are now enjoying the fruits of past labors. Their fortunes are made. Yours is yet to be made, and you must lose no time in getting ready for vigorous operations. You will do well to make up your mind as to what stock you will want to begin with ; what manures you must have, in order to give a reasonable expectation of large, or at least fair crops, the first season ; what machinery and what tools you will need, how much wood housed in March or April to secure you against being called off when labor is high.

These are some of the things to be looked after in advance. A good rule for a man aspiring to the noble profession of agriculture, is to leave nothing for next week which can as well be done this . nothing for to-morrow that can be done to-day. It is difficult for a young man, with but little experience in this line, to do well the first year. But let him remember that if he seeks wise advisers, begins promptly, and comes out only passably well the first season, he will be almost certain to do better the second, third, and so onward, till he becomes the sole owner of an enriched farm, with stock and buildings to match, causing an intelligent stranger passing to affirm, "A good farmer lives there."

It a young man desires a business that will afford him considerable leisure in middle life, there is none that promises so well as farming. If he is of an independent turn, let him become a farmer by all means. If he desires a healthy employment and long life, farming, together with the tending and care of domestic animals usually accompanying it, is just the business. If he would be honestly and honorably independent, let him cultivate the soil from which he lives, that it may be somewhat better when he leaves it than when he found it ; and he will have to the extent done well for himself, and well for the world.—Exchange.

GIRL WANTED.

BY M. QUAD.

Yes, I want another—"A tidy girl to do house-work in a small family—good wages and a good home." That's the way my advertisement always reads and as soon as the paper is out the girls commence coming. Tidy girls from ten to sixty-five years old come pulling the bell, and when told they won't suit they put on such a look of contempt for the door, the door-plate, the front gate and the entire institution that the world seems three degrees hotter than it was before.

I always engage the girl. This is because of an idea of mine that I can read human nature, and because I do not fear to let them know in plain English what is expected of them. After the door bell has been pulled about fifty times the right sort of a girl makes her appearance. She says she saw the advertisement and is invited in. She says she can do any kind of cooking, loves to wash, is fond of children, can never sleep after five o'clock in the morning, never goes out evenings, does not know man in detroit, and would be willing to work for low wages for the sake of getting a good home.

She is told to drop her bundle, lay off her things, and go to work ; and a great burden rolls off my mind as I congratulate myself that the prize-medal girl has arrived at last. She's all right up to about seven in the evening, when she is suddenly missed and returns about ten o'clock to say that she just dropped out to get a postage stamp. The next day she begins to scatter the teaspoons in the back yard, stops her ironing to read a dime novel, and at supper time she wants to know if I can't send the children off to live with their grandfather, get a cook stove with silver-plated knobs, and have an addition built on to the kitchen. That evening a big, red-headed butcher walks in and crossing his branches over the kitchen table, he proceeds to court Sarah. She doesn't stay but a day or two longer, and then we secure another.

This one is right from New Hampshire and she does not know a soul in Michigan, and yet she hasent finished washing the dinner dishes before a cross-eyed young man rings the bell and says he'd like to see Hannah for a moment. After seeing him Hannah concludes not to stay, as we live so far from St. John's church, and as we don't appear to be religious people.

The next one especially recommends herself as being "just like their own mother" to the children, and isn't in the house more than half a day before she draws Small Pica on her knee and gives him a regular Canadian waltz.

The next has five recommendations as a neat and tidy girl, and yet it's not quite three days before she bakes the shoe brush along with the beef, washes her hands in the soup-tureen, or drops hairpins in the puddings.

I growl about these things after a while, but I am met with the statement that they had worked for five years for Govenor this, or Lord that and that in all this time no one had so much as looked cross-eyed at them. I am called mean, ill-tempered, particular, fault-finding, and all that, and the girl goes away wondering why the Lord has spared me as long as He has.

We've been wanting a good tidy girl for these last twelve or thirteen years, and I suppose that we might go another dozen and still be wanting.

CARELESS ENGLISH

A lady and gentleman were crossing our meadow one cloudy day, when suddenly it began to rain.

"Won't you be kind enough to hoist my umbrella ?" said the lady.

"Certainly," said the gentleman.

I was astonished at this, for if won't means anything at all it means will not ; and therefore, according to my translation, the gentleman had really told the lady that he really would not hoist her umbrella !

But no. Even while he spoke, he opened that useful article, and held it gracefully over his companion.

"Thank you !" said she earnestly.

"Not at all," said he more earnestly. And on they went.

"Why the fellow flatly contradicted the lady," said I to myself. "How outrageous !"

But no, again, for they were on the best of terms, and the lady smiled sweetly at his words.

Yet the birds tell me that this sort of talk is quite usual among genteel human beings.

COLLOSAL SKELETON.

A correspondent of the St. Catharines News describes the parts of the skeleton of the unknown animal found on Mr. Isaiah Wardell's farm in Canboro,' near Dunville. The horn is about eight feet long, and twenty-eight inches in circumference, was probably about twelve or fourteen inches longer and several inches larger in circumference in its original perfect state ; the large end of the horn has a tapering hollow of about four feet, and a curve of about twenty inches, and weighs 185 pounds in its green state ; has likely weighed not less than 250 lbs. About half of the other horn is also exhibited, corresponding in size and shape, but much more decayed Two jaw-bones, or rather parts of them, having two grinders each, measuring 17 inches from the angle of the jaw-bone to the first tooth. The teeth measuring about 7 inches by 3½. One loose tooth weighs 5½ lbs. Several other bones, evidently belonging to the same animal, and all of a colossal size, such as the bones of one foot, joint of a leg, parts of the head, vertebræ, shoulder blade, and one rib ; all of which attest that the animal must have been of an enormous size, quite beyond any animal as yet known, or of which we have any skeleton, and judging from its size and weight of its teeth and jaw bones, it must have been twice the size of the largest elephant. Mr. Wardell intends searching for more of the skeleton as soon as the frost permits.

Curious Invntion in Table Furniture

A Californian genius is the author of a new invention, says the "Furniture Gazette, to do away with servants around tables at meal times. It consists of a movable railway, acting within a circle inside the plates that are to be served. It will suffice for an oblong table as well as for a round one, and is operated by the person who sits at the end of the table, or in other words, the one who does the carving. This individual is enabled by his or her feet under the table, after the manner of working the treadle of a sewing machine, to send a plate of hash, so to speak, sailing around at lightning speed to the spot of destination, followed up with the condiments, cutlery, etc., necessarry to the thorough enjoyment of the meal. The advantages of such an improvement are apparent as manifold. Besides the delays and confusion consequent upon the present system, accidents, such as spilling soup over the shoulders of those seated around the table, will be avoided.

VINEGAR BITTERS

Hundreds Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores ; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins ; cleanse it when it is foul ; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color

A Dressing which, by its use, has restored to many perfect health and vigor the hair where the follicles are not entirely destroyed or the glands atrophied and decayed. But no hair can be restored where the roots are dead. It will quickly stop the hair coming out, and in a few weeks a new growth will appear, unless the case is one of extreme old age, when the glands have become entirely torpid. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil the cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a delightful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

Select Poetry.

GROWING OLD.

It is parting with the re-mainem
Of the smoothly moulded cheek?
Is it losing from the temples
Half the flashing jay they speak?
Is it falling of the lustre
From the wavy golden hair?
Is it finding on the forehead
Graven lines of thought and care?

Is it dropping, as the rose-leaves
Drop their crustmas-ever-blown,
Household beauty that once were dearer,
More familiar than our own?
Is it mouldog on our pathway
Faces strange and glasses cold,
While the soul with moan and shiver,
Whispers sadly, "growing old"?

Is it dreaming at the folly
Of the ardent hopes of youth?
Is it crude melancholy,
At the sunlit of truth?
Is it disbelief in loving?
Selfish hate, or miser's greed?
Then such blight of manove's noblest
Is a "growing old" indeed.

But the silver thread that shineth
Whitely in the shinning tress,
And the puller where the bloom was,
Need not tell of bitterness;
And the home's more earnest waiting
Where it once was marble fair,
May be but the spirit's tending
Of the pearls of answered prayer.

If the smile have gone in deeper,
And the tear more quickly start,
Both together stand in music
Low and tender in the heart;
And in others' joy and gladness,
When the life can find its own,
Surely angels hear to listen
To the overtones of the tone.

Nothing lost of all we planted
In the time of budding leaves;
Only some things bound in bundles
And not by—our precious sheaves
Only treasure kept in safety
Out of reach and out of rust,
Till we clasp it, grown the richer
Through the glory of our trust.

On the gradual sloping pathway,
As the passing years declines,
Gleams a golden love-light falling
Far from upper heights divine.
And the shadows from that brightness
Wrap them softly in their fold,
Who unto celestial whiteness
Walk, by way of "growing old."

WOMEN IN MARRIAGE.

One of the most singular facts of the present day is that so many of the mutterings against the existing conditions of marriage should proceed from women. Not that, looking from some points of view, there is not much reason for the mutterings, nor that women are not those who chiefly feel the yoke of the system; but the situation of women would be so infinitely worse without it that it is impossible to justify their short sightedness and wrong-headedness in crying out against the whole system, when it is their sole protection, instead of against the folly or the barbarity of certain features of it that might be modified or abrogated.

Speaking historically or accurately, the original condition of woman was that of a slave. If she is a slave still—for marriage, says John Stuart Mill, "is the only actual bondage known to our laws; there remain no legal slaves except the mistress of every house"—and if she will always be a slave until she is made as much an integer of society as man, and his equal before justice and equity, yet her chains have been gilded into such pretty jewelry that she is not always aware of them. In the beginning, when life was a state of much the same daily warfare and prey as it is now with the beasts of the jungle, her comparative beauty, her weakness and tenderness, caused her always to be either the thing in dispute or one of the rewards of the struggle. At first never safe, she subsequently may have been made prize of more regularly as a mark of prowess, but later as an acquisition of booty, with implements of strife, with cattle and with treasure. Astonishing as it sounds, nevertheless a great progress was made when she became an object of sale, inasmuch as sale is nobler than rapine. But even then her condition was only less deplorable than her previous one had been. She was the property of an owner, liable to barter, to blows, with no rights in herself or in her children—with nothing in the world but the poor breath she drew, nor even that, should she offend her lord! What nobility up her at last became apparent, and induced her master to legalize her as a fixed and single wife with certain small rights of her own, it would take time to consider. One might say, indeed, that it was some nobility in him, with increasing refinements grafted on his nature, the sons nobler for the sorrows of the mothers, that had made it possible for him to experience a lasting affection for one woman; but it is more likely that affection for his offspring, and civil considerations of his ship widely recognized, rather impelled him to this action. Certain it is that it was the slow work of ages, and that it came out of the loftier and less luxurious races, while that it is not yet an altogether perfect relation is due to the fact that it is a thing of growth under gift and sufferance rather than of absolute and complete creation.

Nobody claims that women should be supernally happy in the present state of marriage. All that is claimed in that it is the best thing she has yet enjoyed; and it is hard to see how it can be very greatly improved to her advantage at this period, or until both man and woman have themselves improved. For our own part—though if it be the case, it does not militate against her right to happiness that we know of—we leave it for others to assert that women on the average are altogether the intellectual equals of men. But we do assert that they are capable of developing into equals, and we hold that it is the fault of men that they are not already so. Still, that is perhaps in the line of necessity, for the physically stronger, being the first to get the upper hand, will naturally secure the greatest advantages to themselves, and they have accordingly not given the whole. When women have had the intellectual power, and education for generations, they have enjoyed, so that if subordinate they are not because inferior, the habit is so when they have not proved that the same darkness, the same ignorance, would be no longer a matter of question. Cases will then be considered equally, but it will be the equality in which one other differs from another, one flower from another, each after its kind correspondingly near perfection. From the marriages of that era a race must doubtless succeed to which in powers of mind the present race will be eminently more than pigmies; and in these marriages it is not to be supposed that the wife will have any further cause for unhappiness than the husband has. But that is something in the exceedingly remote future, and we can only hope slowly to lead up to it by fighting within the union, so to speak, not by putting ourselves outside of the present convention and compact, but over what we have attained, and reaching up the other hand for more.

But if husbands do not feel the galling of the yoke as wives do, we may, notwithstanding, assume that they are sensible of its burdens and restraints; yet it is not from the husbands that complaint regarding marriage comes, but from those who owe to it all the safety and honor they possess. Let women rethink themselves. Suppose for a moment that legal marriage had ceased in society, what would be the result? Human nature would remain the same, whatever laws it was under. Passions and appetites would be the same, the great drama of love would still go on, the race would still continue, and children would still be born. What would become of the children? In some cases of course, paternal feeling would appear and maintain itself; but in others it is possible that the indifference to offspring common to the male animal in a state of nature, with few exceptions, would supervene; in still others, the father being free to choose and finding one inclination stronger than another would tire of the sick or fading or unengaging mother, and at a sight of a rosy face or a pretty way be off to fresh fields and pastures new. All this would happen, whether it received any complication, or not from the mother's variety of choice, if of fickle or capricious nature; and we should soon, then, have a generation of children depending on their mother's for support, and women would find themselves with burdens far heavier than they ever dream of bearing now; for the mothers instinct is something that in all nature is not known to fail except bitter poverty and shame produce instant infanticide. But it is seldom that mothers can rear children and support them too. The natural consequence of their being obliged to do so would be either a depopulation of the earth through infanticide, if the mother instinct did fail, or else the succession of a tribe of mother's bowed to the earth with hard labor and want and care, forgetting their own graces and having no time to impart anything of the sort to those who would be growing up paupers, predatory, unlearned, and in scarcely more than a second generation relapsing towards barbarism. We cannot see in all reason and fairness, that if marriage were seriously interfered with there could be any other consummation of events than this. The necessary end for woman would be a return to the state of savage nature: and the thing would work like a two edged blade, for what woman is, her children, more or less, must be also; and where she goes, sooner or later, but inevitably man himself must follow.

None then can be more blind than those women who lift their voices in rebellion against marriage, when this is the only possible result of the rebellion; and few can be more blameworthy than those who listen to them without censure. If the institution as it stands to-day is anywhere found not to meet just and equitable demands, reasonable and gentle efforts cannot fail to make it do so—for men are not tyrants, but friends and lovers—and it can only be by quiet and pleasing persistency that it has attained its present status. Let women then beware how, joining in the clamor, against it, they walk in such a suicidal path as we have pointed out. Let them beware of all the enticing and insidious ways that conduct them toward that path; and let them hold marriage, with what faults it has and what reforms it needs, as something too holy to be meddled with irreverently, and the only shield between them and a horror of darkness.

Determined to be a Pirate.

RESULT OF PATERNAL DISCIPLINE ON A DETROIT BOY—ANGRY THOUGHTS IN A WOODSHED—A FOND FAREWELL ALL AROUND.

CHAPTER I—THE BOY

He was one of that kind of boys who need a good whipping about twice per week, but who thinks they ought not to be whipped more than once in two years. His amusement was sliding down hill on nothing, blacking some boys, and preparing Cayenne pepper lozenges for unsuspecting cats. He was often heard to remark:

"Things has got to get up'n howl when Leonidas is around."

CHAPTER II—AT TWILIGHT.

Time, sundown—scene, the interior of a well-preserved woodshed. The sound of blows and cries rent the solemn stillness of twilight's mystic hour, and the old man was heard saying:

"There, I guess that'll last you for a day or two! I've put up with your ans as long as I can!"

No reply—nothing but deep drawn sobs and quavering sighs.

The old man threw away the strap and walked into the house, and Leonidas sat on the corner of an old table to meditate.

CHAPTER III—A BLOODY RESOLVE.

"That's the last licking I'll ever take from any mortal man!" whispered the lad, shaking his fist at the kitchen door. "And I'd make the old man sorry that he ever laid a strap over his only son!

He resolved to run away and become a pirate! He would sail the raging main, revel in murder, exquire dennis, and then come home and take revenge on his father. With Leonidas to resolve was to execute. He entered the house, passed up stairs, and was soon engaged in making up a bundle, consisting of old pair of pickled pants, one pinchgarnet of his sister, one patchwork, one cotton sock, and a few walnuts. The bundle was thrown out of the window, and then—

CHAPTER IV—CHRISTMAS LOOMS ABOVE the mast for the last time. The lad-stead looked familiar, the old blue chest in the corner had a thousand tender memories connected with it, and the broken-down chair seemed to hold out its arms and invite him to stay.

"I would if the old man hadn't licked me," answered Leonidas, "but I'll show him what kind of a coffee mill I am!"

He passed down stairs, and halted to embrace the baby. He was'nt down on his mother, and he gave her a sweet smile. He crawled in behind the stove, and whispered to the dog:

"Good-by, old Samson. I'd like to stay here, but I'm too old to be licked"

And he passed out of doors, and the great wide world was before him.

CHAPTER V.—SOLEMN THOUGHTS.

Securing his bundle, Leonidas crept into the back yard to see if it was ready for him to become a pirate. The polar wave chewed at his ears and reddened his nose, and he wondered if the pirate business wasn't pretty cold business. He didn't know whether it was best to make for Toledo or Chicago in order to become a bucaneer, but he finially passed out the gate. He walked around the house several times to catch a glimpse of his mother. It was hard to tear himself away. He knew how she would take it on next day, and the papers would call it another charlie Ross case, and he decided to go into the yard and think it over again.

CHAPTER VI.—A RAY OF LIGHT.

After a little time spent in thought Leonidas decided that if his father would agree never to lick him again, and would give him $2 per week to buy candy, he would not run away and become a pirate. He would go in and make the proposition to the old man, and if it should be rejected—farewell to home—welcome welcome a career of Blood.

He went in, No one had noticed his absense, and each face looked as natural as if he hadn't been gone twenty-eight minutes. He felt some little delicacy about broaching the proposition and as a "feeler," he asked the old man to lend him his knife. It was handed to him and returned after a while Leonidas decided to put off the proposition until morning. As he got into his little bed feeling that it was positively his last night, but the next forenoon he was heard splitting wood in the back yard and saying to Jack Sparling:

"I've concluded to wait until he licks me just once more, and then nothing can stop me—nothing on earth."

A GREAT INVENTION.

The Stratford Beacon says:—There may be some of our readers who may remember Mr. Alfred Edison, who was some years ago a night operator at the at the Stratford office of the G. T. R. Of an inventive turn of mind, he was constantly employer on some new fangled contrivance," as his associates contemptuously styled his inventions. and Leaving the Grand Trunk service, he went to the United States, and brought many of his inventions, which are in daily use now in every telegraph office in America, into practical operation. His improvements are almost without number, and it is said that he has contributed more to the efficiency of the present system of telegraphy that any one man except Morse. But the latest and crowning triumph of his life is the "Quadruplex attatchment," by means of which, incredible as it seems, four messages may be sent on a single wire at one and the same time. The principle is an exceedingly simple one, and can be appreciated at a glance by any one at all conversant with the working of telegraph instruments. The practical value of the invention is to quadruple the capacity of every wire in the country, and the western Union telegraph Company has offered the enormous sum of $450,000 for the patent. Verily, as the old adage says, "it is better to be lucky than rich."

AN ORIENTAL FABLE.

There is an eastern story of a sultan who overslept himself, so as not to awaken at the hour of prayer. So the devil came and waked him, and told him to get up and pray. "Who are you," said the sultan. "O, no matter," réplied the other, "My act is good, is it not! No matter who does the good action, so long as it is good." "Yes," replied the sultan, "but I think you are Satan. I know your face, you have some bad motive." "But," says the other, "I am not so bad as I am painted. You see I have left off my horns and tail. I was an angel once, and still keep some of my original goodness.", "That's all very well," replied the magacious and prudent caliph, "but you are the tempter; that's your work and I wish to know why you wish me to get up and pray." "Well," said the devil; with a flirt of impatience, "if you must know I will tell you. If you had slept and forgotten your prayers, you would have been sorry for it afterwards and penitent; but if you go on, as now and do not neglect a single prayer for ten years, you will be so satisfied with yourself that it will be worse for you than if you had missed one sometimes and repented of it. God loves your faith mixed with penitence more than your virtue seasoned with pride."

The sudden death of the Fourth Duchess of Oneida is chronicled in the newspapers, though no particulars are given regarding the character of the malady which thus carried off an ornament to the society in which she moved. The Duchess left one son only three months old, a vigorous infant, promising well, though totally neglected by his father, the Fourteenth Duke of Thorndale, who is reported to be a confirmed old rose. The Duchess died in this country, where she had resided for

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 18, 1875.

THE WATER-WORKS BY-LAW.

An impression has gone abroad that certain persons or ratepayers, not living near the water works may be exempted from paying any of the Water Works Tax. We have read the Act carefully over and found no such provision.

The 12th, 13th and 14th sections, provide for levying the rate for said works, and perhaps the ratepayers will carefully read those sections. The 12th section gives the Commissioners power to fix the price, rate or rent, which any owner, or occupant of a lot, or part of a lot, or both, in, through, or past which the water pipes shall run, shall pay as water rate, or rent, whether such owner or occupant shall use the water or not, having due regard to the assessment, and to any special benefits and advantage derived by such owner or occupant, conferred upon him, or her, or their property by the water works, and the locality in which the same is situated. And such water rate or rent as shall be assessed by such Commissioners shall be and continue a lien or charge, in the same way as other taxes.

(3) The Commissioners have power to erect water meters, or water measuring apparatus, on the premises of consumers whenever they may deem it expedient so to do, the cost thereof to be borne by the consumer.

The ratepayers will see that the Commissioners have unheard of powers. They can fix rates and rents large enough to pay all interest, sinking fund and expenses of working and maintaining and working the same.

2. They are to be the only judges of the value of property through, or in, or past which the works shall run.

3. They are to be the judges of the advantages or special benefits derived by owners or occupants of property in, past, or through which the works shall run.

4. The Commissioner shall have power to assess such owners or occupants for such water rate, or rent, and to collect the taxes therefor, whether the owner, or occupant uses the water or not.

Do the ratepayers wish to place these extravagant powers in the hands of three men, no matter who those men may be?

What three men in town would the ratepayers trust to assess the relative benefits of two neighbors through, in or past whose property the works may run?

What sort of an assessment might they expect where there would be so many conflicting interests?

What an opportunity for favoritism does the 12th section afford?

The Commissioner will be men and their policy not unfrequently is "scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." Vote for the next Commissioner and I'll see to you. Vote for you.

But where is the clause exempting any one entirely from taxation? It depends on the whim or judgment of the Commissioners as to who shall be considered as benefitted.

Section 14 empowers the Commission to make and enforce their own By-laws for the general maintenance or the manner of means and conduct of the said works, officers, and others employed by them, thus freeing them from any control of the Council, except as to returns and audit of accounts. They are to be the arbiters of costs, salaries and expenses, except that of commissioners' salaries or remuneration. The Town Council can have no authority as to expenses or other outlays.

There is another weak point in the Act. During the time of construction, the commissioners can use the principal to pay the interest and sinking fund and costs of officers' salaries and commissioners' pay.

Suppose the works were to be in progress four years, a sum not less than $25,000 would be required to pay the interest alone. This sum would come out of the principal, and thus, instead of the $100,000, only $75,000 would remain for the construction of water works. It may be said that during this time there would be no tax or rent. That is one of the strongest arguments against the act, as during the time there would be less watchfulness on the part of the ratepayers, and the money would be gone before they found out the leak.

The word past in the 12th section is a convenient one. It also leaves the commissioners to be the judges of what it means. The river runs past the town. So also might the water works be considered in the judgement of the commissioners and they who have power to fix the rate or rent, and say what property it runs past.

But they can employ the Town assessors or collector, says one. Yes, section 16 provides that the commissioners shall have power to employ the assessor or assessors, or collectors, by By-law (with the consent of the corporation of the Town of Peterborough) or such other persons as in their (the Commissioner's) opinion they may think necessary, but still such persons shall hold their offices under the Commissioners and at their pleasure, and as they (the Commissioners) shall determine by By-law in that behalf, thus giving the commissioners complete control.

Then follows another but. But the commissioners have to be elected yearly; just so. And then comes the hunker-sliding, to use a no uncommon phrase. The commissioners and a few aspirants put their heads together and say to those whom they can influence: "You did not get justice in the past grar; just vote for me and I'll see that things are made right." Three Commissioners and five or six councillors can thus influence enough votes to keep themselves in power and a free pay list out of the principal will guarantee continued favor. The commissioners can make things easy and secure that favor. Past might then be a useful, pliant word for them in the hour of extremity. Then, they are to be the assessors too, or to control them as to rents or rates, and how much can be done in this way!

It is true that this all refers to possible or probable jobbery. But, aside from this, will water works secure property from destruction by fire? The answer must be, No! If we read the fire record of cities and towns which have water works. All that could be hoped for is a lessening of Insurance rates. Let us have a guarantee of a fixed reduction in rates of Insurance, and then we can discuss the probable advantages, but we cannot now do so, for few have any idea of the probable reduction.

This can only be obtained from the Insurance companies. Comparative rates of Toronto, Montreal, &c., are not satisfactory; as who knows that Peterboro' will receive equal consideration. One article in the Review two years ago placed an Insurance tax of 25 per cent. on every man Insuring in Peterboro. We pointed this out at the time. Another article based on false premises for partizan or selfish purposes, might cause the present rates to be retained after the water works should be constructed. Let us have a fixed promise or contract on their part to reduce the rate 25 to 40 per cent, and then the people will have something tangible to proceed on. But even then the people should be careful not to vest so much power in commissioners. There should be some general rule, depending on a regular assessed value and fixing the limits of the works and the distance from them, which render the property liable, to pay any Water Works rate. It is not fair nor just to tax all the ratepayers for the works. It is dangerous to leave it to commissioners to say what property is benefited and what property is not benefitted by the works, and how much. It is wrong to leave it in the Act that the commissioners while the capital is being eaten up by interest and expenses, and it is wrong to leave it to the commissioners to fix the place of construction of reservoirs &c.

The rate per gallon for water rent for private parties, should be fixed in the By-law and not left to the commissioners. It ought to be known what kind of works is intended to be constructed, and comparative statements ought to be before the people for some time before action be taken on any scheme.

In view of the defects in the present act, and the necessity for amending it before the works be commenced, it is assuring to learn that the By-law is not meeting with support from any number of ratepayers and that it will be defeated for the present is certain.

It must be remembered that the Town must pay all interest and cost of working it.

BRIDGES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In your last you say that your columns are open to receive any communication in regard to Iron or other Bridges, I send you the following:

March, 1st, 1875.

MR. JOHN HARVEY,

Dear Sir,—I write you for information in regard to Iron Bridges as the one across the Otonabee river at Peterboro' has fallen into the river, and the whole structure is condemned by competent engineers. It was but last term and about the worse kind of it and badly put up at that.

Now, sir, from your long experience in the manufacture of iron is almost every use that it can be applied to, what is your opinion of the boiler plate girder Bridge such as is used on the Grand Trunk? What is your opinion of the King Bridge bowstring or arched, made at Cleveland? What is your opinion of the cast iron or bowstring bridges such as we had over the Otonabee River at Peterboro, or any other information about other bridges will be thankfully received.

Yours truly,
M. SANDERSON.

Westfield, March 8, 1875.

MICHAEL SANDERSON, ESQ.,

Dear Sir,—Yours of the first is at hand. In answer to your enquiry about Iron Bridges, I have but one opinion in regard to them that is to get one of the King Iron Bridges. They are made of wrought iron and all well tested, so that there is no chance for them to give way. The company make two kinds of iron bridges, one for railways, and the other for highways. The railway bridge is a square bridge of the truss pattern and very heavy, that you would not want I think for the other as an arched bowstring bridge for highways, with side walks, which is the one that you want. We have one of them over the Westfield Creek. There is two spans, one of them is 192 feet, the other 104 feet. That Bridge has stood two winters now and has not showed anything of defect. It is warranted to carry one ton to the square foot all over it without injuring it in the least. My advice would be to get that kind of a bridge and save any future trouble. In regard to the making the three spans of it, I think it would cost you more money and would not be any better for the place. There are four or five other companies that build bridges, more or less of cast iron, which I could not recommend to you. They were all here with their models when we made our choice. If you want any reference in regard to the King Bridges, I can get you some of the best names in the State. The King iron bridge is made in Cleveland. The one which I have recommended is of the bowstring or arch pattern, all wrought iron of the best quality. If there is any other information in regard to Iron Bridges which you need, write soon and I will try to find it for you.

Yours truly,
JOHN M. HARVEY.

D'UMMER AGAIN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—In your issue of the 11th inst., I observed over the signature of Thos. G. Choate a kind of reply to "Ratepayers in want of light." I think it is about time we had a little more light on the doings of our Council for 1874, respecting the Municipal Loan Fund. I may be wrong in judgment, but I think that a very great portion of said Fund is but little better than thrown away.

Mr. Choate need not be at a loss to judge what the object of "Ratepayers in want of light" was. I admit it is a local matter, looking into local affairs. Choate says the last meeting of organization, the Sydney concerning the said Loan Fund was read. He must have intended to say a short abstract of such By-law.

As to the "few matters of fact," it is not stated in the By-law that $400 is to be spent between lots 10 and 11 on 4th and 5th concessions? If so why did the Council cause a road to be surveyed through lots 11 in 4th concession on which to spend a part of said $400? And if "not one dollar" of the said money has been spent, what about the $10 paid to Mr. Dennehy for surveying said road?

I rather think the By-law is broken. Mr. Choate when explaining about the White Lake road must have forgotten to say that it unites with the plank road about three miles before it reaches Warsaw, and therefore can be no benefit as a third outlet to anywhere excepting—Stumvill.

I say positively it will cost $400 to make one mile on said White Lake road and that it will not be a good one. It is a great pity that our Council has not a little more money and then perhaps they would make the Whitby, Port Perry and northern Pacific Railroad about. The White Lake road is not needed, otherwise there would have been a petition for it. To talk of any pronouns and the key of E flat do not answer questions.

Yours truly,
JACOB WHITE.

This favorite Troupe will give an entertainment soon in Peterboro. The agent will be here in a few days to make arrangements.

Montreal.

The death rate of Montreal is 40 per cent. higher than that of New York. Their taxes are $100,000 more than they were last year.

Norwood.

Mr. Mullin's has rented his Hotel to Mr. D. Brennan, formerly of Hastings. Mr. Mullins retires to enjoy the profits of his past labors.

Costigan's Motion

to compel New Brunswick to have separate schools, was lost by 124 to 60, Mackenzie Bowell and John A. Macdonald voting for Costigan's motion.

Lindsay.

is making a fuss about getting herself put on the Pacific Railway Line. What is Peterboro doing? "Standing at ease." Waiting for a turn of the wheel?

Austria.

The Pope has authorized the Bishops of Austria to comply with the law compelling them to notify the authorities of the names of priests appointed to livings.

Bertram, Bros

Offer $100.00 reward to farmers for the best acre of Turnips produced the ensuing season, having used Super Phosphates of lime in the growth. See their advertisement.

Bird's-Eye View of Peterborough

The views lately shown here by Mr. Pease, and for which he canvassed the town, are now ready and we are informed will be delivered to subscribers here early next week.

Lasher & Lowry

Have received their spring stock and invite inspection. It will be found well selected and varied. They have a first class cutter and guarantee best fits.

Temperance.

Port Perry has raised the licenses to $125, and the tavern keepers are on a strike. May they long continue closed so far as their intoxicating liquors are concerned.

Close of the Session.

It is evidently the intention of the Government to have the House prorogued by Good Friday. Mr. Mackenzie has given notice that during the remainder of the Session the House shall sit on Saturdays.

Cobourg R. R. By-law

Some of our citizens have taken action to quash the Cobourg R. R. Bylaw, so far as relates to paying money before the work shall be completed. Peterborough people are continually opposing Rail road progress.

Rochester Fruit Store

Messrs. Bailey, Bros., have succeeded to the business of Messrs. Stone & Bailey The new firm are prepared to do business as liberally as their predecessors. They keep a full supply of fruit and vegetables in their season. They deserve public favor.

The Senate.

A vote adverse to the right of the Crown to appoint Senators, was lately carried at Ottawa, on a motion of Mr. Mills. The vote stood about 73 to 77, or 4 of a majority to do away with the House of Lords. If the Senate is allowed an existence at all, the members must get their seats from the people. Worn out political hacks will have to retire into forgetfulness.

Who Keeps It?

There is a habitation on Water street, south of McDonald street, that is frequented by unclean spirits and causes no small annoyances to those who live in that vicinity. The chief constable should make a raid on such places and bring the inmates before Mr. Hatton. If those places were ferreted out and the inmates sent to jail awhile, there would be fewer of them and less shooting cases.

England forcing Her Citizens to Migrate.

The parliament has rejected the "deceased wife's sister Bill." But then those who will have a deceased wife's sister can come to Canada, where people are more enlightened than in even old England. The law in Leviticus is, "Neither shalt thou take a wife to her sister to vex her —buddo her in her lifetime." This law Canadians follow; to add to it is considered wrong, and they don't take from it.

Vanity of Vanities!

In the list of arrivals at the Rossin House, Toronto, on Saturday appears the name of W. H. Scott, M.P.P., Peterboro'. Who is he? Where did he come from? Is W. H. S. so ambitious of honor as to appropriate what is not his own? What sighing for fame there must be in his bosom. What a passion he has for glory and honor!

> Who has a reputation to maintain,
> And love of fame has throbbing in his heart.

Mr. Scott's modesty will never intoxicate with his vanity.

St. Patrick's Day

Passed off quietly. It was very cold and stormy.

The English Land Company.

This Company is selling its lands to the Victoria Railway Company, and conditions are almost completed it is said.

New Goods.

W. G. Thomson is opening out his new stock and invites an examination. Special attention to Prints and Fancy Dress Goods is solicited.

Protestant Home.

The Committee of the P. P. Home, acknowledge with thanks the receipt of $5, from the Keene Curlers Club; also from St. Andrew's Church of $20.00, also from the Young People's social at Mrs Gilmour's $10.99.

Social.

The next Social in aid of St. Andrew's Church S. S. will be given by Mrs. Lemay in the St. Andrew's Manse, on the evening of Thursday next, 25th inst., at 7.30 o'clock. Members of the congregation and the public generally are cordially invited to attend.

An Old Settler Gone.

Died lately in Otonabee, on the farm of his owner, Mr. Alexander Stewart, the celebrated Canadian horse Tommy, at the advanced age of thirty-six years. He was raised on the farm where he died, worked until within two years of his death, and was never known to be sick or lame.

Temporary.

Mr. Roddy received payment for this bridge on Friday last. His bond is still held as a guarantee of its standing the spring freshets. The Committee took no action in the matter of a new bridge until the committee should be remodeled by the Town Council, placing an equal number from each Council on the Committee.

Mulligan Guard Company.

The Peterborough Mulligan Guard Company will give one of their best performances in the Music Hall, Peterboro, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 24th and 25th. The Troupe consists of some of the best amateurs of the Dominion and will no doubt give a first-class entertainment. They have gone to considerable trouble and expense in securing the services of Mr. Harry Stanwood, the American banjoist. For particulars see large bills and programmes.

The Bobcaygeon Independent and "Rings."

This Independent man talks about Peterborough like a Solomon, but copies his wisdom (?) from one of our town papers We do trust that in the next issue he will give the names of the Committee when Whyte & Davis obtained the contract, viz: Mayor Scott, Jas. Stevenson, Wm. Toole, A. Smith and John Doherty. And as the two latter gentlemen did not act on the Committee after the contract was awarded, they were out of the "ring." The Independent ought to be independent enough to speak truly.

A Shooting Case

On Sunday night about 12 o'clock some kind of a row occurred in a house of ill fame in the south of the Town. During the fracas John Eckhart received a pistol shot in the abdomen, the ball entering below the umbilic and passing into the region of the groin, lodged there. Richard Graham, the host, is accused of firing the shot. Graham has not the name for keeping an orderly house. He is now in gaol awaiting the investigation. Monday evening about 9 o'clock the neighbors burned Graham's house down, so the inmates have to look to other quarters for lodging.

Conservative Papers

are bewailing the sad fate of Daniel O'Donohue, of Fort Garry celebrity, the Fenian who attempted to take possession of the Northwest at the time of the Riel fiasco. They say: "Oh! it is a sad affair. Riel and Lepine are amnestied, but O'Donohue, poor D'Donohue, he is not to be forgiven." What hypocrites they must be! Daniel O'Donohue was an American citizen and a raider. What had Canadian statesman to do with him unless they got his person? Yet our dear conservatives are bewailing his fate. Poor dears, they were always tender-hearted for their friends' sufferings.

Orange Social.

The Orange social, on Friday evening, in the Good Templars' Hall, under the auspices of Loyal Orange Lodge No. 49, was a grand success. The Hall was crowded and the Committee had made excellent arrangements for supplying all present with an abundance of good things. Mr. M. Hall presided during the intellectual part of the entertainment Mr. W. H. Kennedy, Mayor of Winnipeg, who was present, and Rev. Mr. Fish addressed those present. Mr. T. Rutherford gave a recitation. Messrs. M. Hall and D. Haggart gave readings. The Band, under the leadership of Mr Walker, and a choir under the leadership of Mr. Joseph McClelland, provided the musical part of the evening's pleasures. This was undoubtedly the best of the socials held in years in the Hall and it reflected great credit on its managers and promoters.

Pacific Railway Connection

Port Hope Town Council has appointed a Committee to go to Ottawa in the matter of a connecting line with the Lakes and the Pacific Railway. They think the Midland would form the best connecting line. Toronto and Hamilton are each moving, but unitedly, to some extent. What is Peterboro doing? Still madly bent on her own ruin. We have no railway to the back country and are not likely to have. Those unfriendly to our interests are now endeavoring to quash the By law in favor of the Cobourg Road, the only Railway ever likely to go north from Peterboro. While we are engaged in litigation, Port Hope, Lindsay, Whitby, Toronto, Hamilton, are all trying to secure connection with the Pacific. Peterborough is the only town divided against itself. When will the people of this town learn wisdom and unite to secure a trade that must eventually be a source of wealth to whichever town secures it by proper railway communication.

Bible Society.

On Wednesday evening last, the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Bible Society was held in the Methodist Church. The Revd. Messrs. Roger, Maclennan, Clementi, Hooper and Rose were present. Col. Haultain presided, the President being detained at home by indisposition. The number present was small, but this could be easily accounted for, as many of the people who take an interest in such meetings, had been attending Mr. Allock's lectures three successive nights previously, and were too much fatigued perhaps. Messrs Maclennan, Hooper, Clementi and Roger moved the usual resolutions and set forth the claims of the society. The Rev. Mr Fish, Local agent, made a very effective address on the need for and value of the Bible to mankind. The only report presented was that of the Treasurer and Depository, which were received and officers for the current year were appointed. Col. Haultain is president. All ministers of the gospel who are members of the Society, are Vice-Presidents; J. M. Smith, Treasurer; Col. Stace, Secretary, and a committee was appointed, but did not get their names.

UNITY.

Roman Catholic papers are advocating a convention to discuss some well digested scheme to secure representation in both the Local and Ottawa Houses of Parliament. They consider that they have not received their fair share in Legislative representation to which they are entitled from their numbers in Ontario. To secure this, unity at the polls is urged. This puts the question squarely on religious grounds, and ignores political principles wholly. This may secure temporary triumph, but in the end will defeat itself. A large number of the electors of Ontario are ready to vote for and accept men regardless of religious tenets, so long as political views are in accord, but whenever it comes to be a matter of religious representation they refuse to become parties to it and form combination to defeat it. The people are opposed to making religion the only qualification for popular favour, and the promoters of Catholic unity at the polls need not feel disappointed or annoyed, if protestants should undertake a similar movement. Like produces its like the world over. Legislation based on religious tenets alone will receive strong opposition, no matter what those tenets may be.

Assessments.

From what we can learn, assessors in all the Townships, are not assessing equally or proportionately. In some places they are assessing at about two thirds the cash value. In some places about at one half the cash value, while in other places they are raising the property to within 20 per cent. of what it would sell for readily. In Dummer the assessor is keeping his declaration in view and going as near as possible to cash value. It thus appears, if our information is correct, that great irregularities will still be found in the assessments, as the equalising of it is not fully kept in view. One farm with in our knowledge, that would readily sell for $60 an acre, is assessed at $45 an acre. Another farm that would sell for $50 to $60 is assessed at $25 an acre. while in another Township a farm worth about $45 an acre is assessed at $40. Would it not be well for the assessors to meet yet and exchange notes, with a view to securing a fair and equitable assessment for the whole County. The only fair basis of assessment is the cash value of property, but when assessors are valuing property at about one half its worth in cash they must feel that their declaration is ignored, and that they are perpetuating injustice. A day spent in discussing those matters would be of vast importance in enabling them to arrive at something like an equitable valuation. There is a determination to look after the assessors this year and to prevent unhappy consequences they should commence wisely.

Annual Report of the Otonabee Agricultural Association for 1874.

In laying this our annual report before you, we would acknowledge at the outset with gratitude, one of the most bountiful seasons which has been experienced in many years throughout the county generally.

Wheat, a good average, and coarse grain very heavy and a good price, fodder being unusually plentiful, which is very welcome after such scarcity last year. Hay was a very good crop, what little ground there was under it, owing to the two or three unfavourable seasons we have had for seeding or growth latterly, it has become quite risky and expensive to get a catch of hay seed, if it continues so it will become necessary to change our system of seeding. We see by the Agricultural papers that some advocate seeding in the fall and alone, others to summerfallow, manure and seed alone in the spring, our own experience has been to summerfallow seed with wheat or barley plaster when it is nicely up, and with ordinary seasons success is pretty certain.

In speaking of Agricultural papers, we consider it highly important at the present age for every farmer to take one.

We say the present age, for thirty or forty years ago farming was much simpler than what it is now, then the land was new and the climate different, wheat was the staple and easily grown, to use a Yankee term, tickle the ground and it laughed with an abundant harvest, but now we have to cultivate, manure and plan, raise a little of everything to make both ends meet. To make anything of the farm it will be necessary to use new and improved methods of culture, and improved stock, and if we say farming was so much simpler thirty or forty years ago, what can be said of the style of living between then and now, then $10 was as good as a $100 is at present. We are sorry at not being able to note any improvement in our last show the number of entries being less than last year, probably the dullness of the morning may have prevented some from coming out with their articles, we noticed some very fine articles and animals. Hoping the next time we hold our show we will be out of debt and so be in a position to offer larger prizes, and probably that will induce our tardy farmers to take more interest in them than they are now doing. We would again urge upon the farmers of this neighbourhood, the propriety of starting cheese factories or creameries, and in addition to former reasons given; which were less hired help, the cereal growing quality of our land is becoming more reduced every year, partly for want of manure, and the adoption of the dairy would enable us to make up this deficiency. We have noticed for the last number of years that the products of the Dairy, are not so liable to fluctuate as cereals, neither in price nor in quantity, as take one year with another the quantity of milk from a cow is nearly the same. And again being less bulky of transport than any other article of food of the same value; for instance this year one hundred pounds of wheat worth about a dollar and a half, costs as much to get to market as one hundred pounds of cheese worth about $13.00 or one hundred pounds of butter worth $25. But above all is the labor it would save the farmer's wives and daughters who are by far the hardest worked class on the farm if we consider the worry of household affairs, added to the drudgery of cooking, churning, and too often out-doors work which they should not have to do.

We would recommend a greater interest in fruits, besides being a great luxury, add largely to the health. Strawberries are easily grown and pay largely in health and pleasure for the little labor connected with them. It will be necessary to make a change in procuring fruit trees, for the truth that many of the agents are bringing into the country, are not worth setting out, if the farmers who are requiring trees were to club and send to a first-class nurseryman, they would get the right kind of an article.

In conclusion we thank you for placing us in the responsible position of Directors, hoping that the coming in on the eve of greater prosperity and usefulness than it has been in the past.

The following officers and Directors were elected for 1875 —

President—Thos. Blezard.
Vice-President—David Munro.
Secretary—J. M. Drummond.
Treasurer—Geo. Read.

Directors—John Gillespie, Thos Leitch, John Miller, John Matchett, Alex. McFee, D. D. Henderson, Robert Hope, Robert Deyell, Andrew Nelson.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' ECLESIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Ioan, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for Send us a further supply without delay Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Beckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

THE SUNNY SIDE.

BY ESTE HERD.

Though all along life's changeful way
Some shadowed spots must lie,
The sun will but the brighter shine,
When we have passed them by.

To bear in mind, when griefs
And cares are multiplied,
That every life, however drear,
Has still its sunny side.

When lowering clouds across our sky
Are gathering thick and fast,—
When coming griefs athwart our paths
Their ominous shadows cast.

It will not do to sigh and frown,
And all our trials rehearse,—
'Twill never smooth the path ahead,
But rather make it worse.

And when they come, these darksome days,
Bringing a weight of care
That seems to every shrinking heart
Greater than it can bear.

We need not be cast down,—we know
'Tis God's all wise decree,
And sunny days are still in store
If we will patient be.

We are but human: hearts may quail
When adverse winds are high,—
But storms as wild have swept the sea
Of late, in days gone by.

And when we sail, in rugged spots,
Our faltering feet to guide,
'Twill cheer be if we but look
Upon the sunny side.

The Ape and Washwoman.

A correspondent of the Christian Weekly publishes the doings of one Cracko an ape brought from the coast of Africa and put out with old Molly Tanner, the washerwoman, to board.

It appeared one day that she had to go out to fetch some dirty clothes, leaving a large quantity which she had just washed, some drying,and others already ironed in the cup-board, while the tubs stood ready with water in them for the fresh supply. Seeing that Cracko was asleep in the snug corner by the fireplace, she would not disturb him, but left him in the calm enjoyment of his slumbers, drawing the string of the latch outside as she closed the door.

While Molly was gone Cracko awoke Looking around and seing that she was ont, he felt suddenly ashamed of being idle. Seized with a desire to make himself useful, in graditude to his kind mistress, he considered how he could best do so.

"There is a pile of clothes—suppose I wash them. There is the water all ready and the tubs; she'll be so pleased when she comes back. She cannot keep me for nothing, a poor woman like her. I ought to work and will work. Stop, I'll shut myself in as she does, so that I may not be interrupted."

Accordingly Cracko drew in the string of the latch, and commenced operations.

He was washing away when Molly returned and tried to open the door, but the string was drawn inside. Then she went to the window, which was carefully closed, and through it what do you think she saw? Cracko, with the poker in his hand stirring away around and round in the tubs which were half full of the clothes she had just washed. He saw her and her anxiety to get in but that only made him more eager to finish his work. Now he rushed to the lines and dragged of some more clothes; now he put the poker into the fire, and when he had got it freshly blackened, he stirred and stirred away again. Then he wrung out some of the garments, muslin dresses, and capes and ruffs and spread them upon the ironing table and seizing the irons from the stove, away back he went and began ironing furiously. The irons were very hot and made the clothes hiss and splutter. This seemed to afford Cracko infinite delight; the more they hissed and the more they smoked the more pleased he seemed, and when well browned he held them up to the horrified gaze of poor Molly. The more efforts she made to get in the more he chattered and grinned, and the harder he worded. Then he ran back to the tub and put in more clothes, and put in a bit of cheese which Molly had got for her supper, instead of soap, and a pound of sugar instead of soda, and stirred and stirred away with the poker; then back he went to the ironing table, and back to the fire, on to which by mistake he threw some clothes in his hurry, and then again he went to the tub, till poor Molly became almost frantic with alarm lest all the clothes should be spoiled, and she should lose the custom of the families who employed her.

At length poor Molly, finding she could not push open the door, made a desperate run at it, back first, with her head bent down the opposite way. Open it flew, and over she went among her tubs and piles of spoilt clothes. This made her fairly lose her temper; even a sweeter tempered washerwoman might have under the circumstances lost it entirely and seizing a broom stick, she made chase round and round the cottage after Cracko. He saw that his labors were not appreciated as they ought, he considered to have been, and that something was wrong. He fled, therefore,as fast as he could with the aid of his four very active hands, upsetting tables and chairs, and throwing down crockery till he finally, unseen by Molly, sprang into the case of the old clock and climbed up behind the works. There he lay hid, fully believing that his usually kind mistress had lost her senses, but not for a moment dreaming that he had done any thing wrong.

Molly had, however, lost all confidence in her favorite, and petitioned that he might be removed. He was accordingly handed over to the coachman, and admonished to be more discreet.

HEALTHFUL BEDS.

Germany excels any country with which I am familiar in the cleanliness of its beds. It seems as much a part of yearly house cleaning with them to have the hair removed from the mattresses, to have it well beaten and sunned and the cover washed, as it is with us to have carpets whipped and freed from the disease begetting dust.

I grant that it would be a difficult and expensive undertaking for an American housekeeper, for skilled labourers are, and when found must be well paid, as they should be.

Knowing the obstacles, then, in the way to a thorough renovation of our beds, we should take the more care to protect and air them. Every bed should have especially made for it, the size of a tick, a white, tacked comforter, not too thick so as to be unmanageable in washing; over this the sheet is spread. Every bed in daily use should be subjected to the purifying rays of the sun at least once a week, and should be left open for the reception of air and light some time before being made up. Beds not frequently used are often found very musty and disagreeable to sleep in. The parlor beds, that swallow their own contents by a magic trick, are fair witness, but in time, for the lack of proper airing, they become foul within.—Science of Health.

MYSTERIES OF MORMON RELATIONSHIP

A Salt Lake correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial sends the following:—

"Every now and then one may see in the press some problem on relrtionship. As, for instance, that one, when a young man marries a widow and his father marries her daughter—what relationship do the resulting children bear to each other; no doubt these problems are merely the product of an ingenious brain; but nature is always ahead of art in the matter of surprises, and some cases in Utah; within my knowledge have given rise to sanguinaceous puzzles that will bother the master in Chancery if the estate ever get into court.

"Consider the following:—Brigham Young married two sisters of Charlie Decker, and Decker married two daughters of Brigham's by other women. Now the offspring of Clara Decker Young and Lucy Decker Young are cousins of Charlie Decker's children. But the latter are grandchildren of the former's father, and consequently nephews and nieces of their own cousins. But the nephew of a cousin—blood relationship holding—are second cousins; hence Decker's children hold that relationship towards each other. Decker's wives are half-sisters to the children of their own sisters-in-law to their own father, and aunts to their own half-sisters! Now, if the relationship were half-blood throughout, the Canons of Descent—at least in Indiana—would exclude them; but as it doubles on both sides, they would probably be included. Hence the two Mrs. Deckers are (in law) their aunts, while Clara D. and Lucy D. Young are legal grandmothers to their neices, and the two sets of children are respectively cousins, aunts and neices, and goodness knows what besides "Elder Allsop, of Sandy Station, married a widow and her oldest daughter, having at the same time a young daughter by a former wife now happily deceased. All this family live in one house. The daughter of the oldest wife is half-sister of his second wife, and to the second wife's children; also aunt to the second wife's children, and consequently her own aunt in law! The daughter of the deceased wife is half-sister to all the other children, legal grand-daughter to one stepmother and legal half sister to the other, and consequently aunt-in-law to herself. If they keep on as they have begun, they will eventually produce a boy who will be his own grandfather.

"Bishop Samuel Smith, of Brigham City, has six wives; the first two no relation to him; the next two his cousins, and the last two his nieces, daughters of his own brother! Thus he is father and second cousin to two of his families, and father and grand uncle to two more. The children of his first four wives are full cousins to his last two wives, and half-brother and sister as well as second cousins to those wives' children. The further relationship is difficult to trace.

HOW TO GET RICH

In Mr. Tyler's tract, "How to Get Rich," he says:

Either a man must be content with poverty all his life, or else be willing to deny himself some luxuries and save, to lay the base of independence in the future. But if a man defies future and spends all that he earns (whether his earnings be ten dollars or one dollar every day) let him look for lean and hungry want some future time

I tell you, reader, what the writer of this pamphlet ought to know. Ten years ago, when a clerk on a small salary, being convinced that saving is the secret of wealth, he started on a plan of laying by each week a portion of his wages, with a firm purpose to stick to the plan for the period of ten years. Those ten years are now ended, and the result is, he has a yearly income from his savings that amounts to the same as his salary was at the time he commenced to save ten years ago. Or in other words the yearly interest from his savings will now support him all the rest of his days. And this he did with others dependent on him nearly all the time. What think ye of this, all ye who have never tried faithfully to save a little every week from your earnings? Habits of economy, growing stronger year by year, have rolled up a sum total just as much again as he expected.

To save is absolutely the only way to make a fortune. Every man may make or mar his life whichever he chooses. Fortune is for those who by Diligence, Honesty and Frugality, place themselves in a position to grasp it when it appears in view. The best evidence of diligence is your hammer in your shop at five in the morning. The best evidence of frugality is five hundred dollars or more standing at your name in the Savings Bank. The best evidence of honesty are both diligence and frugality for these prove stealing illogical.

True it is that fortune sometimes is acquired by sudden tide of speculation or may be by inheritance. But does not all experience, all history, all stories show how such fortunes are not solid? They fritter fast away, or prove a curse to the life of the recipient. Look around the world and satisfy yourself, and you will find that many years of saving made the rich men rich; and that one year of spending often makes men poor.

Part of your plan must be never to draw a dollar from the bank. Put as much as you please in bank, but don't draw any out, for that is like trying to build a house, and as fast as you get it partly up, pulling it down again. You can't get on in that way. You must stick to your plan.

Five dollars a week saved, and put in the Savings Bank for five years, and you will then be worth the sum of $1,-315.

Then fifteen hundred dollars will ever afterwards earn you eight dollars a month.

The papers in connection with the Hon. Mr. Macdougall's mission to Scandinavia have been laid before the Finance Committee. In one of these Mr. Macdougall complained of the smallness of his salary, and a letter from Mr. Lowe, Secretary of Agriculture, in reply, stated that this would be looked after, as the Government expected to have 30 of a majority against Mr. Huntington's famous resolutions of enquiry into the Pacific Scandal. This was very close calculation, the Majority being 31. The letter also stated that the Government had missed Mr. Macdougal, and nevertheless, they "had some good men left." This caused great amusement. The chairman stated that during Mr. Macdougall's mission he was paid a total sum of $16,342 15. He was nominally employed from January to April, but his services really terminated in September. For Salary he got, in sterling, £617 5. 9d.; for expenses for board, £370 6s 6d.; for travelling expenses, £156; for commissions, £239 18s 3d.; for advertising, £637 15s 7d.; for the London Daily News, £18. Besides this he got $1000 for the seven months between April and September. Who will say now that wandering Willie wasn't paid.

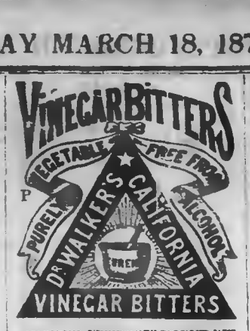
VINEGAR BITTERS



Hundreds of Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE STOCK CONSISTS OF

DRY GOODS! READY-MADE [illegible]

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, as every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them.

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Burnett's Extracts

The superiority of these Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this unrivalled remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in the estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to mild forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with the antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Potash, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance, it in no way prostrates the patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of any medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Acclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing in many cases speedy and permanent cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

ONLY A WOMAN.

BY REV. R. S. MCARTHUR.

Only a woman, shrivelled and old!
The play of the winds and the prey of the cold.
Cheeks that are shrunken,
Eyes that are sunken,
Lips that were meant for the build
Only a woman, forsaken and poor,
Asking an alms at the bronze church door.

Only a woman—sobbing alone,
Hark to the organ! roll upon roll
The waves of its music go over her soul!
Silks rustle past her,
Thicker and faster;
The great bell comes its toll.
Pale would she enter, but not for the poor
Entereth wide open the bronze church door.

Only a woman—sobbing alone,
Jelly cold on the ice cold throne.
What do they care for her?
Mumbling a prayer for her,
Giving and breaks bun a shame.
Under old keep their haughty hearts beat,
Mocking the woes of their kin in the street.

Only a woman! In the old days
Hope carolled to her happiest lays:
Somebody missed her,
Somebody kissed her,
Somebody crowned her with praise;
Somebody lived up the battles of life—
Strong for her sake who was mother or wife.

Somebody lies with a tress of her hair
Light on his heart where the death-shadows are:
Somebody waits for her,
Opening the gates for her,
Giving delight for despair,
Only a woman—nevermore poor—
Dead in the snow at the bronze church door.

KEEP YOUR TEMPER.

BY REV. JOHN HALL, D. D., N. Y.

To keep a horse; to keep a carriage; to keep house; to keep the books; to keep a store; even to keep a boarding house, is not so difficult as to "keep cool." Temper has its place in the economy of human life. It was meant to fit us to rebuke insolence, to repress arrogance, to make the feeble and gentle strong and courageous in resistance to wrong. An honest flash of it on an adequate occasion is not to be cried down. There are so many calculating, unreasonable and selfish persons who would impose on their fellows, if they were not afraid of rousing them. That temper has its place. But it requires an immense amount of wisdom to keep it in its place.

He who would control others must be the master of himself. Parents who desire to rule their children, employers who wish to have proper control over their employees, teachers who would govern their classes, must rule their own spirit. A rough word spoken unjustly, a reproof given in heat, a shake or a blow perhaps, dealt in a hasty moment, not only does no good, but it seems to the sufferer to justify the present or some future wrong. And where one is judge in his own cause the balance is sure to be struck in his own favor. "Even if I did make a mistake he was too angry; he was more wrong than I was; he ought to know better. I am the injured person." Such will be the conclusion of one who has been blown up in a passion.

To lose the respect of others is often a serious, sometimes an irreparable loss. Those who have let themselves down find it uncommonly hard to get up again. When Harry, a smart reflecting boy of fifteen, has found the side of parent, or tutor, has seen him off parade, in undress, it is very difficult for the parent or tutor—conscious of the fact—to regain or assert authority. As the girls who have seen their mother flirt, disregard her lectures on prudence; as the boys who have seen their fathers tipsy, laugh in their sleeves when he warns them against drink; as the salesmen feel little reverence for the homilies on honesty of an employer whose tricks of trade they see daily; so, only in a milder way, the just and rightful authority of tutor or governor is lost, with habitual loss of temper.

Temper can be controlled. When the cook has sent up the dinner to you and your friends, with the oysters spoiled, the meat overdone, and those prairie chickens so horribly bungled that you wish they were on their native heath again; you can smile, and talk, and jest, and keep your temper. Regard for your friends secures control of it. When poor, awkward Thomas—coachman by right, butler by brevet, lets fall a little of the gravy on your dress, Madam, how delightfully you behave! It is of no account. In fact you are so amiable that one might suppose you rather liked grease-spots. You control yourself in company. Then it is possible to do it elsewhere. What can be done once can be done again, and the second time is commonly easier than the first, and the third the easiest, and so in delightful progression. Please try it.

Have you noticed that when you proceed to talk to cook about the shameful way in which that dinner was sent up, the very talking seems to have a stimulating effect, and the temper rises as you proceed? That is human nature. Our eloquence affects ourselves as the advocate's did his client, who burst into tears as he heard his indignant appeal to the jury, and exclaimed, "I never knew before how badly I was used." This seems to suggest that silence is desirable when there is any danger of temper. There are many forms of silence that are full of poetry. Silent dew, silent stars, silent woods, the silent moon, silent shores, and Coleridge's "silent sea of pines," all have a loveliness of their own, but there is a peculiar beauty about the silence of a man who is hurt, wounded, wronged, to whose lips the sharp and bitter rejoinder—perhaps not in direct retaliation. This is the silence that is golden—very scarce and very valuable.

To be sure, silence may be sullen; it may be for taking time deliberately to plan the revenge. This is horrible. To nurse one's wrath, to carry it about perhaps for months, and for months, if not years, to think of the dastardly manner in which one will wreak it, is a thing to be avoided. It embitters, it [illegible] and it [illegible] and it [illegible] and

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 25, 1875.

WATER WORKS, or no WATER WORKS?

The Water Works scheme is not meeting with much favor, only one or two in the Hall on Tuesday evening were bold enough to advocate it; all the property holders on George Street, are against it. No person in town except Mr. Romaine, appears to care to involve the Town in such an unheard of debt for no advantage whatever.

Mr. Romaine, on Tuesday evening completely dispelled the illusion that Mr. Hilliard's bill would afford a fire pressure. He admitted that steam or power pressure would have to be applied to the pipes direct to secure the object, then why in the name of common sense go so far up for the water?

In 1870 Mr. Romaine published a scheme of works receiving the water from the Dixon property, that scheme was to cost $25,000 only; then why increase the cost for so little advantage as for fire purposes, steam or water power would be required in both instances. Then again Mr. Cox's statement on Tuesday evening, that the total reduction that could be expected on Insurance premiums would not exceed $1,000 a year. Why ask to place a burden of $10,000 a year on the people.

The Act only provides for levying a rate or rent on real estate, on lots or portions of lots, in, through or past which the pipes may run. The commissioners are to be the only judges of the advantage to a lot, but not as to personal property, this no doubt, will place the whole cost on real estate. Are the owners of real estate willing to increase their taxes about one half, yearly their present high rate for all times? The water rate or rent if the by-law be carried in its present shape can be collected quarterly. Do men want the collector at the door four times a year?

The works will not be completed for four years, and in the meantime, salaries, interest, &c., will be taken out of the capital, which will eat up about $30,000 of it, and about $15,000 will be lost in disposing of the debentures, leaving only $55,000 or thereabouts for capital account, then they will be coming back for $100,000 to complete the works. Are the ratepayayers prepared to endorse the expenditure, and waste, and then grant $100,000 more or lose what is expended? If the property holders do not want water works, will they be forced to undertake them?

Already, we have the Town Council taxing us, then we have the commissioners of the Town Trust taxing us, and the School Board follows them adding their quota to our taxes. Shall we add water works commissioners also to tax us? Let us have some scheme that we may not be like the fox and flies in the fables. Don't let us have a new set to devour us wholly. The better plan would be to withdraw this by law and leave it open to discussion action whenever the people desire it.

WHERE IS IT?

In this period of general investigation into money matters connected with our town, one institution must not be overlooked, that is the Town Trust. About a year ago we commenced an examination of the accounts connected therewith, but owing to the illness of the late Secretary were prevented continuing it. Certain facts, however, have come under our notice lately that would leave the impression that a full exhibit of the accounts for a few years would repay the town. The money comes into the commissioners and perhaps goes out, but the people have just as good a right to know where it goes as where the Town Treasurer places his money, or the Board of School Trustees theirs. An investigation will show pretty clearly that the Commissioners have more money somewhere phan they have any purpose for, and consequently that the town taxes and the town debt have been increased unnecessarily.

The Commissioners in receiving their Trust, were also to receive certain income, such as sinking fund, interest on debentures payable, and a certain sum yearly (£2000) from the Midland railway, and interest yearly on the amount of the sum agreed, of the $30,000, unpaid, until the whole should be paid. These sums were paid the Commissioners from time till the present, except as to the last two years' payments from the Midland Railway Co'y. The commissioners in turn paying the interest on debentures then due and on the Municipal Loan Fund debentures.

In 1869 it was found that all the Municipalities were not paying the interest due by them to the Government, and the commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust were instructed to withhold payment too, which they did, but they continued to collect the amount from the Town as previously. Now, let us see what those little sums amounted to.

In 1870-71-72 they received from the Railway as follows:—

1870	$ 4,815
1871	5,004
1872	5,176
Total	$14,995

or the nice little sum of $15,000, less $5.

Now what did they do with it? During these years they paid no interest on the Municipal Loan Fund debt to which, by the act consolidating the debt of the town, they were bound to apply it. Nor does the above $15,000 include the sinking fund or interests on other debentures which were regularly paid, or ought to have been.

In 1872 the Commissioners agreed to pay (as a gift) the town portion of the Iron Bridge, and also of the Locks bridge amounting to about $7,500, or a little over. They paid the town $4,000 on the Iron Bridge and $980 on the Locks Bridge, or $4,500 in all. But in 1874 under false pretences, they obtained debentures for $5,000. False pretences is a bad term, but it is nevertheless true, for they promised to lend the town for school purposes, $5,000, if the council would issue the $5000 debentures. The $5,000 in debentures were handed over to them, but the money was not lent to the Council as we are informed.

The matter would now stand thus:—

Received in 1870-71-72	$14,995
" " 1874	5,000
Total	$19,000
Paid for bridges	4,500
	$15,495

and no interest paid while the town debt has been increased by $5,000 of debentures, and that while they had plenty of money on hand, or should have had.

They now, therefore, owe the town about $15,495 which should be refunded so as to prevent increase of debt, now that new bridges and new ward schools are required. It should be paid back as it is not needed for the use for which it was collected, as by the Municipal Loan Fond Act that debt has been fixed at $72,000 nearly: money collected for payment of the interest and sinking fund since should be applied to that object. Or, if not paid back it should be paid to lessen the town indebtedness. They have also over $10,000 due them from the Midland R. R. Co'y, which added to the above with interest and sinking fund since 1870, must exceed $30,000.

The Ratepayers would like to know where this money is, as they have had no large debt to pay with it in the meantime.

The question now arises, what is the use of the Town Trust Commissioners? Is the Trust necessary to the prosperity of the Town? Do the members in any way prevent extravagance or waste of public funds? To all these the answer must be, No. It does seem sheer folly to collect money to hand over to the Town Trust Commissioners' Treasurer to be handed back to the Town Treasurer to be paid to the Government or other creditors. What need for such formality? Again, are there a few debentures to sell, can the Town Council not dispose of them? Can the Town Treasurer not advertise them and report to the Council? Are commissioners more likely to secure better terms than a councillor or the Town Treasurer? And if the only difference is the class of men, then let us send better men to the Council, although we do not consider this any obstacle. One thing is certain, they have about $30,000 of funds at their disposal at present, and the ratepayers whose taxes are yearly increasing ought to know where or how this large sum is invested, and also why the money was taken in 1870-71-72 and not returned when not applied to the purposes for which it was collected.

The amount of payments in 1870-71-72, if invested at 6 per cent. till end of this year would be $19,973. Sinking Funds collected during same years, over $6,000. Debentures issued in 1874, $5,000. Total, $30,973.

This sum of $30,000 invested for 20 years at six per cent. would amount to $96,210, or sufficient to pay off the present debt of the Town. There is a screw loose somewhere, as reports say the commissioners have no investments. The committe appointed by the Council on Monday evening will add some light on this matter.

The Water-Works Meeting!

NO WATER WORKS YET.

The meeting on Tuesday evening was a failure as to numbers. The friends of the scheme appeared not to be numerous, and many of those opposed to it preferred to stay at home, but will go and vote against the By-law.

MAYOR TOOLE occupied the Chair, and after explaining the object of the meeting called on those present to come forward and address the meeting.

MR. ROMAINE, as the chief mover in favor of the proposed scheme said that he thought those opposed to the undertaking should state their reasons for so opposing and then he was prepared to answer objections.

MR. R. RUTHERFORD thought Mr. Romaine should give a statement of the benefits the works would be to the town, and then others would be able to follow him.

MR. ROMAINE then referred it the protection against fire, their value in a sanitary point of view, and for domestic purposes. The town was finely situated for water works; labor was cheap and iron low. Montreal, Quebec, Toronto and Ottawa, and Windsor had water works, and he believed Peterboro ought to have water works. He did not call the water works at Port Hope or Lindsay any works at all; they afforded no protection and secured no reduction of insurance rates. Then those parties who do not desire the benefits would not have to pay any rate, and there would be no rate any way till the whole should be completed. A voice,—What about the saving of insurance? Mr. Romaine said that about one-fifth the rate would be saved, and this he considered sufficient to pay the whole cost of the undertaking. He said it was prepared to go along McDonnell Street to Wm. Hamilton's foundry, down Reid Street to Sherbrooke Street, and down George Street—with cross pipes on Hunter Street, and hydrants, but not to the English settlement.

MR. DUMBLE was called for and after some remarks as to the wisdom of the course pursued by Mr. Romaine, said that gentleman should convince the people of his undertaking before they would vote a debt of $100,000 on themselves, unless a full equivalent is certain to be repaid. As to the statement that Peterborough was well adapted for Water Works, no one doubted it; but there were natural works better than could be constructed and ready for use with present appliances with out costs. He showed that a large portion of the goods on George Street, was not taxed because merchants claimed they were not all paid for, and gave an example of Mr. Clarton getting several thousand dollars worth of goods exempted because they were he said, not paid for, and the goods exempted would pay none of the tax for Water Works. He urged that the people did not ask for their construction just now, and those who were asking for them would have to establish confidence in their uprightness and integrity of purpose, before the Ratepayers would vote on themselves a burden of $100,000 to the large sums already voted for Railways and other improvements.

At this stage of the discussion certain parties became "riled," but, for the sake of the good name of our citizens we will not copy the example of the Review to blacken our opponents. Let the curtain drop

MR. DUMBLE on restoration of order resumed, summing up the interest and expenses; he put them down at $10,000 which added to other rates, he considered the Town to young to bear, and asked that the energies of the people, and our prosperity be not damped by any uncalled for expenses not likely in this generation to be required. Let the town be a cheap place to live in, and then people would come and settle amongst us. But if our taxes, water rates and other expenses were made unendurable then people would shun Peterborough, and seek some other place to live in.

MR. D. LEMAY asked if he would wait till the town was burned down before action were taken.

MR. DUMBLE said he was favourable to any cheap system of Water Works for fire purposes, but this was needed only for for a limited portion of the Town, and as to water for Domestic purposes. Artesian wells could be cheaply made and then pure water could be obtained for domestic purposes, and very convenient for Mr. Lemay.

He then instanced Hamilton as ruined by Water Works, the City being almost deserted for years, until they were relieved by Legislation, and he did not wish to witness the ruin of Peterborough.

MR. ROMAINE again replied to some of the remarks, which now assumed a personal cast not at all to be applauded.

MR. ROMAINE asked Mr. W. H. Scott to come forward and explain the Act, as he had drawn it up.

MR. SCOTT did so, and said it was almost a copy of the London Water Works Act, and that he thought it was a reasonable one and that the rates would not be high. He expressed himself in favor of Water Works, and ended in moralizing which savored strongly of the sin he condemned in others. He appeared to forget that not the words, but the spirit thereof, and manner of utterance that terry the sting.

Mr. Romaine next called on Dr. BURNETT, senr., to give his views in a sanitary point of view, which the Doctor did, and fortunately for the sake of our good town very few were present to hear him, and as many would be ready to dispel some of his ideas on our sanitary and local position, they will be as well passed over.

MR. STEVENSON then addressed the meeting in opposition to the proposed scheme as too costly and not needed. He argued that good water for domestic purposes abounded everywhere in the the town, and said that he had been 30 years in it, and for the last six years had no need to call in a doctor to his family, although living within the limits of the worst place spoken of. He said Dr. Burnham that very day had told him that the river water was not good, and could not be filtered unless at great expense, and he evidenced the amount of vegetable and other matter held in solution in the river water. As to a gravel filter, he thought that what was in the wells was well filtered before it reached them, and through a better filter than Mr. Romaine could make. He, (Mr. Stevenson) was glad that Mr. Romaine had admitted that Hilliard's hill would not afford fire pressure, and that a steam or power pressure would have to be applied direct to the pipes. Then could not a cheaper system of this kind be got at a cost of $25,000 or so that would answer all purposes of fire, as we had enough good water for domestic purposes without works? He objected to the extravagant powers the commissioners would have to tax any lot or lots or parts of lots, whether the owner used the water or not, and said that the Act only provided for collecting payment from the real estate, and that no personal property could be taxed for the works, and asked would the people owning lots consent to this. Then, too, the three commissioners would have to get remuneration, and as they themselves were to be the solejudges of expenses, they could vote their own salaries, and he ventured to assert that Mr. Romaine had an eye to the $1,000 a year, as commissioner, if he got elected.

MR. ROMAINE again took the platform and another passage-at-arms took place between him and Mr. Stevenson:

"Be black at last the content rose,
From words they almost turned to blows."

MR. RITCHIE then followed in opposition to the Water Works scheme and animadverting on severely on the promoters of it.

MR. CLARTON then being called on in a sensible speech condemned the personalities that were being used. He advocated a cheap system of Water Works, such as were in Lindsay, and which he said were a success for the outlay. He held too that for about $85,000 Water Works sufficient for this town could be secured. He concluded by saying he believed the present movement premature.

Mr. P. Hamilton also addressed the meeting, defending the Council against any undue haste or want of care in submitting it to the people. He also frankly stated that he was in favor of water works and thought they would be of benefit to him, but while he would vote for the By-law he would do nothing more to advance it. All the people have their own free will to vote for or against. Mr. Hamilton took a wise and moderate course for which he deserves praise.

Mr. Cox next addressed the meeting. He stated that he did not wish to be understood as against water works, only against extravagance in expenditure. The present scheme was put down at $100,000, but $150,000 to $200,000 would be more like the true cost. He would favor works at $75,000, $80,000, or even $90,000, as something reasonable, but the present scheme was wild and extravagant. Or if Mr. Romaine would get up a company and let the town pay $2,000 to $2,500 a year to it, then people would know what they were paying, but this was so crude and arbitrary few could or would support it. As to the insurance question he believed that was over estimated. There were about 120 places of business in town at an average risk say of $6000 each, representing $600,000 of property, insured at an average rate of 1 per cent., which would be $6,000 a year of premium. Water works might cause a reduction of one sixth per cent. which would represent a saving of about $1000 a year in this way, while the works would cost us $3,600 to $10,000 a year. He referred to Mr. Romaine's argument about gas, but saw no parallel, as we could use gas or not at pleasure. If we do not use it we have not to pay for it, but for the water we would have to pay whether we use it or not.

He referred to the Auburn Mills having the most complete water works system. The Company could apply water at a moment's notice, on any part of the building. They could flood the floors at once. Their works, too, could not be interfered with by fire as they were away from the buildings, and yet they only secured a reduction of ½ per cent for all this, a reduction which could not be secured by town water works.

Mr. RUTHERFORD asked Mr. Cox if at one time the Insurance companies did not contemplate withdrawing their business from Peterboro?

To this Mr. Cox replied, Yes, they did, but he would explain the reason of this.

Mr. ROMAINE, in his agitation for water works had so continuously represented the town as unprotected—without water, without engines, without means of extinguishing fires, and that the first one would sweep away the whole town. This he continued for years until the companies began to think it true, and first raised the rate 25 per cent. and afterwards talked of removing their business, but this was owing to the persistent misrepresentation of the state of the town.

He (Mr. Cox) afterwards went to a meeting in Toronto and got the 25 per cent. struck off again, and now we had as favorable rates as any town in Canada, and only differing from Montreal about ¼ per cent. He (Mr Cox) hoped that the people would not tax themselves for $100,000 but would take a reasonable view of the matter and wait till the town could bear the cost without injury to her progress.

Mr. STRATTON proposed, seconded by Mr. Robt. Walton to request the Town Council to withdraw the By law and named Messrs. Clarton, Hazlitt, Stevenson, Dumble, Romaine, W. Hall and Cox to consider the cheapest and best system of water works for this town.

Mr. E. BURNHAM proposed, seconded by Mr. Dumble that water works were not needed at present, the original motion being withdrawn. Mr. Burnham's motion was carried, only Mr. Romaine lifting his hand against it. So ended this fizzle.

TOWN COUNCIL.

MONDAY EVENING, March 22.

Present—His Worship, Wm. Toole, Esq., Mayor, and Messrs. Rutherford, Thornton, McDonald, Benson, Dickson, Paterson, Helm, Beal, Hamilton, Cahill.

The Clerk read the minutes which were confirmed.

Communications were read from Judge Dennistoun, stating that he had received the report of the Finance Committee, but that it did not request him to investigate the matters therein referred to.

From John Bertram, Esq., M. P., in reference to a line to the Pacific Railway, on motion was received.

From Henry Meyers, asking for an additional sum for loss in taking down the Iron Bridge.

From D. Ullyott, Esq., in reference to the Bridge on King Street.

To J. J. Lundy in reference to amount due on a certain lot, on Bethune Street.

Lewis M. Prentice, asking to be appointed to be appointed to guard the temporary bridge.

From an outside butcher, asking to do away with the present system of Butcher's License, and to raise the sum to $40 a year, and to allow everyone to sell where he pleases.

From James Walsh, in reference to the space occupied by Mr. Bradburn for material for new Town Hall.

Michael Crowly, asking to have Benj. Reynold's license transferred to him.

From John Boyd, tendering his resignation as councillor for Ward No. 3.

From Craig & Armstrong, account for mending Hook and Ladder. Jas. English for repairs. Wm. Hopkins, for mending hose.

From John McGee, asking that an assistant constable be appointed to keep down rowdyism.

Applinstion of L. Prentice, as caretaker of temporary bridge, was received.

The communication of J. J. Lundy was referred to the Finance Committee.

The motion of Mr Rutherford to receive the communication of Outside Butcher, was lost.

In reference to the communication of James Walsh, Mr. Helm asked as to space Mr. Bradburn was granted, which was to be 20 feet eastward and 24 feet southwards.

Mr. Patterson thought Mr. Bradburn was occupying as little space as he could do with, and he would recommend that the communication be referred to the Committee that let the Market Tolls.

The communication of H. Meyers, Mr. Hamilton explained that the Joint Committee was not agreed to allow him anything. It was referred to the Joint Committee again.

The communication of D. Ullyott, asking to have the matter laid over. Mr. Beal asked whether Mr. Smith had paid the loss sustained on King street.

The mayor said he had given orders to have the amount collected.

The communication of Judge Dennistoun was received.

The application of Mr. John Haggart for half year's salary for taking leave of Locks Bridge. The sum was ordered to be paid if found correct.

The communication of Mr. Beavis, as to costs incurred by him in prosecuting the Midland Railway Company was referred to the Finance Committee.

The communication of Mr. McGee as to appointing an assistant constable, Mr. Rutherford moved that it be received.

Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. Thornton,—That on account of the continued increase of the population of the town and also on account of the increased number of lunkenness at this season of the year it is necessary that the hands of our Chief Constable be strengthened. Be it therefore resolved, that W. Cummings, Thomas Beavis, and James Hamilton be and are hereby appointed constables, and that they be furnished with a badge and otherwise equipped, without salary.

Mr. Helm thought Mr. Cumming's hands were now full and as they had no salary attached they would not attend to it.

Mr. Paterson objected to Mr. Cummings acting as he was already engaged as Street Inspector.

Mr. Beal thought it better to appoint an assistant for two months. The motion was carried.

The resignation of Mr. Boyd was accepted on motion of Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Benson.

A petition of John Cameron and eighteen others asking that Lewis Prention be appointed care-taker of the temporary bridge, was referred to the Joint Committee.

On motion of Mr. Dixon, Rev. V. Clementi, and Mr. Carnegie addressed the Council, asking for a grant to aid in securing a central agricultural show in Peterboro next fall. Mr. Carnegie then read a formal application for a grant which was referred to the Finance Committee.

Application of Mr. Crowley to obtain a transfer of the license of Benjamin Reynolds. Referred to License Inspector.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Helm,—That in view of the statement of his honor Judge Dennistoun, as contained in his communication to this Council, dated March 10th, in which he states that the request of the Council in the report of the Finance Committee adopted at the last meeting is not sufficient authority for the investigation asked on his part, inasmuch as the report did not set forth specifically the matters to be investigated.

Be it therefore resolved that this Council request the Judge to investigate into the manner in which the committee acted in the letting of the contract for the late iron bridge to Messrs. Whyte & Davis, with a view to ascertaining as to whether there was any prior agreement entered into between the said committee and the contractors as to the payment of the sum of $425, or of any other sum, to the town or school board or any body or bodies or individuals in the consideration of their receiving the contract, and also to the payment of a certain $425 to the late secretary of Board of School Trustees on the order of four members of the Council, the said investigation to be conducted under the powers contained in section 370, of the Municipal Institution Act of 1873.—Carried

Report of special committee on tenders for plank for covering bridges was submitted an recommending that the tender of Boyd, Smith & Co. be accepted for hemlock plank at $10 per 1000 feet, and pine plank at same rate, as required.

Mr. Helm asked if the Committee were instructed to advertise for pine. Mr. Rutherford answered, for hemlock.

The report, after discussion, was referred back to the committee, to report according to their instruction.

Mr. Paterson, as chairman of the Charity Committee, reported. The report stated that 29 loads of wood had been given during the month and cash and provisions to the amount of $250.11. Several new recipients are on the list, viz: Mrs. Maloy, Mr. Root, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Meyer, Henry Williams and John Fawcett. The report to be referred to a joint committee of the Town and County and to report.

The report, after remark from Mr. Paterson in favor of a house of refuge, was received.

Mr. Rutherford then submitted an amended report in reference to plank for bridges. The report was adopted.

Moved by Mr. Thornton, seconded by Mr. Dixon,—That Mr. Joseph Ford be appointed assistant License Inspector, without salary.—Carried.

On this motion Mr. Hamilton raised a point of order, that the assistant Inspector should be appointed by By-law. It was generally held that his appointment would be illegal.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Helm,—That the last motion be rescinded.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That the Town Clerk be instructed to advertise for what pine plank and scantling may be required for streets and bridge purposes during the ensuing year, and that Messrs. Hamilton, Beal, Rutherford and Benson be a committee to open and award tenders, and that the Inspector of Streets and Bridges be ordered to take stock of what lumber is at present in the town lumber yard and report the quantities of each kind to this Council at next meeting.—Carried.

In moving the resolution be referred to the quantity of lumber used and the amount it cost during 1874.

Mr. Paterson thought the quantity should be ordered by some one person.

Mr. Rutherford objected to the word bridges and moved that it be struck out, as the matter of bridges had already been settled in the previous report. The motion was carried.

Moved by Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Beal,—That the mayor and Messrs. Hamilton, Beal, Benson and Rutherford be a committee to act with the Joint Committee on the new bridge and all matters be referred to the same.

A by-law to limit the rate of speed at which the Midland Railway towns on streets in the town, was read a first time.

The Council went into committee of the Whole on the second reading of the By-law.

The time was fixed at six miles an hour, and a fine of not less than $25 or more than $50 and costs, is provided for in the By-law for running at a higher speed or rate.

Mr. Hamilton informed the Council that the Health inspector can get no place to put the filth of the town, and asked the Council to instruct the inspector where to put it.

Mr. Rutherford gave notice of motion that he would introduce a by-law to amend the Peddler's By-law.

Mr. Cole was heard before the Council as to board and keeping the late F. H. Knapp.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That the Town Solicitor be requested and instructed to co-operate with the solicitor of the township of Douro in indicting persons infringing on the highway along the boundary between the town and township—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, the Clerk was instructed to notify H. G. Taylor, Esq., superintendent of the Midland R. R., of the passage of a By-law relating to the speed of trains through the streets of the town.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Paterson, that it is desirable there should be a committee appointed by this Council to make a full and complete enquiry into the condition of accounts between the Town Treasurer and the Board of Town Commissioners, and that the mayor, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Patterson, and Mr. Rutherford be a committee to make such enquiry, and further, that the committee report to the Council within one month.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

JOHN MITCHELL IS DEAD.

This somewhat noted patriot is dead, as the following telegrams announce:

NEW YORK, March 20.—A London despatch to the evening papers here announces the death of John Mitchell, the Irish patriot, and member of Parliament from Tipperary county.

LONDON, March 20.—A despatch from Dublin states that the death of John Mitchell has created a profound sensation throughout Ireland and Great Britain generally. He was taken ill about the first of the present month, but until within the last few days his sickness did not assume such a dangerous form as to lead to apprehensions of a fatal result. He died at Newry, where he had gone for his health, and was attended by his family physician. The deceased entertained no apprehension of the approach of death, and was perfectly conscious to the last moment. The excitement consequent on the election contest and other political matters had a most injurious effect on the invalid, and it is believed aided in hastening his death.

DUMMER—FOURTH LINE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—In your issue of March the 11th, can be seen a communication from the pen of Thos. G. Choate, giving no credit either to his head nor his heart, stating that instead of his having his light shine before the public he has done his best to expose me, even by denying the truth, suffice it to my, had it not been for this I should have regarded his communication as being beneath my notice. As my object in the public good and truth at my back, I am not afraid to accept the challenge of "this uncircumcised Philistine," or better yet I will meet him at any time or place he may appoint in our own township, either myself, or with two more of my own choice, he to have the same privilege. Will he object to this, seeing it is "a subject so purely local."

Let me look at his "matters of fact." He says on the fourth and fifth concession the by-law states that the road is to commence in the centre of the fourth concession and thence eastward as far as money will allow, I have as much right to claim the fourth as he has the fifth, again it was not my object to show whether the by-law had been signed or assented to, but to show that it could not be broken that some member of the council did say that it had been signed or assented to and could not be broken, I positively affirm. This brought the following from John Kidd, one of our present Councillors, "What right have you to make a by-law according to the Medes and Persians, and bind your successors, hand and foot, if you would do this you would put a man's nose on a grindstone and grind it off his face," another from George Payne, "did you ever see a law made in Parliament that never could be broken?" If required these men will corroborate what I say, again as no money have been spent on this side line between lots 10 and 11, the by-law is not broken. The by-law can be broken without spending a dollar, I quote from the by-law which I give for the benefit of my readers, "To make a passable road on the allowance of road between lots 10 and 11, commencing at the centre of the fourth concession thence eastward to such extent as is passable to make with the grant of five hundred dollars." I now give a whole by-law, passed on 27th of February last, "A by-law to establish a road in the township of Dummer, and to make payment, therefore be it enacted by the municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of Dummer, that a road following the undermentioned courses be and is hereby established as a public highway, in the township of Dummer, that is to say commencing in the centre of the fourth concession on the line between lots 10 and 11 in the west half thence on the same course N. 77 dgs. 30 min. E. through a part of the east half of lot number 11 to the fifth concession line, the road to be on the south side of the marked line and through the said east half of lot 11, and to be 66 feet wide. And be it further enacted that the original allowance of road between lots 10 and 11 in the east half of fourth concession be and is hereby ceded to Philip Fitzpatrick, his heirs or assigns, as full compensation for the road above described. Signed, Thos. G. Choate." Now Mr. Choate could go to Council and pass this by-law, and three days after write what he did. I cannot think, surely he must be a member of that active class he describes on the stray pronoun, again what does G. Choate care about the people in the North east or Peterborough. Is he going to spend $300 on the White Lake road and $400 on 9th line without some return and particularly when he is not petitioned to do so. The White lake road will be no more direct than the one already opened. Two questions are answered, "never and by nobody" to the first he has evidently forgotten that on the 28th of December, when the council had a little more than they could attend to, they bid themselves behind the voice of the people by saying that this money was spent according to the voice of the people, if he deny this I will bring him proof "to open them." In the second not for the good of the township, but just to open them we have too many of this kind of roads already. Will he in his next letter give me and your readers a truthful reason for opening them lines, if he don't the public will be told he dare not. Seven questions are asked, to the first I answer never, not to be understood as "itching for fame," to the second, I did, to the third, and find them and the land not fit for the abode of man. To the fourth, he did. Did he tell the truth see by-law above. To the 5th, as I was not fully acquainted with the appropriation until the speech of John Kidd, it was then too late to nominate. To the 6th, in bringing this matter before the public. To the 7th, as I have never received satisfaction, nor heard of any one who has, why these roads are to be opened, I appeal to you through the press. One favor I ask from the public for our Reeve seeing that as far as we know, he has thrown away $900 of our money and tried to mislead you, if those inside the Township will never forgive him, will those outside kindly do so, and further knowing that I am ignorant, I will for the future try to improve by asking light and information from our Reeve, No, but from those who are able to give it,

Yours Truly,
ALEXANDER WATTS.

Sidewalks Extraordinary.

In 1874 the Town Council built 7 miles 5 furlongs 30 perches of sidewalks, supposing the average breadth to be 4 feet. Or in other words they used about 320,000 feet of lumber, for which they paid over $3,000, besides cedars, etc. Enough to make a decent sidewalk four feet broad to Bridgenorth.

To all of our readers who are fond of good chorus music we would say—subscribe for the CHORISTER. It is only 50c. a year and postage free. Entertainment

The Musical and Literary Entertainment given by Mrs. Dumble in the Music Hall on Friday evening was a very pleasant and successful affair. The Hall was well filled, and the Musical and Literary part of the entertainment was all that could be desired. We understand too that the proceeds were very encouraging. They were in aid of the new Methodist Church on George Street, which the trustees are urging to completion as fast as possible.

Their Joy Turned to Sorrow.

The news that Col. Huggingbothan was defeated by two, was scarcely acted hold of on Friday, by the Conservatives, and caused general rejoicing, so little affords them food for merriment. A telegram on Saturday turned their joy to sorrow, as it announced the Colonel elected by 5 of a majority. The contest was a close one, but was sufficient to cause general grief in certain quarters. This was the 3rd contest for Colonel Huggingbothan and in no case did the majority exceed six.

Y. M. C. A.

The first annual public meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held to-night in the George Street Methodist Church. A report of the Association work during the past year will be submitted, and addresses will be delivered by Mr. W. M. Crombie, Dominion Secretary, who will give some account of the religious revival in Brantford, under the preaching of Mr. Varley and other gentlemen. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Parnell will furnish appropriate music. Let there be a good attendance.

Horrible Discovery.

The Minden News says:—Last week while some trappers were out in the Township of Minden, preparing for their spring hunt, they came to a hunter's camp, being late they concluded to make use of it for the night. On entering what they considered a deserted camp, they were struck with horror to find it inhabited by a human skeleton. The horrible discovery produced such an effect on their minds that they fled precipitately from the camp, but intend returning with the intention of thoroughly investigating the strange affair.

LAKEFIELD.

The Concert given by the "Mulligan Guards" at Lakefield on Friday night, last, was a decided success. The House was crowded, and the members of the Club acquitted themselves well, and were well received by the audience. "Lottie Lane," by Mr. Lamond, "Gertie with the Angels," by Mr. Elliott, "Wake, Blanch, Wake," by Mr. J Thompson, and "Slide," by Mr. Rush, were well rendered and loudly encored. The parts in comique and in character by Messrs. Ormond, Colling and Armstrong were very well given and well received, especially the piece "Little Frauds," and "Going to the Ball," by the Company, brought the house down with roars of laughter. After the concert, the Young Canadians, under whose auspices the concert was given, treated the Company to an Oyster Supper at Gehesen's Hotel, to which about twenty-five sat down. The reception of the "Guard's" at Lakefield was very flattering to them as amateurs.

DIVISION COURT—The two next sittings of this Court in Lakefield will be on 24th April and 29th June.

FIRE IN DUMMER.

We are informed that the report of the fire which occurred at Mr. Forsythe's, in Dummer, and as given in the Norwood Register is not according to fact, and we have been requested to correct it.

The traces of footsteps could not be found three yards from the building, much less to any place where they could lead to the detection of the person supposed to be guilty of setting it on fire.

The travelled road, on account of the heavy drifts, ran close to the building, and hence many persons must have passed close to it every day for some time, and hence also the difficulty of tracing any particular footsteps. Still suspicions are in the mind of the owner as to the guilty party.

The Company, however, paid the claim at once, through Mr. Jameson, their agent, who gave a cheque for it in less than ten days from the fire—see card in another column. There is considerable satisfaction in dealing with a Company that promptly pays claims as was done in this case.

It is a pity that the incendiaries who are guilty of the destruction of property whether through spite or wantonness, can not always be found out and receive the reward of such unlawful acts.

POLITE LITERATURE.

From the pen of the Lord Chesterfield of the Revie w

The Earnest Student of Belles Lettres, would do well to invest three cents in a copy of last week's Review. Rarely can be found in one volume such gems of Classic English as can be in that paper; edited as it is by one so, gifted, so profoundly learned, and so polite as is John Carnegie. Here is a selection chosen at random: "Lying that can't be beat." "Poltroon," "Transparent Falsehoods." Many more elegant and classic phrases could be given, but this will suffice to prove where scurrility abounds. The Lord Chesterfield, of the Review, the representative of all the refinement of this barbarous and illiterate age, should establish a college where novices could be trained in the beautiful style of that refined, polite, and elegant writer. Read the above extracts and others from his pen.

WATER WORKS BY-LAW!

READ THIS BEFORE VOTING.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

The importance of the subject to which I am about to call your attention must be my apology for addressing you. I trust we all feel an equal interest in the welfare and prosperity of the town, and are all as ready to aid in its advancement as we will be to oppose what is to its injury. My whole desire is for its growth and prosperity, and I trust that I have done my part to its success. I can look back to the time when Peterboro was but a small, insignificant village. I have seen it as it struggled on against the difficulties which surrounded it and shared in the anxiety and cares which often times discouraged its early inhabitants, and I rejoice that I have at last been able to witness the victory, and that I can now share in its benefits. But the present growth and prosperity of the town have been the result of great prudence, great industry and economy, the only true source of public as well as private prosperity. These qualities have mainly helped to make Peterboro what it is to-day, and it is only these which can secure to us success in the future. Let us then be guided by the lessons of wisdom and experience, and above all things, let us avoid falling into habits of public waste and extravagance. There is a time in the affairs of most men whose efforts have been crowned with success, when they forget their past struggles and difficulties, lose sight of the wise and safe rules which had previously guided them and led them on to wealth and prosperity; and if this be the case with individuals much more so is it with communities and nations, and I fear that Peterboro is not to form an exception to the rule, certainly not if our town councillors can have it so, for not only without demand from the ratepayers, but even against their known will and consent, and for reasons best known to themselves, they have had the assurance to spring upon the town a By-law granting $100,000 towards the construction of Water Works, which we do not want, and which, if completed to measure, we would not use. But whether we use the water or not we have got to pay the cost, and every year we will be asked by the collector to pay the interest and sinking fund, and if not paid, our property will be sold for it the same as for our other taxes. I contend that the sum estimated will not cover the cost of these works, and that double that sum will be required. I allege that no proper estimate of the cost has ever been made, and that this amount has been taken up so as not to show us the real outlay which will be required before the works are finished. And I say also that to realize this sum of $100,000, debentures to the amount of $125,000 will have to be sold, and that we will again be called upon to give more money or lose what we have already paid. Now, the annual interest on the $125,000 will be $7,500 besides the sinking fund, and assuming the debentures will run twenty years, we will have to pay during that time $150,000 interest and the $125,000, making a grand total of $275,000 besides the interest on these yearly payments, which will be at least $75,000 more; thus making a sum of $350,000 which we will have lost by this foolish undertaking, assuming that the present estimated cost is correct and that we will not be called on for more. And in addition to all this we will have to keep up a staff of officials, keep in repair the works, run all risks of injuries and breaks and losses, pay the salaries of three commissioners, all of which will not be less than $5,000 a year. The annual cost of the works therefore will not be less than $12,500 a year certain, besides sinking fund, incidental expenses, and all this in addition to the present heavy amount of our taxes and rapidly increasing taxes. I ask you, ratepayers, if you are willing to pay this large additional annual outlay, for the mere sake of obtaining water out of the river two miles north of the town rather than use it as it runs by your doors without expense. Nature has bountifully blessed us with abundance of pure water without labor and without price. All who want it can have it for the taking. We have two large supplies, one by the river all along the east, and the other by a large and never failing creek all through the centre of the town, and anyone who will may everywhere procure upon his own premises, all the good pure water he wants in the largest part of the town by means of a well less than ten feet deep. We have also a good steam fire engine, obtained at a heavy outlay, a good efficient fire company and abundant supplies of water, by means of costly tanks, in every part of the town, sufficient for all our wants, and yet we are told by our sapient councillors not to use the water which is flowing past our very doors, but to allow them to bring us water two miles distant and at a cost of $350,000.

There is another matter which we must bear in mind. The Act of Parliament, authorizing the construction of these works, gives authority to the commissioners to fix the amount which each person owning property, and near which the water passes, shall pay, no matter whether he uses the water or not, so that some property owners may be, by this means, practically ruined, for he may be taxed to any amount the commissioners may order, and this whether he uses the water or not. I ask you to look at the vast and despotic power which is thus placed in the hands of the three men who may succeed in becoming commissioners over these works. And I ask you also to consider the vast amount of jobbing which may be practiced and the great temptation thus given those in authorithy to act dishonestly. And looking at other examples of this kind, what right have we to expect more honesty and economy in this instance than in others. Look at the staff of officials which has got to be kept up if these works are proceeded with, all of whom have to be paid large salaries, and every little while asking to have these salaries increased. Commissioners, surveyors, engineers, lawyers, care-takers, laborers and I don't know who besides, but we will know if the work goes on. Already we have three separate corporations managing the affairs of this little town at a large and annually increasing expense, and if we get these water works we will have a fourth, worse and more costly than all the rest.

The only persons who, as I understand, want water works are Messrs. R. Romaine and Peter Hamilton, the latter being a councillor who introduced this by-law. Mr. Hamilton, I presume, wants water for the use of his engine, and Mr. Romaine for the purpose of making brick. I humbly submit, however, that these gentlemen have no right to compel the town, at a ruinous cost to supply their wants, have no right to burden the ratepayers for their profit alone, and I say, further, that if I am to be taxed for their benefit, rather than do so by means of this by-law, I would prefer paying them the money directly out of my pocket. I am very much surprised at the action of Mr. Hamilton in this matter and I cannot help thinking that he has inadvertently been made use of by some other person and persuaded to do that which, on reflection, his better judgement must condemn. As to the majority of the councillors, including the mayor, I can not avoid asking myself the question, how much taxes they will pay under this by-law and what proportion they will bear to the taxes of many others upon whom they are seeking to impose such fearful burthens.

But there are other matters to which I must direct your attention in connection with this by-law. You are aware the town has already given a bonus of $80,000 to the Cobourg Railway, the annual interest and sinking fund of which will not be less than $5,600. And you have already voted to give a bonus of $100,000 to the Huron and Quebec Railway, the annual interest and sinking fund on which will be not less than $7,500. Take then the interest of these two bonuses, and the interest of the waterworks debentures, if the by-law should receive your approval, and the annual expenses attendant upon the water-works themselves, and you have the sum of $25,100 of taxes which you will have to pay each year in addition to all your present heavy and increasing taxes. Again, at a recent railway dinner at Port Hope, given by the president of the Midland Railway Company, I noticed a speech made by Mr. Romaine, in which he stated that Peterborough would be ready to grant to that road a bonus of $150,000 to $200,000. Well, I have no doubt that the railway authorities could persuade Mr. Romaine to endeavor to carry out this grandiloquent offer. But whether he could persuade the people of Peterboro' to do it is another matter altogether, and I will venture to express my doubts about it, even though the Peterboro Review did advocate it also. Now, let us suppose that Mr. Romaine did carry out this promise and the town gave the whole $200,000, how does Mr. Romaine suppose the town is going to pay it? Has he ever thought of this? I am afraid not. It beats his brick making business all hollow. Why the annual interest and sinking fund would to only the insignificant sum of $14,000 and at the end of twenty years when I suppose our debentures would have to be paid, we should be poorer by the sum of about $480,000, besides the loss of the immediate interest to ourselves of about $120,000 more making altogether the sum of $600,000 given for the Midland Railway through the persuasion of Mr. Romaine and the Peterboro Review. Now, take all the different taxes which we would have to pay, as above enumerated, vis: $7,500 on the water works debentures, $5,000 annual expense of the works, $5,600 on the bonus to the Cobourg railway, $7,000 on the bonuses of the Huron and Quebec road and $14,000 on Mr. Romaine's proposed bonus to the Midland Railway and you have the sum of $39,100 which you would have every year to pay in the shape of taxes upon your properties, beside some $41,000 which you now pay. These sums together would just make $80,100. (Eighty thousand one hundred dollars,) as the annual amount of taxes which this small town of Peterboro, of some six thousand inhabitants all told, would have to pay. Truly, we would be well off if some people had their way. But I venture to say that they will not have their way, and I do not hesitate to predict the utter and instant defeat of the water-works by-law.

Then again, just think of the jobbery and waste which an undertaking and expenditure like this would probably give rise to. The whole work and management would be in the hands of three persons, of whom the mayor would be one, and I am satisfied that after the whole $100,000 were spent you would be again called upon to give another $100,000 before the works would be completed. And then instead of having $7,500 yearly interest to pay you would have to pay just double that sum. Take Toronto as a specimen of what I say. There the people were asked for one million of dollars for water works, and were told that this vast sum would be more than sufficient and now they are again called upon to give $900,000 more to complete the works. And just so would it be with us if you suffer this by-law to be ratified.

It is impossible to overestimate the dangers and difficulties presented by this wild and bad scheme. We are asked to ruin the whole town in order that two or three individuals who have little to lose and everything to gain, may get rich at our expense. We are asked to tie up our hands to cripple our resources, to deprive ourselves of all means of aiding undertakings which would be really useful and which would build up and add to the population and prosperity of the town, to please a few visionary, selfish, scheming men, in order that they may grow rich at our expense. I have no objection to tax myself for any measures of utility and productiveness, such as railways and manufactories because they would be sure to bring wealth and strength and prosperity, and would repay us ten fold for all our outlay, but I do object to have my means worse than wasted upon such vain, silly, worthless things as these water-works would be. Just think of it. Here we have two rivers of water flowing right by our doors; water all ready at our hands for the taking, without money and without price, but certain gentlemen come forward and tell us we must not use this water, but we must give them from one to two hundred thousand dollars to enable them to give us the same identical water, only we must let them take it out of the river some two or three miles farther away. We may have the water, but before we can use it they must be made rich. I don't believe that there is one sane ratepayer in the town of Peterboro, besides those two or three individuals who would be foolish enough to endorse and support any such wild and reckless jobbery. I don't believe that one man can be found who will consent to burden himself for all time to come, burden his children after him and load his little property down with debt merely to gratify and enrich others. If our town is prospering let us hold on to that prosperity and not destroy it. If our town has credit let us preserve its credit for other and more useful purposes, but do not let Peterboro be pointed to as a town which by the folly and wickedness of its inhabitants has been ruined, and pointed to as a warning to other towns to avoid our evil example.

One of the principal arguments used by the promoters of this by-law in its favor is that we would save the cost of the water works by reducing our insurance that amount I doubt very much if the whole amount of premiums on insurance yearly paid by the town exceeds $6,000, if it is so much. But whether the amount be greater or less, you may rest assured that these water works will not make any difference. Insurance companies cannot insure our property without remuneration, and the rate of premium charged here now is the one charged in towns most favorably situated and will not be further reduced. A couple of years ago, through the constant misrepresentations of the Peterboro Review, as was then said, the rate was largely increased, but it has now been reduced to as low a rate as can be done with safety and profit to themselves, and I will venture to say, as low as it is in cities which possess the most elaborate and costly system of water works. If we had water works to-morrow we would still have to insure and we would still have to pay as much for our insurance as we do now. But even if we did pay a little less, how would the small sum thus saved compare with the enormous increase to our taxes caused by these water works. Then again, we are told that these works would prevent injury to our property by fires. In answer to this statement I would only refer you to Toronto, Montreal, Portland, Boston, New York and Chicago, where they have the most perfect and extensive water works, obtained at a most fearful expense, and ask you if they have no distructive fires there. The simple fact is that any such argument as this is a delusion and a snare, and is contrary to all experience and all fact, and the same result would follow here. We are well off as we are, and let us let well enough alone. Let us be guided by prudence and common sense in the management of our affairs. Let us not fall into charybdis by trying to avoid Scylla, or in other words let us not jump out of the frying pan into the fire, and let us keep our money, if we have any, and apply it for such undertakings as will be sure to bring wealth and prosperity to our town, such as will have the effect of increasing instead of diminishing our population. Then we will have acted wisely and well, and then will we have gained the respect and confidence of others.

I am now done. If I have said any thing to show you the difficulties into which you are asked to be led and to warn you to avoid them, I shall have had my reward. If these water works would benefit anyone, they would benefit me, but I would look upon their construction and expense as a calamity, and not only to me but to you all. I therefore respectfully ask you to go early and VOTE AGAINST THE BY-LAW.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCLSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose stops common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity home back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all be agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 3 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Wiarsdford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

NEW GRAPE,

EARLY CHAMPION.

After growing and fruiting this Grape on our grounds we can with confidence offer it to the public, as the earliest Grape in this country; ripening at least two weeks before any other of the hundreds of varieties cultivated. The bunches are large and compact; berries large, black covered with a rich bloom; quality good: strong and healthy grower, and an immense bearer; greater than we know of. It is particularly valuable for market and sells quick to shippers and others. Moreover we think it valuable as a WINE GRAPE.

We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who are in the Nursery business, bochester:—Major Gen. John Williams, City Treasurer, P Barry Esq, H E Hooker, Esq, Gen Ellwanger, Esq, Nurserymen, J. H. Bramley, Esq, Wholesale Fruit Dealer, all of whom have seen the grape growing. We also annex a notice from the Rochester Daily Union and advertiser, Rochester August 23rd 1874.

A REMARKABLY EARLY GRAPE.—A novelty in the line of the grape was laid upon our table yesterday by Mr. E. J. Donnelly, of the Lake Avenue Nurseries, a the shape of a box of the "New Early Champion," a large and plump berry, which is the first to ripen in the latitude. It is considered and prized as a rarity by such connoisseurs as P Barry, Geo Williams and others who have made grape culture a specialty.

OUR VILLAGE

Along the old accustomed paths with morning steps we go,
The green trees arch above our heads and every branch we know;
The meadows lie outside for us, the lane its cooling bower,
Communion in the village we built, a fruitful harvest flower.

The incandescence by the grassy [illegible]
Each on the glassy [illegible]
There, a sweet tenderness of [illegible]
A lighter tale.
On [illegible] long crowded [illegible]
Remember dwells.

The fickle child that [illegible] with wide [illegible]
eyes.
Unconscious of what charm for us in their soft pastor this,
Will answer with their mother's smile, or in her faith- ful voice,
And fit the utmost to where ring our home- [illegible]

The cottage doors are shut that none raised to our chime of yore,
Beside the evening hearth their hall of us now ours no more,
Oh sad, and strange, and hard it seems, there are so few to greet,
As slowly and silently we trace the winding village street!

Yet, half forgotten as we stand, amid the haunts of youth,
The gold path asserts for us its strength of love and truth.
Though other pathways woo us now, and other looms may bless
The home that childhood's halo crowned claims equal- rant tenderness.

—All the Year Round.

POTATOES.

It an Englishman was the first to introduce the potato in Europe, a Frenchman has discovered the method of making the supply constant throughout the year. Luxury, indeed, can command new potatoes at almost any time, But the soapy, insipid root, which costs so much, and is reared with much difficulty, is not a proper potato, or at least does not taste like one. There is always a disagreeable suggestion of the forcing pit and the greenhouse. A French peasant has met the difficulty, grappled with it, and conquered it. After trying every kind of soil in which to sow the roots, he at last hit upon the notion of employing salt; and found it to answer admirably. He made his experiment in secret, so as to be certain of success. That success is now ascertained, and notice has been taken by the French authorities of the new method. The roots are planted in August, on a thin stratum of salt, each root having placed over it a pinch of compost, and the earth heaped over that. In September the ground is dug again, and in October it is weeded. In the middle of January the crop is ripe, each root bearing seven or eight potatoes attached to it. The success of the new method has only just been announced. Last August twelve month the inventor laid down his roots and followed out the programme we have given The result was that this twelvemonth he was able to produce to the Directors of the Museum of Natural History in Paris the first samples of his winter growth, but the Parisian professor could scarcely believe that the root placed in his hands had only just been dug out of the earth. The peasant inventor stuck to his story and was so imperative that the experiment was repeated last August, several other witnesses being invited to assist at the planting The result has been an assured success. The whole method has been laid before an agricultural commission in Paris, and the Government has promised an adequate reward to the patient inventor.

SALTING COWS

The experience of those having long experience in salting cows. Two years ago I fed in the course of the season two barrels of salt to eleven cows. At the time I allude to I fed nearly a pint a day. In dipping the salt up for them I took nearly as much as I could hold in my hand at a time for each cow, and this I fed twice a day in their mess, as I fed them "slops" of wheat bran and brewer's malt. Some cows could not eat so much, it being too laxative, so I would give a little less to them. I made it a point to have them take all the salt they could eat. It depends some on their condition, as to the amount they would eat. As for their thriving, I never saw any cows that looked better the more salt they ate, the more grass they consumed, and the better they looked. Some of my friends said I would have their hides on the fence before winter, but these were only imagination. At the present time I feed cows in milk one-half pint per day along with a half-bushel of sugar beats. Much salt makes the butter come easy. A few days since we churned in twenty minutes.

I am satisfied that cows not only can digest more food than they otherwise would, by having plenty of salt, but they eat more coarse food, and produce more fat and milk. Last winter, for six weeks, my cows consumed each day one peck of chopped feed (corn and oats), along with twelve quarts of malt, and as much salt as I could make them eat. Sometimes they would leave a little of their malt, it being too salt, so next time I would add only a little salt. No hay was fed during the period of six weeks. Hay was $20 per ton, while chopped feed was $34 was much the cheapest. It may seem strange to some that the cows could be kept on malt feed so long. One of my neighbors (three score years and more), who has raised hundreds of cattle, said I must buy hay if I had to pay $50 per ton. "Your cows must have enough hay to give them a cud or they will die?" but I did my own feeding, and I kept close watch of them. No cuds did I see during this time. That neighbor admitted in the spring that he had never seen better looking cows in his life—they were hog fat. As hay afterwards became cheaper, I fed one-half ton per month to fifteen head of stock, all the rest of their feed was chopped feed and malt to come giving milk. All the good I derived from the hay was that the cows gave a little more milk.

Cows—Those That Pay

A good cow costs but a trifle, if any more to keep and feed than a poor one. The difference in the value of their product should be credited to her as so much interest on her valuation. To illustrate: If a cow simply yielded enough to pay her way and nothing more, she is worth only what she would bring from the butcher. If another yields a net profit of $20 a year more than her keeping, she is as good as $200 at interest. Still farmers are so negligent of their own interests as to sell their best cows for a mere trifle more than one that is nearly worthless. This is not as it should be, and so long as the practice is continued the stock of the country will deteriorate. A good sentiment is expressed in the couplet, "Beef a poor cow ever, sell a good cow never."

Different cows in the same herd, with the same feed and treatment every day, often vary one hundred per cent. in their profits. Weed out the poor, perpetuate the good. The stalk of the wild apple may be made to bear the russet, the greening or the gold pippin. Imported cattle or cattle taken into an entirely different climate from that in which they were bred, seldom show the some degree of excellence as they possess at home unless given special care. Old cattle frequently die before they get acclimated. This is strikingly illustrated by shipping them South, especially in the spring of the year, if the animal is fat. The arterial system first takes cognizance of the change, the pulsations increase to twice its normal rate, fever is engendered and death ensues.

No animal should be required to drink water which the owner himself would refuse, and especially no if that animal is the cow from which you hope to make good butter. It is sufficient on this point to say that pure water is an indispensible article to the success of the dairyman, for good butter or cheese cannot be made where good water cannot be obtained.—Exchange.

Eleven Norman horses were sold at the Chicago exposition recently for $78,000.

Brahama Fowl.

The Brahama fowls are divided into two varieties, the dark and the light, pea and single-combed; the selection of the color must be entirely a matter of taste. The Brahamas are the only fowls that are pea-combed. The pea comb has the appearance of three combs pressed closely together, the one in the centre being higher than the others. They are very large eaters, considering their size. They very quiet fowls, are good winter layers. They [illegible] get accustomed to [illegible] large [illegible] their [illegible] through [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] As to [illegible] are more [illegible] As winter [illegible] on account of their hardiness. The beak is very strong, tapered and well curved; the pea-comb small, low in the front and firm on the head, without falling over to either side; head small and slender; eyes prominent and bright; deaf ear, large and pendant; neck long and neatly curved, slender near the head, the juncture very distinct, hackle full and abundant, flowing well on the shoulders; breast full and round, flat between the shoulders; saddle feathers very abundant; legs rather strong and large; tail small, carried upright, the higher feathers spreading out laterally.

Butter Packages.

The modes of packing butter at Herkimer, N. Y., and St. Albans, Vt., are very similar. At both places the packing and shipping are done mostly in what are called Welsh tubs. These are constructed of spruce, with top wider than bottom, and large enough to hold fifty or sixty pounds. A cover is made of half inch boards with a hoop around it that projects and clasps the top of the tub, and resembles closely the lid of a cheese box. When shipped, a circular piece of muslin is laid over the top of the butter, a little salt spread over the muslin, and the cover put on and strapped down with three pieces of tin or leather. The advantage of these tubs consists in their convenient size and cheapness. Spruce gives less taste to butter than most other kinds of timber, and hence butter is often packed in them without proper preparation. A taste is soon imparted to the butter next to the wood, and the insufficient protection from the air on top renders them unsuitable for long keeping of long transportation. The firkins and half firkins so much in vogue in other markets are little used in either of the places named, nor are the machinery and apparatus for packing butter in the west employed.

Keeping Vegetables.

Years ago, before the introduction of furnaces, all kinds of vegetables kept much better in house cellars than they do now-a-days. It is not, and never was, a good plan to keep a great quantity of vegetables in a house cellar. Experiment with Potatoes.

Potatoes of large size are said to be produced by a monk in France by cutting two shoots from each stalk when it is five to seven inches high, and setting them in good, rich, mellow garden soil. In a few days they send roots, and form tubers about as early and in as large quantities as the original stalk, while the latter does not seem to be injured by the moderate pruning. The experiment also seems to have been successfully tried elsewhere previously. The plan may be found especially serviceable in the propagation of new and rare varieties for seed.

Care of Butter-Stamp.

In answer to enquiry as to the proper way to use a butter stamp, it was recommended in a late issue to soak in cold brine, as hot water would cause the butter to stick to it. The way I do is to soak the stamp or mould in boiling water for half an hour or more; this drives out all the air, which cold brine does not do. Then soak in cold brine—ice cold if you can get it—for an hour or so before using. The stamp must be covered by the hot water and brine.

A new horse distemper has made its appearance at Syracuse, N. Y., said by veterinary surgeons to be spinal meningitis. It begins with a slight cough, which is followed by a greenness in the throat. This gradually expands, until it reaches the spinal system, where it cannot be cured. If the cough is properly treated, the disease can be cured at the outset,

CHARCOAL FOR WORMS.—A correspondent of the Scientific American says:—The best simple remedy I have found for surface wounds, such as gents, abrasions of the skin; etc., is charcoal. Take a coal from the stove, pulverize it, apply it to the wound and cover the whole with a rag. The charcoal absorbs the fluids secreted by the wound, and lays the foundation of the scab: it also prevents the rag from irritating the flesh, and it is antiseptic

LEATHER FROM INTESTINES.—A patent has recently been taken out in France for the preparation of leather from tripe, intestines, and other animal membranes. These are soaked in milk of lime while still fresh, then washed in water, and finally immersed in a paste made of starch and white of egg. The substance thus formed is to be used for glove-making, etc, and may be also tanned or cured.

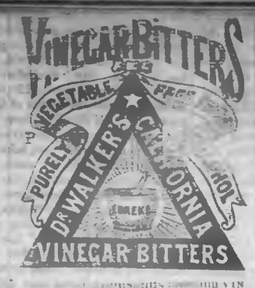
VINEGAR BITTERS



[illegible] BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST.

BY E. HASTLEY SWEET.

It stands a picture of immortal beauty,—
A vision of unselfish, godlike glory,
To shed upon the path of toil and duty,
The abundant light of Heaven.

It is a wondrous mine, whence men for ages
Have dug rare jewels, precious golden ore,
Yet each new seeker in those Gospel pages
Finds gems unseen before.

It is a tree of Life, real fruit bestowing,—
A forest whence healing waters ever flow,
A mountain peak with light celestial glowing
Where all is dark below.

The lame and undercome find strength like eagles,
While there for us content's sweet waters flow,
Dispel our fears, unveil to mortal vision
The yearning heart of God.

Each hushing deed, each solemn promise spoken,
Shall through all time with starry radiance shine,
And prove to trembling hearts a blessed token
Of grace and power divine.

In Him is life for souls diseased and dying,
Through which the dead may rise from graves of sin.
To fruitful life, and on His grace relying,
The crown of victory to win.

In Him is light for all, and joy supernal,—
His life the mystery of pain revealed,—
His passion voiced God's love and truth eternal,
And full redemption sealed.

When sorely prest by fierce and strong temptation,
I falter in the conflict with my foes,
Overwhelmed with fear, lest life's severe probation
In dark despair should close.

I turn to Him, who in the desert bore
The subtle tempter's keenest shafts for me,
And trust the sympathy that as of yore
Is tender, full and free.

When every read of earthly hope is broken,
His life of love shall shield me from despair;
In darkest hours the changeless pledge and token
Of love divine are there.

The Art of Thinking and the Habit of Observation.

We have frequently directed the attention of parents and instructors to the importance of teaching children to think, and we now quote, from the Philadelphia "Ledger," some apposite remarks on the subject.

"In every early life, the perceptive faculties are the principal channels through which we can reach the mind. Closely connected with this subject is the cultivation of the thinking powers. The two are indeed so intimately blended that neither can be effectually improved without some increased development of the other. In learning to see and hear with delicate accuracy, we insensibly strengthen our powers of thought, and to accustom them to work more effectively. Still the operation of thinking deserves a far more systematic training than it generally obtains.

"When we are striving for success or excellence in any special pursuit, we think to some purpose. Our will concentrates our thoughts to the point in question, dismisses summarily all irrelevant subjects, presents the matter in its various bearings, with some degree of logical sequence, and rarely allows the mind to drift away from it until some definite result has been sustained. There is a considerable portion of every one's time in which nothing but thinking can be done. There is time spent in cars, where even reading is injurious; and there are times of waiting, resting, and enforced cessation, when the mind has undisturbed opportunity for effective operation. Then, too, there are many employments so mechanical as to claim no portion of the mind's aid. When we have learned to do anything without thinking about it, the thoughts necessarily run into other channels. Much manual labor is of this description. A distinguished prisoner of war, of large mental resources, being allowed to choose his employment while in confinement, selected one so simple as to neither require skill nor thought, assigning as a reason that, though his hands would be employed by compulsion, his mind at least would continue his own and remain in freedom. We all have some of such work, and many much. Now, if we have learned to employ this time in clear and consecutive thought—if our would control our reflections, directing them in different channels, and aiming to reach some well defined conclusions—we can hardly compute how great an effect would be produced in strengthening our mental powers, in maturing our judgment, in bringing us to the knowledge and appreciation of truth and thus of increasing our solid happiness and our permanent value to the community.

"The best exercise of every faculty is the chief road to true enjoyment, and no one who has once tasted the pleasures of thinking to a purpose will ever willingly allow his mind to dispute in wandering thoughts and day dreams. Neither is such discipline as difficult as some imagine. If begun in early life, by awakening the children's interest in what is seen and heard alluring the mind to reflection by question and answer, and accompanying the thoughts to dwell for short periods, but intently, upon familiar subjects, it will become a pleasant exercise, and gradually grow into the habitual tenor of the mind. What we truly will to do is already half accomplished, and the watch thus placed over the thoughts will, of itself, reduce to order and regularity much that is now chaos and confusion. It is by no means necessary that the subjects thus mentally discussed should be remote or abstract. On the contrary let them be matters familiar to our minds and agreeable to our tastes. Let the memory please us with pictures of the past, and the imagination revel in beauty of scene or heroism of deed. Let the business man ponder the scheme which he hopes to execute, and the philosopher meditate on the principles of life. But whatever be the subject, let the thoughts pursue it with a consistent progress that shall eventuate in some real benefit to the mind."

Similar in nature and importance is the habit of rapid and accurate observation, the great value of which was the subject of an address to the Dairymen's Association, delivered by Hon. Horatio Seymour. In the course of his remarks he said:

"It seems singular that some men pass through life without observing things which come before their eyes almost daily. An intelligent farmer once told me that he could not recognize any of the horses belonging to his neighbors, excepting those noticeable from some peculiarity of color. A Chicago merchant, who daily drove his own horse eight or ten miles, told me he had never noticed any difference in the movement of horses; did not notice the difference between trotting and pacing. A college president is said to have made the question, 'in which way do the ends lie in an apple?' a test of the habit of observation among his students. Our tests with this question would indicate that more than one half of the average men or women either don't know or will answer incorrectly. We once received a well-written essay on the value of observing closely, yet there was not a capital letter or a punctuation mark in the half dozen pages. Many such instances could be given, were it necessary.

"This matter is not one of slight importance. The carefully observant man will see things which will have pecuniary importance to him, while his ill-trained neighbor will fail in perceiving. The farmer with habits of observation will notice slight symptoms of illness in his animals or plants, will readily see the effect of this or that practice; will much more quickly discover countless little things which, if neglected, may result in serious loss.

"As is the case of habits generally much can be done in childhood, and it certainly should be the duty of parents and other teachers to help children to learn to observe carefully, quickly, and accurately. It is told by some one that in his childhood, he practised running past a shop window and then stopping to describe as many articles as he could recall, and in this way he acquired wonderful quickness of observation. There are hosts of points to which a farmer's boy should have his attention called at an early age. Suggestions as to the mode of growth of plants, the form of a leaf, growth of a fruit, or pointing out of peculiarities of different classes of animals, may do him great good in developing this habit, and also have a marked effect in interesting him in his calling.

"This habit of observation should not be confined to the things we see alone, but should extend to things we hear and those we read as well. In this latter matter, there is a great lack. Many read to little profit because they have not trained themselves to observe carefully."

Anecdote of President Lincoln.

As the President was passing through the wards of a hospital near Washington upon one occasion he observed in one of the beds a young soldier whose pallid countenance and expressionless glassy eyes betokened great physical and mental prostration, and he inquired of the attending surgeon if there was any prospect of his ultimate recovery.

"Not the slightest," replied the doctor. "His vital powers are rapidly ebbing away, and will soon be exhausted."

"I am heartily sorry for the poor boy," said Mr. Lincoln, "and I should like to do something to make his last hours pass as comfortably as possible. Would there be any harm in my speaking to him?" added he. And upon being assured there would not, he sat down by the bedside, and taking the young man's hand, in the kindest possible tone of voice said, "My young friend, I am the President of the United States, and am informed by the doctor that you cannot possibly live but a short time. Now if there is any request you would like to make in regard to your family, it will afford me very great satisfaction to comply with it."

The youth turned his dim eyes towards the President, but made no response until the question was repeated, when, with great effort, he succeeded in giving articulation to his thanks and expressed an earnest desire to see his aged grandmother, who he said, was then living in Bangor, Maine.

The President after assuring him that every effort should be made to gratify his wishes, bade him adieu, and calling the medical officer aside, asked if there was any prospect of the young man's surviving until the old lady could be telegraphed to and come to Washington, and he seemed a good deal perplexed on being told there was no hope of this; but after a moments reflection he said the only expedient that occured to him under the circumstances was the exercise of a little strategy which was always allowable in war times: that if he could only find some old woman who would consent to personate the grandmother, the boy was in such a state of lethargy that he would not probably detect the deception and would die with the consoling belief that he had received the parting benediction of his aged relative.

"That would certainly be a perfectly justifiable device," replied the surgeon, "but where will you find the elderly female to enact the part of the grandmother?"

"Let me see," soliloquized Mr. Lincoln, holding up his left hand while he enumerated with the index finger of the right hand: "There is old Mrs. B——r, old Mrs. S——k, and old Mrs. M—— they are all most benevolent ladies, but I am apprehensive they could not be prevailed upon to undertake anything which involved the faintest shadow of deception. No, no," continued he, "there is no hope from that direction, but if I could only induce my venerable friend Gideon Welles to personate the old lady, in suitable costume, the object would be attained, and nobody harmed."

"But," remarked the doctor, "Mr. Welles's long white beard would at once expose the artifice."

"That can be overcome by his wearing a night-cap, and down over as to cover up the beard," said the President. Accordingly he sat down at once and addressed a note to the Secretary of the Navy, begging him as a special favor, to comply with the request at as early a moment as practicable, as the boy's hours were numbered.

Now it so happened when the Secretary received this communication he was busily engaged in official transactions, which in his opinion were of so much consequence that they could not be postponed for anything short of the overthrow of the whole Government, while to him the contents of the letter appeared of little importance. He therefore contented himself with directing a clerk to inform the applicant

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 1, 1875.

PROHIBITION.

Mr. Ross, of Middlesex, is carrying his temperance principles into the House of Commons, and there has moved for a Committee of the whole to discuss the propriety of passing a prohibitory or Maine Law. A majority of the House is in favor of it, but as it is believed that some professed tipplers, perhaps topers, voted for it, who would do anything they could to embarass the Government, the matter was not urged to its final issue this Session. The question should not be a party one. The evils caused by strong drink in Canada are not confined wholly to one party, as many have often wondered why tavern keepers were almost if not altogether Conservatives.

The evil effects of the drinking usages of the day are so apparent that they do not need to be mentioned. Every street corner, every alley, every nook and corner of the cities, towns, and villages of the Dominion, are daily witnesses of scenes that only strong drink would produce. The Family ruin and misery and moral degradation that prevail everywhere where whiskey and brandy are used are well known, and the sigh of commiseration is heard, but little else is done to relieve the distress and suffering caused by the evil. It prevails in the churches, and ministers are silent. Church deacons and officials deplore it, but what do they do to remove it from the church? When spoken to on the subject, they will join in expressions of regret and sorrow that it does exist, but when told that nothing but prohibition will relieve the country, the family, and the church from the direful curse, they will heave a sigh, perhap a sob, and say, "Public Opinion" is not prepared for this. Even the great Globe itself is writing column after column to prove that "Public Opinion" is not sufficiently educated for a prohibitory law.

Who should educate Public Opinion?

The answer to this question is simple and easy. Those who deplore the evil, wish to get rid of it, and do not think public opinion enlightened enough to apply the remedy. Therefore the responsible parties in this case are the Church, the Ministers, and the Press of the Country.

The devout Sunday worshipper will please take stock of all the Sunday sermons he has heard during the last twelve months, on this crying sin of our land. Will some one give a history of every temperance association in connection with the individual churches of our country so that it may be found out how many churches have, and how many have no organization to arrest the sin and to remove the stain of drunkenness from their borders and from the sanctuary.

Will some one who knows the secret ways of men, gently inform the people how many church members, church officials and sabbath school teachers take a little for their stomach's sake, and for their often infirmities, although it is putting a stumbling block in the way of a weaker brother or sister? Will some one who has a file of the Globe for the last ten years publish the number of articles specially appearing in that paper to educate public opinion to wipe out the dark black spot from the land, caused by that degrading brutalising traffic?

How many local newspapers have shown themselves willing to lose their party in the greater and better principles of moral reform? Let the history of newspapers in Peterboro answer. The history of all these would prove unmistakeably that public educators were willing to sacrifice the country and morality to their own ease or personal and party aggrandisement and to let public opinion take care of itself, while too often, they are the opponents of progress, and advocates of delay, while the poor unfortunate drunkards are passing away to ——— let the churches and preachers answer where.

To the Mail or the Leader we need not appeal at present, they are so joined to their idol, Sir John, that whatever would have the remotest connection with elevating him as the juggernaut of the party, will take the place with them of reason, moral principle and the public good.

To the Globe therefore as the great educator of Public opinion in Canada, we must appeal to educate the people and prepare them for this Maine Law. It is coming and soon will be here. If when enacted it is a partial failure, the Globe and parties referred to above must assume the responsibility of that failure. If will be enacted, and if the people be not prepared for the blessings of sobriety and temperance, and consequent charity and and prosperity, then the people will be forced to the conclusion that certain institutions will have failed in their mission and many men will be found to have been blind leaders of the blind, if they should still seek the sloughs of drunkenness and long to revel in debaucheries as too many do now.

To the Reform party in power, we look for this great moral reform. It never could be expected from Sir John, for reasons all known too well. Of the present party the people expect better things. But say some, it will embarass Mr. Mowat, to them we say, try it. But how will they raise the revenue that will be lost by doing away with the trade! Leave that to them. How do they raise other revenues? By duties on goods that do not intoxicate: put this item with the rest, the people will pay it willingly.

The government will be defeated on this question if they follow the fanaticism of the people; Says another. You may bet your last cent this man is an office seeker or a tippler.

Let them pass a prohibitory liquor law any way and if defeated when they appeal to the people they will have left behind them a name greater than ever statesmen in this world hitherto have done, and will leave it to history to teach the children of the Dominion, of the world, forever after that a Reform Government had the moral courage and sense of the evil of this traffic, to remove it forever. If England taught the world a lesson in freeing her soil from slavery, let her children in Canada, and especially the Reform party, teach the world that they cannot take the price of the blood of the people that are falling daily through the effects of a system more debasing than slavery.

If defeated they can retire and say we have done our work, enough to hand down our names to posterity as benefactors, as men who sacrificed our position and its emoluments and honors for a principle, for the sake of perishing fellow beings. But there is no fear of their defeat on this question.

Whiskey kept them out of power in the past, remove it from the land and they are sure of retaining power so long as they do right, and they deserve it no longer. Let this Government give Canada prohibition and their names will be embalmed in the affections of the people, and thousands hitherto led to the polls drunk, as sheep to the slaughter, will as sums their right minds and vote right and for the party who made them free men.

FIRST ANNUAL MEETING of the DIRECTORS of the PETERBORO' YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The first annual meeting of this association was held in the George Street Methodist Church on Thursday evening, 25th Inst., at 8 o'clock p.m. Mr. J. M. Smith, the President of the association occupied the chair. The Rev'd Mr. Roger opened the meeting with prayer, and after a hymn was sung the President gave a short address on the past and present position of the Y. M. C. Associations throughout the world. The Secretary then read the Directors report of the work of the Association, during the past year, after which Col. Stone the Treasurer read a statement of the financial position of the association, at the present time. The Rev'd Mr. Rose spoke on what Y. M. C. Associations do for young men spiritually, socially and intellectually. The Rev'd Mr. Carroll spoke upon the relationship existing between the Y. M. C. A. and the church. Mr. Crombie Provincial Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for the Dominion then addressed the meeting, followed by Mr. Gray, general Secretary, of Port Hope Association both speakers spoke of the good work being done by Y. M. C. Associations in other places and the sympathy and support that they received from the public. They earnestly requested these present to support and encourage the Peterborough Association, in every way in their power, showing the benefit that their sons and brothers might derive from the Association, here and elsewhere. The meeting then closed with prayer. The collection taken up amounted to $14.45.

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE PETERBOROUGH Y. M. C. A.

On the tenth of March 1874, a meeting of those favourable to the establishment of a Young Men's Christian Association was held to confer with a deputation from the Provincial Executive.

At this meeting it was unanimously decided that such an Association should be established, and a committee was nominated to undertake the preliminary work This committee shortly afterwards met and appointed a Board of Directors who have now to render an account to you of the manner in which they have occupied the trust committed to them.

In view of the liberal response to their appeal to them for support financially both at the preliminary meeting and afterward it was decided that the building now occupied by them should be secured for the use of the Association and that a General Secretary whose whole time should be devoted to the work of the Association should be secured. Your directors were fortunate in securing for this important position Mr. J. D. Collins

The building was taken over by your Directors on the 5th of July last, and very soon afterwards the work of the Association was begun. Eighty-one members were enrolled, many of these, however, being members only in name, not more than one-fourth of that number taking any very active part in association work. Committees were appointed to take charge of the various branches of the work, and with some exceptions have been diligent and attentive to the duties devolving on them. The Reading Room, Parlor and Lecture Room were neatly furnished at an expense of about $200, and a supply of reading matter thought to be sufficient for the present, procured. During the eight months that have elapsed since the Association was fairly commenced, a considerable amount of work has been done, though not by any means as much as should have been done nor as much as your Directors hope will be accomplished during the coming year.

A Prayer Meeting for young men is held every Sunday morning from 9 to 10. At first this was well attended, during the extreme cold weather it fell off but in now again increasing, and will, we trust, continue to increase. A Prayer Meeting also for young men is held every Saturday night at 8 o'clock. the attendance at which is also increasing. Three Cottage Meetings are held in different parts of the town and vicinity and are exceedingly well attended, the interest in all of these continuing to increase from week to week.

In addition to these strictly religious encouraged public meetings the lectures, essays, music, &c., have been held nearly every week and which have been largely attended. Some exceedingly interesting and profitable free lectures have been given, amongst amongst which may be mentioned that of Dr. Donald Fraser on "A Problem in History." listened to with great interest by a very large audience.

The Reading Room is well attended during the afternoons and evenings, especially on Saturdays and market days, when many from the country take advantage of it.

During the summer months a series of open air services, under the auspices of the Association, were conducted by several ministers of the town, and your Directors are of opinion that not a little good has been effected by this means.

A Night Class is held in the rooms every Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The attendance hitherto has been small.

Your Directors begin to feel familiar with much thankfulness the cordial sympathy and co-operation of the Ministers of the various Parts and churches of the town They have all in turn contributed to the success of the Association by lecturing on the Thursday evenings, and many of them have shown in other ways the interest they had in our welfare.

In conclusion your Directors would indulge the hope that the assistance and sympathy which have been so manifestly exhibited towards the Association during the past year by the people of Peterboro will be continued, and that the year in which we have now entered may be a year of much progress marked by the Divine blessing, and to this end we would earnestly entreat the Christian people of Peterborough to bring the Association before the Lord in prayer, remembering its solemn and important aim, the salvation of precious souls.

OFFICERS FOR 1875.

PRESIDENT, J. A. Hall; VICE-PRES, J. M. Smith, Wm. Dixon: TREASURER, Col. Stace SECRETARY, Col. Stace; DIRECTORS J. C. Robinson, F. Goodfellow, W. W. Johnston, Col. Haultain, J. Turnbull, T. Barnecott, W. A. Allen, H. Dobson, Alex. Gillespie.

A NUISANCE.

The Town Council should be indicted for the nuisance caused by placing the filth of yards and water closets on the ice, below the bridge, So great has been the stench in the neighborhood that people in the vicinity cannot stay in their dwellings. Why should the Council thus endanger the health and destroy the comfort of people living near the river, Should they put the matter on the river at all? Is it not contrary to law to poison the water of the river and thus endanger the health and lives of those below us, who, not knowing what is the matter, may use the water? The wrong cannot be repeated, and to avoid it the Council must provide a piece of ground where all the filth of the Town can be placed and where dry earth can be applied. In this way what is now likely to be a source of disease and perchance death to some, might become a source of profit, or, at least, would pay the cost of removing to it.

If river water is needed for sanitary purposes surely for sanitary purposes the river must not be polluted.

And a grave question may arise if persons living down stream should take action against the Council for polluting the water of the river.

DUMMER AGAIN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I see see you were favored last week with a communication from Mr. White on the subject of our Municipal Loan Fund Appropriations, in which the writer indulges in some extraordinary statements which I cannot allow to pass unnoticed.

Mr. White commences his communication by saying that he noticed in your issue of the 11th inst., a kind of a reply to Ratepayer, &c., over my signature and he finishes by saying "to talk of stray pronouns and the key of E flat do not answer questions." Let me show the way he answers questions and how Ratepayer" was answered.

In reference to opening the road allowance between lots 10 and 11, and the White Lake road, two questions were asked by Ratepayer to which I gave the most explicit answers and to jog my friends memory I here reproduce

1st question. When and by whom were you petitioned by a portion of the ratepayers to open either of these roads? To which I replied in effect the Council were not petitioned at any time by any person to open them and to which I now add, as Mr. White has taken up the cudgels for Ratepayer, if he will define the particular portion of a ratepayer or ratepayers, whether their heads, or arms, or feet, that I will feel perfectly safe for all time to come, to state positively that 'no portion' whatever, so petitioned. As I understand it one whole, live ratepayer is necessary to get up a petition. Nothing less will do, but the Council had not even such a one.

2nd, question. What are your motives for spending this money on these roads? I answered to open them. Could I answer more explicitly or to the point? And yet Mr White insinuates that Ratepayer's questions have not been answered. Why does Mr. White do this? But what about the seven direct questions I put to Ratepayer? Mr. White don't consdescend to answer one—not even one. Here Mr. White and Mr. Watts the right to ask questions without answering any? This would surely be a one-sided discussion; but I forgot, perhaps they are left for Ratepayer himself (Mr. Watts.) If so, I hope when the answers come they will not emanate from any part of him, but from himself as a whole, for I am sure there is nothing to spare.

Mr. White thinks it is about time we had a little more light on the doings of our Council, and he thinks a very great portion of said fund is little better than thrown away, and he really thinks the By-law is broken, but he is not quite sure of all this, there is evidently a few grains of doubt about it from the manner in which he writes, he simply gives his opinions or thoughts on these subjects, which we all have a right to do, but when he comes down to the positive as seen by the following quotation, there is a total eclipse of all that has preceded it: "I say positively it will cost $600 to make one mile of said White Lake road. How does Mr. White arrive at this conclusion? Does he know exactly where this rat ourraged road is to run? If so, he knows more about it than any member of the Council. They are of opinion from their commissioners report the road can be opened through for a winter road for the appropriation, but they are not at all positive about it until it is surveyed and reported upon And suppose it does cost $405 to make one mile, there are miles of road in Dummer many of them, that have each cost more money. There is one mile near Theo. Hanford's that has cost the township over $1000; but this is all right, it accommodates me and my friends.

Then, as to Mr. White's moan for money amongsthe build the Northern Pacific, I say it is a pity that the Council has not money enough, without any "finger-post or portion thereof," paying anything to build pacific (for meaning consult pocket dictionary) roads to every man's door.

Again, "the White Lake road is not needed either as there would have been a petition for it." On this principle then I suppose the bridges swept away by the floods of 1870 were not needed, or the Gloucester bridge is not needed, as the work on the third concession, superintended by Mr. R. Sharpe, commissioner under this authority By law and where Mr. White himself claimed exemption and got it, was also not petitioned for the work to be done on McCracken's road, Mr. Payne, sub-Commissioner, &c., also not petitioned for. Mr. White must surely view more of the money foolishly, or again the work on the third line road, south of lots 10 and north of lot 11, where Mr. Watts is to figure as a sub-Commissioner, is also not needed. Does my friend think his reasoning is sound. No petitions have been sent in for any of these works, of course they are not needed when Mr. White and Mr. Sharpe seek a principle. Is his reasoning sound or is he only a little buncombe he is getting at. But, oh! I forgot. What about the school house in S. S. No. 2 that was petitioned for. Was that needed?

Then, again, why did the Council survey a road through lot 11 in the 4th concession, on which to spend part of this money. I reply to obviate the necessity of making a piece of road along the log in the centre of the 4th, and thereby make a straight road through the concession. This surveyed part being a road in lieu of the allowance. Does Mr. White not know that where a road deviates from the original allowance when it is surveyed and made in lieu of it is that road and is to be repaired just the same as if it were on the proper allowance. We have many roads of this kind in our township. The one near Hendridge's to Cox; one also from the centre of the 3rd concession, through the east half of 16, over Hendridge's bridge to the English line and many others. Boundary roads between townships the same way. Suppose the road between Asphodel and Dummer deviated from the real boundary into Asphodel. Dummer would be obliged to pay its proper proportion toward keeping said road in repair, I cannot think that Mr. White don't know all this if he does why quibble about so small matter?

Again, "if not one dollar of said money has been spent, what about the $10 paid to Mr. Donnelly for surveying said road. I'll tell him what about it. I said in my reply to Ratepayer, not one dollar of the appropriation had been spent. I say so still, Mr. Donnelly was paid as all surveyors are paid, and as Mr. White, an old auditor, knows full well, out of township funds. Mr. White's man of straw only was knocked down by the gamble.

A short abstract only of the By-law was read at the nomination the amount of each of the appropriations and the place where each was to be spent was read at the nomination. what more could the finest hair splitting rate payer desire? Result Mr. White knows.

I think I have effectually answered Mr. White in everything except his drive at saw mill. If the road forks off at Mr. Payne's saw mill, north-east to the narrows of Stoney Lake and is opened in such a way that the settlers in the north east of our township can get their logs cut at Mr. Payne's mill it will do them some good and Messrs. White and Watts no harm.

Now, Mr. Editor, if friend White thinks the Council is doing wrong with this money why does he not petition the Council with his neighbors to change the appropriation. Their laws are not unalterable. Let him come down with his scheme in black and white. Tell the Council what he would do with the money. Lay down a whole scheme if he will, or if only the two appropriation referred to are disapproved of when would he expend the money if they were withdrawn. The Council I am sure will take a reasonable view of all questions; for my part I am pledged to carry out this By-law. The Council, however, can overrule me. Up to this time there has been fault finding and quibbling, but they have not been asked to change one appropriation.

Yours truly,
THOS. G. CHOATE.

Warsaw, March 29, 1875

SIR,—On reading the communication of one Alexander Watts, which appeared in your last issue, it occurred to me that he was not worth the small quantity of powder it would take to blow him up, though it would cost nothing, and in talking the matter over with some of my best friends I find they agree with me in this view, but lest my silence should be construed by a few in the same class of natural history with himself, to indicate that his braying has had any but one result, i. e., to expose himself, I am induced to make a few remarks in reply.

In all my experience in public matters I have always found that when a man gets angry and commences the abuse of his antagonist by calling names, it is a sure indication he is getting the worst of the argument or debate in which he is engaged. Mr. Watts, it appears is quite a proficient in this line, I suppose he thinks it smart and witty to call me an "uncircumcised Philistine." If so, all I have to say is that he must of course be an individual of the opposite character. This is the only inference that can be drawn. "Fadder abraham, when did the change in him take place? I have often sought for a reason for his appearance, etc., but Eureka, the mystery is solved.

Who if this Alexander Watts that is making such a commotion, such a tempest in a teapot? Is he the same individual who appeared at the municipal nomination in December last, ostensibly to hear himself in his little say against a new School House about to be erected in No. 2, and against the opening of two new roads? Whose questions were answered and re-answered till nearly everyone present was made to stare and gasp at his exhibition of ignorance? Whose little stock-in trade has been his nonsensical gabble on our municipal Loan Fund By-Law? And whose tremendous efforts to elect a Council opposed to said By-law was a complete failure? I believe he is the same person. Is this same person the author of a communication dubbed Dummer Council, and signed "Ratepayers in Want of Light," which appeared 25th February last? He is, for he admits it in that he says I tried in my reply to expose him, when in fact I wrote only of the greater, not the lesser Watts. If he could see beyond his nose he would know this, but he can't: his capacity is too limited, he should however remember that

The Lord hath fo.med him wondrous small
With ears, in, sinews and veins:
But fo med his soul one empty hut!
Quite tenantless of brains!

For, if he had any, "light" would have burst in upon him before this.

Alexander talks largely of "the truth." Oh, yes! He says he has it at his beak and for once I believe him, for he keeps a long way ahead of it, but why shouldn't he talk of it? He makes a bold attempt occasionally to teach the heathens here the way they should go. He tells them of the sounding brass and the tinkling cymbal and of the grace that thinketh no evil, but unfortunately he has a peculiar way of practising what he teaches; Alexander, Alexander, Heaven save all those outside the township to forgive me. and then his manner of making 'the truth' do duty for him by his constant airing of it, is certainly original if not ab-original. It won't all do; he will have to Reform and be a better man—

Though great the change, I think he can.

Let me do a little analysing. He admits being author of the communication, "Ratepayers in want of Light," when in reality he was only a ratepayer. This is a master stroke of truthfulness. He says, "we find by the By-law that $400 are to be spent between 10 and 11," and in his last he quotes from the same By-law that the same appropriation is $600. Which is right? Unsnith somewhere! He said in his first, "the Council informed these men—those at the nomination—that the By-law had been 'signed' by the Lieut.-Governor, &c. I replied, the Council did nothing of the kind, but that some member thereof explained that it had received the 'assent,' &c. Mr. Watts creeps out by saying that some member of the Council did say that it had been signed or assented to, I positively affirm. So he might easily, but his first statement still stares him in the face. Again he says, "the White Lake road will be no more direct than the one already opened." And in his first letter also says returning to the same road that "it is to go in a north east direction till it strikes David Drains road." Now, as far as distances are concerned, there is here a triangle with the concession line or line running nearly due north from, I think, lot 18 to 24 on one side, the Stoney Lake road at a right angle with it and running nearly due east from the fourth concession line to the seventh, as the second side, and the White Lake road with its connection as the third; the first and second sides are the roads now travelled, and yet he says the third is no more direct. He is right if the people in the Northeast want to go to Lakefield or Mud Whites, but as nearly wrong of they are to Weston or Peterborough. If he still thinks he is right would he ask some little boy to "drive him right." Again he says "he was not fully acquainted with the appropriations till after the close of the Court of Revision." Then he was fully enlightened was he? Really! Yet he wants more light, and I think he does, but he has converted himself as plump as a goose egg in a man's face. Again he says, "Our Reeve has thrown away $600 of our money." How can this be when both the appropriations for the roads in question are still every dollar of them in the Ontario Treasury drawing interest to the credit of the township. Alexander has got a long way ahead of the truth this time, but oh! he will have to repent in sackcloth and ashes. Again he says, for the future he will ask for light from the Reeve, and to the contrary he won't. Which will he do? Take which horn he likes the truth endures.

Then, sir, these Stumpee tutee Reeves. White and [illegible] gentlemen their views so harmoniously that [illegible] the By-law is "broken," the other is quite sure of it.

But Alexander's manner shows him a challenge. He will accept none any time or place, publicly he says he will. I suppose the privilege of two months. What can such does he want me to do. I'll run any day before I'll [illegible] Alexander the Great got his name by in this line Does his illustrious successor the least want to follow in the same wake by denouncing on me. Then does he want to get up a debate on the question at issue? If so I decline, because first, he don't know when he is answered a question Second, if he wants information he don't know how to get. Third, I will let the poet answer—

What shade would abscond from [illegible]
That they are [illegible]
And their [illegible]

I was always under the impression that I had enough of his [illegible] in connection to understand plain English when I read it, but I have utterly failed to divine the meaning of the following from Mr. Watts' last effort: 'he has evidently forgotten that on the 26th of Dec., when the Council had a little more than they could attend to they hid themselves behind the voice of the people by saying that this money was spent according to the voice of the people If he deny this I will bring him to proof to open them." What does he mean? As far as I am able to make it out it is neither English, French, or hog Latin. and all I can say is let him bring on his proof by all means wherever it is or whatever it is about, but whatever he does I would advise him not to

Shoot among the ducks and plover
For his gun will kick and knock him over.

Then he quotes a whole By-law which has already been advertised to prove that the Council have broken their own law. He said in his first communication that the Reeve and Council saw fit to break the By-law by spending a part of the appropriation on a new road through 11. I replied that the By-law could not be 'broken' as not one dollar of the appropriation had been expended. He rejoins by quoting a whole By-law to prove the Council has established a new road. This surely is most profound reasoning. The Council have established a road in lieu of the allowance, which road runs straight through the concession, thereby obviating the making of and purchasing of a road along the log.

He asks me to give him a 'truthful' reason for opening these lines of road, but it must be a 'truthful' one. Would not a good reason do? Oh, no. Well I cheerfully comply as it is the first question put by the twins which really bears on the case. The roads are to be opened for people and every description of animals from a flea to a donkey to travel upon—if they choose.

In my last I asked him what were his motives for writing over a fictitious signature; he replies, because not itching for fame. Then I suppose now he is itching as he comes out squarely as a man should. I would like, however, he would tell me what his reason was, not what it was not.

Please send it along next time. He says he has not petitioned the Council for a change in those appropriations. Yet he tries into print and everybody here knows what for. He failed to get in a pet candidate or two as Councillors and he has got his dander up. One would think he had been bitten by a mad dog, if so, I pity that dog. The best thing, however, he can do is to keep still, for this master-stroke of electioneering won't work. If he wants to be Reeve and can get one sixth of the ratepayers to say he should be, I will get out of his way quicker than forked lightning, but before he goes before the people for election I desire to intimate that he lacks two qualifications—only two—which will ever prevent him from becoming a great man, viz: veracity and common sense."

Yours truly,
THOS. G. CHOATE.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening, pursuant to a call of the Mayor. Present: Messrs. Cahill, Beal, Paterson, Hopkins, McDonald, Dixon and Rutherford.

The Mayor in taking the chair explained that the cause of the meeting was that several citizens had expressed a desire to have the water works by-law withdrawn, and desired him to call a meeting. Mr. Hugel also had telegraphed to him, that he desired to meet the council on an important matter, and as it required immediate action, he thought it better to call the meeting for both objects at the same time.

Mr. Rutherford enquired if there was a petition to withdraw it, if not he thought it should take its fate

Mr. Beal was of opinion it should take its fate anyway.

Mr. Paterson thought it should be withdrawn and some cheaper scheme consider ed.

Mr. McDonald thought the town was tied no water works yet, and the best way was to vote it down and kill it for a year,

Mr. Cahill would vote to withdraw it if no other by law should be submitted this year.

Mr. Dixon favoured withdrawing and considering a new scheme cheaper and more according to the peoples wishes.

Mr. Paterson moved to withdraw it and have a committee appointed to report on a cheaper scheme.

Mr. Cahill moved to have the discussion postponed till Tuesday evening, which was carried,

Mr. Beal read a letter from Judge Dennistoun asking that counsel be appointed to watch the investigation in reference to the $425 and contract investigation.

Mr. Dixon thought the Town Solicitor should do that.

Mr. Beal explained that Mr. Scott was mixed up with the charge as part of the committee and could not be counsel.

Mr. Beal moved, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That James F. Dumbleton be authorized to act on behalf of this Council in the matter of the investigation asked for by resolution passed at the last regular meeting.—Carried.

Mr. Hugel delayed from irregularities in receiving the mayor's telegram arrived about 10 o clock and was heard before the Council, in reference to a cost brought by the town against the company for arrears of interest,—He [illegible] that the amount be taken in three payments to be made in June, July and August next, with interest and costs, and that proceedings be stopped

Mr. Scott who was present was asked if this could be done without prejudice to the claim of the town. He said he thought so by granting leave to the commissioners to delay proceedings till that time.

It was then moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That Mr. Hugel's petition be referred to the Board of Town Commissioners, and the Council [illegible] that the Town commissioners extend to the Midland Railway Company such time as they may think reasonable for the payments of the arrears due by the said R.R. Company to this corporation, provided that the extension at their does not in any prejudice the position of Town as any security held by the Town.—Carried.

The Council adjourned till Tuesday evening.

The Governor General is going on a visit to Europe, and will confide the reins of government during his absence to the Commander-in-Chief of H. M. forces in Canada, Major General O'Grady Haly. His Excellency's military Secretary, Captain [illegible] goes home to enjoy the enjoyments on Half Pay Captain Cowie, and it is [illegible] he succeeded by Mr. Lawrence Clarke.

THE NEW BRIDGE

The following communications on Iron Bridges have been sent us for publication, which we do by way of enabling ourselves to the knowledge of any style of bridge. We gladly give them room.

Westfield, March 25th, 1875.

Mr. M. Sanderson,

DEAR SIR,—Yours of the 15th just received and contents noted as regards cost of bridge in Peterborough. I cannot say what yours will cost, but it will not cost as much in proportion as the one here, for both spans are the same length and can be built cheaper. I think you should not be governed by price alone. The King Bridge was not the cheapest one represented here, but was thought to be the best of them all by the best mechanics in the place. At one time this winter when there was a foot of snow on it, they drove 500 heavy fat cattle across it, they filled it from one end to the other, the weight made no impression on the bridge.

I have seen the following bridges put up in different places:

Keystone Iron Bridge,	County	Pittsburg, Pa.
Phœnixville	"	Phœnixville, Pa.
Watson	"	Paterson, N. Y.
Kellogg	"	Buffalo, N. Y.
Remington	"	Illion, N. Y.
Tubular	"	Cleveland, O.

and some others the names of which I do not remember, but I should prefer the King bridge to any of them for strength and beauty of appearance they make a fine looking structure I would not have a cent iron bridge under any circumstances whatever, for they are worthless, as they will not stand the changes of the weather.

Mr. Abbott, the gentleman that had charge of the construction and purchase of our bridge, says that the King Bridge Company are perfect gentlemen to deal with, that they made several changes in the bridge, and made the walk six inches wider than the contract called for, without extra charge, and I would unhesitatingly choose the King Bridge if I had one to build without regard to price. knowing what I do about its structure and that of other bridges.

The Mr. Brown you mention told you that which is not so, or at least I never saw an account of one of their bridges falling, though there had been a number of others mentioned in the daily papers. This is all at present.

Yours respectfully,
J. M. HARVEY.

Blue Rapids, March 25.

Mr. M. Sanderson,

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write a few lines to you on the bridge question, as I see by your paper of some one writing and stating iron would not stand the climate, it is perfect nonsense. I tell you if you try one of Z. King and Sons wrought iron bridges it will stand any climate, on the principles that they are constructed. There is a science in bridge building, just as much as in watch making and none but practical men accomplish it right. We have three of King's bridges on the Blue river within ten miles. they give satisfaction in every instance. We have a great many in the state and we have a branch of King's bridge works here at Topeka. I enclose a few references to you, you will see the length of spans, and views of them. We build nothing but Iron out here, it is quite a business. You can get all the particulars at Cleveland, Ohio.

Yours truly,
G. FITZGERALD.

Religious services are being held every evening, in their rooms, designed for young men especially.

The By-Law

For the Water Works was withdrawn last night, and universal opinion is that he time had not yet come for entering into a scheme so much beyond our means.

Where are the Hard Times?

Not among the Farmers! for Mr. T. Elliott of Smith, sold his farm last week to Mr. W. Armstrong of Otonabee for $11,000 or $55 an acre. Not bad that for hard times.

Water Works

At the last weeks meeting Mr. Romaine explained that it was not $3000,000, but $150,000 that he and Peterboro would be willing to give the Midland Railway Company for work done.

Pine Plank.

The Town Clerk advertises this week for tenders for Pine Plank, Scantling and Cedar for sidewalks for the current year, as required. If they use as much as last year it will amount to about 300,000 feet.

Assessors and Assessing.

In Smith and Monaghan we understand the assessors have put up property to a high figure. An average of about five times what it used to be. We have not full information from other places.

Sunday Work

Mr. John Jeffers was mulcted yesterday in $40 for violating License Law on Sunday—a second offence. Mr. Faucher was also up. Put off till Friday. Mr. Beavis is doing his duty. Councillors will do well to let him.

Seed Store

Mr F. Mason has opened out an extensive stock of seeds, &c., next door to L. Fisher's Feed Store. Mr. Robert A. Brown will attend to the seed store, and Mr. Mason to the garden, vegetables, and flowers. Give Mr. Mason a call.

Agricultural.

At a late meeting of the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Association. After discussion it was agreed to give a bonus of $50 to a central fair to be held in Peterboro this fall provided that the Society be represented on the directorship.

Ice Wanted.

The pros and cons of water works have been so hotly discussed of late, that were it not for the favorable weather we are enjoying, something to keep the contestants cool would be necessary. There is abundance of ice on the river east of the gas works. A little applied to the heads of some of them would cool their affections.

Crowds

Can now be found everywhere, come down from the shanties. They are not particularly troublesome, nor has their been much annoyance caused to citizens yet. But then not the men but what they imbibe, causes fighting and bickering, broken noses and cut faces, and all the other concomitants that accompany John Barleycorn's devotees.

The Assizes.

Chief Justice Richards not arriving by the train yesterday in time, Judge Dennistoun opened the Court and addressed the Grand Jury, after which he adjourned the Court till 9:30 a. m. to-day. The docket is small—Seven civil and three criminal cases. The latter are the Queen vs. Wignore, the Queen vs. Graham, a shooting case, and the Queen vs. Downer

Cheaper Gas.

We understand it is the intention of the Peterboro Gas Company after this quarter to reduce the price of gas to $3.50 nett, per thousand. Considering that it costs the Company 6d per ton more for their coal than it does the companies on the Lake, this is a large reduction. The price of gas at Cobourg, Port Hope, Brockville, Belleville, and other small towns in Canada, is, we understand, $4 per thousand.

The Mulligan Guards

Had two splendid houses in Peterboro—crowded to overflowing both evenings, and the members of the troupe acquitted themselves well. The singing and playing of the guards were highly applauded and there were numerous encores, attesting the appreciation of the audience of the different parts. The comique part of the performance proved emminently the relish of every audience for fun. It is understood that the Guards intend visiting numerous other places this season, when full houses will surround them no doubt.

Auction Sales

Mr. John Gill, Auctioneer, will sell by public Auction, at the residence of the late Joseph Hopkins, Dresden, Stake waggon, farm stock, implements and household furniture, on Tuesday April 6.

Mr. Geo McIlmoyle's Trade Sale.—On Monday, 5th inst., at Mr. G. Dupuis's, Douro. On Friday, 9th inst., at Mr. Charles Grant's, Douro.

$50 Reward

Mr. Romaine has obtained from Mr Hugel one of the Midland Railway locos motive boilers for his brick establishment; it is worth, 'tis said, $1,500. While taking it from the station some greasers fellows upset it in the creek at Scott's store house, and as it weighs fifteen tons it will cost $150 to get it up again. They should be punished. Mr. Romaine offers $50 reward for information that will lead to the conviction of the offenders.

Where the Vultures are, &c.

On Monday a crowd of the street loiterers attending a funeral, we will not say a trial of strength, attracting attention, but on proceeding to the spot we found that it was the sudden death of an animal of the bovine family, belonging to Mr. Croft. The gallopade commenced shortly almost all present hastily for a short time, and falling down, died, cause not known, but was not believed to be forty-rod as corn won't take it.

Child Deserted

On Tuesday evening between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, a male child was left at the door of the Protestant Home by an unfeeling mother or some other person. The child is about five weeks old, looks quite healthy, but was poorly clad. It was wrapped in an old sheet, which it is believed will lead to the discovery of the parties who deserted it. The finger is in the hands of the chief constable, who is on the track of the unfortunate creature guilty of deserting the little waif.

A Hint.

We have often intimated to those in arrears for subscription to the EXAMINER, that publishers require money to enable them to pay their hands, rent, taxes, insurance and accounts. In many cases subscribers have willingly responded, but there are not a few still who do not think of their responsibilities. As after the 1st of August, the publisher will have to pre-pay the postage, the cash system must be insisted upon. All arrears not paid in one month will be placed in court for collection.

Grip.

The last Canadian Grip with valuable little pictures attached, ought to be sent to every one. The Bishop of Toronto is represented asleep with a tallow candle burning dimly beside him and carelessly in his hand a roll of "Ornamental" paper ready to fall. Behind him are the Millinery men with bellows trying to blow the flickering light out. Before him is one, watching with bated breath, and urging them by signals to blow as the "Master Sleeps." One solitary individual minister stands up for the Light, Rev. W. H. Jones, and who is represented as saying, "Boys, you can't do it."

Mr. Millar's Concert

We omitted last week to give a notice of Mr. Millar's Concert, given about a week previous. It was held on a very unfavorable night, on account of a lecture in the W. M. Church. The concert was at the close of Mr. Millar's singing classes for the season. Several of his pupils took part in it and attested Mr. Millar's efficiency as a teacher of vocal music. Those who assisted Mr. Millar, and whose names have often been mentioned in connection with musical entertainments fully sustained their characters. The parts were well sustained, and the whole reflected great credit on its promoters, and those who took part in it.

Bird's Eye View of Peterborough.

The issue of this artistic map has arrived, and Mr. Wm. R. Patches, the publisher's agent, is now here to deliver the copies subscribed for, and as many more as may be ordered out of admiration for so handsome a work and out of appreciation of its' value. We have inspected the view and find it exceedingly correct and ornamental, making it both a reliable and desirable thing to hang upon the wall for reference or to send away to friends.

The citizens of many towns, of which similar views have been taken, have purchased numerous copies to send abroad as pictorial advertisements of their locality. This is a good idea and may well be imitated here. The work is done in colours and surmounted by accurate pictures. Unusual care was taken in making the sketch of which a lithograph is an exact copy.

Methodism in Great Britain

The following statistics regarding Wesleyan Methodism in Great Britain, will be of interest to our readers:—During the past year there was sanctioned the expenditure of the sum of £328,412 in the erection in that country, 130 chaples, 30 ministers' houses and schools, 186 enlargements and alterations of chaples, and a further sum of £2022 in the erection of 40 new organs, being £60,943 more than in any previous year. The amount raised by voluntary subscriptions was £371,806, to supplement which grants from the Chapel Fund Committee amounted to £10,806, leaving £55,483 to be provided within a limited period. To the Chapel Fund a legacy last year amounted to £20,000. Several additional chaples, schools and organs were also erected at the expense of private individuals. The number of sittings provided by new erections and enlargements last year is 52,745. During the past twenty years the entire outlay in that country in these erections and enlargements has been £3,236,652, and debts to the amount of £1,031,655 have also been liquidated. In the first decade 709 chaples were built and in the second 1,214. The total number of places of worship in Great Britain is 7,485, and the number of sittings provided 1,723,496.

A HEROIC YOUNG GIRL

On Saturday, at Aylmer, an event occured in which two children were the actors—but in which the highest attributes of human nature were displayed—and a heroine of seventeen years closed her career, having done that which hundreds of her sex pass through long lives without achieving. She showed that she bore, "as likeness to the mighty dead," and could claim "a kindred with the great of old. A young girl named Poppe, seventeen years old, is working in the house, musing, who can say over what?—and keeping an eye all the time on her little brother who was playing on the ice on the creek. The little boy falls into the water. Instantly his sister careless of danger, runs to pull him out and is drawn in herself. What does she do then? think of herself? No! She calmly tells her little brother to climb on her back and get out. He did so and was saved but in doing as she bade him, he pushed her under the ice, under which she drifted five or six yards, and of course when taken out was quite dead. What a noble girl? Could any hero whose name shall live for ever in story do more than she did? At her age she knew well the peril, but boldly ventured life and love and youth, to save another. She died exemplifying the principal of the crowning act of man's salvation—and while we mourn over the loss of so fine and noble a spirit, there is a mournful satisfaction in knowing such heroic devotion still lives on the earth.—Globe.

The collection taken up in the Central Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, on Sunday at both services was $1,405—said to be the largest ever realised in the Dominion.

The Township of Dresden has adopted a By-law placing shop licenses at $500. The vote stood 95 forward 4 against the By law. A good long step towards Prohibition.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.—There are seventeen Temperance Societies connected with the Church of England, in the Diocese of Quebec, with a total membership of 3,000.

A KINGSTON telegram of last night states that peaceful negotiations with the English Land Company, and on account of some misunderstanding with the Ontario Government in regard to the subsidy in aid of the Victoria Railway all the men employed have been discharged and paid off.

DEATH OF A $25,000 HEIFER.—On Saturday last 6th Fourth Deshone of Oneida died at the Hon. T. J. Merlbert's.—She was purchased by Meglbon & Bedford, October, 1874, at Campbell's New York Mills sale, for $25,000. She was a calf only three months old, by the Fourteenth Duke of Thorndale, said to be one of the finest Dukes in the country. There was, of course, no insurance on her. Thus an $25,000 heifer has met the same fate as $60,000 cow. Mr. B. G. Bedford has been [illegible] Paris, Ont.

The Roman Church in America has just received from the hands of His Holiness the Pope one of the highest honors of his station in his power to bestow. In a recent creation of Cardinals Pope the Venerable Father promoted red hats to a number of high dignitaries of the Church, and one to the Archbishop of New York, who occupies the highest eminence in the Church on this continent. The Archbishop of New York is numbered the College of Cardinals he has a vote in the election of the Pope, and, indeed, may become a candidate for that office himself. This is a privilege never hitherto enjoyed by any prelate of the hierarchy in America, and, as might be expected, has created no small stir, excitement and feeling of satisfaction among the faithful. The writers who know the Prince speak of him as eminently entitled to the high distinction which has been conferred upon him.

DIED.

Suddenly at the Cor. St. Church, North on 4th inst. Agnes Stevens, wife of Mr. [illegible] in the 42nd year, the funeral will take place to-morrow, Friday, at 1:30 p. m., and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Cotarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at four of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Gale, of Iona, writes, "please forward 3 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

NEW GRAPE,

EARLY CHAMPION.

After growing and fruiting this Grape on our grounds we can with confidence offer it to the public, as the earliest Grape in this country; ripening at least two weeks before any other of the hundreds of varieties cultivated. The bunches are large and compact; berries large, black covered with a rich bloom; quality good: strong and healthy grower, and an immense bearer, greater than we know of. It is particularly valuable for market and sells quick to shippers and others. Moreover we think it valuable as a WINE GRAPE.

We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who are in the Nursery business. Rochester:—Major Gen. John Williams, City Treasurer, P. Barry Esq, E. E. Hewson, Esq, Geo Ellwanger, Esq, Nurserymen, J. H. Bradley, Esq, Wholesale Fruit Dealer, all of whom have seen the grape growing. We also annex a notice from the Rochester Daily Union and advertiser, Rochester August 23rd 1875.

A REMARKABLY EARLY GRAPE.—A novelty in the line of the grape was last upon our table yesterday by Mr. E. J. Donnelly, of the Lake Avenue Nurseries, in the shape of a box of the "New Early Champion," a large and plump berry, which is the first to ripen in this latitude. It is considered and prized as a rarity by such connoisseurs as P. Barry, Gen Williams and others who have made grape culture a specialty:

PRICE one year old 50 cts.

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK OF THE PEACE

WAITING.

'Tis time you drew the curtain, child, and latched the open door;
Put out the useless candle—there is daylight on the moor;
And if he comes back to the day, be it early, be it late,
He'll find the hearth across the hearth that leads him to our gate.

I'll lay me down upon the bed, but I shall wake to hear
The faintest footfall on the grass, or ever it draw near;
'Tis many a year; yet I should know his step as well to-day,
As when I checked my soul to hear its echo die away.

'Tis many a year; I sometimes wish the night I watch at night;
And feel my heart grows older with the coming of the light—
I wish my hope could die away as does the lamp at morn;
I wish I could sit down and weep like those who mourn their bairn.

I wish that I could chill my heart as you bar out the sun,
And sit in darkness, yet in peace until my life were done;
I'm weary listening all the night for what I never hear;
I'm weary counting how the days make up another year.

And if he comes, it is all long, so long I've waited now;
Oh, will he throw me with those lines deep traced upon my brow?
He'll look to see a kind of curls like one that he has kept,
And worn, I know upon his heart the while he waked or slept.

He'll look to clasp the little hand that once was firm and white;
(Feel how it shakes, child, just to think if he should come to-night);
From sunny hair and cheek and face, and figure shrunk and bent,
How could he guess the beating heart, whose love is all unspent!

I would be worth of all he can him try to hide the pain,
To bear the old fond words, and see the old dear look again;
To hold his warm brown hand close, pressed, and know at heart the while
That when he bowed his face aside the lips forgot their smile.

I'm fain to give up hope, and rest from weary day and night
In soft gray gloaming, that may end, who knows, in sudden light;
There are some joys most near, they say, when even hope seems past,
And if I cease to watch and wait, my love may come at last.

Unatural Expansion of Industry during the War of 1812.

The immediate effect of the war of 1812, by increasing demand for all necessary products, and at the same time cutting off all foreign imports and competition, was to impart a most unnatural and unhealthy stimulus to American industry. Capital, readily obtained in the form of joint-stock companies, and often without the exercise of the most ordinary prudence or forethought, hastened to inaugurate a host of new industrial enterprises. Mill privileges readily commanded most extravagant figures, wages rose from 30 to 50 per cent., and raw materials and manufactured goods from [illegible] Cottons which had sold before the war at from 17 to 75 cents per yard, found purchasers by the package at 75 cents per yard, and salt, which was in 1812, 55 cents per bushel, commanded in October 1814, $3 per bushel. The number of cotton mills in Rhode Island and in Massachusetts within 30 miles of Providence, at the commencement of the war in 1812, was about seventy; at the close of the war, in 1815, this number had increased to ninety.

So long as the war continued, there was for the time all these elements of an apparent great prosperity, to magnify and inflate which an almost unlimited issue of paper money also powerfully contributed. All the banks in the country, save those in New England, suspended specie payments in 1814; and the Federal Government, finding itself short of revenue, early in the course of the war commenced the issue of Treasury paper. But as specie disappeared and redemption was abrogated not only public and private banking associations, but manufacturing and bridge-building associations, and even individuals, issued paper notes, which rapidly passed into circulation, and were largely taken by the public. In one session, that of 1813-14, the Legislature of Pennsylvania chartered forty-one new banks, with $17,000,000 of capital; and according to one writer of the time, "So plenty of money was so profuse that the managers of the banks were fearful that they could not find a demand for all could fabricate, and it was no infrequent occurrence to hear solicitations urged to individuals to become borrowers, under promise of indulgences the most tempting." The result was that the whole face of the country in a great degree lost its value, and its depreciation, enhancing the prices of every species of property and commodity, appeared like a rise in value, and induced all manner of speculations and extravagance. The writer of "Nile's Register," referring to the prodigality and waste as almost beyond belief," and speaks of the furniture of a single private parlor in one of the Eastern Cities as costing upwards of $40,000. On the other hand, Mr. Mathew Carey, of Philadelphia, writing in 1816, called this period "the golden age of Philadelphia," and says, "The rapid circulation of property, the immensity of business done, and the profits made on that business, produced a degree of prosperity which he had perhaps never before witnessed." And in another portion of the pamphlet from which the above language is quoted he further declared "that never was the country in a more enviable state."

With the return of peace, and the consequent cessation of demand for commodities on the part of the Government, the fall of prices, and the resumption of importations, all this bubble of prosperity, however, collapsed with great rapidity, and the country entered upon a period of prostration and stagnation of all industrial pursuits which has no parallel in all its history except possibly that during the darkest days of the Revolution. Excepting large demands and high prices for provisions, English and American merchants imported enormously as soon as practicable after the ports had been opened; but the markets becoming soon over stocked, prices, under forced sales, declined to such an extent as to prove ruinous not only to the importers, but also to a large proportion of the fabricators of the home manufacturing establishments which the war had established into existence.—The Hon. David A. Wells, in Harper's Magazine for April.

The killed and wounded on the several railways of Canada since their opening, are given in a return of the House of Commons, presented by the Premier, as follows:—On the Great Western, 334; on the Grand Trunk, 914; on the Northern, 21; and on the smaller lines, the number in every case, is below the latter. How many of these were fatal the return does not say, but from a casual glance it would seem that more than a quarter of the number were instantly killed or died shortly afterwards.

Burning of the Court House at Kingston.

On Wednesday morning last, about 2 o'clock; the Court House of Frontenac, in the city of Kingston, was discovered to be on fire, and in a few short hours that splendid structure, erected by the United counties of Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, at a cost of $160,000, was a mass of ruins. The following graphic account we copy from the Kingston British Whig:
